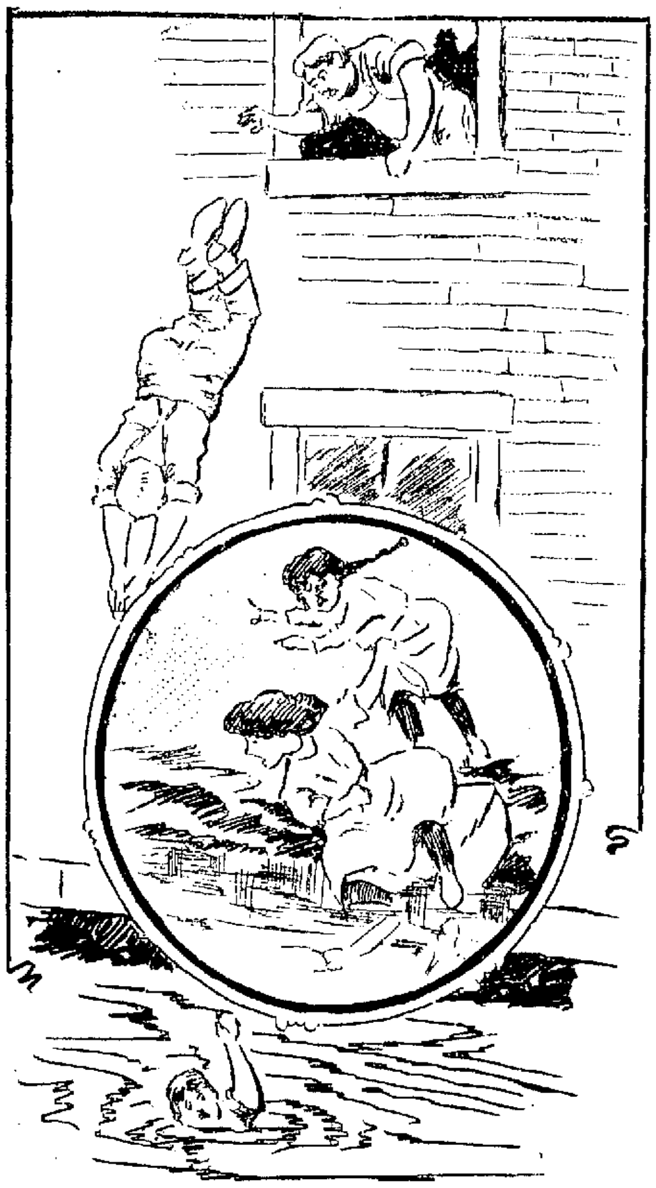
HEROIC RESCUE



THE HEROIC RESCUE BY PATRICK H. RYAN.

Patrick H. Ryan Plunged Into the Canal

Nine year old Mary Beecher, daughter of Patrick and Mary, was the victim of a sad drowning accident late yesterday afternoon. The affair came near being a double fatality, and was averted by the presence of mind and bravery displayed by Patrick H. Ryan, junior member of the firm of John Ryan & Co., proprietors of the Union Brass Foundry in Worthen street. The Beecher girl lost her life in the Suffolk canal, owing to a portion of the banking crumbling away and while attempting to save herself she pulled her companion, Isabel Talbot, into the water. Mr. Ryan dove from a second story window and saved the Talbot girl.

The two little girls had been picking flowers along the bank of the canal in the rear of the Sawyer Carriage Co.'s works in Worthen street. After getting tired of picking flowers Isabel Talbot told the Beecher girl that she was going home and asked her to go home too. The Beecher girl replied that she was going to bathe her feet before going and so saying sat down on the bank and allowed her feet to paddle in the water.

The little Talbot girl was rather timid and hesitated for awhile before making up her mind what to do. She was standing directly behind the Beecher girl when the earth under the rock on which the latter was sitting started to give away and before either of the little girls were aware what had happened the Beecher girl was precipitated into the water. In an attempt to save herself the Beecher girl pulled the little Talbot girl in with her.

SANK IN THE WATER.

Both children sank to a considerable depth and the Talbot girl came to the surface a few feet from where she fell in while the Beecher girl had got into a stronger current and was rapidly whirled down the stream. The current carried the latter down to a point near the Union Brass Foundry. When both children came to the surface they cried loudly for help.

At the time of the cries Patrick H. Ryan was standing at a sink in the second story of the building, washed his hands preparatory to going home, and hearing the cries of the children he looked out of the window. He saw one little girl struggling in the water, and without the least hesitation, he dove through the window and struck the water a distance of about forty feet. When he came to the surface he was near the Talbot girl and he managed to grab her by the hair just as she was going down for the third time.

At the same time that Mr. Ryan dove out of the building, John Riley, an employe of the foundry, jumped into the water from another window, having seen the little girl from where he was working.

He was close behind the hero of the occasion when the child was rescued. The Beecher girl was not seen again after she fell into the stream and it is thought that her clothes got caught in something that was projecting from the wall of the canal. Mr. Riley swam about the canal when he learned that another child had fallen in but he could find no trace of her.

The child that was rescued was completely exhausted when assistance came to her and Mr. Ryan and others who were quickly on the scene, worked over her for several minutes before restoring her to consciousness.

She was then removed to her home in Suffolk street.

The child who was drowned was the daughter of Patrick and Mary Beecher and resided at 39 Suffolk street. Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, James, aged 5, and John, aged 1 year, and two sisters, Nellie, aged 11, and Kittie, aged 4.

Isabel Talbot is the daughter of Edward and Vitaline and resides at 189 Suffolk street.

The body of Mary Beecher was removed to the home of her parents at 39 Suffolk street this morning.

LABOR DAY

Big Demonstration Will be Held in Lowell

Parade in the Morning Leading Feature—Sports Will be Held on South Common — Speeches by Local and Out-of-Town Men

Just one thing is needed to make the coming labor holiday the greatest in local history and that we must sit and hope for as poor mortality has no control over atmospheric conditions and good weather is essential to all celebrations held in the open.

But granted a fine day, the labor unions of Lowell will show the public the grandest labor holiday in history despite the delays and contrary influences with which they had to contend at the outset. All difficulties and obstacles that tended to throw cold water on the celebration idea have been overcome and a program that cannot be excelled by the unions of any city in New England will be given the public on next Monday.

This has been a memorable year for organized labor in Lowell and for that reason organized labor has worked harder than ever for its Labor Day observance and had it not been for organized labor in the first place, labor in general never would have been honored with this great national annual holiday.

After coming successfully out of a severe coal famine, the result of labor troubles elsewhere, the people of Lowell were plunged into the throes of the greatest textile strike in the history of the city, lasting three months. The strike was looked upon by those with whom the wish was father to the thought, as the death blow to unionism among the textile crafts. Yet when 13 weeks had passed and the mills had reopened none were found who had starved, while the membership rolls of the various textile unions showed more names of members in good standing than ever before, and instead of being the death blow to the unions it was in reality the impetus for increased membership.

Then the different unions, happy and proud of their ability to survive unprecedented misfortune, set about to make the next labor holiday the greatest ever held, and they asked an appropriation of the city council. They were granted the usual $1600, but to their surprise and disappointment His Honor Mayor Howe disapproved the order and refused to allow the appropriation to be made. The mayor's action caused considerable delay, for it was necessary for the city council to act upon the veto, but finally the appropriation was passed over the veto by an almost unanimous vote.

With an appropriation granted the Trades & Labor council and the Textile Council set to work to arrange the program believing that the last obstacle in the path had been removed. But they were doomed to have one more disappointment and that was when the park commission refused to allow the unions to let lots for booths on the South common, in violation of a time-honored custom. This action, while it robs the unions of one of its prominent sources of revenue was not sufficient to detract one iota from the elaborateness of the program and the committees in charge of the arrangements now take pleasure in presenting a program that will excell any ever before offered here.

The day's observance will open with one of the largest street parades ever held in Lowell. Twenty five unions will be represented and every band and drum corps in Lowell will be in line. The insurance agents union and the Street Railway Employes Union will make their first appearance in line. The parade will start at the South common, be reviewed by the city council at city hall and dismissed at the starting point after a tour of the principal streets, the route of procession being published elsewhere. Many of the unions will appear in uniform but owing to the great strain on the treasuries of some of the unions during the recent strike some of the unions have decided not to go to the expense of procuring uniforms this year though all will appear in line.

In the afternoon there will be a band concert and a fine list of sports on the South common. In the evening a grand labor rally will be held and a band concert given on the South common. The speakers at the rally will be Daniel J. Donahoe, Edward D. McVey, J. Fred Williams, of the Painters' union and James Hooley of the Leath rworkers' union. RAISED THE FINE

Judge Hadley Takes a Hand in Suppressing Liquor Traffic

Judge Hadley has decided to make the minimum fine for the illegal keeping of liquor, $100. The judge does not think that the law is being quite rigidly enough enforced and he's going to take a hand and increase the "ante."

James Cosgrove of 114 Concord street and J. W. Peledeau of 15 Salem street were in court this forenoon charged with illegal keeping. Judge Hadley heard the evidence and imposed fines of $100 in each case. The evidence in either case did not go to show that any attempt at sales had been made but his honor has said that he would make the small fine $100 and also mentioned the fact that in a case where flagrant and persistent violation of the law was evident he might raise the fine to the limit and call it $500.

CRONIN DEAD

He Was Wanted Here for Embezzlement

George M. Cronin, wanted for the embezzlement of $800 from a bucket shop firm for which he was manager in this city, is dead. He died in Rochester, N. Y., last night. Cronin was about 34 years old and liquor was the cause of his ruin and his death.

When arraigned in the local police court, he attempted to show that the money missing could be accounted for on certain papers that had been lost and when placed under $1000 bonds the woman with whom he boarded, out of the goodness of her heart, went security for him and he skipped his bonds.

Cronin was a telegraph operator and possessed more than the ordinary amount of native ability. While sober he was quite well able to take care of and manage a brokerage office, but he couldn't keep away from drink. Some say that he gambled in stocks himself but the complainants did not show that in the local police court.

When Cronin left Lowell he became a wanderer on the face of the earth. He didn't have stamina enough left in him to appreciate the kindness of the woman who bailed him. His nerve was gone and the only food he found appetizing was whiskey. It kept his brain in a whirl and he wanted to forget. It did not occur to him that his first duty was to the woman to whom he owed his freedom and strange as things occur it would have been much better for Cronin if his charitably disposed friend had remained in the background and allowed him to go to jail.

After leaving Lowell he wandered from place to place and a few days ago he stepped up to an officer in Rochester, N. Y., and tried to persuade the officer that Rochester was Boston. The officer took him to the station house and the following day he was removed to an asylum, a physical and mental wreck.

State Officer Whitney and Constable Cately of this city went to Rochester for the purpose of bringing Cronin back to Lowell. The authorities there would not allow his removal. In accordance with the laws of the state a prisoner must first be taken before the court and arraigned while in his proper senses before he can be extradited. Cronin was not in a condition to be taken into court and State Officer Whitney and Constable Cately had to return to Lowell without him.

Cronin's death was due to general dissipation. He leaned on whiskey for support; his support gave way and he fell.

THAT INQUEST

Judge Hadley Hopes to Finish This Week

When asked by a Sun reporter today when he thought the inquest into the Riverside Park explosion would be concluded, Judge Hadley said he hoped to get through with it this week.

There are three witnesses that State Officer Whitney is endeavoring to corral and when he gets them in line the inquest will be resumed and quickly finished. Two or three witnesses that have already testified will probably be recalled and the government will call an expert on explosives.

CALNIN SEIZURE

Officers Relieved Him of 664 Gallons

HIS CASE CAME UP IN POLICE COURT

Charles J. Wier Appeared for Him

AND ASKED TO HAVE CASE CONTINUED

Other Cases In Police Court Today

The case of James Calnin of Lakeview avenue, charged with the illegal keeping of liquor, came up in police court today and was continued to next week Thursday. Charles J. Wier apeared for Mr. Calnin and the latter was ordered in $300 for his appearance before the court on the day above mentioned.

There has been considerable speculation as to the exact amount of liquors seized at Mr. Calnin's place. The police at first stated that, in their judgment, the seizure would foot up close on to 2000 gallons. Following is a list of the number of gallons, 664 in all, taken from Mr. Calnin:

Whiskey, 450 gallons, about half of which was in sealed bottles.
Wine 99.
Brandy 50.
Rum 30.
Gin 24.
Bass ale 24.
Porter 28.

BOOZE FROM LAWRENCE.

Officers Duncan and Palmer last evening arrested Frank Creilly of Lawrence, who was driving a covered team in which was stored about 60 half pints of whiskey. The stuff was consigned to Nashua, N. H., parties, but the Lowell police took charge of it. Creilly's case was called in police court today and on motion of Lawyer Coulson of Lawrence was continued to next Thursday, Sept. 10.

FOR SUPERIOR COURT.

D. J. Donahue appeared for Albert Dowd, the boy who took $130 from his father's desk and went to Providence, R. I., to have a good time.

Mr. Donahue waived the reading of the complaint. The boy was ordered in $500 for his appearance before the superior court.

Inspector Donaldson went to Providence yesterday and returned with the boy. The latter was willing enough to come home. He had one cent of the $130 left and he had seen all of Providence that he wanted to see. When he left Lowell he went to Lawrence and there purchased a suit of clothes, a hat and dress suit case. Then he went to Boston and there purchased a watch and a ring. From Boston he went to Providence and the morning after he landed there he was broke. He picked up a Providence paper and read a dispatch stating that the Lowell police were after him and that they had telephoned to the Providence authorities to look out for him. He had a friend, a bootblack, in the city, and he hunted him up. The shiner had no money to spare and Dowd says he was seriously contemplating the advisability of giving himself up when arrested.

HAD A NICE RIDE.

Mary A. McBride told Judge Hadley today that when she took Freeman M. Hill's horse from opposite some place she didn't know just where, yesterday evening, her head felt like a medley of chaotic, incoherent images.

"You've been drinking," said his honor.

"Yes," replied Mary, "I had partaken of a certain amount of whiskey."

The man who found Mary in Thorndike street with the team said that when they tried to stop the team she struck the horse.

"What did I strike him with?" asked Mary. She declared there was no whip in the team.

"You struck him with the reins,' said one of the witnesses.

"Oh, I did, did I?' said Mary.

After collecting her scattered senses Mary told Judge Hadley that she found the horse in Middlesex street near the Franklin schoolhouse. It was walking along the street, she said, and fearing the animal would burst into a run and smash the buggy and perhaps kill somebody, she stopped the animal, boarded the carriage and was on the way to the police station when the two men, Messrs. Purcell and Foster stopped her. She didn't think they had any right to stop her in transit especially when her mind was laden with such kindness of thought. She believed the court ought to give the men a good scolding. Mary couldn't remember just how many times she had been before the court. She had no recollection of ever having taken a team belonging to one Mr. McBride as suggested by Deputy Welch. Judge Hadley listened patiently to all Mary had to say and imposed a fine of $5 which Mary will have to pay inside of three days, otherwise she will have to go to jail for three months.

FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Marin Richardson and Joseph Bebard, two third offenders, were fined $6 each.

TO THE REFORMATORY.

Albert Marin, 15, was arrested for drunkenness a few days ago and his case was continued until today, this being juvenile day. Marin was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory. He is the youngest person ever charged with drunkenness in the local police court. His mother was in court this forenoon and she told the judge that she couldn't do anything with the boy. She favored sending him to the reformatory.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 4.—Although not yet officially announced it is almost a certainty that President Roosevelt will visit West Point, Ky., during the army manoeuvres there this fall. Colonel Wagner has stated that the president would probably visit the camp early in October and that it is possible he will spend two or three days there.

ANGRY WOMEN

Beat John Nulty Into Insensibility

HE TRIED TO HUG AND KISS GIRL

Then the Women Attacked Him

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—Scores of infuriated women beat John Nulty, recently discharged from the navy, into insensibility in Madison square last night because he attempted to hug Fortunito Loretto, a pretty girl of 14 years.

Fortunito Loretto, with her two sisters, was listening to the band playing in the park when Nulty came along.

"I am going to kiss you," he said to Fortunito, and grasped her in his arms. The girl screamed for help. Instantly hundreds of women rushed to the scene. They rained blows on Nulty and finally felled him. He was kicked on all sides, his face was torn by sharp finger nails and handfuls of hair were torn from his head.

Nulty cried for mercy, but the women gave none. Men tried to get at him, but the women waved them back.

"We'll attend to him," they said. "Lynch the cur," shouted the men. The cries of Nulty for aid had sunk to low moans when two officers arrived. After forcing their way through the crowd of struggling women, the police found that Nulty had fainted. He was carried to the station and locked up.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 4.—All the commerce of the port may be tied up today. Longshoremen insist on eight men to a ship's hold, and have knocked off work on a coffee ship needing only two. Ship agents and stevedores have issued an ultimatum that the limit clause must be removed or work will be stopped on all ships. The lockout would affect 8,000 men. The Morgan line dock workers are already on a strike for an increase from 30 to 40 cents an hour and non-union men are being worked with police protection. One man has been shot and another beaten by strikers.

REFUSED TO STICK

GLUEMAKERS SEPARATE THEMSELVES FROM THEIR JOBS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 4 Two hundred and fifty gluemakers are on strike at the factory of Armour & Co. for a minimum wage of $2 a day. The workers have a set scale of $1.50 a day, but the company is alleged to have hired boys at $1.37 to take the experienced men's places. When the company refused to discharge these boys the other employes walked out.

DR. LOUGEST

Has Had More Experience in the Treatment, and Made More Great Cures of Difficult, Protracted and Chronic Diseases and Weaknesses of Men Than Any Other Living Specialist

Dr. Lougest's treatment has been tested on more than twenty thousand (20,000) young, middle-aged and old men, who, as the results of errors or excesses, were tortured by the woes of nervous debility or decay. It has never yet failed, even in the worst cases, to bring back manly power, remove every trace or symptom of weakness, build up the physical and mental health, and prepare man anew for the duties and pleasures of both married and single life.

Lost Manhood, seminal weakness, effects of youthful indiscretions, nervous debility, pimples and blotches, hair falling out, loss of memory and energy, impotence, rheumatic pains, discharges and all private diseases quickly and permanently cured by an original and never-failing treatment. Blood poison, ulcers, stricture, varicocele and diseases of the kidneys, bladder and blood cured in the shortest possible time, without the use of mercury or hindrance from business. Dr. Lougest's treatment for the complete cure of Stricture and all unnatural discharges is the most wonderful of modern times. No matter how long the discharge has continued nor how many self styled specialists have failed to relieve, let alone cure, Dr. Lougest will positively guarantee to stop the discharge entirely within three days by means of his New Method Treatment. This treatment removes Stricture, positively without pain, detention from business or the use of obnoxious or injurious medicines. No Experiment! No Failure! Nine-tenths of all the long standing discharges, strictures and weaknesses of men are caused by the experiments of the many inexperienced and self-styled specialists of the present day.

Many a man who has been fooled by the "Boy When Cured" racket, knows that it is the last and only resort of a dying-out pretender to get a patient into his clutches. Beware of such schemes. Don't be deceived by misleading statements such as these seemingly charitable offers.

Don't entrust your lives to anyone not qualified by years of experience to treat you. Don't even step your foot across the threshold of an office run by inexperienced, irresponsible, illiterate pretenders. You had better save your money and let your disease take its own course than be practised and experimented upon and in the end lose both your money and life.

Dr. Lougest's offices occupy the entire building of five floors at 313 Columbus avenue, and they are supplied with every known means and device that science, skill, knowledge and money can provide that will aid in determining the exact location and nature of these diseases and effecting their cure promptly and thoroughly, and by the same sure methods as are used in the most Celebrated Paris Hospitals which invariably result in

KILLED HIMSELF

Smith Despondent on Account of Strike

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Suffering from remorse for having gone on strike against the employer for whom he had worked for 25 years, Jacob B Smith threw himself from the fourth story window of his home. He struck the sidewalk and was instantly killed.

Smith, who was president of the cooks' union, had been chef at a downtown restaurant for a quarter of a century. He went on strike when the hotel and restaurant employes were called out two months ago, taking the entire kitchen force as well as the waiters with him.

The strike failed and Smith lost his position. Then came days of worry and finally of remorse.

Within the last week Mr. Smith's friends had noticed symptoms of a failing mind, and it is thought that his suicide was the act of an insane man.

GLAD IN DEFEAT

Lipton Thanks the American People

By Associated Press to The Sun

HIGHLANDS OF NAVESINK, N. J., Sept. 4.—When the Erin had discharged her passengers last night and the reeche of their cheers had died away, Sir Thomas Lipton said:

"Two weeks ago I was hopeful; last week I knew I was doomed to defeat and was disappointed, but today I am amost glad in my own defeat, this America has been such a thoroughly generous victor. I want again to thank the American people for their generosity to me in my defeat. The American boat was the better; that is all."

CHARGE OF BIGAMY

CAMILLE PHILLIPS IS HELD AT ADAMS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ADAMS, Sept. 4.—Camille Phillips, aged 36, a painter, was sentenced in the district court yesterday to four months in jail for non-support, and held under $600 bonds for appearance before the grand jury on the charge of bigamy.

Phippils was arrested in Lenox on complaint of his wife, whom he deserted in this town three years ago. He was married here 15 years ago, and has two sons, aged 13 and 14 respectively.

The officers found him living with another woman in Lenox, and investigation showed that he had married Miss Lena Bekan in Albany in December, 1902. Miss Bekan belonged in Lenox ,and comes from a respected family.

RETIRED MINISTER

HAS BEEN APPPOINTED RURAL LETTER CARRIER.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORTH GRAFTON, Sept. 4.—A retired clergyman has been appointed as rural letter carrier for this village. Postmaster John F. Mitchell received official notification from the postoffice department late yesterday of the appointment of Rev. Wilber T. Rice, Grafton street, as rural free delivery mail carrier, and Roy Knowlton, Grafton street, as substitute.

This completes all details for the beginning of the rural free delivery system, with the North Grafton office as the distributing point. Rev. Mr. Rice passed a very satisfactory civil-service examination. Postmaster Mitchell has already been notified to establish the route Oct. 1. The new mail carrier will be required to qualify in $500 bonds as will also his substitute.

MISS MAY GOELET

WILL BE MARRIED IN NOVEMBER, IT IS SAID.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 4.—It is well understood here that the marriage of Miss May Goelet and the duke of Roxburghe, whose engagement was announced yesterday, will take place here in the first week of November.

Most of the cottagers will have gone to their winter homes when the wedding will take place, but many will remain here for the event, and those who leave will return for the occasion.

If the wedding is to take place here old Trinity church will be undoubtedly the scene of the ceremony, and there will follow a reception and breakfast at Ochre court, the Goelet villa on the cliffs, which is one of the finest residences in the world.

It is expected that Mrs. Goelet will make some definite announcement in a few days, so that cottagers may plan to stay on here if they are so inclined.

Contrary to previous report, the duke is not a man of wealth. He has extensive estates, but they need rehabilitation. This makes the engagement of the duke to one of the richest of American girls somewhat less romantic than it first appeared, though scarcely less interesting.

Cause of Destruction of the Vaskapu

MESSAGE RECEIVED FROM VICE CONSUL RAVNDAL

U. S. Cruisers Expected at Beirut Today

By Associated Press to The Sun

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 4.—Consul Ravndal telegraphed from Beirut to Minister Leishmann that the authorities there have been actively seeking the assailant of Vice-Consul Magelssen, but the consul is not able to state if he is among the persons already arrested.

The United States cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco are expected to reach Beirut today.

The report circulated by a news agency September 1 in the United States, that a balloon bomb had been found near the palace, is utterly without foundation.

Turkish official reports indicate the complete success of the military operations against the insurgents in the Kilssura district. Over 400 insurgents are said to have been killed.

The agent here of the Hungarian Levant steamship line, has gone to Burgas to investigate the three explosions which occurred Wednesday on the Austrian steamer Vaskapu soon after that vessel had left Burgas on her way to Constantinople, resulting in the death of 29 persons. The cause of the explosion is still in doubt.

It is now said that the assistant conductor of the sleeping car was the author of the bomb outrage August 27 when the east bound daily express from Buda Pest to Constantinople was blown up near Kuleliburgas, when seven persons were killed and fifteen others were injured. He left the train at Philipoppolis and has been arrested there.

UNITED WORKMEN

ACTING ON PLAN FOR INCREASED ASSESSMENT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 4—The method pursued by the Supreme Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen in increasing the rate of assessment upon its members, has been indorsed by the National Fraternal Congress, which is an organization composed of representatives of sixty three fraternal beneficiary societies.

The manner of appropriating the necessary increase is objected to by the local members as a discrimination against the older members of the order, and they have decided to appeal to the Supreme Lodge.

PECULIAR ELECTION

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE WILL ELECT THEMSELVES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept 4—The approaching city election at Hobson City, the negro colony near Anniston, will disclose a peculiar state of affairs. The town is run solely by negroes. Under the new constitution nearly all of the male adult inhabitants are disfranchised, there being about 30 voters and the affairs of the town will have to be conducted by them alone, as there are nearly as many offices to be filled as there are voters, the candidates will practically elect themselves.

FAST BILLY BUCK

Captured the $10,000 Roger Williams' Purse

HE HAS EARNED $23,800 THIS SEASON

Big Crowd Witnessed His Performance

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 4.—Billy Buck made his title clear to being the best stake trotter the turf has yet seen by putting the Roger Williams $10,000 purse to his credit at Narragansett park yesterday afternoon.

His winnings for the season now figure up $23,800, which is several thousand more than stands to the credit of any other campaigner of 1903.

Geers started Buck at Windsor and in nine starts he has failed to win but once, and in that race he won second money.

In yesterday's race he was an overwhelming favorite and won as he liked. The time, 2.08¾, 2.09½, 2.10, tells how one-sided the race was.

He drew sixth place and after trailing along fourth until reaching the stretch, came on and easily outfooted Jay McGregor and Fred McClung to the wire. From that on he was not headed, nor in any danger of being so. Geers eased up on him in the last heat and before he was aware of it Jay McGregor was up beside him. A little rally and away he raced from the big stallion.

The latter was the surprise of the race, for had Buck not started Scott Hudson would have had no very difficult task in getting the money.

Budd Doble's Kinney Lou was not up to much and never was a factor.

Masetto won third money and Authoress fourth. For a lame horse, Fred McClung, a grandson of Pilot Medium, went a fine first heat, being lapped by Jay McGregor all the way and finishing third.

BANNER RACING CITY.

The attendance was again very large but not quite up to that of Wednesday. The way the folks down here are turning out is a revelation to circuit followers; there is no question that Providence already has the attendance record for this season, with two days yet to come. The public may be crying for two in three races, but the three in five fills the grandstands here in New England anyway.

James Brodbine's game little racehorse Locanda repeated his last year's performance by winning a cracking line race over the local track.

Brown Heels drew the pole and set the pace, lapped by Louise G. into the stretch, where he died away. At the half Locanda was in ninth position, and it looked as though Brodbine was going to give him an easy heat. Going into the upper turn he began to overhaul the rear rank horses, and turning into the straight was well up. He had speed to spare and cut his record to 2.07.

The little Allerton horse lost the second heat by making a wild break soon after passing the quarter. Albert won this heat in 2.07, with Louise G. second.

There was nothing to the third heat. Locanda winning it handily in 2.07¼.

Louise G. went a splendid race and took third money. The other home paicer, Terrill S., also made a good showing, but failed to get inside the money.

AL. BOCK'S HARD CAMPAIGN.

Al. Bock is beginning to show the effects of his hard rampaign of the past four weeks, and was not able to save his entrance. The horse is still owned in Texas, the sale to E. E. Smathers having been called off.

Scott Hudson's Dillon Boy fell into a very soft thing in the 2.18 trot, for he did not have to beat 2.11¾. It was the sweet little Massachusetts trotter, Gracie Kellar, that made him go that fast.

There was some delay in starting the 2.15 pace, as the judges were at a loss whether to excuse the big horse Bob or not.

Trilby Direct was the favorite, but there was a good field play, as many thought Bob could beat her.

Before the race was called permission was asked to draw the big son of Allie Wilkes because of sickness. Finally on the advice of two veterinarians the horse was excused.

It is said that Bob has been sold by Joe Middleby to a Pittsburg man for $5000 and that he goes into Dick Wilson's stable. Bob has a record of 2.12¼, and is by Allie Wilkes 2.15, dam Idelle by Mambrino Russell; second dam, Annie Belle, dam of Nydia Wilkes 2.09¾, by Nutwood.

The free-for-all pace and Major Delmar's attempt to lower the record for trotting geldings, are the features for tomorrow. The starters in the pacing race will be Prince Alert, Daniel, Harold H., Anaconda and Dan R.

The other events are the 2.12 trot, with 11 starters, the 2.16 pace with nine, and the 2.24 trot with five.

BARBARAOSSA AKRIVES

TAIL SHAFT OF THE PROPELLOR BROKEN.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—The disabled steamer Barbaraossa of the North German Lloyd line, which was reported by the Kronprinz Wilhelm last Tuesday with tail shaft broken, arrived in port today under her port engines. Captain Mentz says that on Aug. 29 at 7 o'clock in the morning the starboard engine became disabled and investigation showed that the tail shaft of the propeller was broken. The ship was stopped, the out-board section of the shaft was secured and the steamer proceeded on her voyage. There was no excitement among the passengers as very few knew of the matter until afterwards. The break occurred when the steamer was in latitude 46.40, longitude 46.57.

ARMY OF POTOMAC.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The adjourned meeting of the society of the Army of the Potomac will be held in conjunction with the meeting of the armies of the west at Washington, October 15 and 16 next. General D. E. Sickles will represent the society at the unveiling of the Sherman statue and General Brooke, the president, will respond at the banquet. The headquarters will be at the Ebbett house.

ATTELL GOT DECISION

REGAN PUT IT OVER HIM FOR 15 ROUNDS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 4.—Abe Attell of San Francisco last night received the decision over Johnnie Regan of New York in a 20-round contest for the world's featherweight championship, weight 122 pounds at the ring side. The contest was one of the cleverest and fastest ever seen here.

Regan showed remarkable cleverness in blocking and in fighting, and so perfect was his guard that it seemed almost impossible for Attell to get through. His inside work troubled Attell considerably.

Abe seemed unable to land an effective blow, while on the other hand, Regan repeatedly sent lefts and rights to head and stomach, causing Attell to wince and frequently appeal to the referee.

Attell seemed clearly beaten for the first 15 rounds. In the 16th round Abe sent in a left and a right which shook Johnnie up considerably, and the tide changed to the Californian's favor. From then on Abe had only slightly the better of it.

In the 19th round Abe rushed Regan to the ropes and sent in several stiff punches. Regan came back strong, but his punches on stomach and cheek landed lightly. He, however, failed to even up matters. The 20th was give and take, with honors about even.

The decision was received with some signs of disapprobation. James J. Corbett was present at the ring side.

MONEY IN SIGHT

FOR THE GIFT TO SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The committee in charge of the project to present Sir Thomas Lipton with a silver service purchased by popular subscription as a testimonial of the admiration of the people of the United States, inaugurated rigorous tactics yesterday. Many letters will be mailed tomorrow to the mayor of every city in the country, appointing those officers members of the committee in their cities.

Mr. Hartridge said today that a fund was already practically in sight.

CARDINAL GIBBONS

WILL NOT BE EXPELLED FROM FRANCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PARIS, Sept. 4—A report published by the Patrie that the government might expel Cardinal Gibbons from France, owing to his alleged statements to the Breton and other French clergy, is officially pronounced false and absurd. The government officers also express indignation at such a careless use of the cardinal's name.

Cardinal Gibbons wrote to the Associated Press August 28, saying that his alleged meetings with the Breton and other clergy of France were fabrications without an iota of truth in them.

$1,000,000 SPENT

TO INFLUENCE LEGISLATION DURING A SINGLE YEAR.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—At a public meeting at Chautauqua, N. Y., June 18, of this year, Governor LaFollette, of Wisconsin, in the course of an address, made the following statement:

"The New York legislative investigation committee of the Erie Railway reported that more than $1,000,000 was spent in one year for 'extra legal services' and that money paid to political bosses was charged to the 'India rubber account.'"

Governor LaFollette did not designate the year in which this money was alleged to have been used.

Young girls at this period of life, or their mothers, are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; all such letters are strictly confidential; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; and her advice is freely and cheerfully given.

School days are danger days for American girls.

Often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality. Sometimes it is never recovered.

Perhaps they are not over-careful about keeping their feet dry; through carelessness in this respect the monthly sickness is usually rendered very severe.

Then begin ailments which should be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, a tendency to avoid the society of others, are symptoms all indicating that woman's arch-enemy is at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many a young girl over this critical period. With it they have gone through their trials with courage and safety. With its proper use the young girl is safe from the peculiar dangers of school years and prepared for hearty womanhood.

A Young Chicago Girl "Studied Too Hard."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor. I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more.—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill."

"Miss Pratt Unable to Attend School."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life.

TURKEY WILL GIVE PROTECTION TO FOREIGNERS

Marines May Have to be Landed

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Minister Leishman has cabled the state department that owing to the disturbed conditions in Constantinople an additional kavass, or detective force, had been stationed at the American legation. This action was taken on the suggestion of the Turkish government which has assured the American minister that it will use every precaution to protect foreigners, but has warned the different embassies and legations that it would be well to strengthen the force inside the buildings.

In case a necessity develops, it is probable that the Turkish government will be requested to allow the United States to send a detachment of marines from the squadron which is expected to arrive at Beirut today. Minister Leishman has not yet made such a request of this government. The United States has no authority to send a warship through the Dardanelles and will have to have the consent of Turkish and other European powers to do so.

Minister Leishman in his cablegram informed the department that a number of governments have landed marines in Constantinople for the protection of the embassies.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 4.—City Marshall George M. Stebbins, Inspector W. J. Quilty and four patrolmen answered a burglar call from the home of Mrs. Mary W. Allen at 22 Sheldon street, last night.

The police misunderstood the street and went to 22 Sharon street. In the delay the burglar made his escape.

The burglar was frightened by Mrs. Allen's screams and left without securing any plunder.

CLAIMED BY THE SOUTHBRIDGE HOSE TEAM.

By Associated Press to The Sun

WEBSTER, Sept. 4.—The special attraction at the second day of the cattle fair in Putnam, Conn., yesterday was the hose racing contest, and the best teams in the state were entered.

Southbridge won the first prize in 21 1-4 seconds. Webster second and Fiskdale third. Southbridge lays claim to having broken the world's record. The contest was to run 150 yards, lay 150 feet of hose and make a dry hitch.

The Webster team claim Southbridge did not win fairly and has 100 to wager they can defeat their rivals. There is bitter feeling between the two teams and the Southbridge victory will be protested.

POWERS READY

Prepared to Send Fleets to Turkish Waters

By Associated Press to The Sun

PARIS, Sept. 4—It is authoritatively stated that in view of the growing disorders in Turkey, a French fleet will be ordered to hold itself in readiness to proceed to Turkish waters.

This determination followed the receipt of a report from the French ambassador at Constantinople that it was desirable to have warships in readiness for all eventualities.

Similar preparations have been made by Italy, Austria, Russia and Great Britain. The officials here expect the fleets will act together in case of a crisis.

The autumn meeting of the cabinet was held today. Foreign Minister Delcasse reviewed the Turkish situation. There is reason to believe that M. Delcasse has been informed that the United States government does not attach further importance to the Beirut incident. But this does not abate official interest in the future course of the American warships.

The French consul at Monastir reports that the conditions at that port are much worse.

NO BRITISH MARINES

HAVE BEEN LANDED AT CONSTANTINOPLE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 4.—No British marines have been landed at Constantinople, so far as the foreign office is informed, but it is expected that if the British foreign office need protection, the British ambassador is authorized to call upon the commander of the British guard-ship for guards.

The foreign office considers it probable that Russia and Austria have landed marines to protect their embassies, as a result of the porte's note of warning to the ambassadors.

So far as the foreign office knows, Constantinople is quiet.

FIVE EASTERNERS

Are Left in the Golf Tournament

By Associated Press to The Sun

GLEN COVE, L. I., Sept. 4.—With five eastern golfers, one from Pittsburg, and two westerners left in the national amateur golf championship tournament, play was resumed today on the Nassau country club links. These eight players are competing in the fifth round and the survivors will meet in the semi-final round this afternoon. The four winners this morning will be honor men in the tournament for a United States golf association medal which is presented to each of the four semi-finalists.

Walter J. Travis, the former national champion, is paired with George T. Brokaw, the Princetonian, who put out the young western champion. Walter Egan, yesterday. The gallery was not large when the men started but most of the spectators followed this match.

Paul Murphy, the St. Paul's school lad of Garden City, went off with F. O. Reinhart, the Princeton golfer, of whom great things are expected.

E. M. Byers, the strong Pittsburg golfer, and runner-up in last year's championship, met Walter R. Tuckerman, of Stockbridge, Mass., a comparatively new aspirant for high honors.

The two westerners are paired off together. Bruce D. Smith, the Onwentsia club member, and a Yale junior, and W. D. Cady of the Rock Island club.

Brokaw, whose playing had been far more erratic than yesterday, now had a streak of good luck. Travis drove out of bounds from the tenth tee, and lost the hole in 5 to 6 and Brokaw won the short eleventh by superior putting 4 to 5.

Reinhart beat Paul Murphy, by the unexpected score of 5 up and 4 to play. Reinhart had been picked to win, but not by such a high figure. Murphy won the first hole in a grand three, but that proved to be the only hole he won in the match. Reinhart tied the game on the fourth green and at the turn was three up. This finished the game at the 14th hole.

The largest gallery of the morning followed the Travis-Brokaw match. Brokaw had the honor and out-drove Travis by a few feet. Noth, however, got long drives and goods lies. Travis rimmed the cup for a three and the first hole 310 yards was halved in 4. Brokaw drove into the rough for the long second hole 520 yards. Both approached far over the green but Travis ran up dead and won in 5 to 6. The third was halved in 3. Brokaw fell into the mound bunker in approaching the fourth. He got out short and made a desperate attempt to run down a 25 foot putt, but ran six feet over the hole, putting out in 8. Travis, however, won in 4 and was 2 up. The fifth and sixth were each halved in 5, both getting in the bunkers from their second shots for the fifth hole. Travis failed to reach the green on the short seventh hole, 161 yards, but he ran up dead in two and a half in three was the result. Brokaw missed a short putt on the next green and Travis won, giving him a lead of 3 on the eighth green. Travis won the ninth in 4 to 5. He putted dead to the hole in 3, laying Brikaw a stymie. The latter dead tried to play around the ball but missed getting in the cup, giving Travis the big lead of 4 up at the turn.

SHOE MANUFACTURERS

HAVE HAD A VERY PROSPEROUS SEASON.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LYNN, Sept. 3—The statement recently made by a shoe trade journal that $25,000,000 worth of shoes were manufactured in this city during the past year is regarded as a conservative estimate by shoe manufacturers here.

The season of 1903, it is predicted, will be one of the most prosperous in the shoe business that local manufacturers have enjoyed for a long time. All the manufacturers who have been interviewed agree upon this point.

At present an eight-story building is in prospect of erection in this city, to be used for shoe manufacturing purposes, and every store in it has already been leased. Manufacturers find it difficult to get enough room to carry on their increased business.

DE FOREST DISCHARGED

PROSECUTION COULD NOT PROVE ITS CASE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 4—In the district court today the charge against young Louis DeForest for obstructing the fire department on August 1st, was discontinued after the department had put in its evidence, the court declaring that the prosecution had not made out its case.

It was not brought out in the evidence that the young man was notified that his automobile was an obstruction until after it had been removed by the chauffeur.

This is the case which DeForest was to settle by paying costs and apologizing to the foreman with whom he had some words but he finally decided to stand trial.

GRAND TRUNK BILL

WILL NOT GO INTO EFFECT FOR SOME TIME.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 4.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway bill, now before parliament at Ottawa, will not become effective for one time yet, according to advices received here. The vote in the house of commons this week was on the question of ordering a second reading. The government program was adopted and the bill passed that stage by a vote of 117 to 71. This indicates that the bill will be eventually adopted by the commons although many amendment will be offered. The conservative opposition announced its intention to oppose the bill to the last. The conservatives expect to be assisted by Hon. John Andrew Blair, member of parliament for St. John and Hon. Israel Tarte, two of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's former cabinet ministers.

THIRD ANNUAL OUTING

LOWELL AN MANCHESTER INSURANCE AGENTS AT CANOBIE LAKE.

A joint outing of the Prudential Insurance company's staff, under Supt. E. F. Seyler of Manchester, N. H., and Supt. E. Forrestier of Lowell, was held at Canobie Lake park yesterday. It was the third annual outing in which the Prudential men from these two cities have participated, and like its predecessors was a delightful affair.

Immediately after arriving at the park a game of base ball between a picked nine of the Manchester staff and a nine from Lowell staff was played. The score was 5 to 7 in favor of Manchester. The Manchester battery was Superintendent Seyler and Agent Goodwin. Star plays were made by Assistant Fargo and Agent Hammond. Superintendent Seyler kept the hits well scattred. It was only by the hardest work that Manchester won as the Lowell pitcher was a star from college. The umpire was Dr. McIntosh of Lowell and Superintendent Forrestier carried water.

After the game some time was spent at the banquet table, and when cigars were lighted Superintendent Seyler, toastmaster, called on different members of each staff for remarks, which were heartily responded to. Among the invited guests were Superintendents Sullivan of Lawrence and Cook of Salem, Dr. H. P. Watson, medical referee for the company in New Hampshire, and Dr. McIntosh of Lowell, the company medical examiner. The Lowell staff returned at 9.02, well pleased with the day's outing.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

Convicts Shot Down by the Guards

By Associated Press to The Sun

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 4.—Four white convicts were shot at Pratt Mines prison, early this morning in an attempt to escape, the wounded men being Tom Fay, John Brewer, Richard Kinnebeck and Thomas Metzen. Brewer and Kinnebeck probably will die.

The men were serving terms ranging from two to twenty years. They had secured a quantity of dynamite and blew an opening in one end of the prison, through which they ran and hurled sticks of dynamite at the guards. The latter opened fire with rifles and succeeded in preventing what might have been a wholesale delivery.

James Hervey, serving 20 years, was the only one to escape.

The crowd was led by Tom Fay who was the youngest member of the famous Miller-Duncan gang of safe-blowers.

WILL RUN TRAINS

IMPORTANT DECISION OF STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 4.—Permission to run four of its St. Paul-Duluth trains via Carlton and West Superior was granted to Northern Pacific by the State Railroad & Warehouse commission yesterday. Two daily trains, however, must be run by way of the old St. Paul-Duluth line, which lies entirely within Minnesota.

The railroads in accepting the commission's offer agrees further to consider all traffic on trains run between the two cities as state commerce and subject to state regulations. This stipulation applies particularly to the four trains run via Carlton and West Superior. The Northern Pacific also agrees to re-open the Duluth Twentieth avenue station and give the people of West Duluth adequate train service by re-establishing a depot at Fifty-fifth avenue.

The order of the commission finally settles a long controversy between the North Pacific and City of Duluth.

The Fall River committee, consisting of David P. Keefe, chairman; Dr. John Gilbert and James Hargraves, secretary, coming to Boston, waited on Lieut-Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., and Colonel Sydney M. Hedges, commander of the Ancients and Honorable Artillery company, and concluded plans for the visit.

The Fall River visit will be incidental to a tour of points of interest in the east, which the visiting company is to make, under escort of a detachment of the Boston Ancients, West Point, N. Y., Washington, Niagara Falls Toronto and Montreal being included in the itinerary.

The committee from Fall River state that the city is prepared to give the Ancients a most hearty welcome and that its streets will be decorated and its leading citizens will insure a greeting long to be remembered.

The list of speakers at the banquet has not yet been prepared, but it is expected that the mayor of Fall River, Lieut. Governor Guild and others will make addresses and General Nelson Miles will be invited to be present.

TO LIMIT FOREIGNERS

SEEK EDUCATION IN GERMAN TECHNICAL SCHOOLS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, Sept. 4—Influential newspapers and magazines are urging the government to limit the number of foreigners instructed in the German technical high schools or more properly techinical universities which are overcrowded.

Out of a total of 14,642 students, 2,424 are foreigners. Nearly half of these are Russians and there are a few Americans. Besides giving trade competitors the benefit of German knowledge, the argument is advanced that the overcrowding prevents the Germans from getting the best results from the institutions.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

By Associated Press to The Sun

11 a. m.—The market was inclined to advance after the opening, but the bulge did not proceed far as the professionals quickly took the small profits. Atchison, Missouri Pacific, Southern Pacific, Erie, Reading and Southern Railway were the most active but did not vary in any instance more than one haf per cent. Metropolitan securities were advanced 1½.

Noon—There had been no sales of U. S. Steel pfd up to noon which is significant of the stagnant condition of the market. Gains of a point were scored by Atchison and General Electric, 1¼ by Reading second pfd., 1½ by Metropolitan Street Railway and 2 by Railway Steel Spring pfd. Colorado Fuel, Woolen pfd., and New York Chicago & St. Louis fell 1 and Minneapolis & St. Louis 2.

Bonds were firm.

1 p. m.—Atchison was bid up steadily and touched 66¾, a rise of over 2 points with some large blocks of the stock changing hands. The other grangers improved a further fraction and the coalers were also in better demand. Consolidated Gas advanced 1 and Northwestern 1½.

2 p.m.—The market maintained a rather strong undertone until well into the afternoon. Atchison continued to lead the day's rise, and crossed 67. Western stocks generally sympathized in the movement to the extent of a point or more. Colorado Fuel ran off 2¾ but the other metal stocks were not affected.

TWO BIG YACHTS

Will be Put Out of Commission

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The first steps towards putting Reliance and Shamrock III out of commission for the winter, were taken today when the Reliance left Sandy Hook for her former anchorage off the home of C. Oliver Iselin, at New Rochelle. As the successful cup defender passed through the harbor and East river, she was gayly dressed with many yachting designs and signal flags and was saluted by every steam craft as she passed. Later it is expected the Reliance will be taken to City Island to be hauled up for the winter.

The Shamrock lay inside Sandy Hook drying her sails and preparing to be put in trim for her long tow back to the Clyde. The crews of both yachts were given little work to do today.

CONGRESS OF ACTUARIES

DISCUSS PROTECTION OF WIVES AND CHILDREN.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—At the opening of the fifth day's sessions of the International Congress of Actuaries, discussion of one of Thursday's topics, the protection of wives and children against claim of creditors, was continued. J. G. Vaneise of New York said that nine-tenths of the policies issued in the United States give the life assured the privilege of changing beneficiaries, and he declared that in the past seven years, during which time that privilege had been accorded he has known of no case in which a wife and children have suffered on account of it.

Dr. Ernest Blascke's paper on the best plan for publishing government statistics concerning dangerous occupations and the mortality therein and the paper on the same subject by J. T. Harms Tiepen, of Amsterdam, evoked no discussion.

Dr. Van Scheviehaven spoke briefly on his paper on "The Closing of the Books by Companies Doing Business in Various Countries."

A paper by Dr. D. F. Lundgren of Stockholm, on "The Principal Laws of Sweden Regarding Reserves" was considered briefly, as was the paper by Miles Dawson of New York on "Valuation, in Actions for Damages for Negligence, of Human Life Destroyed or Impaired."

DOWN AT CONEY

The Police Found Lottie Woods

HAS BEEN MISSING SINCE EARLY SUMMER

She Left Boston With a Sailor

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Lottie Woods, 14 years old, who disappeared from her mother's home at 60 Berkeley street three months ago, was arrested Wednesday on Surf avenue, Coney Island. She had been at Coney Island only about 24 hours when Policeman Terence Meehan took her into custody. When taken to the Coney Island police station the girl gave a name other than her own, but later told the police who she was and also said she ran away from her Boston home with $113 which she took from her mother.

Mrs. Woods was notified of the arrest Wednesday night and left for New York to attempt to obtain her daughter's release. She appeared in the Coney Island court yesterday, but the girl was not released, as the society for the prevention of cruelty to children wished to make an investigation to be sure that she would be placed under proper restraint, that she might be free from temptation in the future.

Although very young, Lottie Woods, acording to the story she told Capt. Dooley of the Coney Island station, is rather precocious. She says she left Boston with her mother's money and a sailor named Muller. They first went to Providence, where the girl had relatives. She did not visit her relatives, nor did she send word home, but remained in Providence with the sailor several weeks.

From there she says she went to New York, because she wished to see what life in a large city meant. Her associations in New York are said by the police to have been unfortunate for her.

She has been low in funds for several weeks, and parted company with the sea-faring man with whom she left Boston. Then she drifted to Coney Island and there went to a resort which was recently raided.

When Lottie Woods was arrested she was accompanied by Annie Eichenberger, 16 years old, who lives in New York. Upon complaint of the Eichenberger girl the police arrested Frank Luzzi, 22 years old, of 23 Roosevelt street, Manhattan. Luzzi was arraigned before Magistrate Voorhees of the Coney Island court and held for further examination.

According to the Coney Island police Lottie Woods is only one of several hundred young girls from out-of-town places who have been picked up at the popular resort this season. She was recognized by Policeman Meehan from a description which the Boston police sent out several days ago.

Mrs. Woods, who has a lodging house at 60 Berkeley street, has been searching for her daughter for three months. She believed that the girl would be found by some charitable society when her funds were exhausted.

Two days ago the Boston police sent a request for a search of New York to the police there, it being supposed that her volatile disposition would lead her there.

Mrs. Woods told the officers of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children at Coney Island that if her daughter were released she would place her where she would be under restraint.

RULE UPHELD

PASSENGERS MUST SHOW COUPON TICKET BOOK.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—A single trip from West Roxbury to the city proper on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad cost Arthur Reeves about $10.14. This is the sum of his fine for refusing to comply with a rule of the railroad and the costs of court.

The rule which Mr. Reeves contested was that requiring holders of commutation ticket books to show the book on presenting a fare. He offered his ticket, but refused to show his book. The railroad made a test case of the matter and won, the case being tried in the district court and a finding of 11 cents being returned. The costs were $10.

Mr. Reeves will accept the finding of the court and drop the case.

SWORN CIRCULATION FOR AUGUST

The sworn daily average circulation of the Lowell Sun for the month of August, 1903, was 14,795 A gain of 1288 copies per day over the average for the year of 1902.

Sworn to by Martin H. Roidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman of The Sun, before me, Sept. 1, 1903.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Notary Public.

☞ This is a larger circulation than the combined circulation of all the other daily papers in Lowell.

☞ An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell, and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

It looks now as if the labor hosts will have an ideal day for their celebration.

There will be no Sun published on Labor Day. We intend to celebrate.

While it is well to scrutinize every bill that is presented for payment it is wholly unnecessary to make faces as the overseers of the poor are wont to do before paying the bills they contract in a proper way.

A mob in the South End of Boston tried to rescue a prisoner, Thursday night, and strange to say, the officers, despite Judge Emmons' order to shoot, depended upon the free use of their clubs.

The republicans of Boston are at their wits end to get some candidate to run up against Mayor Collins. None of the prominent men want the privilege, but there are several light-weights seeking the place. George N. Swallow, Judge Dewey and Michael Murray are among those already mentioned.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN TURKEY.

Today the guns of the American Squadron under Admiral Cotton point down over Beirut, but this move is offset by the Sultan's announcement that he can no longer guarantee the safety of the consulates at Constantinople. This is a serious threat. It is a notification that the warships are more necessary at Constantinople than at Beirut. This bodes trouble for the Turkish empire and it makes it incumbent upon the powers to take prompt action for the protection of Christians and foreigners in general.

THE MILLIONAIRE DEFENDANTS SET FREE.

The defendants in the Newark, N. J., case were acquitted as we anticipated. It is difficult to get such men corralled in court. Yet they cannot be convicted without evidence and the presiding judge said there was no evidence to show that they were guilty of criminal negligence. Still by the negligence of a motor man and conductor an electric car was run into by an express train and nine high school children killed. If the children had only been injured through negligence the company of which these men are the head would be held responsible by the court. When the children are killed by the worst kind of negligence nobody is to blame. It is queer how the law sometimes favors such men.

LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATION.

Monday will be Labor Day, a day when the dignity of labor is celebrated and a day also when the voice of labor is heard in advocacy of the rights of labor and of various reforms needed for the amelioration of the toilers' condition. The labor unions by harmonious and conservative action can exert great influence upon legislative bodies; but it will best serve the purposes of the labor union not to affiliate itself with any political organization. It will require also to keep aloof from certain isms and radical movements which can only have the effect of alienating public sympathy and in the long run lessening the efficacy and strength of labor bodies.

On Labor Day the toilers turn out in parade, the assumption being that by such demonstrations a greater impression can be made upon the public mind in regard to the demands of labor for a greater share of the wealth produced by toil, for a shorter work day and a general improvement in the condition of the toiler.

THE MACEDONIAN CAUSE.

Whether Macedonia shall win her freedom now or at some future day it must be admitted that her people show the right spirit. The proclamation issued by the insurgents has the ring of one of Patrick Henry's great appeals for liberty. It says:—

"The dawn of liberty peeps already above the Macedonian horizon and awaits this stroke to shine with its full brilliancy on the Macedonian land. Prepare yourselves then for this stroke. Be at your posts. The hour for the battle strikes. The cry of 'Liberty or Death' will break the chains of slavery and bring the triumph of justice."

That is a struggle and a proclamation to which every christian nation and people might extend its benediction. The spirit that inspires those patriotic words will be hard to crush. It is too bad that a single province must run the risk of annihilation by standing independently before an overwhelming Mohammedan foe.

COMPANIES RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR POLES.

The supreme court has handed down an important decision holding that all companies maintaining polls in the public streets are liable for damages caused by the presence of such poles, provided the injured party exercises due care. It has been generally assumed that the poles being stationary, quiescent and inoffensive, the owners cannot be responsible for damages in any form, but the ruling of the supreme court on this matter asserts that because a company has a franchise to maintain poles does not exempt such company from claims for injuries caused by such poles.

If one of the poles should break and injure somebody; or, if the crossbar should fall on the heads of passers-by, the company would naturally have to pay the damage. The justice of this seems self-evident; but it has to be cleared of a lot of confusing circumstances before its reasonableness appears with striking effect. The decision will probably cause the companies that string wires to be more careful knowing that they are not immune from actions of tort for injuries sustained on account of the poles.

THE CUP CONTESTS.

Sir Thomas Lipton has universal sympathy in his defeat in the cup race. He has spent $2,000,000 in his three contests for the America cup but without avail. He takes his defeat in a sensible way. Did he feel otherwise disposed the defeat might kill him. But he is the right kind of a sport and his failure was due to the fact that the American boat was faster under any kind of weather.

A list of the various contests showing the date of the races, the names of the contending boats, the corrected time and the defender's lead in each case shows that while Sir Thomas made a gallant contest for the cup some of the previous challengers did quite as well.

It is quite apparent that Shamrock III did not make as good a battle relatively for the cup as did several of the previous challengers.

The performance of the Reliance was uniformly superior to that of Shamrock III in all kinds of weather. Much has been said of the masterly work of the crew, but if the boat were not faster than Shamrock III no crew could urge her through the water. It is quite probable that the speed of both boats was well displayed in the work done, the assumption being that in each case the crew did good work.

Rules of the New England League

MANAGER GRAY WILL MAKE SOME CHANGES

Harry Hough Deserts the National League

Harry Hough, the little wonder, will play in Massachusetts this season.

Wiley Platt, formerly of the Boston Nationals, is one of the new men signed by Manager Stallings for the Buffalo team.

It is whispered that Bucky Lew and Fields may be among the missing in the lineup of the Lowell team, and there are others, too, who will get the go-by.

If John Smith goes to manage the Bristol, Pa., team as now seems probable, it is reported that he will offer several of last year's Manchester team a chance to play with the champions of the National league.

It begins to look as if Jimmie Redmond will get his end all right. He will fit in somewhere when the plums are being passed. Redmond knows too much about basketball and the men who play the game to be left out.

An important meeting of the New England basketball league is slated for Concord tomorrow. It is expected that at this meeting the formation of the league will be definitely determined, and that the franchises will be awarded in those cities where two or more claimants are after the prizes.

It was announced also that at this meeting rules for the government of the league would be adopted. Altogether it looks as if the meeting will do a great deal that will be of interest to followers of the game.

James Gray, who will manage the Lowell team in the league, has a number of applications from players of repute who want to work under his management. It is a matter of common knowledge among those who have followed the game and heard the remarks of visitors players that Mr. Gray stands well and will have no difficulty in getting good men in case he drops some of the old P. A. C. team which now seems very likely.

All of the star players of the Camden National Basketball league team, with the exception of Middleton and Bossert, have signed contracts to play in New England this season, deserting the National league team. Manager Godnow will place this strong team at Pittsfield, Mass.: Forwards—Harry Heugh, Trenton; Edward Feral, Camden; John, Ueal, Germantown,'a Pittsfield player, Centers Fred Mullner, Trenton; George Keenan, Philadelphia; a Pittsfield player, Defense—Winfield Kinkaide, Philadelphia; Harold Thomas, Philadelphia; Robert Mayham, Trenton; a Pittsfield player.

At the annual meeting of the National Basketball league there was a fight against the adoption of the proposed change in the rule concerning foul goals, the opposition winning out. The change if it had taken effect would have greatly altered the present style of play. Instead of giving a free throw each time a foul was called, the new rule would have made two fouls score one point. Many players objected to the new rule and some openly stated that they would not play with the new rule in vogue. By strong arguments the magnates were convinced that the rule was not the best thing for the game.

GIVES HER NAME

YOUNG WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN A BOAT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The young woman who was found unconscious in a small boat at one of the wharves in this city Thursday night and who, it was suspected had been drugged and robbed, was dismissed from the hospital to which she was taken, yesterday, having recovered. Before leaving she gave her name as May Simpson, and said that her widowed mother lived in Charlmont, Mass., and that she left some time ago intending to take a course in the New England Conservatory of Music. She came here but her plans were blotted by ill-health and she recently returned here from a visit to a married sister living in Portland, Maine.

Miss Simpson asserted that she had been robbed and believes that her condition was due to her having been given drugs of some sort by a woman and two young men whom she met for the first time Thursday night in a restaurant here and with whom she consented to pass a pleasant evening. She denies that she partook of any intoxicants.

400 VICTIMS

Bulgarians Suffered Terrible Loss in Fight With Turks

By Associated Press to The Sun

SALONICA, Sept. 5.—Details of the fighting between the Turks and Bulgarians at Lake Rapela, between Klissura and Kastoria, Sept. 1st, when the insurgents were defeated have been received here. Four hundred Bulgarians were killed and many captured, including the chiefs, Kohle and Manoloff. The third leader, named Charklaroff, escaped with the money that had been collected at Klissura. Two thousand five hundred troops are reported to be surrounding the rest of the band.

Fifteen thousand Bulgarian villagers have taken refuge in the mountains at Vitch between Florina and Kastoria. A revolt has begun at Razlog, fifty miles south of Sofia, in the Turkish province of Seres.

The railroad authorities are preparing twenty trains for the despatch of Albanian troops to Adrianople. Two battalions of Albanian levis have arrived at Salonica and eighteen other battalions are expected.

CONSUL'S PLACE

Change in System of Appointments

By Associated Press to The Sun

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—An important change of policy with respect to the making of appointments in the consular service has been decided upon by President Roosevelt. He discussed the change yesterday with Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis.

For many years it has been practically the uniform practice of presidents to appoint men to positions in the consular service substantially without reference to whatever previous experience they may have had. President Roosevelt after consultation with Secretary Hay, Assistant Secretary Loomis and members of his cabinet not immediately identified with the state department has determined to appoint hereafter to important places in the consular service men who already are in the service and have had that experience and training in minor positions which will render them the more capable of filling places of higher grade and greater importance.

The change in policy does not extend the civil service to the consular service and it does not extend, necessarily a consul's tenure of office at any particular place, but it is pointed out, it does give reasonable assurance to the manufacturing and commercial interests of the United States, which, particularly are interested in the extension of the country's foreign trade, that in a comparatively brief time all important consular situations will be filled not only by men of character and ability, but by men, who, by training and experience, are specially qualified to advance the trade interests of the United States.

Secretary Loomis discussed with the president several appointments in the service that are to be made soon. It is understood that of all the appointees will be men who now are filling places of lesser importance in the service. They are to be promoted and, in turn their places will be filled by men who have not had the experiences they have had.

THE GREAT EAGLE

"Big Tim" Sullivan Wins the Place

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan is now the head of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, having been elected grand worthy master at the convention in Tammany hall yesterday. The election was a spirited one, and there was lively campaigning from beginning to end. Sullivan's election had been expected, but many western contingents favored the election of Vice President Pulletir of Kansas City, and waged a vigorous fight to place him at the head of the order. In the first ballot Sullivan polled 392 votes, Pulletir 229 and Henry "Hy" Davis of Cincinnati 250. The two latter candidates then withdrew and the congressman's election was then made unanimous. A protest was made against the votes from Honolulu, which were represented by proxy by the California delegates. As the Hawaiian Islanders were in favor of Sullivan his adherents fought vigorously until the California delegates were permitted to vote for their distant neighbors. Cape Nome, Alaska, the states of Washington and Texas went solid for Sullivan. The congressman drew from all over the country, even the far western states sending him a good vote. Thomas Coogan of Cincinnati and John Kenny of Buffalo managed Sullivan's campaign.

OLYMPIA SINKING

It Was Feared Flagship Would Go Down

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 5—The cruiser Olympia, flying the pennant of Rear Admiral Coghlan, arrived at the Norfolk navy yard yesterday. Her bottom was inspected and she will be docked Wednesday for repairing the injuries received on rocks off the Maine coast. On the way down the coast in a storm it was thought at one time the Olympia was sinking. She ran into a heavy gale off Tomaston harbor and for a while fears were entertained that she might not be able to weather it in safety. Her water-tight compartments saw her safely through the blow, but not until it had become necessary to seek shelter in Tomaston harbor until the gale subsided. When the Olympia reached the Norfolk navy yard yesterday she was immediately boarded by Naval Constructor Evans and his force of assistants. Several of her plates were found to be cracked and broken and it was announced she would be docked Wednesday for repairs which will consume about seven weeks.

THE SULTAN OF TURKEY.

PORTE'S WARNING

Against Attack by the Bulgarian Bandits

TURKEY'S ACTION SATISFIES CONSUL AT BEIRUT

What Is Meant by "Turkish Waters"

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister, called on Secretary Hay yesterday to inform him that he had received from his foreign office official advices to the effect that the American consul at Beirut was entirely satisfied with the measures Turkey had taken to protect life and property there and to fire-distance and fort with respect with the assault on Vice-Consul Magelssen.

The Porte, in advising the foreign embassies and legations of the measures taken to protect them added a warning against Bulgarian bandits, who might attempt to elude the Turkish guards and attack the foreigners from within.

It is a matter of some comment that there are only about two hundred marines with European squadron but these with the Marines already in the service of the legation, and with the Turkish guards assigned to Minister Leishman, will, it is believed, prove sufficient for any emergency likely to arise.

Officials of the state department, commenting upon the item from Paris saying that ships of foreign powers would be sent to Turkish waters, stated that the United States was now sending ships to Turkish waters. The term "Turkish waters" does not mean Constantinople, they say and while the western portion of the Mediterranean might be covered with warships, it was possible that none of them would force the Dardanelles. After the Crimean war, a treaty was made which has been followed up by subsequent treaties which prohibits warships from entering the Dardanelles without the consent of Turkey and Turkey must have the assent of all the signatory powers. In 1868, Admiral Farragut with the flagship Franklin, was invited and ascended the Dardanelles and the powers protested.

Then it was determined that no vessel of war could enter the Dardanelles. There is a provision, however, that in case Turkey is at war with another power, she might admit the ships of a friendly power. This, it is said here, is directed at Russia.

In 1895, Turkey, under the treaty, refused to allow either the Marblehead or the Dancroft, American warships, to enter the Dardanelles.

Small ships of other nations are allowed in the Bosphorus, which have been sent through the Dardanelles, but these are called legation vessels and rated of little importance. However, they carry sailors which may be used for legation guards at any time. It is believed that in case the United States desired to send a launch or small vessel with a guard for the American legation Turkey would have a right to admit them to the Dardanelles without consulting and obtaining the permission of the powers.

CRISIS AT HAND

Missionaries Said to be in Danger

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Morning Post publishes a letter from its Constantinople corespondent in which he discusses the Beirut affair and the position of the American missionaries in Asia Minor. He says:

"Things have arrived at a crisis. The United States must either insist upon the Porte listening to its representations regarding American converts or drop the missionaries altogether. The latter course is naturally impossible and the sending of a squadron has great significance as showing a determination on the part of America to take active part in the Turkish question. One result of this step will probably be to induce the sultan to raise his representative at Washington to the rank of an ambassador so that the United States can be equally represented here. At present America is at a decided disadvantage in this respect compared with the other first class powers. Nobody can quite foresee the ultimate attitude of the United States, but it is almost certain that her weight will incline on the side of the Christian against the Turks.

BATTLESHIP BELLE ISLE

TORPEDOED AND SANK AT HER MOORINGS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 5.—The old battleship Belle Isle was torpedoed here yesterday and sank at her moorings. For the purposes of the experiment a section had been constructed on the port side of the Belle Isle representing the side of a modern battleship. This was filled with an American invention which, it was claimed, would prevent a ship from sinking when the hull is penetrated below the water line. When the vessel was struck a huge column of water enveloped her. She rolled heavily and then settled down with a list of ports. The Belle Isle will be raised for further experiments. It is said the damage done to the ship's bottom is extensive.

WHITE SLAVES

Little Greek Boys Sold for Small Sums

By Associated Press to The Sun

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 5—White slavery is practiced in Michigan cities by an oath-bound organization with headquarters at Kalamazoo. The escape Thursday morning of a 13-year-old bootblack from his master, Anthony Demers, owner of a Greek bootblacking place in the city, and the latter's anxiety to recapture the child, have revealed the methods practiced by the society.

Every year boys are being picked up on the streets of Greek cities, it is said, and sold into slavery in this country. The purchasers are mostly Greek shoe shiners, who pay from $60 to $80 for a 6 or 8 year-old boy for the first year; the second year the price is advanced $25 and each succeeding year a small advance is made until the boy is of age, when the "boss" must take his chances with his protege.

This was the fate of Nicholas Demoggeor, who was shipped from Greece to Kalamazoo 17 months ago and who, after suffering many indignities, made his escape Thursday morning. Peter Saranton, a Greek, 25 years old, who has spent the greater part of his life as a shoe shiner without compensation, took pity on the youngster and ran away with him.

Anthony Demers and his brother Alexander are at the head of a shoe shining organization which operates "parlors" in Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson, South Bend, St. Joseph, Benton Harbor and Chicago. With a few exceptions the work of polishing shoes is all done by little Greek boys whose ages range from 6 to 18 years.

The "bosses" society is not incorporated, but an agreement in the nature of an oath is said to be entered into between the operators. When Demers returned, the early part of this week, from a collection trip, he charged the boy with stealing a small sum while he was gone and it is alleged used very stringent measures, which led the boy to run away.

Demers has admitted all the foregoing facts to Kalamazoo officials. It is likely that arrests will follow and the case may involve instances in many cities throughout the country. Demers justifies himself in the slave practice by claiming that Greek parents do not care anything about their children and are glad to have them come to this country.

HAD LAY-OFF

Lowells Enjoyed a One Day Rest

Pitcher Bushey Went Home for Only One Game and Will Finish Out the Season With Lowell—Other Games Yesterday

The Lowell team had a lay-off yesterday and some of the boys went to Nashua to see that team work. Lew Cross remained at his home in Manchester, N. H., where his father is very ill.

Manager Lake was in communication with Pitcher Bushey at Waterville, Me., and Bush will be back today for the remainder of the season. Bushey's home is in Waterville and when that city sent him a tempting offer to pitch one game he accepted it immediately. Then he was afraid that Lake might not let him go so he decided to go and ask permission afterward. He had no intention, however, of jumping the team for all time. So Bushey will be back for the remaining games.

Concord will be the victims this afternoon and as they were ever Lowell's jonahs a good game should result.

CLOSE GAME

PLAYED BY FALL RIVER AND LAWRENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

FALL RIVER, Sept. 5.—Fall River won a hard fought game from Lawrence yesterday by the score of 2 to 1. Edwards was batted harder than Klobedanz but kept the hits well scattered. CONCORD WENT DOWN

BEFORE THE HEAVY HITTING OF NASHUA.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 5.—Concord went down before the heavy hitting of the home team yesterday. The work of the visitors in the field was indifferent. Nashua played snappy ball throughout. Soffel at second made a sensational stop and putout. Jordan led in batting. Wiley injured his hand in the second inning and was replaced by Eaton.

LICKED AGAIN

HAVERHILL SUFFERS ANOTHER DEFEAT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 5.—The Haverhill club was beaten by New Bedford in an uninteresting game yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 4. Smith, who pitched for the visitors, had poor support while Silvia was steady at critical times. The chief feature of the game was Manager A. G. Fox, who played right field for New Bedford. He made a hit that scored a run, and threw out a base runner at third base. John Welsh, who was once left fielder of the New Bedfords, played right field two innings. He got a horse shoe of flowers and that's all.

Score by innings:

DIAMOND NOTES.

Concord at Lowell.
Nashua at Manchester.
Lawrence at Fall River.
Haverhill at New Bedford.

Hooker will roll them over today against his old companions.

Fall River and Haverhill will play double-headers at Spalding Park next week.

"Lew" Cross is the "Cy" Young of the New England league. He has won 21 games for Lowell and is pitching great ball.—Boston Herald.

Fred Lake is not sorry that he took Buck Hooker in when Concord dropped him. He is doing great work in the finish of the pennant fight.

Connors is playing a decidedly fast game at second for Lowell. His work at Manchester on Tuesday was brilliant in the extreme.—Boston Herald.

Sammy March of the Lawrence team has been sold to the St. Louis Nationals and will report at the close of the New England league season.

McLean was back in the game at Nashua yesterday despite the fact that Jordan, Pastor, Soffel and Daum don't want him back.

If Lowell wins the pennant the team will play a series of five or seven games with Holyoke, champions of the Connecticut league. Manager Lake has accepted Holyoke's challenge.

Ed Ashenbach wants Joe Kelley to take big Jack McLean who was with Jimmy Collins a couple of years ago. McLean is big enough to scare Jack, the Giant Killer.—Sporting Life.

The Lawrence Eagle has it that Coveney is the premier backstop in the league. How about Cote, Merritt, Berry and McLean? Coveney can't hold a candle to any of these boys when it comes to all-around work.—Haverhill Gazette.

"Tony" Pastor of Nashua comes very near to being the best all-around shortstop in the league. He is a steady, sure, consistent performer, a good base runner and an excellent batsman.—Boston Herald.

The Nashua ball management has sold Catcher McLean to Chicago, the price being $500. The big fellow will go West at once. He is by far the ablest backstop which the New England league has had this year.—Nashua Cor. Manchester Union.

The Nashua bunch, according to the New Bedford Mercury, will have to sleep out in lots when they make their next stay in the Whaling city. It's pretty tough for a bunch to carry the reputation they've got, for it's equally bad in every city on the circuit. They seem to be "de limit."—Fall River Globe.

They say that Cozzie Murphy was not popular in New Bedford but when Lawrence went there last week, his many friends had planned to present him with a mammoth floral horse-shoe. The rain prevented the presentation, but there will be something to take its place this week when the team goes to New Bedford again.

It is expected that Manager John F. Smith will return to his old home in Bristol, Pa., to pass the coming winter instead of remaining in Manchester, as he did last season. Mr. Smith has put in a bid for the Bristol franchise in the National Basket Ball league and it is expected that he will receive it. Then he will probably get together his old team that won the National league championship two years ago and play basket ball there next winter. The local basket ball interests are in the hands of an association of which Smith is a member and his presence will not be necessary.

A despatch from Haverhill says that President Linehan has received a letter from Charlie Ganzel in which he states that he will buy the local club, providing his brother, John Ganzel, can secure his release from the New York Americans, and it is the opinion that the management of the New York club will not stand in the way of Ganzel bettering himself. This is the one condition that the deal now hinges upon, and it is expected that Ganzel will know in a few days as to his future. According to President Linehan, the terms are satisfactory to both parties concerned. It is understood that both Ganzels will control the team and Hamilton is expected to be with them.

What Jake Morse thinks: Hooker is helping Lowell hold its lead in good style. Graham comes very near filling the bill in Manchester. Mr. Whiting woke up the wrong passenger in Umpire Kerin. Pretty race between Fall River, New Bedford and Haverhill. Manchester will have to brace up to maintain championship honors. Young Greene of Concord is one of the best youngsters in the league. The talk that umpires have it in for this club or that is the silliest twaddle. Lawrence is making a fast finish and now has a team that will give any a battle. Murphy of Haverhill is certainly as good an all round third baseman as there is in the league. Lowell will again try to win at Manchester today; this will end the series between the two clubs. Tom McCarthy is evidently anything but all in. He would be a great man for some team in 1904. Connors is playing a decidedly fast game at second for Lowell. His work at Manchester on Tuesday was brilliant in the extreme. Jack Carney still clings to his .303 percentage. No first baseman in the country can show anything better in the number of games played.—Concord Monitor.

JUVENILE DIAMOND.

Gene McCarthy, the well-known Collinsville sport, has been asked to pitch for Milford Labor Day. Although Gene is still in his teens, he is there with the goods, and he will very likely accept the invitation. He has already demonstrated that he is fit for faster company and will certainly make good with Milford. He will be accompanied by his trainer and bottle washer, Denis A. O'Brien, the well-known "Lobster."

A MIGHTY HEALER

CURES THE SICK BY MYSTIC POWER

YOU CAN KNOW HIS SECRET FREE

Marvelous New Treatment Which Conquers All Diseases

You Can Be Cured at Home—Generous Offer of Prof. Adkin

PROF. THOMAS F. ADKIN.

"I consider it a crime to experiment with the health of the people," says Prof. Thomas F. Adkin, president of the Institute of physicians and surgeons. "If I did not know positively and absolutely that my new home treatment will cure every known disease, even when all other methods of treatment fail, I would consider I was committing a crime to make such a statement to the public. Nothing is so precious to a man as his health—nothing so horrible as an untimely grave. Little ills, if not promptly cured, often result in obstinate chronic diseases. I believe that my new discovery, 'Vitaopathy,' is the most marvelous treatment ever known, and I intend to give its secrets to the world. I intend that every man, woman and child shall know its teachings. I propose to tell the sick, absolutely free of charge, how they may be restored to perfect health. I would rather be a benefactor to the sick than to have the wealth of Croesus."

The above are remarkable words, but those who know Prof. Adkin and have tried his treatment can vouch for their absolute truthfulness.

"I was nearly dead with liver and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. S. Robinson, 1510 Westminster street, Providence, R. I. "The doctors had given me up to die. You can imagine what a state of mind I was in. I could not attend to business, and began to think my days were numbered. I read the wonderful cures Prof. Adkin had effected by his great discovery Vitaopathy, and as a forlorn hope wrote to him just the condition I was in, mentally and physically. He gave me a clear diagnosis of my case and didn't charge me a cent for it. He prescribed a treatment which I began with little or no faith, but I am happy to state that I am now completely cured, and am a firm believer in Vitaopathy. From my own personal experience I believe Prof. Adkin can almost raise the dead."

Mrs. A. J. Clefried, Stowe Creek, O., writes this grateful letter: "I was affected with a severe case of Eczema and Nettle Rash, which spread over my whole body. The itching and stinging at times was almost unendurable. I wrote Prof. Adkin, and in four days after I began following the free advice he gave me the itching began to subside and the eruptions dried up rapidly. In ten days I was permanently cured. I feel better now than I have for the past ten years. The free advice of Prof. Adkin gives a blessing to those who cannot afford to pay big doctor's bills."

Prof. Adkin says: "I sympathize with the sick. I want to make every chronic invalid well. I want to prove what my treatment will do. I want every sick person in this country to write me personally. Tell me the leading symptoms of your disease, and I will at once make a thorough diagnosis of your case and outline a method of treatment which will positively cure you. This will cost you absolutely nothing. I will also send you a copy of my new book, 'How to be Cured and How to Cure Others,' postage prepaid. You are not out a single cent. Write me in confidence fully and freely about yourself." Address PROF. THOS. F. ADKIN, Office 781, Rochester, N. Y.

SALEM PLAYOUT

MANCHESTER IS STILL TALKING ABOUT IT.

Says the Manchester Union:

The soap-bubble has burst, and the cause of Uncle Sam's 174-foot squirt at Salem has returned to the realm of horrid mystery. Foreman Frank H. Harvey says that soap is a good thing for leather; that it was made for leather, in fact; that, while nobody knew it, he had used soap for the purpose of lubricating the cylinders of Uncle Sam ever since he had been foreman of the machine; and that he, and he alone, knows just why the crack tub of the Manchester Veteran Firemen's association fell down on Aug. 20, and that he won't tell.

Mr. Harvey admits that something went wofully wrong with the machine a few days before it went to Salem, but he declares that it wasn't the soap that was at the heart of the trouble. He says that he has correctly diagnosed the case and has applied the remedy, but that no one knows either the disease or the cure. To be sure, when Uncle Sam dropped from an average of 290 feet down to 150, just before it went to Salem, Mr. Harvey is said to have confidently told some of the members of the association that the soap had been put into the cylinders and that he knew a mistake had been made, and he was one of a party that took the machine to pieces and did everything they could to rinse the soap out, but this evidently has no hearing on the case whatever, since soap is a good lubricant for plunger leathers. These facts were called to the foreman's attention, however, as was the one that when the tub was pulled upon the platform at Salem the foreman knew and said that it had no chance to win, but no satisfactory answer was elicited, because, you see, the whole thing is a deep, dark mystery.

If Uncle Sam would only speak. Then the public that has believed in, rooted for and bet on the tub could know just what microbe got into its internal organization and weakened its pumping power. Mr. Harvey says he knows, but Mr. Harvey won't tell. All the believing, rooting, betting public knows is that the tub fell down in a most humiliating manner at Salem, and that just about 90 per cent. of its pumpers believe that soap did it. Mr. Harvey knows the machine fell down, indeed, he seems to be pretty sure it was going to before it mounted the platform, but he says that soap didn't do it. Now if only Uncle Sam could give a hint, how all this mystery could be cleared up.

Since the much-experimented-on tub cannot speak, the question seems to be up to the experts. Perhaps, after all, Mr. Harvey is right and soap is a good thing for leather. The foreman pointed with pride to the harnesses of the Engine 1 team, when he was discussing this subject on Thursday, and called attention to the fact that he washed them with soap and that it was just what the leather needed. He said also that experienced engineers had told him that soap was a proper lubricant for pump plungers.

WHISKEY AND BEER HABIT

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE"

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary—simple, inexpensive, harmless and sure. Can be given secretly if desired. We will refund the money if it fails.

Mr. E. T. Sims, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Use my name as a 20-year drunkard restored to manhood and health by four boxes of 'ORRINE.' It is a wonderful and marvelous cure for the drink habit."

Mrs. E. Wycliff, New York city, writes: "'ORRINE' cured my husband, who was a steady drunkard for many years. He now has no desire for stimulants, his health is good and he is fully restored to manhood. He used only five boxes of 'ORRINE.'"

Mrs. W. L. D., Helena, Mont., writes: "I have waited one year before writing you of the permanent cure of my son. He took sanitarium treatment, as well as other advertised cures, but they all failed until we gave him 'ORRINE.' He is now fully restored to health and has no desire for strong drink."

Mrs. C. L. R., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I am satisfied that drunkenness is a disease and the worst in the world. 'ORRINE,' in my opinion, will cure any case if taken as you direct. I was a common drunkard for 20 years, but today I am free of any desire for liquor. You have found the specific. God bless you!"

Mr. A. E. L., Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was born with a love of whiskey and drank it for 32 years. It finally brought me to the gutter, homeless and friendless. I was powerless to resist the craving and would steal and lie to get whiskey. Four boxes cured me of all desire and I now hate the smell of liquor."

Price $1 per box. 6 boxes for $5. Mailed in plain, sealed wrappers by Orrine Company, 817 14th street, Washington, D. C. Interesting booklet, sealed, free on request. Sold and recommended by Ellingwood & Co., Barristers hall, Lowell, Mass.

GUEST OF PILGRIMS

Sir Thomas Lipton Praises Enterprise of Americans

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Sir Thomas Lipton was the guest of honor of the Pilgrims of the United States at a dinner given in his honor last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. Nearly one hundred and fifty men, prominent in many walks of life were present. Sir Thomas arrived at 7.45 and for half an hour the gallant owner of Shamrock III received his friends. Then Sir Thomas escorted by George T. Wilson, who was to preside, led the way from the reception room to the tables. At either end of the hall was hung Sir Thomas' private emblem—the Shamrock on a field of yellow, surrounded by a green border—while above the guests' table were draped the flags of Great Britain and the United States. Bunches of red roses on each table and greens on the walls completed the decorations. Surmounting the menus which bore the flags of Sir Thomas and the Royal Ulster Yacht club was a cardboard yacht, which bore no name.

In order to enliven affairs somewhat at the outset the guests sang a little song to the refrain of "Mr. Dooley," which told of the virtues of Sir Thomas and his enduring efforts to lift the cup.

There had been arranged no formal speeches but the following were called upon: George T. Wilson, Sir Thomas Lipton, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, Gen. H. C. Corbin, Col. Henry Watterson, ex-Gov. Thomas of Colorado and Senator A. E. Cates.

With Sir Thomas at the guests' table sat the Arch-Earl of Shaftesbury, Commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht club; Commodore F. C. Bourne, General H. C. Corbin, William Fife, Rear-Admiral Rodgers, Col. Henry Watterson, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, George T. Wilson and ex-Gov. Thomas.

Mr. Wilson presided at the dinner in the absence of Bishop Potter, the president of the society.

When the ices were served a procession of waiters marched in to a popular air bearing traps crowned with gilded harps, full-rigged models of Reliance and Shamrock and easels with figures of hacks. Mr. Wilson addressing Sir Thomas, said that his attitude had struck a responsive chord in every heart.

"As a loser," said he, "you are a corker. You will ever have the admiration, love and regard of all Americans."

Sir Thomas was given many hearty rounds of cheers when he arose. He said:

"We are all more or less pilgrims here tonight and I'd like to feel that I am not a stranger among you.

"As regards the cup races, we have been beaten fairly and squarely, and I congratulate America on having the better boat. I wish to take occasion here to express my thanks for the courteousness and kindness shown me by the New York Yacht club. I am especially grateful for the admirable way in which the course was kept clear.

"I have heard much comment for and against the Sandy Hook course. It is as good a course as any others, nay, there is no other course in the world like it.

"I am beginning to think that there is some magic spell about that 'blooming old cup.' Two years ago I had it almost within my grasp, but it escaped me then as it has escaped me now, and it seems as far off as ever. But my motto has always been, 'Try, try again.'

"Although I have been without success each time I have tried, I do not despair that some day we shall have success in capturing that famous trophy, although I must confess that we appear now to be more than a little bit astern.

"Herreshoff is the greatest designer of the age but I am still very hopeful that I will see that cup on the other side yet.

"America is a very hard country to beat and I know it. I am a very disappointed man but still I have the consolation that both conquerors and conquered belong to the same good old race. The cup is still in the family, only it is held by a younger and more go-ahead generation.

"Gentlemen, while I lost the cup, or rather did not succeed in winning it, I have not lost the esteem and good-will of my American friends, which esteem and good-will I reciprocate in the very highest degree possible. My feeling of gratitude for this spirit is great beyond expression. I shall bear in my heart the remembrance of your kindly acts for all time. I am sure that as the days and years roll by these contests will not have been held in vain if they make us realize that wherever we are, the world over, we shall 'Brothers be for a'that.'"

After speeches had been made by the Earl of Shaftsbury, Gen. Corbin and Col. Watterson, Gen. Wheeler spoke.

LAPPONI HONORED

POPE CONFERRED ON HIM TITLE OF COMMENDATORE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 5.—Pius X, in order to show his appreciation of the services Prof. Lapponi rendered to the late pontiff during his trying illness, yesterday conferred on him the title of commendatore.

His holiness accompanied the conferring of the honor by a very flattering letter to the doctor and insisted on personally bestowing the title, saying to Dr. Lapponi:

"My predecessor had many peaceful years to thank you for."

"May your holiness have as many," replied the doctor.

"Well, I do not know that I would echo that wish," said the pope with a smile.

BOSTON THEATRE.

On next Monday afternoon the Boston theatre will be opened for the season. Mr. J. H. Tibbetts will manage the theatre as he has during the past two seasons. During this time Mr. Tibbetts has built up a patronage that taxes his theatre's seating capacity at nearly every performance. The shows billed at this theatre have been good, clean, amusing shows. The success of the theatre has been built on the recognition by Mr. Tibbetts that the public want their money's worth and that they want the clean vaudeville show.

Mr. Tibbetts has been at Willow Dale Park the past summer superintending the stage show there this being his second season there. His attractions have been good and only the terrible weather has kept the season at that resort from being an overwhelming success.

His bill for the opening performance at the Boston theatre is a good one and includes one of the funniest coon teams that have appeared in Lowell, Wells and Wells. Chamberlain is billed as a comedy trick bicycle rider and those who have seen him work say that he is the best ever. Harrison and Southard are two young ladies that sing and dance in a clever manner. These girls have youth, beauty and talent in their favor and should make a great hit. George I. Foster, a blackface comedian, Marquand, a clever juggler and the Boston Bioscope are features of the bill, making in all one of the best bills ever staged for the prices charged.

Catherine Talbot Foresees a Future For the Ruche

PARIS, Aug. 15.—I have told you lately about the prevalence of the fascinating ruche. I have it on excellent authority that everything will be ruched for the next six months. All the fete frocks show the revival of this dainty fashion. Muslin, taffeta and chiffon are all trimmed with ruches of various thicknesses and I am told that velvet also will be treated the same way. Yet, in spite of flounces and ruches and all sorts of frippery around the feet, cloth skirts are kept very plain at the top, and everything indicates the return of the tight skirt, popularly known as the "pullback," at least as far down as the knees. Then it is extended to the breadth of about twelve yards around the feet. Truly this sort of skirt must be cut by a modiste who is a genius as well as an artist.

How beautiful is a mixture of the 1830 and fifteenth century fashions! The colorings are so exquisite and the workmanship so beautiful. Bodices are nearly all made in blouse fashion, the waist line defined by a pointed sash or band.

All the best frocks worn by the elegantes are exquisitely graceful, and these soft, clinging fabrics can stand any amount of tucking and ruching.

Taffeta, both in black and pale shades, is enjoying a great popularity for fete gowns and various afternoon entertainments.

Trouville this year has been very gay, and the frocks seen there perfectly marvelous. A friend of mine writes from there that it has been a "red" season and that it made her warm to look at the frocks, but judging from what one sees at the leading tailors it appears to be a white season and the indications are that white will be worn quite into the autumn. Red is very pretty at the seaside, especially in linen and voile. One frock of red voile is made quite plain, with two bands of red taffeta running round the skirt in a simple Greek pattern, also down the front of the blouse shaped waist.

French sailor and plateau hats are worn with the walking skirt. Picture hats with ostrich plumes are reserved for fete wear. As I told you in my last letter, strings are much worn. The 1830 bonnet will be among the autumn fashions, and it is said that brown will be the prevailing color, although the beautiful shades of pastel blue will not be easily dispensed with.

I hear that the opening of the casino at Dinard's was exceedingly well attended and that many English and American women were there. There are some pretty Americans over here, buying the largest quantity of garments for every occasion. In fact, I wonder how they can take about trunks enough to carry them. They have such dainty lingerie and morning robes! They seem to prefer beautiful fabrics simply made and are very complete in their toilets. Their petticoats perhaps are more elaborate than anything else. They affect the "tailor made" for nearly all outdoor occasions, reserving the elaborate frocks for afternoon wear.

I must describe at least one of the charming toilets which I saw in preparation for Aix and Homburg. This was in white china silk, inserted with medallions of black chantilly lace, with an outer edge of coarse cream colored Irish crochet. The bodice was made in blouse fashion, with a double pelerine collar, cut open, showing a vest made of lace medallions. The shaped hip piece was also outlined with these medallions. They were continued down the front and around a flounce, which was put on just below the knee with a series of gaugings. A pretty shaped gold waistband finished the costume. Gold and silver waistbands are a feature just now, though to my mind the black panne belt is one of the most charming fashions.

The exit from Paris at the beginning of the Trouville season was more marked than ever this year, owing to the lengthened stay made in the capital by some of the society leaders. The nearness to Paris of many of the chateaux makes a rapid visit in the automobile possible for special occasions. The dress worn, therefore, during a stay in the country is almost the same as for the city. There is a studied negligee in the donning of these costumes and in the lounge dress adopted by the men. At the same time a Parisienne displays as much art in gowning herself for the country as for the city's more fashionable functions. The linens which have been trimmed with the most beautiful laces and embroideries are being replaced for the early autumn by linens less embellished. Simple stitching and "a jour" work or colored embroidery, however, render them quite as attractive as those seen earlier in the season. With a white plaited skirt and blouse for the morning a linen collar and lace cravat are worn, or a plain neckband of black ribbon is crossed in front, falling from a clasp in two tasseled ends. Another pretty effect is obtained by outlining the linen or batiste shoulder collar in coral pink embroidery. A plain white canvas linen of a coarse weave makes a very stylish dress, the bolero and skirt being trimmed with braiding in rather a severe design. Braiding in soft soutache on a linen gown is remarkably pretty and not the least heavy looking, as one might imagine.

Bright colored leather belts, worn with a plain blouse of cambric or linen, are very smart. Scarlet, green and blue are fashionable colors for these popular belts, while a cravat and shoes of the same color generally complete the costume.

WHAT THE PARISIAN FASHIONABLES ARE WEARING.

Lace still holds an important place in the toilet for afternoon, fete or country visiting. Antique lace, which is very suitable for linen and cotton fabrics, is much worn. Even voile dresses are trimmed with it. Colored laces are also used. I have seen them in pastel blues, brown, tan and red.

Among some toilets made for a well known chatelaine were three which struck me as being particularly pretty. The first was in ecru canvas linen. The plaited skirt was trimmed with scarlet and white "a jour" work and also inserted with white guipure. The long, basqued coat had a triple lace shoulder cape and was decorated with large button pastelles of white braid. The second was a practical trotteuse costume of blue alpaca. The plaited skirt came from a hip piece with a front panel fastened with tabs, which were piped with colored linen and decorated with little buttons. Buttons also decorated the plaits at intervals. The bolero had a pelerine collar and was trimmed also with strappings and small buttons. A high reinture of black taffeta finished a white blouse, worn beneath the bolero. The third was a dressy toilet in pastel mauve linon de lule. A broad entre deux of ecru filet lace crossed the shoulders, while panels of mauve taffeta trimmed with broderie anglaise down the skirt simulated a tunic.

The indications are that both skirts and coats for the autumn will be shorter. I should not be the least bit surprised if next summer we were wearing short, sprightly looking muslins, for the trailing frocks are already tinged with a savor of yesterday. The short muslins will be charming enough if they are not stiffened, but rendered springy instead by a stiffened petticoat. It seems inevitable that with short skirts should come also a firmer skirt line.

Parisians are at present much enamored of "liberty," a beautiful, soft, lustrous satin. I saw the other day in Paquin's a pale blue liberty frock with scroll ornaments of fine blond lace insertion on the skirt. It had elbow sleeves of blond lace and spotted net and creme guipure about the decollettage. Scrollwork has caught the fancy over here and it is carried out by lace or taffeta ruches. I saw a frock of double white chiffon, the scrollwork done in little frillings of inch wide valenciennes. The skirt was gathered around the waist with corded gaugings, and the little frills, repeated on the bodice, terminated each side of the front in wheel-like rosettes, with paste button centers. Another frock in very fine pink voile had four sweet little narrow ruches of taffeta of the same color running around the bottom of the skirt. The low bodice was bordered by three lines of the pink silk ruching, each line twirled round to form a loop at the top of the elbow sleeves. The ruche shares popularity with the wide tuck, set two or three at intervals around the skirt. The up to date skirt is gathered into the waist round the sides and back. The gathering need not be very full and the skirts may be "loaded" at the base to make them fall straight.

The dwarf sash is another feature of the frock. What cunning little things they are, these taffeta belts, with their clever little bows and short ends at the back! I saw a simple pale gray voile the other day, which owed the most of its charm to the dwarf sash and cravat, also a cunningly contrived thing of taffeta and panne pipings with lace. It had, however, a Greek key arrangement around the skirt and bodice and illustrated another feature of the gathered skirt, which of course must have its trimmings running round instead of lengthwise, to the distress of the suffering stout woman, against whom all fashions appear to militate at present. CATHERINE TALBOT.

Fashions In China.

Chinese ladies never rejoice in the dainty fashions of pretty cottons, as their European sisters do, but year in year out they are attired in silk, for cotton is of no account in the Celestial empire, being considered only fit for the coolies, who dress in it entirely.

Chinese dress does not call for any great ingenuity on the part of the makers, for in form it is always the same. A lady's first garment is a plain piece of silk fastened round the waist to form an apron, which laps over at the back. In the place of this poor women wear a sort of cotton "front," which covers the chest, but has no back. Next come the underjacket and the overjacket, the trousers, the apron and the foot gear. The last consists of bandages and tiny shoes for the "little footed" or a "cotton boot" and shoes of sensible size for the uncrippled peasant woman.

In cold weather the number of jackets worn is increased, the heaviest being outermost, which is padded and quilted or fur lined. For outdoor wear a sleeveless overjacket, known as a "front and back," is used.

The Sleeve Dog.

There is at present in Paris a tiny Chinese dog called Mei-Ho. He is the property of a French lady, but formerly belonged to the Chinese imperial family. After the invasion of Peking the tiny spaniel was found hereft of his family. He is happy once again, for his mistress is devoted to him and carries him inside her wide coat sleeve, to the envy of her friends.

A Vienna Toilet

THIS pretty costume is in lavender silk voile, with incrustations of cream embroidery and drawn thread insertion. The bolero is made of box plaits stitched down. It has a scalloped collar and puffed sleeves of fine white lawn.

A Use For Long Lace Scarfs.

The old, long lace scarfs can be utilized beautifully for the new ruffle. This ruffle, or pelerine, is cut wide on the shoulders, forming almost a cape, the foundation being generally of taffeta or glace. On this is placed an edging of chenille or feather trimming; then comes another large, plaited ruffle of accordion plaited chiffon to tone with the taffeta, and over this a scarf of real lace, caught on both shoulders and at the waist with a fantastic clasp or buckle. The further addition of a soft colored ribbon tie may be added. Now this makes a really smart finish to a dainty summer gown. It is lightening touches of this sort that are such necessary additions to one's wardrobe.

Little Things Which Tell.

The woman who is careful to have her collar, tie, waistband and other trifles neat and to harmonize, and whose dress is always chosen with view to the work or pleasure which she has on hand, is generally a woman worth cultivating. She attracts by her smart and businesslike appearance in the first place, and then by her well ordered mind and business capacities. One is but the reflection of the other.

How to Utilize Oil Lamps to Best Advantage

THE oil lamp is used as well in the city as the country, partly on account of the ease with which it may be moved from place to place and stationed just where the light will best fall on the book or work in hand and partly on account of the quality of the light which a good oil burner gives and the opportunity it offers for delightful shades and soft, pleasing effects in colors and designs. It is well known that different colors affect both the eyes and the spirits. Red is said to be hurtful to the eyes, but the prettiest light in the world is that which comes softly though a crimson shade. It is so wonderfully cozy. When the wind howls outside and the rain patters against the windows, cheering is the influence of a roseate light, shed on table and furniture, just tinging the walls and touching the pictures, flushing with its pleasant glow lace curtains and dainty china and bric-a-brac and calling up delightful visions in spite of the weather. No light, it seems, could be more conducive to rest and reverie, to pleasing fancies or comfortable repose.

Next in the list of colors comes yellow—the deep, rich yellow of the daffodil, which will flood the room with a golden glory, fairly bring mirth and laughter to the conversation and impart an almost joyous brightness to the atmosphere. One could half close the eyes and imagine oneself reveling in a field of daffodils and sunshine.

But the colors which are best for the eyesight are blue and green. As to blue, though some of the delicate tones are dainty and charming in themselves, yet somehow the light shed by a blue shade is cold and depressing. Delft is one of the prettiest things in blue, though I have seen most exquisite effects in other tones. One particularly dainty lamp I once noticed was a high, slender, vase shaped affair with a beautiful design in forgetmenots and slender renaissance scrolls in gold on a white background. The moon shaped globe was lavishly decorated with the same design. As a work of art it was simply lovely, and of course shed a pure white light.

Green, besides being restful and beneficial to the eyes and soothing to the system, makes a most pleasing light. A beautiful green lamp which I lately saw had a large globe on which was painted a rural scene. The bank of a stream, a meadow pathway, the green of the trees, the blue of the sky and the bright reddish brown of a peasant's dress made a picture one might never tire of gazing upon. The light coming through the colors gave the effect of a bright sunshine. You could really almost hear the water splash and the birds sing. To fall asleep gazing upon it would certainly mean to dream of brooks, trees, flowers and sunshine.

Each color has so many charms peculiarly its own that one might almost wish to have a number of shades to suit the various moods. And this would not be quite so expensive as may at first appear. Some of the best color effects are obtained by silk and paper shades, which can be easily constructed by the deft fingers of the clever housewife, and colors may be chosen which are the most pleasing to the eye or in accord with the mood or the temperament. Some of the more complicated of these shades are composed of flower petals and flowers in silk. They are made on wire frames which may be purchased almost anywhere. These are first covered with the silk or thin white muslin and then with large rose petals, cut after a good pattern and sewed on in rows so as to completely hide the foundation. At the top is a cluster of silk roses with their leaves. If odd colors are chosen, one should first select the roses and then purchase the silk to match, which, of course, should be thin, soft silk, such as china, india or liberty satin. A cluster of roses of different colors could be used, in which case none of them need be of the exact shade of the silk; but care must be taken to have them harmonize.

Most beautiful paper shades can be made in the same way. The foundation should be completely covered with roses in this case. For those who do not already know how to make these the accompanying illustration will be useful. The pattern given should be sketched on a piece of stiff paper and cut out carefully. It should be about four inches in diameter. The tissue paper should then be folded so as to cut six sets at once. The same design a size smaller, say three inches in diameter, should form the next six, and two inches in diameter for the inner petals. This will make eighteen rows of petals in all. Small wire, which may be bought for this purpose, must be pushed through a hole in the middle of these circular petal patterns to form the stem. The wire should be three or four inches long and should be twisted around a wisp of the tissue paper placed midway of its length, the twisted ends which form the stem being then passed through the hole in the center of the pattern. This will serve as a center to the rose. Now, holding the wire stem, press the papers up firmly together and crush the whole rose in the hand until a sufficient crinkle is obtained in the petals. Then, holding the rose still crushed in the hand, fasten firmly with a needle and thread, sewing through and through just about the wire. Next spread out and arrange the petals. They are then ready to go on the shade.

A ROSE LAMP SHADE.

A COMPLETED ROSE.

PATTERN FOR A ROSEBUD.

PATTERN FOR A ROSE.

A cluster of very artistic roses, buds and leaves may finish the top, if the materials are obtainable. The buds are made of one strip of paper the length of your sheet of tissue and an inch and three-quarters wide. Make incisions about an inch and a half deep in this strip of paper, dividing it into square petals. Then curl the square corners by passing them between the thumb and the blade of the scissors. Fold this strip around the finger until it is in a bud shaped roll and fasten at the base with a needle and thread, the same as the rose. Thread the wire for the stem in a stout needle and sew it through the base of the bud. Fasten firmly by twisting it a number of times. It can then be wound with green paper or rubber stems, calyx and leaves can be purchased in any city. If necessary, bygone artificial roses may be rifled for the purpose. In this way a shade as artistic as any you could buy may be manufactured at home and makes really fascinating work besides. A strip of asbestus paper two or three inches deep should be placed inside the top of the shade to prevent it from being scorched and to avoid its catching fire.

Shades of plain gathered silk of any color, with a valance of delicate lace and a ribbon decoration, are also very pretty, while one often sees chenille and bead fringes in place of the lace. The light shining through a fringe of glass beads has a bright and pleasing effect. Japanese shades of rice paper, with their broad, artistic designs in rushes and flags, introducing just the right combination of greens, blues and yellows, with a dash of red, are very artistic.

I lately saw a globe shaped shade in heavy, dull green cathedral glass. It was an immense thing about a foot and a half in diameter, set together like a stained glass window, with wrought iron bands and partitions. Covering one side of it was an immense glass spider, whose wrought iron legs extended far around the globe. His eyes were two disks of red glass an inch in diameter, protruding from a blue glass head, which, as well as his blue glass body, larger than the biggest tarantula, was inclosed in a metal rim, and by this means raised somewhat from the globe. It had rather a creepy look about it, but I could imagine that when the light shone through it might have a very striking effect.

It may not be generally known that some of the most beautiful lamps we have are of domestic manufacture, and a number of them are no less expensive than some of the imported lamps. One large lamp, designed and made by an eastern firm, was purchased by Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) for the sum of $150. This lamp is decorated with a picture of his celebrated purchaser and is unique in finish and design. Some of the art pottery lamps made in this country are as costly as they are beautiful and as decorative as the choicest vases.

JEANNETTE WILBUR BATES.

VICTORIA SANDWICH.—One teacupful of flour, one teacupful of castor sugar, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix these ingredients well together and add gradually three eggs well beaten. Pour into two buttered tins of equal size and bake in a brisk oven for ten minutes. Sprinkle a little castor sugar on paper, turn on to this one cake, cover with warm jam and place the other cake on top. It will keep fresh for a fortnight if kept in a tin.

Piccalilli.—Chop one peck of green tomatoes, twelve onions and three peppers. Pour over them one cup of salt and let stand overnight. In the morning squeeze dry, cover with vinegar and boil half an hour. Then add one bottle of horse radish, one teaspoon each of red and black pepper and one-eighth of a pound of cloves, allspice and cinnamon, mixed.

Sherbet.—One-quarter pound of tartaric acid, three-quarters of a pound of icing sugar, one-quarter pound of bicarbonate of soda, one bottle of lemon essence. Mix together. Diluted with water this forms a most cooling beverage.

Hominy Griddles.—To a pint of warm boiled hominy add a pint of milk and a pint of flour. Beat two eggs and stir them into the batter with a little salt. Beat very light and fry on a hot griddle as you would other cakes.

A Cheap, Savory Entree.—Put a piece of butter the size of a walnut into a saucepan, slice a Spanish onion into it, and let it simmer for five minutes. Then cut a quarter of a pound of cheese into small pieces and put it in; pour in half a cupful of sweet milk and stir well till all is melted; add a little salt; beat up one egg and pour into the saucepan; stir well for two minutes, then serve.

Jelly Roll Cake.—Four eggs, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and vanilla. Bake on cake sheet and when done turn out on to a towel, bottom upward; spread with filling and roll. Filling.—In the place of jelly this filling is very nice: One cup cocoa, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup milk, boil slowly until thick and spread over the cake when hot and roll tightly.

Chas. Caldwell Drowned in Merrimack River

Charles Caldwell, whose body was found in the river near Lawrence, Thursday, was a former Lowell resident. He worked as a clerk and bartender at the old Washington Tavern and Harris House in this city and was well known here.

COLISEUM RACES

Caldwell-Leander Race Declared a Draw

The Men Will Ride Again Tonight for a Double Purse—O'Brien Won Mile Handicap and Hollister Won Five Mile Open—Track Record Broken

Owing to the confusion caused by both Leander and Caldwell leaving their pace in the fourteenth mile of a fifteen-mile motor paced race at the coliseum last night and owing to the closeness of the contest and a disagreement among the judges as to which man won the race, the event was called a draw, and the purse of last night will stand and both men will meet at the coliseum tonight and fight the battle out, the winner to take the big end of last night's as well as tonight's purse.

This race proved to be the best of the season, and despite the fact that it was generally accorded that Caldwell would win, Leander gave him a great battle, the winner of the six-day race demonstrating to the giant from the hills of old New Hampshire that he carries an unlimited amount of speed up his sleeve which he lets out at different intervals.

While the crowd called for both Caldwell and Leander as the winner, it seemed to be perfectly satisfied with the decision of a draw, for it means that a battle royal will be held at the coliseum tonight when these two riders meet. If there ever was any rivalry between the two riders it was increased one hundred per cent. by the occurrence of last night and the patrons of the local coliseum ought to see the hottest and bitterest fought contest of the season tonight.

Both men felt confident that they won the race, and while Caldwell is of a much quieter manner than Leander, both riders got pretty hot. In the box office Caldwell informed Leander that he would never see the day that he could beat him, and to retaliate Leander told Caldwell that he had $150 and his diamond ring, which is a valuable one, to post as a forfeit against any sum he would name that he could defeat Caldwell. With the men going on in such a manner as this it means a fine race for the local enthusiasts.

It was the intention of Manager Prince to have Wallhour, the winner of Thursday night's race, meet the winner of last night's race in a race tonight, but when the race was declared a tie word was wired to Wallhour not to come to Lowell tonight as Caldwell and Leander wished to have their race out.

The big race started about 9.30 o'clock, Caldwell being paced by Ruden on his "Monitor," while Hoffman furnished pace for Leander. Caldwell was picked as the winner by the people, but after they saw the ease with which Leander followed his pace and the manner in which he pedalled around the track a number of the Caldwell enthusiasts deserted the latter and favored Leander. To say the least the race was a pretty one and was well contested. While Caldwell had the advantage during the greater part of the race the men rode pretty evenly and in fact it was anybody's race up to the last mile.

Leander started on the home stretch and Caldwell on the back stretch. The first mile was a rather slow one, the time being 1.36, but just before the second mile was started the men got down to business and did it in 1.18 flat. The third mile was also turned out in the same time as the second. Caldwell had a little the better of the riding up to this time, but after the third mile Leander let himself out and started to gain on the big fellow. The race was then nip and tuck, but in the seventh mile the riding got down to 1.22 which was about five seconds slower than they had been travelling before. In the eighth mile Caldwell had Leander by nearly half a lap, but Leander fought him off and started to pull away from his opponent. For a mile the winner of the six-day race kept gaining, but failed to get on even footing with Caldwell.

In the thirteenth mile Caldwell seemed to slow down and Leander immediately shot to the front and pedalled like a fiend, but on the next mile Caldwell had almost regained what ground he had lost.

On the first lap of the fifteenth mile Leander dropped his pace in front of the judges' stand, his reason for doing this being because he had ripped seven or eight spokes out of his front wheel on the eleventh mile and the noise of the broken spokes rattling against the fork sides of his wheel, and the fact that if any more went out his wheel might collapse and he might be killed, he dropped his pace and shouted for another wheel. In the meantime Caldwell passed Leander, but on the third lap of this mile Caldwell lost his pace and pandemonium reigned, the people in the grand stand shouting like fiends, each of the riders having his admirers. The majority of the people were with Leander owing to the fact that he had been a little behind Caldwell when both men left their pace and while both Caldwell and Leander regained their pace just before the pistol was fired for the end of the fifteen miles.

At the close of the race both men came around to the judges' stand to find out who was the winner, and when it was announced that it had not been settled Leander started in to explain, but his manager, Johnny Eckhardt, came to the rescue and there was so much wrangling on both sides that it was decided the only thing to do was to declare the race a draw and allow the men to have at it tonight.

AMATEUR RACES.

The amateur races proved to be of the hottest kind and exciting sprints and hard rides by the low marked men were made. Owing to the fact that the fast Boston men with Hollister of Springfield and Acorn of New York were on hand everybody looked for good races, and they got just what they were looking for. It was the general impression that the local riders would not have a look in, but Mike O'Brien made one of the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed on the track.

The first amateur race on the program was the one mile handicap which was pulled off in three heats. In the first heat McKinnon of Boston was on scratch with Stoughton of Boston on 25 yards and Mike O'Brien on 40. O'Brien and the limit men tried hard to get away from the low marked men, but it was useless, the two low marked men working well together and they soon caught the field. At the seventh lap O'Brien went out to take pace and made it hot for his followers, but with four in the heat, several having dropped out owing to the hot pace, and four to qualify they took it easy, and Stoughton crossed the tape first with Mahan second, McKinnon third and O'Brien fourth.

The second heat found Bill Potter of Boston on scratch, McDonald of Somerville, Downey of Boston and Connors and Gayette being also in the heat on different marks. Bill Potter with the assistance of Downey and McDonald soon brought the field down, but in the sprint for the finish Potter got frozen out, Connors winning first, Downey second, McDonald third and Gayette fourth.

The track record was lowered in the third heat by C. L. Hollister of Springfield, who recently defeated Marcus Hurley, the crack amateur. Hollister was on scratch with Acorn and Coquehart on higher marks and four other riders in the heat. The three above named riders were so badly handicapped that the limit men decided to plug around the track and try and cut out the low marked men and they succeeded in doing this to a certain extent. It was not until the sixth lap had been covered that the low marked men caught the field and then Hollister playing for position took the pace and pulled the bunch in over the tape in two minutes, two and four-fifths seconds. Hollister was first with Batchelder second, Kearney third and Acorn fourth.

The final was hotly contested, there being twelve riders in line and the limit 125 yards. There was no leading in this heat, and it was interesting to watch the jockeying for position. The majority of the riders were waiting for the seventh lap to come to the front and take the pace preparatory to making the sprint for the tape, but wise Mike O'Brien on the sixth lap stole around the bunch and fought off the other riders who tried to pass him on that lap, and when the seventh lap had been half covered O'Brien unwound his gear and shooting away from the field plugged like a fiend and crossed the tape a winner. A blanket could have covered the first four men, they were so close. Cheer after cheer was given O'Brien for his victory. Gayette was second, Connors third and Hollister fourth. The time for this mile was 2.01.

The next event was the five-mile open with a prize at the end of every mile. There were sixteen starters and the riders were allowed two laps to get started. As was expected the out of town riders took all four prizes. It was a pretty race from the start. The first mile prize was won by Feginhart, and Matty Downey took the second. Gayette took the third. He also won the fourth, but was disqualified for accepting pace from Connors who dropped back a lap and was practically out of the race. The next man was Downey and the mile prize went to him.

Hollister won the race with McKinnon second, Stoughton third and Potter fourth.

One-mile amateur handicap—First heat, won by Stoughton, Boston, 25 yards; Mahan, 125 yards, second; McKinnon, Boston, scratch, third; O'Brien, 90 yards, fourth. Time, 2.07 1-5.

Second heat, won by Connors, 90 yards; Downey, Boston, 25 yards, second; McDonald, Somerville, 25 yards, third; Gayette, 25 yards, fourth. Time, 2.25 2-5.

Third heat, won by Hollister, Springfield, scratch; Batchelder, 100 yards, second, Kearney, 125 yards, third; Acorn, New York city, 40 yards, fourth. Time, 2.02 1-5.

Final, won by O'Brien, Gayette, second; Connors, third; Hollister, fourth. Time, 2.01. Prizes, $20, $10, $5 and $3 in merchandise order.

Five mile open, 1m race. Won by Hollister, Springfield; McKinnon, Boston, second; Stoughton, Boston, third; Potter, Boston, fourth.

Winners by miles: First, Feginhart, Boston; second, Downey, Boston; third, Gayette, Lowell; fourth, Downey, Boston; fifth, Hollister, Springfield.

*Gayette finished first but was disqualified.

Prizes, $5, $3, $10, $5 and $2 to winner of each of the first four miles.

CYCLE NEWS

The battle between Caldwell and Leander tonight will be a close and bitterly contested affair. Both riders were out at the track this morning training hard in order to get into the pink of condition for tonights' battle. Manager Eckhart believes that his man, Leander, will demonstrate to the people his superiority over Caldwell, while on the other hand the big fellow is confident that he will be the winner.

On Labor Day night Patsey Keegan, the local plugger, and Jimmy Moran, the Chelsea milkman, will have it out on the local track. Both men are popular with race going people of this city and it is expected that there will be nothing but standing room on this night. The race will be for the Irish championship and as Keegan is riding in fine form he will give Moran the battle of his life.

Prove It Anytime

By the Evidence of Lowell People

The daily evidence citizens right here at home supply is proof sufficient to satisfy the greatest skeptic. No better proof can be had. Here is a case. Read it:

Mrs. Mary Enwright of 11 Cedar street says: "In the spring of 1898 I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store for my brother, who had considerable trouble from backache. The treatment did him a great deal of good. My mother also used Doan's Kidney Pills and the results were so satisfactory that she is never without the remedy in the house, to use in case of need."

Sold for 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

CANOBIE LAKE PARK.

The program at Canobie Lake Park the coming week is given by an organization well known to all patrons of the various summer theatres. This company is made up of some of the best colored specialty people in the profession and while their performance partakes of the nature of a minstrel show it is much better for those are genuine "coons" while minstrels are blackfaced.

These people give an entertainment in a perfectly natural and unaffected manner and retain all their characteristics and eccentricities of costume and manner. They are most amusing and interesting in the various plantation pastimes which they enact, and mirth and music are the principal features.

These artists are expert banjo players and their music is the signal for every one to sing, dance or join in the general funmaking. The old plantation melodies and the rag-time songs of the present, are pleasingly rendered. In those musical mellow tones that only southern people possess. The buck and wing dancing is an excellent feature of the performance and each tries to outdo the other in endurance and originality. Real "pickaninnies" are found in this aggregation and they are their elders exactly.

Miss Katie McCabe and Miss Maud Thomas of Centralville will spend the next two weeks in northern New York. During their stay they will visit Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Edward C. Looney, clarinet soloist with the National band, leaves today for Burlington, Vt., where he will play with the Lawrence brass band, which accompanies Bethany commandery, Knights Templars, on their annual outing. Mr. Looney will return Tuesday.

The Misses Rogers of 175 Merrimack street are in New York to attend the fall millinery openings.

Miss Margaret Mahoney of Lewistown, Me., is visiting her brother, John J. Mahoney, of 244 Concord street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Lucas are in attendance at camp meeting at Framingham, Mass.

FIDDLE AND DRUM

Unique Orchestra at Invitation Party

Joseph Guilloux, 38, was badly used up at an invitation party in Dracut Saturday evening. He was in police court today and his eyes were so badly swollen that he had to be escorted to the witness stand.

He was there to tell the court how it happened and the men whom he alleged were responsible for the battered condition of his face, Peter Labelle, George Rivers and John Sullivan, were in court.

D. J. Donahue appeared for the defendants and J. Joseph Hennessey for the Commonwealth.

Guilloux said it cost 25 cents to enjoy the evening's festivities but said it was not a pay party.

"Twenty five cents a head," he said, "was collected from the male attendants and the money went to pay the fiddler."

He said there was a drummer who received part of the money. The dancing music was very good, he said, a fiddle with drum accompaniment.

He didn't dance, but he enjoyed the music and talked with the girls and while thus engaged, the defendants entered the room, grabbed him, "packed" him and kicked him. They pounded him unmercifully.

Complainant said he had taken three drinks of gin before leaving home but that he was not drunk. There was no beer or whiskey on tap at the dance and the affair was being pulled off under the most favorable auspices until he was assaulted. He said the assault was unprovoked and denied that he was attempting to pay court to a lady friend of one of the defendants.

Eight witnesses including the fiddler were sworn and a goodly number of the young ladies who joined in the dizzy waltz to the inspired tune of the fiddle, augmented by the little drum, were seated on the spectators' seat.

Wilfred Grenier at whose house, 150 Lakeview avenue, the dance was held, said that the defendants went to the dance with the evident intention of making trouble.

Witness said one of the men struck him but he didn't know which one of the four delivered the blow. He said that Sullivan and Moore said they would clean out the house.

Joseph Laroux, the fiddler said that when the row started he picked up his violin and left the house. He said he didn't want to get hurt himself or to have his violin damaged.

Several "sets" had been danced before the trouble started he said and the noise of the rumpus in the kitchen disturbed the soulful harmony of the fiddle and the drum.

Nothing but plain quadrilles appeared on the dance order and he did not play for the double-shuffle that the defendants danced on Guilloux's [illegible].

Miss Trombley, one of the witnesses, said she saw the defendants knock the complainant down and jump on him. They kicked and pounded him unmercifully, she said.

She said she heard Labelle say, "We will have a picnic here tonight."

In reply to a question by Mr. Donahue witness said she struck Labelle over the head with her umbrella.

"You don't like him, do you?" asked Mr. Donahue.

"No, I don't like Labelle and I don't like the rest of them," said the witness.

"You want to hurt Labelle all you can, isn't that a fact?" said Mr. Donahue.

"I wish I could hurt him," she replied.

Peter Labelle was the first of the defendants to testify. He stigmatized the trouble at the dance as a "drunken row" and said that the woman who struck him on the head with the umbrella was intoxicated. He said that the complainant was selling liquor and that he bought two half pints from him.

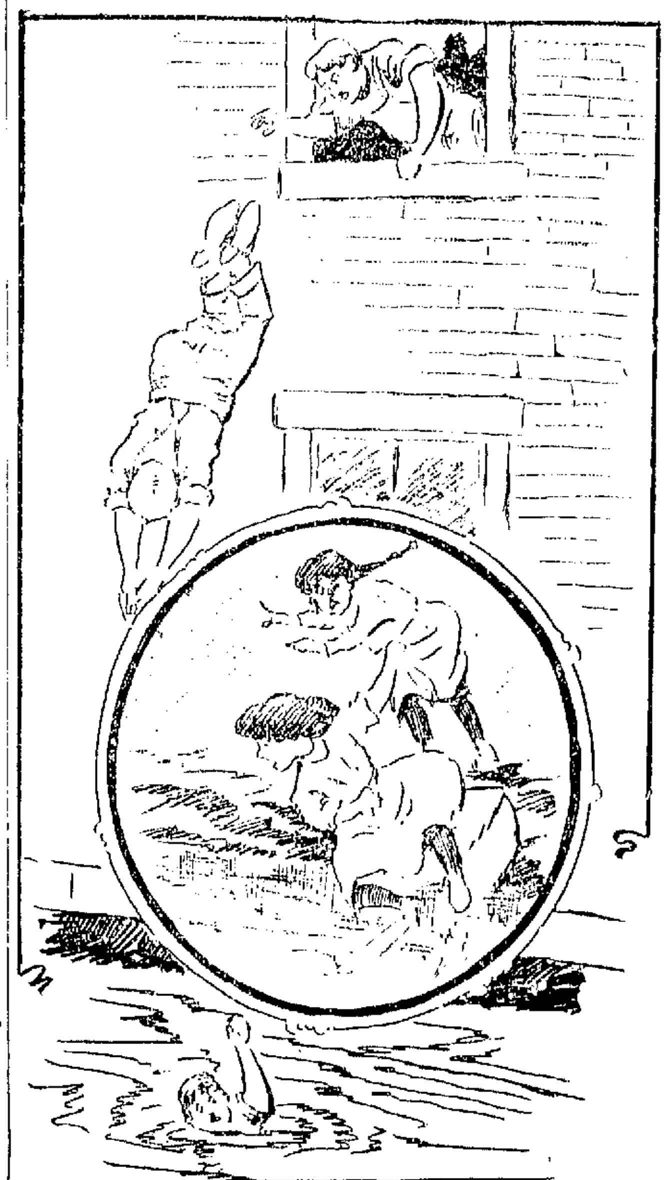
HEROIC RESCUE



THE HEROIC RESCUE BY PATRICK H. RYAN.

Patrick H. Ryan Plunged Into the Canal

Nine year old Mary Beecher, daughter of Patrick and Mary, was the victim of a sad drowning accident late yesterday afternoon. The affair came near being a double fatality, and was averted by the presence of mind and bravery displayed by Patrick H. Ryan, junior member of the firm of John Ryan & Co., proprietors of the Union Brass Foundry in Worthen street. The Beecher girl lost her life in the Suffolk canal, owing to a portion of the banking crumbling away and while attempting to save herself she pulled her companion, Isabel Talbot, into the water. Mr. Ryan dove from a second story window and saved the Talbot girl.

The two little girls had been picking flowers along the bank of the canal in the rear of the Sawyer Carriage Co.'s works in Worthen street. After getting tired of picking flowers Isabel Talbot told the Beecher girl that she was going home and asked her to go along too. The Beecher girl replied that she was going to bathe her feet before going and so saying sat down on the bank and allowed her feet to paddle in the water.

The little Talbot girl was rather timid and hesitated for awhile before making up her mind what to do. She was standing directly behind the Beecher girl when the earth under the rock on which the latter was sitting started to give away and before either of the little girls were aware what had happened the Beecher girl was precipitated into the water. In an attempt to save herself the Beecher girl pulled the little Talbot girl in with her.

SANK IN THE WATER

Both children sank to a considerable depth and the Talbot girl came to the surface a few feet from where she fell in while the Beecher girl had got into a stronger current and was rapidly whirled down the stream. The current carried the latter down to a point near the Union Brass Foundry. When both children came to the surface they cried loudly for help.

At the time of the cries Patrick H. Ryan was standing at a sink in the second story of the building, washed his hands preparatory to going home, and hearing the cries of the children he looked out of the window. He saw one little girl struggling in the water, and without the least hesitation, he dove through the window and struck the water a distance of about forty feet. When he came to the surface he was near the Talbot girl and he managed to grab her by the hair just as she was going down for the third time.

At the same time that Mr. Ryan dove out of the building, John Riley, an employe of the foundry, jumped into the water from another window, having seen the little girl from where he was working.

He was close behind the hero of the occasion when the child was rescued. The Beecher girl was not seen again after she fell into the stream and it is thought that her clothes got caught in something that was projecting from the wall of the canal. Mr. Riley swam about the canal when he learned that another child had fallen in but he could find no trace of her.

The child that was rescued was completely exhausted when assistance came to her and Mr. Ryan and others who were quickly on the scene, worked over her for several minutes before restoring her to consciousness.

She was then removed to her home in Suffolk street.

The child who was drowned was the daughter of Patrick and Mary Beecher and resided at 20 Suffolk street. Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, James aged 5, and John, aged 1 year, and two sisters, Nellie, aged 11, and Katie, aged 4.

Isabel Talbot is the daughter of Edward and Virginie and resides at 189 Suffolk street.

Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Son were notified and at six o'clock the water was drawn off and a search of the bottom of the canal was made, in an effort to locate the body. Shortly before two o'clock the body was located and removed to the warerooms of Undertaker O'Donnell at the corner of Market and Worthen streets.

Mr. Ryan who proved himself to be a hero is deserving of much praise. His timely action and his disregard of the danger he took in making his heroic leap has won for him the admiration of everyone who has heard of the deed. It should command the recognition of the Massachusetts Humane society.

FIGURED IN ELOPEMENT

CLARENCE D. BELL NOW CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LYNN, Sept. 5.—Clarence D. Bell, a young man from South Framingham, was arrested in this city yesterday afternoon by Police Inspectors Wells and Colby, charged with the larceny of a sum of money from L. A. May, a stove dealer on Central avenue. Bell had been at work in the store and was sent out to collect some bills. It is claimed by Mr. May that amount secured, which will amount to about $8 or $10, was not turned in.

Bell is the man who a short time ago figured in a runaway match with Miss Gertrude Dupree of South Framingham. They were found in Lynn by the police, and he claimed they were man and wife. Miss Dupree, however, has returned to Framingham with her father, who came after her and Bell has since been making his home in this city.

NEGRO DROWNED

By Associated Press to The Sun

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 5.—An unknown negro, caught in the act of strangling Mrs. Margaret Gerahn, a white woman, in her home at Armourdale, Kan., yesterday escaped to the Kansas river, where he drowned himself rather than run the chance of being lynch, a crowd having chased him to the bank of the stream. The woman was seriously hurt, but will recover.

Mrs. Gerahn is a widow, 45 years old. Her husband and her son were drowned in the great June flood, and she lived alone.

The negro, who was about 30 years old, went to the house about noon and, entering stealthily, locked himself in. He surprised Mrs. Gerahn at her work and demanded her money. When she insisted that there was none about the house, the negro threatened to kill her, and, seizing her by the throat, began choking her. Neighboring women broke into the house three hours later and found him sinking his fingers into her throat. The negro hurried from the house and ran to the Kansas river, two blocks distant, where he hired a boat and ordered the owner to row quickly to the Missouri shore.

When the boat had reached midstream, a crowd of men and boys had gathered at the bank and shouted to the owner of the boat to return to shore. He started to do so, when the negro stood up in the boat, and with the remark: "I have lived too long to die at the end of a rope," dove into the water. He was drowned and his body was not recovered.

LABOR DAY

Big Demonstration Will be Held in Lowell

Parade in the Morning Leading Feature—Sports Will be Held on South Common — Speeches by Local and Out-of-Town Men

Just one thing is needed to make the coming labor holiday the greatest in local history and that we must all and hope for as poor mortality has no control over atmospheric conditions and good weather is essential to all celebrations held in the open.

But granted a fine day, the labor unions of Lowell will show the public the grandest labor holiday in history despite the delays and contrary influences with which they had to contend at the outset. All difficulties and obstacles that tended to throw cold water on the celebration idea have been overcome and a program that cannot be excelled by the unions of any city in New England will be given the public on next Monday.

This has been a memorable year for organized labor in Lowell and for that reason organized labor has worked harder than ever for its Labor Day observance and had it not been for organized labor in the first place, labor in general never would have been honored with this great national annual holiday.

After coming successfully out of a severe coal famine, the result of labor troubles elsewhere, the people of Lowell were plunged into the throes of the greatest textile strike in the history of the city, lasting three months. The strike was looked upon by those with whom the wish was father to the thought, as the death blow to unionism among the textile crafts. Yet when 12 weeks had passed and the mills had reopened none was found who had starved, while the membership rolls of the various textile unions showed more names of members in good standing than ever before, and instead of being the death blow to the unions it was in reality the impetus for increased membership.

Then the different unions, happy and proud of their ability to survive unprecedented misfortune, set about to make the next labor holiday the greatest ever held, and they asked an appropriation of the city council. They were granted the usual $100, but to their surprise and disappointment His Honor Mayor Howe disapproved the order and refused to allow the appropriation to be made. The mayor's action caused considerable delay, for it was necessary for the city council to act upon the veto, but finally the appropriation was passed over the veto by an almost unanimous vote.

With an appropriation granted the Trades & Labor council and the Textile Council set to work to arrange the program believing that the last obstacle in the path had been removed. But they were doomed to have one more disappointment and that was when the park commission refused to allow the unions to let lots for booths on the South common, in violation of a time-honored custom. This action, while it robs the unions of one of its prominent sources of revenue was not sufficient to detract one iota from the elaborateness of the program and the committees in charge of the arrangements now take pleasure in presenting a program that will excell any ever before offered here.

The day's observance will open with one of the largest street parades ever held in Lowell. Twenty-five unions will be represented and every band and drum corps in Lowell will be in line. The insurance agents union and the Street Railway Employes Union will make their first appearance in line. The parade will start at the South common, be reviewed by the city council at city hall and dismissed at the starting point after a tour of the principal streets, the route of procession being published elsewhere. Many of the unions will appear in uniform, but owing to the great strain on the resources of some of the unions during the recent strike some of the unions have decided not to go to the expense of procuring uniforms this year, but all will appear in line.

In the afternoon there will be a band concert and a fine list of sports on the South common. In the evening a grand labor rally will be held and a band concert given on the South common. The speakers at the rally will be Daniel J. Donahue, Edward D. McVey, J. Bert Williams of the Painters' union and Dennis Healey of the Leatherworkers' union. He was removed to the general hospital, but died soon after arriving there from internal injuries.

DENNIS WALSH,

Cured of nervousness and indigestion:

Prof. Munyon.

Dear Sir:—I was completely run down and weakened from loss of sleep and worry; could not eat my food with any relish and what I did eat seemed to do me no good. I lost all my ambition and took no interest in life. I have tried many different remedies with little benefit, but one dose of your Paw Paw seemed to awaken me and I am now taking it with great benefit to my general health and sincerely bless the name of Munyon.

Yours,
(Signed) DENNIS WALSH,
No. 1, Front St., Lowell, Mass.

I don't believe, says Prof. Munyon, that a better remedy for the blood and liver was ever compounded. I have seen sluggish livers that had refused to act under the usual treatments respond in a most marvelous way by the use of Paw Paw.

Paw Paw seems to digest everything it touches, hence it makes good, rich blood which in turn strengthens and vitalizes the whole nervous system.

I want all persons who suffer with dyspepsia or nervous trouble to cast away all other remedies and to give Paw Paw a fair trial. I want every weak and debilitated person to get a bottle of Paw Paw at once and take it according to directions.

I know it will make old folks feel young and weak folks feel strong.

I want every person who feels they are in need of a tonic to drop the use of alcoholic drinks of all kinds and take Paw Paw in its place. People don't crave for stimulants when the stomach and nerves are in a healthful condition. Munyon's Paw Paw gives exhilaration without intoxication.

Alcoholic stimulants lift, but let you fall.

Paw Paw lifts and holds you.

Every druggist in Lowell sells it or can obtain it for you. Price $1 per (pint) bottle. Paw Paw pills 25c a bottle.

PANIC ON A CAR

Women Were Badly Scared by Flames

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—A small panic was caused yesterday afternoon on an inward bound East Walpole car on Washington street, Forest Hills, by the burning out of the controller. As usual, there were those who jumped, to their own injury. While some were shaken up and somewhat bruised, Mrs. Winfield L. Jacobs and Miss Delia O'Donnell, both of Dedham, had to be taken home in carriages after having been attended by a physician.

The car was filled with passengers, most of whom were women, Motorman James Pettee and Conductor James Sheehy. All went well until the car reached 3781 Washington street after swinging under the railroad bridge to go into Forest Hills square. Then with a suddenness that took the passengers' breath away and a flame that frightened them to a point of terror, the controller burned out. Instantly there was a wild scramble on the part of some to jump from the car. Cooler heads prevailed in many cases, but some were unable to control their fear and leaped.

While the injuries were mostly confined to slight bruises, it was found that Mrs. Jacobs and Miss O'Donnell were seriously hurt. Mrs. Jacobs sustained a fracture of the ankle and Miss O'Donnell was badly shaken up, besides receiving severe injuries.

Has Had More Experience in the Treatment, and Made More Great Cures of Difficult, Protracted and Chronic Diseases and Weaknesses of Men Than Any Other Living Specialist

Dr. Lougest's treatment has been tested on more than twenty thousand (20,000) young, middle aged and old men, who, as the results of errors or excesses, were tortured by the woes of nervous debility or decay. It has never yet failed, even in the worst cases, to bring back manly power, remove every trace or symptom of weakness, build up the physical and mental health, and prepare man anew for the duties and pleasures of both married and single life.

Lost Manhood seminal weakness, effects of youthful indiscretions, nervous debility, pimples and blotches, hair falling out, loss of memory and energy, impotence, rheumatic pains, discharges and all private diseases quickly and permanently cured by an original and never-failing treatment. Blood poison, ulcers, stricture, varicocele and diseases of the kidneys, bladder and blood cured in the shortest possible time, without the use of mercury or hindrance from business. Dr. Lougest's treatment for the complete cure of Stricture and all unnatural discharges is the most wonderful of modern times. No matter how long the discharge has continued nor how many self-styled specialists have failed to relieve, let alone cure, Dr. Lougest will positively guarantee to stop the discharge entirely within (3) three days by means of his New Method Treatment. This treatment removes Stricture, positively without pain, detention from business or the use of obnoxious or injurious medicines. No Experiment! No Failure! Nine-tenths of all the long standing discharges, strictures and weaknesses of men are caused by the experiments of the many inexperienced and self-styled specialists of the present day.

Many a man who has been fooled by the "Pay When Cured" racket, knows that it is the last and only resort of a dying-out pretender to get a patient into his clutches. Beware of such schemes. Don't be deceived by misleading statements such as these seemingly charitable offers.

Don't entrust your lives to anyone not qualified by years of experience to treat you. Don't even step your foot across the threshold of an office run by inexperienced, irresponsible, illiterate pretenders. You had better save your money and let your disease take its own course than be practised and experimented upon and in the end lose both your money and life.

Dr. Lougest's offices occupy the entire building of five floors at 313 Columbus avenue, and they are supplied with every known means and device that science, skill, knowledge and money can provide that will aid in determining the exact location and nature of these diseases and effecting their cure promptly and thoroughly, and by the same cure methods as are used in the most Celebrated Paris Hospitals, which invariably result in

SEWER IN RIVER

To Abate Bad Conditions in Pawtucketville

White Street Sewer Will be Extended in Bed of River to Point Below Moody St. Bridge —Loan of $25,000 Asked

The sewer committee at its meeting last evening turned its attention to the sewerage system in Pawtucketville and took steps to abate a nuisance which has existed there for some time.

The committee voted to recommend the introduction of a loan of $25,000 for sewer construction at the next meeting of the board of aldermen and in the event of its passage to lay a sewer in the bed of the Merrimack river from the foot of White street in Pawtucketville, where the present sewer empties, to a point below the Moody street bridge, where the water is flowing continuously.

The White street sewer is the basin of the sewerage of all Pawtucketville. When the river is low the contents of the sewer remains on the rocks in the bed of the river, filling the neighborhood with a nauseating odor until water comes again to relieve conditions. The committee visited the place a week ago and was convinced of the necessity of an immediate change.

After their visit the committee voted that the city engineer be instructed to communicate with the proprietors of the Locks and Canals with regard to laying a sewer under the river bed and the following letter from Engineer Mills which was received from him in reply to this communication was read at yesterday's meeting:

George Bowers, Esq., city engineer.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of Aug. 11 stating that the committee on sewers desire you to obtain from the proprietors of the Locks and Canals a permit to build and maintain a sewer in the bed of the Merrimack river from the mouth of White street to the low water mark below Moody street bridge.

If the sewer is built so as not to obstruct the flow of water in the river under the present or any future conditions and the city will agree that the proprietors of the Locks and Canals shall not be put to any additional expense on account of its construction or of maintaining it, and in case the proprietors desired to make any change in the river they would be free to make changes as if the sewer did not exist and will have a paper made out to this effect and including as well as you conveniently can a description of what you desire to do I have no doubt the proprietors will join the city in executing the agreement.

Respectfully yours,
HIRAM F. MILLS,
Engineer P. L. & C.

Engineer Bowers, who was asked at the last meeting to give estimates on the cost of repairing and lowering the sewer in Central street, between the junction of Crosby and Davis square, reported that it would require about $350. Other estimates he gave as follows: Inland street sewer $150, Parker street sewer $125, Jenness street sewer $854, total $654. This work, it is expected, will also be done out of the proposed loan of $25,000.

Sewer work is about completed and unless the $25,000 loan passes immediately a complete shutdown of the sewer department will follow. All work voted is about completed. On Thursday afternoon 75 men were laid off and 150 more will go off today.

TO THE COURTS

MEAT CUTTERS MAY CARRY THEIR TROUBLES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—U. S. courts may be asked to take a hand in the trouble between the big packing companies and the unions of their employes, owing to alleged discrimination against independent retail butchers in different sections of the country, according to a statement made yesterday by Michael Donnelly, general organizer for the Amalgamated meat cutters and butcher workmen of America.

The promised legal contest will center in Chicago. Developments impending are the outgrowth of strikes of retail market butchers, called last spring in Rochester, N. Y., and San Francisco, to enforce demands for increased wages and an adjustment of working conditions.

The strikes were followed by lockouts declared by the Retail Butchers' Protective association, and it is alleged that a conspiracy was entered into between the big packing companies and the retail association to prevent the sale of meats and provisions to non-members of the association.

THE LEGATIONS

THE PORTE CANNOT GUARANTEE THEIR SAFETY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—The Turkish government, according to information received from the foreign office here by The Associated Press has notified the powers that the porte cannot guarantee the safety of the legations at Constantinople.

This extraordinary statement was communicated without explanation or qualifying details, in response to an inquiry as to whether German marines were among those United States Minister Leishman reported as having been landed at Constantinople.

It is inferred here, however, that the conditions at the Turkish capital are not so bad as the sultan's notification would imply but that the legations have been warned to look out for their own safety, the ports disclaiming in advance responsibility for any disorderly act.

The foreign office officials added that the German embassy at Constantinople had not reported whether German marines had been landed nor whether marines of any other power had been landed. Complete official reserve is maintained on this point. The Associated Press correspondent learned from sources outside the foreign office that the German government regards Turko-Balkan affairs as having entered on an acute phase. The porte's inability to take energetic hold of the Macedonian insurrection is the worst feature of the situation.

The apparent weakness of the Turkish government is due largely to its long deference to the powers and to the division in the councils within the palace, which is regarded here as justifying the view that Turkey is incapable of any crying order in her European provinces unless she is allowed an absolutely free hand to deal with the insurgents as she pleases. Pressure is being brought to bear on Russia and Austria on this point, as a continuance of the crisis, it is asserted, can only result in the drifting of the powers and porte alike toward fresh dangers.

HONANG IS HELD

British Subject Was Not Allowed to Land

HE WAS BORN OF CHINESE PARENTS

Wants to See the United States

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.Sam Honang, a British subject, who is said to be one of the wealthiest residents of the Island of Demarara, is held aboard the steamship Grenada, of the Trinidad line, and denied a landing in this country by the immigration inspectors, on the ground that it would be a violation of the Chinese exclusion act.

Honang, who owns one of the largest cocoa plantations on the island, decided a few weeks ago that he would take a trip through the United States and Europe. Letters of introduction to prominent and wealthy persons all over the world were forwarded by his correspondents, and he set out on his voyage.

Honang never had been in China. He was born in Demarara of Chinese parents. They were both British subjects, so that the Chinese exclusion act did not figure in his plans.

When the ship reached her dock at Long Island City, the immigration inspectors held up the traveler, who finally called upon friends in New York for aid. The inspectors would not release him, however, and the papers, together with Honang's passports, were forwarded to the authorities at Washington.

The vessel soon will be ready for her return passage and it is a question whether the planter will be landed on Ellis Island pending the decision of the Washington authorities, or whether the captain of the Grenada who is responsible for his passenger, under the terms of the exclusion act, will have to take him back to Demarara.

FOR STREET WORK

Committee Discussed Petitions Last Night

The street committee, with all its members present, held a meeting at city hall last evening, and went through considerable business, Alderman Derby in the chair.

The petition for tar macadam on Hampshire street was taken up and promptly laid on the table.

The petition of David M. Cuddell for edgestones in Otis street was considered and it was voted to grant a hearing and to take a view of the place.

Joseph Bamford, with a petition for sidewalk in Main street, was granted a view and hearing.

A long list of remonstrants to the placing of edgestones in Jenness street was then read, but it was the opinion of the committee that action on the matter had already been taken. On motion of Mr. Roche petitioners were given leave to withdraw.

The petitions that Georgia avenue and Bertram street be laid out and accepted were signed by the committee. The petition of George W. Marshall, for compensation for damages to property in Parker street, was referred to the committee on claims.

Favorable action was taken on the petition of D. J. Gilmore for edgestones on Jenness street, between Chelmsford and Stevens streets.

Councilman Fontaine called attention to the fact that while the residents of Sarah avenue, in Pawtucketville, had put the street to grade in front of their property the water board had done nothing to that portion of the street fronting on their land. He thought that such action was unfair to the other abutters and moved that the remainder of the street be put to grade. The motion passed.

Supt. Beals said that the water board could not be compelled to put their portion of the avenue to grade, and Mr. Bowers offered the suggestion that a subcommittee of three members be appointed by the chairman to confer with the water board. Mr. Fontaine consented to withdraw his motion and to substitute in its stead the motion that sub-committees of three be appointed to talk over the putting to grade of the street, with the water board. It was so voted.

Chairman Derby appointed Aldermen Molloy and Councilman Braden and Fontaine to act on the sub-committee.

It was voted on motion of Councilman Fontaine that a view be taken of certain portions of Gorham street for the repair of which a loan of $6500 has been asked.

Mr. Roche said the full report on Bysteet would be ready for the next meeting and Mr. Molloy said a report on Dummer street would also be in shape to present to the committee at the same time.

After an explanation by Supt. Beals of the difficulty he was having with a ledge off School street, at the rear of the Lowell gas company's works it was voted to view the ledge when the committee makes its next tour.

12,000 EMPLOYES

Will be Idle in Fall River

MILLS WILL CURTAIL FOR ONE WEEK

Improvement in Situation is Expected Soon

By Associated Press to The Sun

FALL RIVER, Sept. 5. Commencing Monday morning and continuing for one week, not less than 1,300,000 spindles, about one-third of the entire number in this city, will be idle. This is the largest number ever before affected under similar conditions, and it is confidently expected that the week will mark the beginning of the end of the present depression in cotton manufacturing.

A great many of the factories are approaching the limit of their stock of the raw material, but indications are such as to warrant the belief that the new crop will be moved before the 25,000 bales estimated to be on hand are consumed. The outlook, too, for increased demand for the finished product and for the cloth in the gray is encouraging, so much so that better prices will undoubtedly be the rule in the near future.

The period of idleness causes no dissatisfaction either on the part of the mill owners or the operatives, because of the certainty of better times coming. The commercial interests of the city have necessarily suffered because of the fact that the idle operatives found it prudent to curtail their expenditures; still, business is done without apparent interruption, and there is no suffering, so far as known, among the idle hands.

After next week several mills now engaged in making extensive repairs will continue closed, notably the Stafford, Cornell, Luther and Ancona. Others will continue to feel the pinch of the high price of cotton, and will be forced to shut down for a few weeks longer or pay the price demanded by the bullish market. The following are the mills to be closed for the week:

Tecumseh, Laurel Lake, King Philip, Stafford, Cornell, Ancona, Luther, Merchants, Linen, Chace, Mechanics, Sagamore, Union, Westmoor, Barnaby, Barnard, Osborne No. 1, and possibly the Border City. There will be out of employment during the week about 12,000 operatives, who will lose in round numbers about $84,000 in wages.

Young girls at this period of life, or their mothers, are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; all such letters are strictly confidential; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; and her advice is freely and cheerfully given.

School days are danger days for American girls.

Often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality. Sometimes it is never recovered.

Perhaps they are not over-careful about keeping their feet dry; through carelessness in this respect the monthly sickness is usually rendered very severe.

Then begin ailments which should be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, a tendency to avoid the society of others, are symptoms all indicating that woman's arch-enemy is at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many a young girl over this critical period. With it they have gone through their trials with courage and safety. With its proper use the young girl is safe from the peculiar dangers of school years and prepared for hearty womanhood.

A Young Chicago Girl "Studied Too Hard."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more.—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill."

"Miss Pratt Unable to Attend School."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life.

STRONG FORCE

Stationed at American Legation

TURKEY WILL GIVE PROTECTION TO FOREIGNERS

Marines May Have to be Landed

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Minister Leishman has cabled the state department that owing to the disturbed conditions in Constantinople an additional kawass, or detective force, had been stationed at the American legation. This action was taken on the suggestion of the Turkish government which has assured the American minister that it will use every precaution to protect foreigners, but has warned the different embassies and legations that it would be well to strengthen the force inside the buildings.

In case a necessity develops, it is probable that the Turkish government will be requested to allow the United States to send a detachment of marines from the squadron which is expected to arrive at Beirut today. Minister Leishman has not yet made such a request of this government. The United States has no authority to send a warship through the Dardanelles and will have to have the consent of Turkish and other European powers to do so.

Minister Leishman in his cablegram informed the department that a number of governments have landed marines in Constantinople for the protection of the embassies.

SUES FOR $30,000

BREACH OF PROMISE ALLEGED BY MRS. GARDINER.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 4.—A $30,000 suit was filed yesterday by Mrs. Emma A. Gardiner of this city through her counsel against J. Herbert Foster, administrator of the estate of the late Richard H. Deming, who was one of the Providence police commissioners and also a member of the board of park commissioners.

Mrs. Gardiner alleges that Mr. Deming on Sept. 23, 1902, in consideration of her forbearance to sue him for damages, under an alleged breach of contract to marry her in October, 1902, promised immediately to execute a will giving her a legacy of $25,000.

SCHOONER AGROUND

By Associated Press to The Sun

ORLEANS, Mass., Sept. 4.—The three masted schooner Hortensia sailing from Machias, Maine, and bound for New York city with a cargo of spiles, grounded on Orleans bar early this forenoon, in low water. Captain Johnson, the commander of the vessel, signalled the life saving station here and several life savers from the station boarded the schooner. An anchor was run out and after considerable effort made easy by the rising tide, the ship was floated. She proceeded to her destination apparently uninjured.

GLENN REFUSED

WOULD NOT GRANT ARRESTED MAN'S REQUEST.

By Associated Press to The Sun

MANILA, Sept. 4.—Gabriel Gabea, a native of Leyte, sued Major Edwin F. Glenn of the 5th infantry some months ago for 15,000 pesos damages for false imprisonment, because he was arrested by orders of Major Glenn on suspicion of aiding the Samar insurgents.

Gabea has now come forward with an offer made through Gov. Taft that if Glenn will admit that his imprisonment as an insurgent sympathizer was a mistake he (Gabea) will at once withdraw the damage suit.

This offer was promptly declined by Glenn.

THE RIFLE MATCH

Second Place Went to Massachusetts

NEW JERSEY GOT THE FIRST PRIZE

The Teams Scored Same Number of Points

By Associated Press to The Sun

SEAGIRT, N. J., Sept. 4.—A team of six men representing the First regiment of the New Jersey national guard won the trophy, a cash prize of $100 and a medal for each team member, in the inter-state regimental team match, the firing in which was concluded this morning. The twenty-seven teams representing the national guard of different states, the United States navy and the United States Marine corp, competed. The finish was remarkably close. The winning team scored a grand total of 583 out of a possible 600. The Sixth Massachusetts team also rolled up a total of 583, but the First New Jersey team took first place by reason of having made the highest score at a longer range. The Sixth Massachusetts team will receive second prize of $50 and the team of the First District of Columbia regiment third prize, of $25. The total of the First District of Columbia team was only one point lower than that of the winner.

The scores of the teams that competed in the inter-state regimental team match were:

Sixth Massachusetts, 583.
First District of Columbia, 582.
71st New York, first team, 625.
Second District of Columbia, 527.
Sixth Ohio, 537.

LOST A BURGLAR

CITY MARSHAL MISUNDERSTOOD THE CALL.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 4.—City Marshall George M. Stebbins, Inspector W. J. Quilty and four patrolmen answered a burglar call from the home of Mrs. Mary W. Allen at 22 Sheldon street, last night.

The police misunderstood the street and went to 22 Sharon street. In the delay the burglar made his escape.

Mrs. Allen was in the house at the time of the visit of the burglar, who was also seen by a neighbor, C. P. Kibbe, who telephoned the police.

The burglar was frightened by Mrs. Allen's screams and left without securing any plunder.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP

CLAIMED BY THE SOUTHBRIDGE HOSE TEAM.

By Associated Press to The Sun

WEBSTER, Sept. 4.—The special attraction at the second day of the cattle fair in Putnam, Conn., yesterday was the hose racing contest, and the best teams in the state were entered.

Southbridge won the first prize in 21 1-4 seconds, Webster second and Fiskdale third. Southbridge lays claim to having broken the world's record. The contest was to run 150 yards, lay 150 feet of hose and make a dry hitch.

The Webster team claim Southbridge did not win fairly and has $100 to wager they can defeat their rivals. There is bitter feeling between the two teams and the Southbridge victory will be protested.

POWERS READY

Prepared to Send Fleets to Turkish Waters

By Associated Press to The Sun

PARIS, Sept. 4.—It is authoritatively stated that in view of the growing disturbances in Turkey, a French fleet will be ordered to hold itself in readiness to proceed to Turkish waters.

This determination followed the receipt of a report from the French ambassador at Constantinople that it was desirable to have warships in readiness for all eventualities.

Similar preparations have been made by Italy, Austria, Russia and Great Britain.

The officials here expect the fleets will not long be in case of a crisis.

The autumn meeting of the cabinet was held today. Foreign Minister Delcasse reviewed the Turkish situation. There is reason to believe that M. Delcasse has been informed that the United States government does not attach further importance to the Beirut incident. But this does not abate official interest in the future course of the American warships.

The French consul at Monastir reports that the conditions at that port are much worse.

HAVE BEEN LANDED AT CONSTANTINOPLE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 4.—No British marines have been landed at Constantinople, so far as the foreign office is informed, but it is expected that if the British foreign office need protection, the British ambassador is authorized to call upon the commander of the British guard-ship for guards.

The foreign office considers it probable that Russia and Austria have landed marines to protect their embassies, as a result of the porte's note of warning to the ambassadors.

So far as the foreign office knows, Constantinople is quiet.

FIVE EASTERNERS

Are Left in the Golf Tournament

By Associated Press to The Sun

GLEN COVE, L. I., Sept. 4.—With five eastern golfers, one from Pittsburg, and two westerners left in the national amateur golf championship tournament, play was resumed today on the Nassau country club links. These eight players are competing in the fifth round and the survivors will meet in the semi-final round this afternoon. The four winners this morning will be honor men in the tournament for a United States golf association medal which is presented to each of the four semi-finalists.

Walter J. Travis, the former national champion, is paired with George T. Brokaw, the Princetonian, who put out the young western champion, Walter Egan, yesterday. The gallery was not large when the men started but most of the spectators followed this match.

Paul Murphy, the St. Paul's school lad of Garden City, went off with F. O. Reinhart, the Princeton golfer, of whom great things are expected.

E. M. Byers, the strong Pittsburg golfer, and runner-up in last year's championship, met Walter R. Tuckerman, of Stockbridge, Mass., a comparatively new aspirant for high honors.

The two westerners are paired off together, Bruce D. Smith, the Onwentsia club member, and a Yale junior, and W. D. Cady of the Rock Island club.

Brokaw, whose playing had been far more erratic than yesterday, now had a streak of good luck. Travis drove out of bounds from the tenth tee, and lost the hole in 5 to 6 and Brokaw won the short eleventh by superior putting 4 to 5.

Reinhart beat Paul Murphy, by the unexpected score of 5 up and 4 to play. Reinhart had been picked to win, but not by such a high figure. Murphy won the first hole in a grand three, but that proved to be the only hole he won in the match. Reinhart tied the game on the fourth green and at the turn was three up. This finished the game at the 14th hole.

The largest gallery of the morning followed the Travis-Brokaw match. Brokaw had the honor and out-drove Travis by a few feet. Both, however, got long drives and goods lies. Travis rimmed the cup for a three and the first hole 310 yards was halved in 4. Brokaw drove into the rough for the long second hole 520 yards. Both approached far over the green but Travis ran up dead and won in 5 to 6. The third was halved in 4. Brokaw fell into the mound bunker in approaching the fourth. He got out short and made a desperate attempt to run down a 25 foot putt, but ran six feet over the hole, putting out in 5. Travis, however, won in 4 and was 2 up. The fifth and sixth were each halved in 5, both getting in the bunkers from their second shots for the fifth hole. Travis failed to reach the green on the short seventh hole, 161 yards, but he ran up dead in two and a half in three was the result. Brokaw missed a short putt on the next green and Travis won, giving him a lead of 3 on the eighth green. Travis won the ninth in 4 to 5. He putted dead to the hole in 3, laying Brikaw a stymie. The latter dead tried to play around the ball but missed getting in the cup, giving Travis the big lead of 4 up at the turn.

SHOE MANUFACTURERS

HAVE HAD A VERY PROSPEROUS SEASON.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LYNN, Sept. 4.—The statement recently made by a shoe trade journal that $25,000,000 worth of shoes were manufactured in this city during the past year is regarded as a conservative estimate by shoe manufacturers here.

The season of 1903, it is predicted, will be one of the most prosperous in the shoe business that local manufacturers have enjoyed for a long time. All the manufacturers who have been interviewed agree upon this point.

At present an eight-story building is in prospect of erection in this city, to be used for shoe manufacturing purposes, and every store in it has already been leased. Manufacturers find it difficult to get enough room to carry on their increased business.

DE FOREST DISCHARGED

PROSECUTION COULD NOT PROVE ITS CASE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 4. In the district court today the charge against young Louis DeForest for obstructing the fire department on August 1st, was discontinued after the department had put in its evidence, the court declaring that the prosecution had not made out its case.

It was not brought out in the evidence that the young man was notified that his automobile was an obstruction until after it had been removed by the chauffeur.

This is the case which DeForest was to settle by paying costs and apologizing to the foreman with whom he had some words but he finally decided to stand trial.

GRAND TRUNK BILL

WILL NOT GO INTO EFFECT FOR SOME TIME.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ST. JOHN, N. B., Sept. 4.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway bill, now before parliament at Ottawa, will not become effective for one time yet, according to advices received here. The vote in the house of commons this week was on the question of ordering a second reading. The government program was adopted and the bill passed that stage by a vote of 117 to 71. This indicates that the bill will be eventually adopted by the commons although many amendment will be offered. The conservative opposition announced its intention to oppose the bill to the last. The conservatives expect to be assisted by Hon. John Andrew Blair, member of parliament for St. John and Hon. Israel Tarte, two of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's former cabinet ministers.

THIRD ANNUAL OUTING

LOWELL AN MANCHESTER INSURANCE AGENTS AT CANOBIE LAKE.

A joint outing of the Prudential Insurance company's staff, under Supt. E. F. Seyler of Manchester, N. H., and Supt. E. Forrestier of Lowell, was held at Canobie Lake park yesterday. It was the third annual outing in which the Prudential men from these two cities have participated, and like its predecessors was a delightful affair.

Immediately after arriving at the park a game of base ball between a picked nine of the Manchester staff and a nine from Lowell staff was played. The score was 5 to 7 in favor of Manchester. The Manchester battery was Superintendent Seyler and Agent Goodwin. Star plays were made by Assistant Fargo and Agent Hammond. Superintendent Seyler kept the hits well scattered. It was only by the hardest work that Manchester won as the Lowell pitcher was a star from college. The umpire was Dr. McIntosh of Lowell and Superintendent Forrestier carried water.

After the game some time was spent at the banquet table, and when cigars were lighted Superintendent Seyler, toastmaster, called on different members of each staff for remarks, which were heartily responded to. Among the invited guests were Superintendents Sullivan of Lawrence and Cook of Salem, Dr. H. P. Watson, medical referee for the company in New Hampshire, and Dr. McIntosh of Lowell, the company medical examiner. The Lowell staff returned at 9.02, well pleased with the day's outing.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

Convicts Shot Down by the Guards

By Associated Press to The Sun

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 4.—Four white convicts were shot at Pratt Mines prison, early this morning in an attempt to escape, the wounded men being Tom Fay, John Brewer, Richard Kinnebeck and Thomas Metzen. Brewer and Kinnebeck probably will die.

The men were serving terms ranging from two to twenty years. They had secured a quantity of dynamite and blew an opening in one end of the prison, through which they ran and hurled sticks of dynamite at the guards. The latter opened fire with rifles and succeeded in preventing what might have been a wholesale delivery.

James Hervey, serving 20 years, was the only one to escape.

The crowd was led by Tom Fay who was the youngest member of the famous Miller-Duncan gang of safe-blowers.

WILL RUN TRAINS

IMPORTANT DECISION OF STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 4.—Permission to run four of its St. Paul-Duluth trains via Carlton and West Superior was granted to Northern Pacific by the State Railroad & Warehouse commission yesterday. Two daily trains, however, must be run by way of the old St. Paul-Duluth line, which lies entirely within Minnesota.

The railroads in accepting the commission's offer agrees further to consider all traffic on trains run between the two cities as state commerce and subject to state regulations. This stipulation applies particularly to the four trains run via Carlton and West Superior. The Northern Pacific also agrees to re-open the Duluth Twentieth avenue station and give the people of West Duluth adequate train service by re-establishing a depot at Fifty-fifth avenue.

The order of the commission finally settles a long controversy between the North Pacific and City of Duluth.

WHO SEEK EDUCATION IN GERMAN TECHNICAL SCHOOLS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, Sept. 4—Influential newspapers and magazines are urging the government to limit the number of foreigners instructed in the German technical high schools or more properly techinical universities which are overcrowded.

Out of a total of 14,642 students, 2,424 are foreigners. Nearly half of these are Russians and there are a few Americans. Besides giving trade competitors the benefit of German knowledge, the argument is advanced that the overcrowding prevents the Germans from getting the best results from the institutions.

WALL STREET GOSSIP.

By Associated Press to The Sun

11 a. m. The market was inclined to advance after the opening, but the bulge did not proceed far as the professionals quickly took the small profits. Atchison, Missouri Pacific, Southern Pacific, Erie, Reading and Southern Railway were the most active but did not vary in any instance more than one haf per cent. Metropolitan securities were advanced 1½.

Noon—There had been no sales of U. S. Steel pfd up to noon which is significant of the stagnant condition of the market. Gains of a point were scored by Atchison and General Electric, 1¼ by Reading second pfd., 1½ by Metropolitan Street Railway and 2 by Railway Steel Spring pfd. Colorado Fuel, Woolen pfd., and New York Chicago & St. Louis fell 1 and Minneapolis & St. Louis 2.

Bonds were firm.

1 p. m.—Atchison was bid up steadily and touched 66¼, a rise of over 2 points with some large blocks of the stock changing hands. The other grangers improved a further fraction and the coalers were also in better demand. Consolidated Gas advanced 1 and Northwestern 1¼.

2 p.m.—The market maintained a rather strong undertone until well into the afternoon. Atchison continued to lead the day's rise, and crossed 67. Western stocks generally sympathized in the movement to the extent of a point or more. Colorado Fuel ran off 2¾ but the other metal stocks were not affected.

TWO BIG YACHTS

Will be Put Out of Commission

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The first steps towards putting Reliance and Shamrock III out of commission for the winter, were taken today when the Reliance left Sandy Hook for her former anchorage off the home of C. Oliver Iselin, at New Rochelle. As the successful cup defender passed through the harbor and East river, she was gayly dressed with many yachting designs and signal flags and was saluted by every steam craft as she passed. Later it is expected the Reliance will be taken to City Island to be hauled up for the winter.

The Shamrock lay inside Sandy Hook drying her sails and preparing to be put in trim for her long tow back to the Clyde. The crews of both yachts were given little work to do today.

CONGRESS OF ACTUARIES

DISCUSS PROTECTION OF WIVES AND CHILDREN.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—At the opening of the fifth day's sessions of the International Congress of Actuaries, discussion of one of Thursday's topics, the protection of wives and children against claim of creditors, was continued. J. G. Vancise of New York said that nine-tenths of the policies issued in the United States give the life assured the privilege of changing beneficiaries, and he declared that in the past seven years, during which time that privilege had been accorded he has known of no case in which a wife and children have suffered on account of it.

Dr. Ernest Blaschke's paper on the best plan for publishing government statistics concerning dangerous occupations and the mortality therein and the paper on the same subject by J. T. Harms Tiepen, of Amsterdam, evoked no discussion.

Dr. Van Schevichaven spoke briefly on his paper on "The Closing of the Books by Companies Doing Business in Various Countries."

A paper by Dr. D. F. Lundgren of Stockholm, on "The Principal Laws of Sweden Regarding Reserves" was considered briefly, as was the paper by Miles Dawson of New York on "Valuation, in Actions for Damages for Negligence, of Human Life Destroyed or Impaired."

DOWN AT CONEY

The Police Found Lottie Woods

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Lottie Woods, 14 years old, who disappeared from her mother's home at 60 Berkeley street three months ago, was arrested Wednesday on Surf avenue, Coney Island. She had been at Coney Island only about 24 hours when Policeman Terence Meehan took her into custody. When taken to the Coney Island police station the girl gave a name other than her own, but later told the police who she was and also said she ran away from her Boston home with $112 which she took from her mother.

Mrs. Woods was notified of the arrest Wednesday night and left for New York to attempt to obtain her daughter's release. She appeared in the Coney Island court yesterday, but the girl was not released, as the society for the prevention of cruelty to children wished to make an investigation to be sure that she would be placed under proper restraint, that she might be free from temptation in the future.

Although very young, Lottie Woods, acording to the story she told Capt. Dooley of the Coney Island station, is rather precocious. She says she left Boston with her mother's money and a sailor named Muller. They first went to Providence, where the girl had relatives. She did not visit her relatives, nor did she send word home, but remained in Providence with the sailor several weeks.

From there she says she went to New York, because she wished to see what life in a large city meant. Her associations in New York are said by the police to have been unfortunate for her.

She has been low in funds for several weeks, and parted company with the sea-faring man with whom she left Boston. Then she drifted to Coney Island and there went to a resort which was recently raided.

When Lottie Woods was arrested she was accompanied by Annie Eichenberger, 16 years old, who lives in New York. Upon complaint of the Eichenberger girl the police arrested Frank Luzzi, 22 years old, of 23 Roosevelt street, Manhattan. Luzzi was arraigned before Magistrate Voorhees of the Coney Island court and held for further examination.

According to the Coney Island police Lottie Woods is only one of several hundred young girls from out-of-town places who have been picked up at the popular resort this season. She was recognized by Policeman Meehan from a description which the Boston police sent out several days ago.

Mrs. Woods, who has a lodging house at 60 Berkeley street, has been searching for her daughter for three months. She believed that the girl would be found by some charitable society when her funds were exhausted.

Two days ago the Boston police sent a request for a search of New York to the police there, it being supposed that her volatile disposition would lead her there.

Mrs. Woods told the officers of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children at Coney Island that if her daughter were released she would place her where she would be under restraint.

RULE UPHELD

PASSENGERS MUST SHOW COUPON TICKET BOOK.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—A single trip from West Roxbury to the city proper on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad cost Arthur Reeves about $10.14. This is the sum of his fine for refusing to comply with a rule of the railroad and the costs of court.

The rule which Mr. Reeves contested was that requiring holders of commutation ticket books to show the book on presenting a fare. He offered his ticket, but refused to show his book. The railroad made a test case of the matter and won, the case being tried in the district court and a finding of 14 cents being returned. The costs were $10.

Mr. Reeves will accept the finding of the court and drop the case.

The sworn daily average circulation of the Lowell Sun for the month of August, 1903, was 14,795

A gain of 1288 copies per day over the average for the year of 1902.

Sworn to by Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman of The Sun, before me, Sept. 1, 1903.

It looks now as if the labor hosts will have an ideal day for their celebration.

There will be no Sun published on Labor Day. We intend to celebrate.

While it is well to scrutinize every bill that is presented for payment it is wholly unnecessary to make faces as the overseers of the poor are wont to do before paying the bills they contract in a proper way.

A mob in the South End of Boston tried to rescue a prisoner, Thursday night, and strange to say, the officers, despite Judge Emmons' order to shoot, depended upon the free use of their clubs.

The republicans of Boston are at their wits end to get some candidate to run up against Mayor Collins. None of the prominent men want the privilege, but there are several light-weights seeking the place. George N. Swallow, Judge Dewey and Michael Murray are among those already mentioned.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN TURKEY

Today the guns of the American Squadron under Admiral Colton point down over Beirut, but this move is offset by the Sultan's announcement that he can no longer guarantee the safety of the consulates at Constantinople. This is a serious threat. It is a notification that the warships are more necessary at Constantinople than at Beirut. This bodes trouble for the Turkish empire and it makes it incumbent upon the powers to take prompt action for the protection of Christians and foreigners in general.

THE MILLIONAIRE DEFENDANTS SET FREE.

The defendants in the Newark, N. J., case were acquitted as we anticipated. It is difficult to get such men corralled in court. Yet they cannot be convicted without evidence and the presiding judge said there was no evidence to show that they were guilty of criminal negligence. Still by the negligence of a motor man and conductor an electric car was run into by an express train and nine high school children killed. If the children had only been injured through negligence the company of which these men are the head would be held responsible by the court. When the children are killed by the worst kind of negligence nobody is to blame. It is queer how the law sometimes favors such men.

LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATION.

Monday will be Labor Day, a day when the dignity of labor is celebrated and a day also when the voice of labor is heard in advocacy of the rights of labor and of various reforms needed for the amelioration of the toilers' condition. The labor unions by harmonious and conservative action can exert great influence upon legislative bodies; but it will best serve the purposes of the labor union not to affiliate itself with any political organization. It will require also to keep aloof from certain isms and radical movements which can only have the effect of alienating public sympathy and in the long run lessening the efficacy and strength of labor bodies.

On Labor Day the toilers turn out in parade, the assumption being that by such demonstrations a greater impression can be made upon the public mind in regard to the demands of labor for a greater share of the wealth produced by toil, for a shorter work day and a general improvement in the condition of the toiler.

THE MACEDONIAN CAUSE.

Whether Macedonia shall win her freedom now or at some future day it must be admitted that her people show the right spirit. The proclamation issued by the insurgents has the ring of one of Patrick Henry's great appeals for liberty. It says:—

"The dawn of liberty peeps already above the Macedonian horizon and awaits this stroke to shine with its full brilliancy on the Macedonian land. Prepare yourselves then for this stroke. Be at your posts. The hour for the battle strikes. The cry of 'Liberty or Death' will break the chains of slavery and bring the triumph of justice."

That is a struggle and a proclamation to which every christian nation and people might extend its benediction. The spirit that inspires those patriotic words will be hard to crush. It is too bad that a single province must run the risk of annihilation by standing independently before an overwhelming Mohammedan foe.

COMPANIES RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR POLES.

The supreme court has handed down an important decision holding that all companies maintaining polls in the public streets are liable for damages caused by the presence of such poles, provided the injured party exercises due care. It has been generally assumed that the poles being stationary, quiescent and inoffensive, the owners cannot be responsible for damages in any form, but the ruling of the supreme court on this matter asserts that because a company has a franchise to maintain poles does not exempt such company from claims for injuries caused by such poles.

If one of the poles should break and injure somebody; or, if the crossbar should fall on the heads of passers-by, the company would naturally have to pay the damage. The justice of this seems self-evident; but it has to be cleared of a lot of confusing circumstances before its reasonableness appears with striking effect. The decision will probably cause the companies that string wires to be more careful knowing that they are not immune from actions of tort for injuries sustained on account of the poles.

THE CUP CONTESTS.

Sir Thomas Lipton has universal sympathy in his defeat in the cup race. He has spent $2,000,000 in his three contests for the America cup but without avail. He takes his defeat in a sensible way. Did he feel otherwise disposed the defeat might kill him. But he is the right kind of a sport and his failure was due to the fact that the American boat was faster under any kind of weather.

A list of the various contests showing the date of the races, the names of the contending boats, the corrected time and the defender's lead in each case shows that while Sir Thomas made a gallant contest for the cup some of the previous challengers did quite as well.

It is quite apparent that Shamrock III did not make as good a battle relatively for the cup as did several of the previous challengers.

The performance of the Reliance was uniformly superior to that of Shamrock III in all kinds of weather. Much has been said of the masterly work of the crew, but if the boat were not faster than Shamrock III no crew could urge her through the water. It is quite probable that the speed of both boats was well displayed in the work done, the assumption being that in each case the crew did good work.

IN BASKET BALL

Rules of the New England League

MANAGER GRAY WILL MAKE SOME CHANGES

Harry Hough Deserts the National League

Harry Hough, the little wonder, will play in Massachusetts this season.

Wiley Platt, formerly of the Boston Nationals, is one of the new men signed by Manager Stallings for the Buffalo team.

It is whispered that Bucky Low and Fields may be among the missing in the lineup of the Lowell team, and there are others, too, who will get the go-by.

If John Smith goes to manage the Bristol, Pa. team as now seems probable, it is reported that he will offer several of last year's Manchester team a chance to play with the champions of the National league.

It begins to look as if Jimmie Redmond will get his end all right. He will fit in somewhere when the pinns are being passed. Redmond knows too much about basketball and the men who play the game to be left out.

An important meeting of the New England basketball league is slated for Concord tomorrow. It is expected that at this meeting the formation of the league will be definitely determined, and that the franchises will be awarded in those cities where two or more claimants are after the prizes.

It was announced also that at this meeting rules for the government of the league would be adopted. Altogether it looks as if the meeting will do a great deal that will be of interest to followers of the game.

James Gray, who will manage the Lowell team in the league, has a number of applications from players of repute who want to work under his management. It is a matter of common knowledge among those who have followed the game and heard the remarks of visitors players that Mr. Gray stands well and will have no difficulty in getting good men in case he drops some of the old P. A. C. team which now seems very likely.

All of the star players of the Camden National Basketball league team, with the exception of Middleton and Bossert, have signed contracts to play in New England this season, deserting the National league team. Manager Godnow will place this strong team at Pittsfield, Mass.: Forwards Harry Hough, Trenton; Edward Feist, Camden; John Deal, Germantown, a Pittsfield player. Centers—Fred Mullinger, Trenton; George Keenan, Philadelphia; a Pittsfield player. Defense—Winfield Kinkaide, Philadelphia; Harold Thomas, Philadelphia; Robert Mayham, Trenton; a Pittsfield player.

At the annual meeting of the National Basketball league there was a fight against the adoption of the proposed change in the rule concerning foul goals, the opposition whining out. The change if it had taken effect would have greatly altered the present style of play. Instead of giving a free throw each time a foul was called, the new rule would have made two fouls score one point. Many players objected to the new rule and some openly stated that they would not play with the new rule in vogue. By strong arguments the magnates were convinced that the rule was not the best thing for the game.

GIVES HER NAME

YOUNG WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN A BOAT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The young woman who was found unconscious in a small boat at one of the wharves in this city Thursday night and who, it was suspected had been drugged and robbed, was dismissed from the hospital to which she was taken, yesterday, having recovered. Before leaving she gave her name as May Simpson, and said that her widowed mother lived in Chelmsford, Mass., and that she left some time ago intending to take a course in the New England Conservatory of Music. She came here but her plans were blotted by ill-health and she recently returned here from a visit to a married sister living in Portland, Maine.

Miss Simpson asserted that she had been robbed and believes that her condition was due to her having been given drugs of some sort by a woman and two young men whom she met for the first time Thursday night in a restaurant here and with whom she consented to pass a pleasant evening. She denies that she partook of any intoxicants.

400 VICTIMS

Bulgarians Suffered Terrible Loss in Fight With Turks

By Associated Press to The Sun

SALONICA, Sept. 5.—Details of the fighting between the Turks and Bulgarians at Lake Rapela, between Klissura and Kastoria, Sept. 1st, when the insurgents were defeated have been received here. Four hundred Bulgarians were killed and many captured, including the chiefs, Kohie and Manoloff. The third leader, named Charklaroff, escaped with the money that had been collected at Klissura. Two thousand five hundred troops are reported to be surrounding the rest of the band.

Fifteen thousand Bulgarian villagers have taken refuge in the mountains at Vltch between Florina and Kastoria. A revolt has begun at Razlog, fifty miles south of Sofia, in the Turkish province of Seres.

The railroad authorities are preparing twenty trains for the despatch of Albanian troops to Adrianople. Two battalions of Albanian levis have arrived at Salonica and eighteen other battalions are expected.

CONSUL'S PLACE

Change in System of Appointments

By Associated Press to The Sun

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—An important change of policy with respect to the making of appointments in the consular service has been decided upon by President Roosevelt. He discussed the change yesterday with Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis.

For many years it has been practically the uniform practice of presidents to appoint men to positions in the consular service substantially without reference to whatever previous experience they may have had. President Roosevelt after consultation with Secretary Hay, Assistant Secretary Loomis and members of his cabinet not immediately identified with the state department has determined to appoint hereafter to important places in the consular service men who already are in the service and have had that experience and training in minor positions which will render them the more capable of filling places of higher grade and greater importance.

The change in policy does not extend the civil service to the consular service and it does not extend, necessarily a consul's tenure of office at any particular place, but it is pointed out, it does give reasonable assurance to the manufacturing and commercial interests of the United States, which, particularly are interested in the extension of the country's foreign trade, that in a comparatively brief time all important consular situations will be filled not only by men of character and ability, but by men, who, by training and experience, are specially qualified to advance the trade interests of the United States.

Secretary Loomis discussed with the president several appointments in the service that are to be made soon. It is understood that of all the appointees will be men who now are filling places of lesser importance in the service. They are to be promoted and, in turn their places will be filled by men who have not had the experiences they have had.

THE GREAT EAGLE

"Big Tim" Sullivan Wins the Place

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan is now the head of the Fraternal order of Eagles, having been elected grand worthy master at the convention in Tammany hall yesterday. The election was a spirited one, and there was lively campaigning from beginning to end. Sullivan's election had been expected, but many western contingents favored the election of Vice President Pelletir of Kansas City, and waged a vigorous fight to place him at the head of the order. In the first ballot Sullivan polled 502 votes, Pelletir 278 and Henry "Hy" Davis of Cincinnati 270. The two latter candidates then withdrew and the congressman's election was then made unanimous. A protest was made against the votes from Honolulu, which were represented by proxy by the California delegates. As the Hawaiian Islanders were in favor of Sullivan his adherents fought vigorously until the California delegates were permitted to vote for their distant neighbors. Cape Nome, Alaska, the states of Washington and Texas went solid for Sullivan. The congressman drew from all over the country, even the far western states sending him a good vote. Thomas Cowgan of Cincinnati and John Kenny of Buffalo managed Sullivan's campaign.

OLYMPIA SINKING

It Was Feared Flagship Would Go Down

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 5—The cruiser Olympia, flying the pennant of Rear Admiral Coghlan, arrived at the Norfolk navy yard yesterday. Her bottom was inspected and she will be docked Wednesday for repairing the injuries received on rocks off the Maine coast. On the way down the coast in a storm it was thought at one time the Olympia was sinking. She ran into a heavy gale off Tomaston harbor and for a while fears were entertained that she might not be able to weather it in safety. Her water-tight compartments saw her safely through the blow, but not until it had become necessary to seek shelter in Tomaston harbor until the gale subsided. When the Olympia reached the Norfolk navy yard yesterday she was immediately boarded by Naval Constructor Evans and his force of assistants. Several of her plates were found to be cracked and broken and it was announced she would be docked Wednesday for repairs which will consume about seven weeks.

PORTE'S WARNING

Against Attack by the Bulgarian Bandits

TURKEY'S ACTION SATISFIES CONSUL AT BEIRUT

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister, called on Secretary Hay yesterday to inform him that he had received from his foreign office official advices to the effect that the American consul at Beirut was entirely satisfied with the measures Turkey had taken to protect life and property there and to investigate and act with respect with the assault on Vice-Consul Magelssen.

The Porte, in advising the foreign embassies and legations of the measures taken to protect them added a warning against Bulgarian bandits, who might attempt to elude the Turkish guards and attack the foreigners from within.

It is a matter of some comment that there are only about two hundred marines with European squadron but these with the Kavass already in the service of the legation, and with the Turkish guards ordered to Minister Leishman, will, it is believed, prove sufficient for any emergency likely to arise.

Officials of the state department, commenting upon the item from Paris saying that ships of foreign powers would be sent to Turkish waters, stated that the United States was now sending ships to Turkish waters. The term "Turkish waters" does not mean Constantinople, they say, and while the whole eastern portion of the Mediterranean is said to be covered with warships, it was possible that none of them would force the Dardanelles. After the Crimean war, a treaty was made which has been followed up by subsequent treaties which prohibits warships from entering the Dardanelles without the consent of Turkey and Turkey must have the assent of all the signatory powers. In 1868, Admiral Farragut with the flagship Franklin, was invited and ascended the Dardanelles and the powers protested.

Then it was determined that no vessel of war could enter the Dardanelles. There is a provision, however, that in case Turkey is at war with another power, she might admit the ships of a friendly power. This, it is said here, is directed at Russia.

In 1885, Turkey, under the treaty, refused to allow either the Marblehead or the Bancroft, American warships, to enter the Dardanelles.

Small ships of other nations are allowed in the Bosphorus, which have been sent through the Dardanelles, but these are called legation vessels and rated of little importance. However, they carry sailors which may be used for legation guards at any time. It is believed that in case the United States deemed it necessary to send a launch or small vessel with a guard for the American legation Turkey would have a right to admit them to the Dardanelles without consulting and obtaining the permission of the powers.

CRISIS AT HAND

Missionaries Said to be in Danger

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Morning Post publishes a letter from its Constantinople correspondent in which he discusses the Beirut affair and the position of the American missionaries in Asia Minor. He says:

"Things have arrived at a crisis. The United States must either insist upon the Porte listening to its representations regarding American converts or drop the missionaries altogether. The latter course is naturally impossible and the sending of a squadron has great significance as showing a determination on the part of America to take active part in the Turkish question. One result of this step will probably be to induce the sultan to raise his representative at Washington to the rank of an ambassador so that the United States can be equally represented here. At present America is at a decided disadvantage in this respect compared with the other first class powers. Nobody can quite foresee the ultimate attitude of the United States, but it is almost certain that her weight will incline on the side of the Christian against the Turks.

BATTLESHIP BELLE ISLE

TORPEDOED AND SANK AT HER MOORINGS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 5. The old battleship Belle Isle was torpedoed here yesterday and sank at her moorings. For the purposes of the experiment a section had been constructed on the port side of the Belle Isle representing the side of a modern battleship. This was filled with an American invention which, it was claimed, would prevent a ship from sinking when the hull is penetrated below the water line. When the vessel was struck a huge column of water enveloped her. She rolled heavily and then settled down with a list of ports. The Belle Isle will be raised for further experiments. It is said the damage done to the ship's bottom is extensive.

WHITE SLAVES

Little Greek Boys Sold for Small Sums

By Associated Press to The Sun

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 5—White slavery is practiced in Michigan cities by an oath-bound organization with headquarters at Kalamazoo. The escape Thursday morning of a 12-year-old bootblack from his master, Anthony Demers, owner of a Greek bootblacking place in the city, and the latter's anxiety to recapture the child, have revealed the methods practiced by the society.

Every year boys are being picked up on the streets of Greek cities, it is said, and sold into slavery in this country. The purchasers are mostly Greek shoe shiners, who pay from $60 to $75 for a 6 or 8 year-old-boy for the first year; the second year the price is advanced $25 and each succeeding year a small advance is made until the boy is of age, when the "boss" must take his chances with his protege.

This was the fate of Nicholas Demorgoor, who was shipped from Greece to Kalamazoo 17 months ago and who, after suffering many indignities, made his escape Thursday morning. Peter Saranton, a Greek, 25 years old, who has spent the greater part of his life as a shoe shiner without compensation, took pity on the youngster and ran away with him.

Anthony Demers and his brother Alexander are at the head of a shoe shining organization which operates "parlors" in Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson, South Bend, St. Joseph, Benton Harbor and Chicago. With a few exceptions the work of polishing shoes is all done by little Greek boys whose ages range from 5 to 18 years.

The "League" society is not incorporated, but an agreement in the nature of an oath is said to be entered into between the operators. When Demers returned, the early part of this week, from a collection trip, he charged the boy with stealing a small sum while he was gone and it is alleged used very stringent measures, which led the boy to run away.

Demers has admitted all the foregoing facts to Kalamazoo officials. It is likely that arrests will follow and the case may involve instances in many cities throughout the country. Demers justifies himself in the slave practice by claiming that Greek parents do not care anything about their children and are glad to have them come to this country.

It is more profitable to advertise honorably and fail in the attempt to get business, than to advertise dishonorably and succeed for a little while.

HAD LAY-OFF

Lowells Enjoyed a One Day Rest

Pitcher Bushey Went Home for Only One Game and Will Finish Out the Season With Lowell—Other Games Yesterday

The Lowell team had a lay-off yesterday and some of the boys went to Nashua to see that team work. Lew Cross remained at his home in Manchester, N. H., where his father is very ill.

Manager Lake was in communication with Pitcher Bushey at Waterville, Me., and Bush will be back today for the remainder of the season. Bushey's home is in Waterville and when that city sent him a tempting offer to pitch one game he accepted it immediately. Then he was afraid that Lake might not let him go so he decided to go and ask permission afterward. He had no intention, however, of jumping the team for all time. So Bushey will be back for the remaining games.

Concord will be the visitors this afternoon and as they were ever Lowell's Jonahs a good game should result.

CONCORD WENT DOWN

BEFORE THE HEAVY HITTING OF NASHUA.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 5.—Concord went down before the heavy hitting of the home team yesterday. The work of the visitors in the field was indifferent. Nashua played snappy ball throughout. Seffel at second made a sensational stop and putout. Jordan led in batting. Wiley injured his hand in the second inning and was replaced by Eaton.

A MIGHTY HEALER

CURES THE SICK BY MYSTIC POWER

YOU CAN KNOW HIS SECRET FREE

Marvelous New Treatment Which Conquers All Diseases

You Can Be Cured at Home—Generous Offer of Prof. Adkin

PROF. THOMAS F. ADKIN.

"I consider it a crime to experiment with the health of the people," says Prof. Thomas F. Adkin, president of the Institute of Physicians and Surgeons. "If I did not know positively and absolutely that my new home treatment will cure every known disease, even when all other methods of treatment fail, I would consider I was committing a crime to make such a statement to the public. Nothing is so precious to a man as his health, nothing so horrible as an untimely grave. Little ills, if not promptly cured, often result in obstinate chronic diseases. I believe that my new discovery, 'Vitaopathy,' is the most marvelous treatment ever known, and I intend to give its secrets to the world. I intend that every man, woman and child shall know its teachings. I propose to tell the sick, absolutely free of charge, how that may be restored to perfect health. I would rather be a benefactor to the sick man than to have the wealth of Croesus."

The above are remarkable words, but those who know Prof. Adkin and have used his treatment can vouch for their absolute truthfulness.

"I was nearly dead with liver and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. S. Robinson, 140 Westminster street, Providence, R. I. "The doctors had given me up to die. You can imagine what a state of mind I was in. I could not attend to business, and began to think my days were numbered. I read the wonderful cures Prof. Adkin had effected by his great discovery Vitaopathy and as a forlorn hope wrote to him just the condition I was in, mentally and physically. He gave me a clear diagnosis of my case and didn't charge me a cent for it. He prescribed a treatment which I began with little or no faith, but I am happy to state that I am now completely cured, and am a firm believer in Vitaopathy. From my own personal experience I believe Prof. Adkin can almost raise the dead."

Mrs. A. J. Clifford, Stowe Creek, O., writes this grateful letter: "I was affected with a severe case of Eczema and Nettle Rash, which spread over my whole body. The itching and stinging at times was almost unbearable. I wrote Prof. Adkin, and in four days after I began following the free advice he gave me the itching began to subside and the eruptions dried up rapidly. In ten days I was permanently cured. I feel better now than I have for the past ten years. The free advice of Prof. Adkin gives a blessing to those who cannot afford to pay big doctor's bills."

Prof. Adkin says: "I sympathize with the sick. I want to make every chronic invalid well. I want to prove what my treatment will do. I want every sick person in this country to write me personally. Tell me the leading symptoms of your disease and I will at once make a thorough diagnosis of your case and outline a method of treatment which will positively cure you. This will cost you absolutely nothing. I will also send you a copy of my new book, 'How to be Cured and How to Cure Others,' postage prepaid. You are not out a single cent. Write me in confidence fully and freely about yourself." Address PROF. THOS. F. ADKIN, office [illegible], Rochester, N. Y.

[illegible] the years—Nashua Cor. Manchester Union.

The Nashua bunch, according to the New Bedford Mercury, will have to sleep [illegible] when they make their next stay in the Whaling city. It's pretty tough for a bunch to carry the reputation they [illegible] equally bad in every city on the circuit. They seem to be "the limit."—Fall River Globe.

They say that [illegible] Murphy was not [illegible] in New Bedford, but when Lawrence went there last week, his many friends [illegible] to present him with [illegible]. The rain prevented the presentation, but there will [illegible] place this week when the team goes to New Bedford [illegible].

It is expected that Manager John F. Smith will return to his old home in [illegible] the coming winter instead of remaining in Manchester, as he did [illegible]. Mr. Smith has put in a bid for the [illegible] in the National [illegible] and it is expected that he will receive it. Then he will [illegible] team that won the National league championship two years ago to play basket ball [illegible]. The local basket ball interests are in the hands of an association of which Smith is a member and his presence will not be necessary.

A despatch from Haverhill says that President [illegible] has received a letter from Charlie [illegible], in which he states that he will buy the local club, providing [illegible] New York Americans [illegible] that the management of the New York club will not stand [illegible] Haverhill [illegible]. This is the one condition that the deal now [illegible], and it is expected that [illegible] will know in a few days [illegible]. According to President [illegible], the terms [illegible] satisfactory to both parties concerned. It is [illegible] that both [illegible] will control the team and [illegible] to be with them.

What Jake Morse thinks: Hooker is holding Lowell [illegible] good style [illegible] the bill [illegible]. Mr. Whiting woke up the [illegible]. Pretty close between Fall River, New Bedford and Haverhill. Manchester will have to [illegible] championship [illegible] of Concord [illegible] best youngsters in the [illegible] that [illegible] with all just two [illegible] will [illegible] battle. [illegible] Haverhill is certainly as good [illegible] all round first baseman as there is in the league. Lowell will again try to win at Manchester today; this will end the series between the two clubs. Tom McCarthy is evidently anything but all in. He would be a great man for some team in 1904. Connors is playing a decidedly fast game at second for Lowell. His work at Manchester on Tuesday was brilliant in the extreme. Jack Carney still clings to his .360 percentage. No first baseman in the country can show anything better in the number of games played.—Concord Monitor.

JUVENILE DIAMOND.

Gene McCarthy, the well-known Collinsville sport, has been asked to pitch for Milford Labor Day. Although Gene is still in his teens, he is there with the goods, and he will very likely accept the invitation. He has already demonstrated that he is fit for faster company and will certainly make good with Milford. He will be accompanied by his trainer and bottle washer, Denis A. O'Brien, the well-known "Lobster."

SALEM PLAYOUT

MANCHESTER IS STILL TALKING ABOUT IT.

Says the Manchester Union:

The soap-bubble has burst, and the cause of Uncle Sam's 174-foot squirt at Salem has returned to the realm of horrid mystery. Foreman Frank H. Harvey says that soap is a good thing for leather; that it was made for leather, in fact; that, while nobody knew it, he had used soap for the purpose of lubricating the cylinders of Uncle Sam ever since he had been foreman of the machine; and that he, and he alone, knows just why the crack tub of the Manchester Veteran Firemen's association fell down on Aug. 20, and that he won't tell.

Mr. Harvey admits that something went wofully wrong with the machine a few days before it went to Salem, but he declares that it wasn't the soap that was at the heart of the trouble. He says that he has correctly diagnosed the case and has applied the remedy, but that no one knows either the disease or the cure. To be sure, when Uncle Sam dropped from an average of 200 feet down to 150, just before it went to Salem, Mr. Harvey is said to have confidently told some of the members of the association that the soap had been put into the cylinders and that he knew a mistake had been made, and he was one of a party that took the machine to pieces and did everything they could to rinse the soap out, but this evidently has no bearing on the case whatever, since soap is a good lubricant for plunger leathers. These facts were called to the foreman's attention, however, as was the one that when the tub was pulled upon the platform at Salem the foreman knew and said that it had no chance to win, but no satisfactory answer was elicited, because, you see, the whole thing is a deep, dark mystery.

If Uncle Sam would only speak. Then the public that has believed in, rooted for and bet on the tub could know just what microbe got into its internal organization and weakened its pumping power. Mr. Harvey says he knows, but Mr. Harvey won't tell. All the believing, rooting, betting public knows is that the tub fell down in a most humiliating manner at Salem, and that just about 99 per cent. of its pumpers believe that soap did it. Mr. Harvey knows the machine fell down, indeed, he seems to be pretty sure it was going to before it mounted the platform, but he says that soap didn't do it. Now if only Uncle Sam could give a hint, how all this mystery could be cleared up.

Since the much-experimented-on tub cannot speak, the question seems to be up to the experts. Perhaps, after all, Mr. Harvey is right and soap is a good thing for leather. The foreman pointed with pride to the harnesses of the Engine 1 team, when he was discussing this subject on Thursday, and called attention to the fact that he washed them with soap and that it was just what the leather needed. He said also that experienced engineers had told him that soap was a proper lubricant for pump plungers.

WHISKEY AND BEER HABIT

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE"

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary—simple, inexpensive, harmless and sure. Can be given secretly if desired. We will refund the money if it fails.

Mr. E. T. Sims, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Use my name as a 20-year drunkard restored to manhood and health by four boxes of 'ORRINE.' It is a wonderful and marvelous cure for the drink habit."

Mrs. E. Wycliff, New York city, writes: "'ORRINE' cured my husband, who was a steady drunkard for many years. He now has no desire for stimulants, his health is good and he is fully restored to manhood. He used only five boxes of 'ORRINE.'"

Mrs. W. L. D., Helena, Mont., writes: "I have waited one year before writing you of the permanent cure of my son. He took sanitarium treatment, as well as other advertised cures, but they all failed until we gave him 'ORRINE.' He is now fully restored to health and has no desire for strong drink."

Mrs. P. L. R., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I am satisfied that drunkenness is a disease and the worst in the world. 'ORRINE,' in my opinion, will cure any case if taken as you direct. I was a common drunkard for 20 years, but today I am free of any desire for liquor. You have found the specific. God bless you!"

Mr. A. E. L., Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was born with a love of whiskey and drank it for 32 years. It finally brought me to the gutter, homeless and friendless. I was powerless to resist the craving and would steal and lie to get whiskey. Four boxes cured me of all desire and I now hate the smell of liquor."

Price $1 per box, 6 boxes for $5. Mailed in plain, sealed wrappers by Orrine Company, 817 11th street, Washington, D. C. Interesting booklet, sealed, free on request. Sold and recommended by Ellingwood & Co., Barristers hall, Lowell, Mass.

GUEST OF PILGRIMS

Sir Thomas Lipton Praises Enterprise of Americans

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Sir Thomas Lipton was the guest of honor of the Pilgrims of the United States at a dinner given in his honor last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. Nearly one hundred and fifty men, prominent in many walks of life were present. Sir Thomas arrived at 7.45 and for half an hour the gallant owner of Shamrock III received his friends. Then Sir Thomas escorted by George T. Wilson, who was to preside, led the way from the reception room to the tables. At either end of the hall was hung Sir Thomas' private emblem—the Shamrock on a field of yellow, surrounded by a green border—while above the guests' table were draped the flags of Great Britain and the United States. Bunches of red roses on each table and greens on the walls completed the decorations. Surmounting the menus which bore the flags of Sir Thomas and the Royal Ulster Yacht club was a cardboard yacht, which bore no name.

In order to enliven affairs somewhat at the outset the guests sang a little song to the refrain of "Mr. Dooley," which told of the virtues of Sir Thomas and his enduring efforts to lift the cup.

There had been arranged no formal speeches but the following were called upon: George T. Wilson, Sir Thomas Lipton, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, Gen. H. C. Corbin, Col. Henry Watterson, ex-Gov. Thomas of Colorado and Senator A. E. Cates.

With Sir Thomas at the guests' table sat the Arch-Earl of Shaftesbury, Commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht club; Commodore F. C. Bourne, General H. C. Corbin, William Fife, Rear-Admiral Rodgers, Col. Henry Watterson, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, George T. Wilson and ex-Gov. Thomas.

Mr. Wilson presided at the dinner in the absence of Bishop Potter, the president of the society.

When the ices were served a procession of waiters marched in to a popular air bearing traps crowned with gilded harps, full-rigged models of Reliance and Shamrock and easels with figures of backs. Mr. Wilson addressing Sir Thomas, said that his attitude had struck a responsive chord in every heart.

"As a loser," said he, "you are a corker. You will ever have the admiration, love and regard of all Americans."

Sir Thomas was given many hearty rounds of cheers when he arose. He said:

"We are all more or less pilgrims here tonight and I'd like to feel that I am not a stranger among you.

"As regards the cup races, we have been beaten fairly and squarely, and I congratulate America on having the better boat. I wish to take occasion here to express my thanks for the courteousness and kindness shown me by the New York Yacht club. I am especially grateful for the admirable way in which the course was kept clear.

"I have heard much comment for and against the Sandy Hook course. It is as good a course as any others, nay, there is no other course in the world like it.

"I am beginning to think that there is some magic spell about that 'blooming old cup.' Two years ago I had it almost within my grasp, but it escaped me then as it has escaped me now, and it seems as far off as ever. But my motto has always been, 'Try, try again.'

"Although I have been without success each time I have tried, I do not despair that some day we shall have success in capturing that famous trophy, although I must confess that we appear now to be more than a little bit astern.

"Herreshoff is the greatest designer of the age but I am still very hopeful that I will see that cup on the other side yet.

"America is a very hard country to beat and I know it. I am a very disappointed man but still I have the consolation that both conquerors and conquered belong to the same good old race. The cup is still in the family, only it is held by a younger and more go ahead generation.

"Gentlemen, while I lost the cup, or rather did not succeed in winning it, I have not lost the esteem and good-will of my American friends, which esteem and good-will I reciprocate in the very highest degree possible. My feeling of gratitude for this spirit is great beyond expression. I shall bear in my heart the remembrance of your kindly acts for all time. I am sure that as the days and years roll by these contests will not have been held in vain if they make us realize that wherever we are, the world over, we shall 'Brothers be for a'that.'"

After speeches had been made by the Earl of Shaftsbury, Gen. Corbin and Col. Watterson, Gen. Wheeler spoke.

POPE CONFERRED ON HIM TITLE OF COMMENDATORE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 5.—Pius X, in order to show his appreciation of the services Prof. Lapponi rendered to the late pontiff during his trying illness, yesterday conferred on him the title of commendatore.

His holiness accompanied the conferring of the honor by a very flattering letter to the doctor and insisted on personally bestowing the title, saying to Dr. Lapponi:

"My predecessor had many peaceful years to thank you for."

"May your holiness have as many," replied the doctor.

"Well, I do not know that I would echo that wish," said the pope with a smile.

BOSTON THEATRE.

On next Monday afternoon the Boston theatre will be opened for the season. Mr. J. H. Tibbetts will manage the theatre as he has during the past two seasons. During this time Mr. Tibbetts has built up a patronage that taxes his theatre's seating capacity at nearly every performance. The shows billed at this theatre have been good, clean, amusing shows. The success of the theatre has been built on the recognition by Mr. Tibbetts that the public want their money's worth and that they want the clean vaudeville show.

Mr. Tibbetts has been at Willow Dale Park the past summer superintending the stage show there this being his second season there. His attractions have been good and only the terrible weather has kept the season at that resort from being an overwhelming success.

His bill for the opening performance at the Boston theatre is a good one and includes one of the funniest comedians that have appeared in Lowell, Wells and Wells. Chamberlain is billed as a comedy trick bicycle rider and those who have seen him work say that he is the best ever. Harrison and Southard are two young ladies that sing and dance in a clever manner. These girls have youth, beauty and talent in their favor and should make a great hit. George L. Foster, a blackface comedian, Marquand, a clever juggler and the Boston Bioscope are features of the bill, making in all one of the best bills ever staged for the prices charged.

Catherine Talbot Foresees a Future For the Ruche

PARIS, Aug. 15.—I have told you lately about the prevalence of the fascinating ruche. I have it on excellent authority that everything will be ruched for the next six months. All the fete frocks show the revival of this dainty fashion. Muslin, taffeta and chiffon are all trimmed with ruches of various thicknesses and I am told that velvet also will be treated the same way. Yet, in spite of flounces and ruches and all sorts of frippery around the feet, cloth skirts are kept very plain at the top, and everything indicates the return of the tight skirt, popularly known as the "pullback," at least as far down as the knees. Then it is extended to the breadth of about twelve yards around the feet. Truly this sort of skirt must be cut by a modiste who is a genius as well as an artist.

How beautiful is a mixture of the 1830 and fifteenth century fashions! The colorings are so exquisite and the workmanship so beautiful. Bodices are nearly all made in blouse fashion, the waist line defined by a pointed sash or band.

All the best frocks worn by the elegantes are exquisitely graceful, and these soft, clinging fabrics can stand any amount of tucking and ruching.

Taffeta, both in black and pale shades, is enjoying a great popularity for fete gowns and various afternoon entertainments.

Trouville this year has been very gay, and the frocks seen there perfectly marvelous. A friend of mine writes from there that it has been a "red" season and that it made her warm to look at the frocks, but judging from what one sees at the leading tailors it appears to be a white season and the indications are that white will be worn quite into the autumn. Red is very pretty at the seaside, especially in linen and voile. One frock of red voile is made quite plain, with two bands of red taffeta running round the skirt in a simple Greek pattern, also down the front of the blouse shaped waist.

French sailor and plateau hats are worn with the walking skirt. Picture hats with ostrich plumes are reserved for fete wear. As I told you in my last letter, strings are much worn. The 1830 bonnet will be among the autumn fashions, and it is said that brown will be the prevailing color, although the beautiful shades of pastel blue will not be easily dispensed with.

I hear that the opening of the casino at Dinard's was exceedingly well attended and that many English and American women were there. There are some pretty Americans over here, buying the largest quantity of garments for every occasion. In fact, I wonder how they can take about trunks enough to carry them. They have such dainty lingerie and morning robes! They seem to prefer beautiful fabrics simply made and are very complete in their toilets. Their petticoats perhaps are more elaborate than anything else. They affect the "tailor made" for nearly all outdoor occasions, reserving the elaborate frocks for afternoon wear.

I must describe at least one of the charming toilets which I saw in preparation for Aix and Homburg. This was in white china silk, inserted with medallions of black chantilly lace, with an outer edge of coarse cream colored Irish crochet. The bodice was made in blouse fashion, with a double pelerine collar, cut open, showing a vest made of lace medallions. The shaped hip piece was also outlined with these medallions. They were continued down the front and around a flounce, which was put on just below the knee with a series of gaugings. A pretty shaped gold waistband finished the costume. Gold and silver waistbands are a feature just now, though to my mind the black panne belt is one of the most charming fashions.

The exit from Paris at the beginning of the Trouville season was more marked than ever this year, owing to the lengthened stay made in the capital by some of the society leaders. The nearness to Paris of many of the chateaux makes a rapid visit in the automobile possible for special occasions. The dress worn, therefore, during a stay in the country is almost the same as for the city. There is a studied negligee in the donning of these costumes and in the lounge dress adopted by the men. At the same time a Parisienne displays as much art in gowning herself for the country as for the city's more fashionable functions. The linens which have been trimmed with the most beautiful laces and embroideries are being replaced for the early autumn by linens less embellished. Simple stitching and "a jour" work or colored embroidery, however, render them quite as attractive as those seen earlier in the season. With a white plaited skirt and blouse for the morning a linen collar and lace cravat are worn, or a plain neckband of black ribbon is crossed in front, falling from a clasp in two tasseled ends. Another pretty effect is obtained by outlining the linen or batiste shoulder collar in coral pink embroidery. A plain white canvas linen of a coarse weave makes a very stylish dress, the bolero and skirt being trimmed with braiding in rather a severe design. Braiding in soft soutache on a linen gown is remarkably pretty and not the least heavy looking, as one might imagine.

Bright colored leather belts, worn with a plain blouse of cambric or linen, are very smart. Scarlet, green and blue are fashionable colors for these popular belts, while a cravat and shoes of the same color generally complete the costume.

Lace still holds an important place in the toilet for afternoon, fete or country visiting. Antique lace, which is very suitable for linen and cotton fabrics, is much worn. Even voile dresses are trimmed with it. Colored laces are also used. I have seen them in pastel blues, brown, tan and red.

Among some toilets made for a well known chatelaine were three which struck me as being particularly pretty. The first was in ecru canvas linen. The plaited skirt was trimmed with scarlet and white "a jour" work and also inserted with white guipure. The long, fasqued coat had a triple lace shoulder cape and was decorated with large button pastelles of white braid. The second was a practical footgame costume of blue alpaca. The plaited skirt came from a hip piece with a front panel fastened with tabs, which were piped with colored linen and decorated with little buttons. Buttons also decorated the plaits at intervals. The bolero had a pelerine collar and was trimmed also with strappings and small buttons. A high ceinture of black taffeta finished a white blouse, worn beneath the bolero. The third was a dressy toilet in pastel mauve linon de sole. A broad entre deux of ecru filet lace crossed the shoulders, while panels of mauve taffeta trimmed with broderie anglaise down the skirt simulated a tunic.

The indications are that both skirts and coats for the autumn will be shorter. I should not be the least bit surprised if next summer we were wearing short, sprightly looking muslins, for the trailing frocks are already tinged with a savor of yesterday. The short muslins will be charming enough if they are not stiffened, but rendered springy instead by a stiffened petticoat. It seems inevitable that with short skirts should come also a dinner skirt line.

Parisians are at present much enamored of "Liberty," a beautiful, soft, lustrous satin. I saw the other day in Paquin's a pale blue liberty frock with berceli ornaments of fine blond lace insertion on the skirt. It had elbow sleeves of blond lace and spotted net and creme guipure about the decolletage. Scrollwork has caught the fancy over here and it is carried out by lace or taffeta ruches. I saw a frock of double white chiffon, the scrollwork done in little frillings of inch wide valenciennes. The skirt was gathered around the waist with corded gaugings, and the little frills, repeated on the bodice, terminated each side of the front in wheel-like rosettes, with paste button centres. Another frock in very fine pink voile had four sweet little narrow ruches of taffeta of the same color running around the bottom of the skirt. The low bodice was bordered by three lines of the pink silk ruching, each line twirled round to form a loop at the top of the elbow sleeves. The ruche shares popularity with the wide tuck, set two or three at intervals around the skirt. The up to date skirt is gathered into the waist round the sides and back. The gathering need not be very full and the skirts may be "loaded" at the base to make them fall straight.

The dwarf sash is another feature of the frock. What cunning little things they are, these taffeta bells, with their clever little bows and short ends at the back! I saw a simple pale gray voile the other day, which owed the most of its charm to the dwarf sash and cravat, also a cunningly contrived thing of taffeta and panne pliings with lace. It had, however, a Greek key arrangement around the skirt and bodice and illustrated another feature of the gathered skirt, which of course must have its trimmings running round instead of lengthwise, to the distress of the suffering stout woman, against whom all fashions appear to militate at present. CATHERINE TALBOT.

WHAT THE PARISIAN FASHIONABLES ARE WEARING.

Fashions in China.

Chinese ladies never rejoice in the dainty fashions of pretty cottons, as their European sisters do, but year in year out they are attired in silk, for cotton is of no account in the Celestial empire, being considered only fit for the coolies, who dress in it entirely.

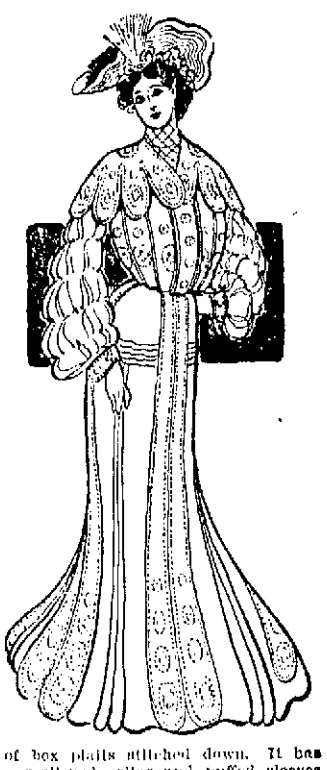
Chinese dress does not call for any great ingenuity on the part of the makers, for in form it is always the same. A lady's first garment is a plain piece of silk fastened round the waist to form an apron, which laps over at the back. In the place of this poor women wear a sort of cotton "front," which covers the chest, but has no back. Next come the underjacket and the overjacket, the trousers, the apron and the foot gear. The last consists of bandages and tiny shoes for the "little footed" or a "rotten boot" and shoes of sensible size for the uncrippled peasant woman.

In cold weather the number of jackets worn is increased, the heaviest being outermost, which is padded and quilted or fur lined. For outdoor wear a sleeveless overjacket, known as a "front and back," is used.

The Sleeve Dog.

There is at present in Paris a tiny Chinese dog called Mei-Ho. He is the property of a French lady, but formerly belonged to the Chinese imperial family. After the invasion of Peking the tiny spaniel was found bereft of his family. He is happy once again, for his mistress is devoted to him and carries him inside her wide coat sleeve, to the envy of her friends.

A Vienna Toilet



THIS pretty costume is in lavender silk voile, with incrustations of cream embroidery and drawn thread insertion. The bolero is made of box plaits stitched down. It has a scalloped collar and puffed sleeves of fine white lawn.

A Use For Long Lace Scarfs.

The old, long lace scarfs can be utilized beautifully for the new ruffle. This ruffle, or pelerine, is cut wide on the shoulders, forming almost a cape, the foundation being generally of taffeta or glace. On this is placed an edging of chenille or feather trimming; then comes another large, plaited ruffle of accordion plaited chiffon to tone with the taffeta, and over this a scarf of real lace, caught on both shoulders and at the waist with a fantastic clasp or buckle. The further addition of a soft colored ribbon tie may be added. Now this makes a really smart finish to a dainty summer gown. It is lightening touches of this sort that are such necessary additions to one's wardrobe.

Little Things Which Tell.

The woman who is careful to have her collar, tie, waistband and other trifles neat and to harmonize, and whose dress is always chosen with view to the work or pleasure which she has on hand, is generally a woman worth cultivating. She attracts by her smart and businesslike appearance in the first place, and then by her well ordered mind and business capacities. One is but the reflection of the other.

How to Utilize Oil Lamps to Best Advantage

THE oil lamp is used as well in the city as the country, partly on account of the ease with which it may be moved from place to place and stationed just where the light will best fall on the book or work in hand and partly on account of the quality of the light, which a good oil burner gives and the opportunity it offers for delightful shades and soft, pleasing effects in colors and designs. It is well known that different colors affect both the eyes and the spirits. Red is said to be hurtful to the eyes, but the prettiest light in the world is that which comes softly though a crimson shade. It is so wonderfully cozy. When the wind howls outside and the rain patters against the windows, cheering is the influence of a roseate light, shed on table and furniture, just tinging the walls and touching the pictures, flushing with its pleasant glow lace curtains and dainty china and bric-a-brac and calling up delightful visions in spite of the weather. No light, it seems, could be more conducive to rest and reverie, to pleasing fancies or comfortable repose.

Next in the list of colors comes yellow—the deep, rich yellow of the daffodil, which will flood the room with a golden glory, fairly bring mirth and laughter to the conversation and impart an almost joyous brightness to the atmosphere. One could half close the eyes and imagine oneself reveling in a field of daffodils and sunshine.

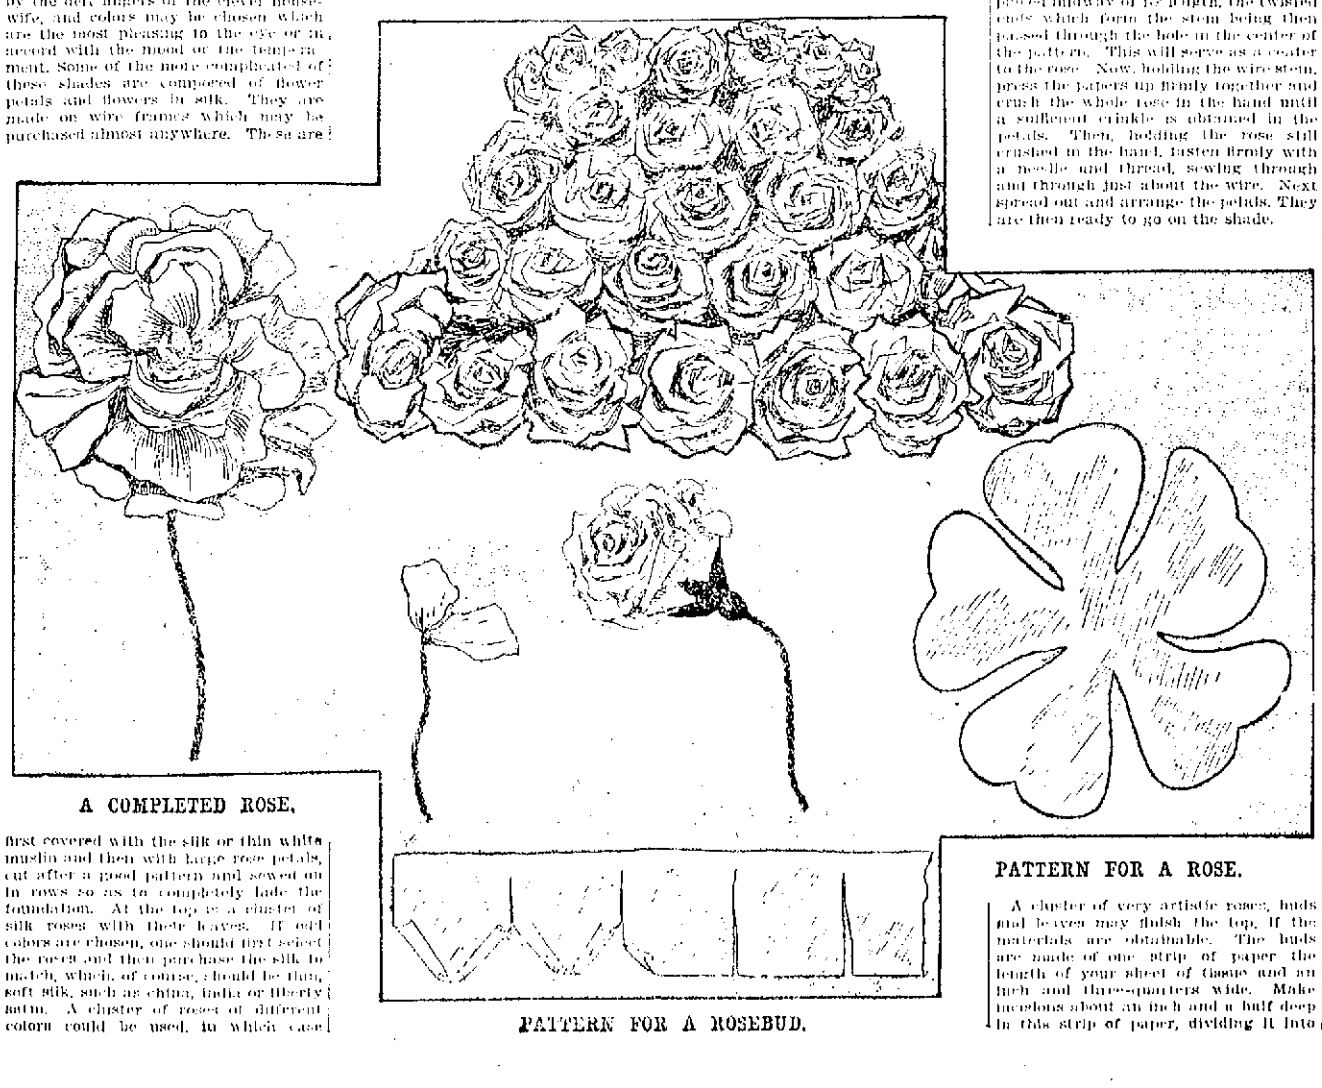
But the colors which are best for the eyesight are blue and green. As to blue, though some of the delicate tones are dainty and charming in themselves, yet somehow the light shed by a blue shade is cold and depressing. Delft is one of the prettiest things in blue, though I have seen most exquisite effects in other tones. One particularly dainty lamp I once noticed was a high, slender, vase shaped affair with a beautiful design in forgetmenots and slender remembrance scrolls in gold on a white background. The moon shaped globe was lavishly decorated with the same design. As a work of art it was simply lovely, and of course shed a pure white light.

Green, besides being restful and beneficial to the eyes and soothing to the system, makes a most pleasing light. A beautiful green lamp which I lately saw had a large globe on which was painted a rural scene. The bank of a stream, a meadow pathway, the green of the trees, the blue of the sky and the bright reddish brown of a peasant's dress made a picture one might never tire of gazing upon. The light coming through the colors gave the effect of a bright sunshine. You could really almost hear the water splash and the birds sing. To fall asleep gazing upon it would certainly mean to dream of brooks, trees, flowers and sunshine.

Each color has so many charms peculiarly its own that one might almost wish to have a number of shades to suit the various moods. And this would not be quite so expensive as may at first appear. Some of the best color effects are obtained by silk and paper shades, which can be easily constructed by the deft fingers of the clever housewife, and colors may be chosen which are the most pleasing to the eye or in accord with the mood or the temperament. Some of the more complicated of these shades are composed of flower petals and flowers in silk. They are made on wire frames which may be purchased almost anywhere. These are first covered with the silk or thin white muslin and then with large rose petals, cut after a good pattern and sewed on in rows so as to completely hide the foundation. At the top is a cluster of silk roses with their leaves. If soft colors are chosen, one should first select the roses and then purchase the silk to match, which, of course, should be thin, soft silk, such as china, India or liberty satin. A cluster of roses of different colors could be used, in which case none of them need be of the exact shade of the silk; but care must be taken to have them harmonize.

Most beautiful paper shades can be made in the same way. The foundation should be completely covered with roses in this case. For those who do not already know how to make these the accompanying illustration will be useful. The pattern given should be sketched on a piece of stiff paper and cut out carefully. It should be about four inches in diameter. The tissue paper should then be folded so as to cut six sets at once. The same design a size smaller, say three inches in diameter, should form the next six, and two inches in diameter for the inner petals. This will make eighteen rows of petals in all. Small wire, which may be bought for this purpose, must be pushed through a hole in the middle of these circular petal patterns to form the stem. The wire should be three or four inches long and should be twisted around a wisp of the tissue paper placed midway of its length, the twisted ends which form the stem being then passed through the hole in the center of the pattern. This will serve as a center to the rose. Now, holding the wire stem, press the papers up firmly together and crush the whole rose in the hand until a sufficient crinkle is obtained in the petals. Then, holding the rose still crushed in the hand, fasten firmly with a needle and thread, sewing through and through just about the wire. Next spread out and arrange the petals. They are then ready to go on the shade.

A ROSE LAMP SHADE.



A COMPLETED ROSE.

PATTERN FOR A ROSEBUD.

PATTERN FOR A ROSE.

A cluster of very artistic roses, buds and leaves may finish the top. If the materials are obtainable. The buds are made of one strip of paper the length of your sheet of tissue and an inch and three-quarters wide. Make incisions about an inch and a half deep in this strip of paper, dividing it into square petals. Then curl the square corners by passing them between the thumb and the blade of the scissors. Fold this strip around the finger until it is in a bud shaped roll and fasten at the base with a needle and thread, the same as the rose. Thread the wire for the stem in a stout needle and sew it through the base of the bud. Fasten firmly by twisting it a number of times. It can then be wound with green paper or rubber stems, calyx and leaves can be purchased in any city. If necessary, bygone artificial roses may be rifled for the purpose. In this way a shade as artistic as any you could buy may be manufactured at home and makes really fascinating work besides. A strip of asbestos paper two or three inches deep should be placed inside the top of the shade to prevent it from being scorched and to avoid its catching fire.

Shades of plain gathered silk of any color, with a valance of delicate lace and a ribbon decoration, are also very pretty, while one often sees chenille and bead fringes in place of the lace. The light shining through a fringe of glass beads has a bright and pleasing effect. Japanese shades of rice paper, with their broad, artistic designs in rushes and flags, introducing just the right combination of greens, blues and yellows, with a dash of red, are very artistic.

I lately saw a globe shaped shade in heavy, dull green cathedral glass. It was an immense thing about a foot and a half in diameter, set together like a stained glass window, with wrought iron bands and partitions. Covering one side of it was an immense glass spider, whose wrought iron legs extended far around the globe. His eyes were two disks of red glass an inch in diameter, protruding from a blue glass head, which, as well as his blue glass body, larger than the biggest tarantula, was inclosed in a metal rim, and by this means raised somewhat from the globe. It had rather a creepy look about it, but I could imagine that when the light shone through it might have a very striking effect.

It may not be generally known that some of the most beautiful lamps we have are of domestic manufacture, and a number of them are no less expensive than some of the imported lamps. One large lamp, designed and made by an eastern firm, was purchased by Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) for the sum of $150. This lamp is decorated with a picture of its celebrated purchaser and is unique in finish and design. Some of the art pottery lamps made in this country are as costly as they are beautiful and as decorative as the choicest vases.

JEANNETTE WILBUR BATES.

VICTORIA SANDWICH.—One teacupful of flour, one teacupful of castor sugar, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix these ingredients well together and add gradually three eggs well beaten. Pour into two buttered tins of equal size and bake in a brisk oven for ten minutes. Sprinkle a little castor sugar on paper, turn on to this one cake, cover with warm jam and place the other cake on top. It will keep fresh for a fortnight if kept in a tin.

Piccadilli.—Chop one peck of green tomatoes, twelve onions and three peppers. Pour over them one cup of salt and let stand overnight. In the morning squeeze dry, cover with vinegar and boil half an hour. Then add one bottle of horse radish, one teaspoon each of red and black pepper and one-eighth of a pound of cloves, allspice and cinnamon, mixed.

Sherbet.—One quarter pound of tartaric acid, three quarters of a pound of icing sugar, one-quarter pound of bicarbonate of soda, one bottle of lemon essence. Mix together. Diluted with water this forms a most cooling beverage.

Hominy Griddles.—To a pint of warm boiled hominy add a pint of milk and a pint of flour. Beat two eggs and stir them into the batter with a little salt. Beat very light and fry on a hot griddle as you would other cakes.

A Cheap, Savory Entree.—Put a piece of butter the size of a walnut into a saucepan, slice a Spanish onion into it, and let it simmer for five minutes. Then cut a quarter of a pound of cheese into small pieces and put it in; pour in half a cupful of sweet milk and stir well till all is melted; add a little salt; beat up one egg and pour into the saucepan; stir well for two minutes, then serve.

Jelly Roll Cake.—Four eggs, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and vanilla. Bake on cake sheet and when done turn out on to a towel, bottom upward; spread with filling and roll. Filling. In the place of jelly this filling is very nice: One cup cocoa, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup milk, boil slowly until thick and spread over the cake while hot and roll tightly.

COLISEUM RACES

Caldwell-Leander Race Declared a Draw

The Men Will Ride Again Tonight for a Double Purse—O'Brien Won Mile Handicap and Hollister Won Five Mile Open—Track Record Broken

Owing to the confusion caused by both Leander and Caldwell leaving their pace in the fourteenth mile of a fifteen-mile motor paced race at the coliseum last night and owing to the closeness of the contest and a disagreement among the judges as to which man won the race, the event was called a draw, and the purse of last night will stand and both men will meet at the coliseum tonight and fight the battle out, the winner to take the big end of last night's as well as tonight's purse.

This race proved to be the best of the season, and despite the fact that it was generally accorded that Caldwell would win, Leander gave him a great battle, the winner of the six-day race demonstrating to the giant from the hills of old New Hampshire that he carries an unlimited amount of speed up his sleeve which he lets out at different intervals.

While the crowd rallied for both Caldwell and Leander as the winner, it seemed to be perfectly satisfied with the decision of a draw, for it means that a battle royal will be held at the coliseum tonight when these two riders meet. If there ever was any rivalry between the two riders it was increased one hundred per cent. by the occurrence of last night and the patrons of the local coliseum ought to see the hottest and bitterest fought contest of the season tonight.

Both men felt confident that they won the race, and while Caldwell is of a much quieter manner than Leander, both riders got pretty hot. In the box office Caldwell informed Leander that he would never see the day that he could beat him, and to retaliate Leander told Caldwell that he had $150 and his diamond ring, which is a valuable one, to post as a forfeit against any sum he would name that he could defeat Caldwell. With the men going on in such a manner as this it means a fine race for the local enthusiasts.

It was the intention of Manager Prince to have Walthour, the winner of Thursday night's race, meet the winner of last night's race in a race tonight, but when the race was declared a draw word was wired to Walthour not to come to Lowell tonight as Caldwell and Leander wished to have their fun out.

The big race started about 9:20 o'clock, Caldwell being paced by Ruden on his "Moniter," while Hoffman furnished pace for Leander. Caldwell was picked as the winner by the people, but after they saw the ease with which Leander followed his pace and the manner in which he pedalled around the track a number of the Caldwell enthusiasts deserted the latter and favored Leander. To say the least the race was a pretty one and was well contested. While Caldwell had the advantage during the greater part of the race the men rode pretty evenly and in fact it was anybody's race up to the last mile.

Leander started on the home stretch and Caldwell on the back stretch. The first mile was a rather slow one, the time being 1.50, but just before the second mile was started the men got down to business and did it in 1.18 flat. The third mile was also turned out in the same time as the second. Caldwell had a little the better of the riding up to this time, but after the third mile Leander let himself out and started to gain on the big fellow. The race was then nip and tuck, but in the seventh mile the riding got down to 1.22 which was about five seconds slower than they had been travelling before. In the eighth mile Caldwell had Leander by nearly half a lap, but Leander fought him off and started to pull away from his opponent. For a mile the winner of the six day race kept gaining, but failed to get on even footing with Caldwell.

In the thirteenth mile Caldwell seemed to slow down and Leander immediately shot to the front and pedalled like a fiend, but on the next mile Caldwell had almost regained what ground he had lost.

On the first lap of the fifteenth mile Leander dropped his pace in front of the judges' stand, his reason for doing it's being because he had ripped seven or eight spokes out of his front wheel on the eleventh mile and the noise of the broken spokes rattling against the fork sides of his wheel, and the fact that if any more went out his wheel might collapse and he might be killed, he dropped his pace and shouted for another wheel. In the meantime Caldwell passed Leander, but on the third lap of this mile Caldwell lost his pace and pandemonium reigned, the people in the grand stand shouting like fiends, each of the riders having his admirers. The majority of the people were with Leander owing to the fact that he had been a little behind Caldwell when both men left their pace and while both Caldwell and Leander regained their pace just before the pistol was fired for the end of the fifteen miles.

At the close of the race both men came around to the judges' stand to find out who was the winner, and when it was announced that it had not been settled Leander started in to explain, but his manager, Johnny Eckhardt, came to the rescue and there was so much wrangling on both sides that it was decided the only thing to do was to declare the race a draw and allow the men to have at it tonight.

AMATEUR RACES.

The amateur races proved to be of the hottest kind and exciting sprints and hard rides by the six-mile men were made. Owing to the fact that the last Boston man with Hollister of Springfield and Acorn of New York were on hand everybody looked for good races, and they got just what they were looking for. It was the general impression that the local riders would not have a look in, but Mike O'Brien made one of the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed on the track.

The best amateur race on the program was the one mile handicap which was pulled off in three heats. In the first heat McKinnon of Boston was on scratch with Stoughton of Boston on 75 yards and Mike O'Brien on 60. O'Brien and the limit man toiled hard to get away from the bow marked men, but it was useless, the two bow marked men working well together and they soon caught the field. At the seventh lap O'Brien went out to take pace and made it hot for his followers, but with four in the heat, several having dropped out owing to the hot pace and four to qualify they took it easy, and Stoughton crossed the tape first with Mahan second, McKinnon third and O'Brien fourth.

The second heat found H. B. Potter of Boston on scratch, McDonald of Somerville, Downey of Boston and Quintero and Goyette being also in the heat on different marks. H. B. Potter with the assistance of Downey and McDonald soon brought the field down, but in the sprint for the finish Potter got frozen out, Quintero winning first, Downey second, McDonald third and Goyette fourth.

The track record was lowered in the third heat by C. L. Hollister of Springfield, who recently defeated Marcus Hurley, the crack amateur. Hollister was on scratch with Acorn and Urquhart on higher marks and four other riders in the heat. The three above named riders were so badly handicapped that the limit men decided to play around the track and try and cut out the bow marked men and they succeeded in doing this to a certain extent. It was not until the sixth lap had been covered that the bow marked men caught the field and then Hollister playing for position took the pace and pulled the bunch in over the tape in two minutes two and four-fifths seconds. Hollister was first with Urquhart second, Kearney third and Acorn fourth.

The final was hotly contested, there being twelve riders in line and the limit 125 yards. There was no doubt in this heat, and it was interesting to watch the jockeying for position. The majority of the riders were waiting for the seventh lap to come to the front and take the pace preparatory to making the sprint for the tape, but wise Mike O'Brien on the sixth lap stole around the bunch and fought off the other riders who tried to pass him on that lap, and when the seventh lap had been half covered O'Brien and Hollister were one of the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed on the track.

Urquhart was second, Connors third and Hollister fourth. The time for this mile was 2.04.

The next event was the five-mile open with a prize at the end of every mile. There were sixteen starters and the riders were allowed two laps to get started. As was expected the out of town riders took all four prizes. It was a pretty race from the start. The first mile prize was won by Urquhart, and Matty Downey took the second, Goyette took the third. He also won the fourth, but was disqualified for sweeping pace from Connors who dropped back a lap and was practically out of the race. The next man was Downey and the mile prize went to him.

Hollister won the race with McKinnon second, Stoughton third and Potter fourth.

One-mile amateur handicap. First heat, won by Stoughton, Boston, 25 yards; Mahan, 125 yards, second; McKinnon, Boston, scratch, third; O'Brien, 60 yards, fourth. Time, 2.07 1-5.

Second heat, won by Connors, 50 yards; Downey, Boston, 25 yards, second; McDonald Somerville, 50 yards, third; Goyette, 75 yards, fourth. Time, 2.01 3-5.

Third heat, won by Hollister, Springfield, scratch; Rothwell, Boston, 50 yards, second; Kearney, 175 yards, third; Acorn, New York city, 40 yards, fourth. Time, 2.02 1-5.

Final, won by O'Brien; Goyette, second; Connors, third; Hollister, fourth. Time, 2.01. Prizes, $30, $20, $10 and $5 in merchandise order.

Five mile open, lap race. Won by Hollister, Springfield; McKinnon, Boston, second; Stoughton, Boston, third; Potter, Boston, fourth.

Winners by miles: First, Urquhart, Boston; second, Downey, Boston; third, Connors, Lowell; fourth, Downey, Boston; fifth, Hollister, Springfield.

Goyette finished last but was disqualified.

Prizes, $5, $15, $90, $5 and $2 to winner of each of the first four miles.

CYCLE NEWS

The battle between Caldwell and Leander tonight will be a close and bitterly contested event. Both riders were out at the track this morning training hard in order to get into the pink of condition for tonights' battle. Manager Eckhart believes that his man, Leander, will demonstrate to the people his superiority over Caldwell, while on the other hand the big fellow is confident that he will be the winner.

On Labor Day night Patsey Keegan, the local plugger, and Jimmy Moran, the Chelsea milkman, will have it out on the local track. Both men are popular with race going people of this city and it is expected that there will be nothing but standing room on this night. The race will be for the Irish Championship and as Keegan is riding in fine form he will give Moran the battle of his life.

Prove It Anytime

By the Evidence of Lowell People

The daily evidence citizens right here at home supply is proof sufficient to satisfy the greatest skeptic. No better proof can be had. Here is a case. Read it:

Mrs. Mary Enwright of 11 Cedar street says: "In the spring of 1898 I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Ellinwood & Co's drug store for my brother, who had considerable trouble from backache. The treatment did him a great deal of good. My mother also used Doan's Kidney Pills and the results were so satisfactory that she is never without the remedy in the house, to use in case of need."

Sold for 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

CANOBIE LAKE PARK.

The program at Canobie Lake Park the coming week is given by an organization well known to all patrons of the various summer theatres. This company is made up of some of the best colored specialty people in the profession and while their performance partakes of the nature of a minstrel show it is much better for these are genuine "coons" while minstrels are blackfaced.

These people give an entertainment in a perfectly natural and unaffected manner and retain all their characteristics and eccentricities of costume and manner. They are most amusing and interesting in the various plantation pastimes which they enact, and mirth and music are the principal features.

These artists are expert banjo players and their music is the signal for every one to sing, dance or join in the general funmaking. The old plantation melodies and the ragtime songs of the present, are pleasingly rendered, in those musical mellow tones that only southern people possess. The buck and wing dancing is an excellent feature of the performance and each tries to outdo the other in endurance and originality. Real "pickaninnies" are found in this aggregation and they ape their elders exactly.

Miss Katie McCabe and Miss Maud Thomas of Centreville will spend the next two weeks in northern New York. During their stay they will visit Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Edward C. Looney, clarinet soloist with the National band, leaves today for Burlington, Vt., where he will play with the Lawrence brass band, which accompanies Bethany commandery, Knights Templars, on their annual outing. Mr. Looney will return Tuesday.

The Misses Rogers of 175 Merrimack street are in New York to attend the fall millinery openings.

Miss Margaret Mahoney of Lewiston, Me., is visiting her brother, John J. Mahoney, of 244 Concord street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Lucas are in attendance at camp meeting at Framingham, Mass.

WAR IN SIGHT

Turkish Troops Have Crossed Bulgarian Frontier

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, SEPT. 5.—A DISPATCH FROM CONSTANTINOPLE TODAY SAYS WAR IS IN SIGHT AND THAT IT IS RUMORED THAT TURKISH TROOPS HAVE ALREADY CROSSED THE BULGARIAN FRONTIER.

ULTIMATUM TO BULGARIA.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Tageblatt from Constantinople, dated today, says:

"War with Bulgaria is in sight. The council of war has recommended sending an ultimatum to Bulgaria but the sultan has decided to wait. It is rumored that Turkish troops have already crossed the Bulgarian frontier without a declaration of war.

"The members of the council of war were up all last night at the Yildiz Kiosk and designated Edhem Pasha as commander-in-chief.

"The Turkish press is printing inflammatory articles against Bulgaria."

POWERS MUST ACT

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE VERY SOON.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5.—So threatening is the Macedonian situation that the powers are being forced to take action sooner than it had heretofore believed would be necessary. Before adopting any definite scheme for the pacification of the Balkans, it was intended to wait until the Czar's visit to Vienna, when the matter was to be discussed fully. Emperor Francis Joseph, it is now learned, brought the powers to a stage where a decision is about to be reached regarding the character of the intervention which should be adopted. While the proposed plans are not divulged it is authoritatively denied that the intervention contemplates the occupation of Macedonia by Russia and Austria. It is equally certain that the powers have no intention of acting so as to in any way encourage Bulgaria to declare war.

"You may reiterate," said a diplomat, who is participating in the negotiations to a representative of the Associated Press "that the powers continue to act in harmony. King Edward has given proof of the attitude of Great Britain by his declaration at Vienna that she will support the Austro-Russian policy. It is not true that Russia has entered into a secret alliance with Bulgaria. She is acting entirely above board and in perfect harmony with Austria, her desire being to maintain peace. Roumania is quiescent, but there is an element of doubt in Servia in consequence of the predominance of the military in that country. Unless quiet is restored in Macedonia, reforms cannot be instituted. Consequently negotiations between the powers are directed towards the restoration of order.

All the diplomatic advices received here agree that order prevails at Constantinople. The few marines landed there from the guard ships were merely for the purpose of placing sentinels at the embassies, as an extra precaution in consequence of the porte's warnings against insurgent plots. It is emphatically stated that the marines were not landed for the purpose of impressing the sultan and it is asserted here that the porte can be relied on to protect the embassies. But in case of riots at Constantinople, the guard ships will quietly land additional men to protect foreigners from harm.

D. G. Metaxas, the Greek minister to the Court of St. James, explains today the understanding arrived at between Turkey and Greece with reference to Macedonia and outlined the Greek view of the situation. He said:

"The attitude of Greece is entirely misunderstood. What my government desires is the re-establishment of peace in Macedonia. The large Greek population in that province is subjected to atrocities by the Bulgarian revolutionists. The Bulgarians are worse than the Bashi-Bazouks. They pose as liberators, but they really plan to raid Macedonia. Greece seeks the welfare of the whole Christian population."

TRAIN WRECKED

By Associated Press to The Sun

BURLINGTON, Conn., Sept. 5. A north bound passenger train on the New Hartford branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, ran into a washout this afternoon and was completely wrecked.

A number of passengers are reported badly injure and medical aid from all surrounding towns has been summoned.

The washout was caused by a terrific storm which passed over here early this afternoon.

SHERIFF IS BUSY

IS MAKING RAIDS ON EXPRESS COMPANY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 5.—Sheriff Pennell has taken a new departure in enforcing the law and is proceeding against the express companies through his liquor deputies.

Yesterday one seizure was made at the office of the Boston & Portland express company, one of a wagon of the company, and a third of bottled goods marked to the company.

This morning a fourth seizure was made, and the manager, M. J. Callahan, was before Judge Hill. He was represented by Hon. F. W. Robinson and the hearing was continued for one week. There is some excitement in liquor circles, and the belief is general that Sheriff Pennell is determined to stop the traffic in liquor between Boston and Portland.

FUNERALS

SWEENEY—The funeral of the late Martin Sweeney took place yesterday afternoon from the funeral parlors of Undertaker James H. McDermott in Gorham street. Services were conducted at St. Peter's church, Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan officiating. The interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

Beuque Threatened the Life of Secretary Hay

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Francis M. Beuque, 46 years old, a photographer, was committed to Bellevue hospital today to be examined as to his sanity. Beuque has been arrested for writing a letter to Secretary of State John Hay, in which he threatened the Secretary if a $40,000 claim was not paid. Detective Muller, of the Washington police force, who made the arrest, explained that Beuque had been in the photograph business in Hamburg but was compelled to leave the country, selling out his business, Beuque claimed at a great sacrifice. This was the origin of his grievance and his demand was that Secretary Hay secure his reimbursement from the German government. Muller said that Beuque had written letters on this subject to the various presidents and secretaries of state since the administration of Harrison, none, however, threatening in tone, until this letter to Secretary Hay, in which he declared that if Mr. Hay did not attend to his claim that he (Beuque) would attend to Mr. Hay.

Beuque, who is of respectable dress and manner, expressed satisfaction when arrested, declaring that publicity would aid him in getting the money. When asked why he wrote the letters, Beuque replied:

"I want my money. It is what the German government owes me."

Magistrate Cornell, in the Yorkville police court, declared that he did not believe the man was in his right mind and committed him to Bellevue for examination.

The Washington police state that the amount demanded by Beuque from the authorities of Hamburg, Germany, was 1,000 marks. This sum, he says, he invested in 1889 in a photograph gallery in that city and he claims to have lost when he was expelled because he refused to perform military duty on the ground that he was an American. He was given three days to leave Germany, but through Secretary of State Blaine had the time extended three months.

The alleged threat in his letter to Secretary Hay was in the statement that he had written eight letters to the government and the present would be the last. He said he would take up the matter then himself and whatever he did would be in self-defense."

The letter, like its predecessors, was long and rambling.

VESSEL WAS SUNK

Five Masted Schooner Wrecked

By Associated Press to The Sun

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Sept. 5—A half drowned black cat clinging to a foremast head was the only sign of life found by the New Shoreham life savers early today when they went to the spot about five miles southeast of the Southeast lighthouse, where a large five-masted schooner had foundered. It is believed that a collision occurred during the night. The fog was very dense all along the coast making it impossible to see any distance ahead of a vessel. Up to 1.30 o'clock this afternoon the life savers had not learned the name of the ill-fated craft, neither had they ascertained what become of the crew.

It was the opinion of some of them that the sailors had been rescued by the vessel with which the schooner collided, although it was admitted there was a strong possibility that some of the men went down with their ship.

The disaster became known here at 6 o'clock this morning, when Charles E. Wescott, second assistant keeper of the southeast lightship, sighted the tops of several masts sticking out of the water above the crosstrees. The hull lay entirely submerged.

Captain Littlefield of the New Shoreham life saving station, was immediately notified by Mr. Wescott and a life boat was launched.

It was decided not to use the life boat, however, as Captain T. A. Dodge, with Assistant William Hooper, boarded the schooner Earl and Nettie, which was lying nearby and got her under way. The life savers went on board the schooner and sail was made for the scene of the wreck.

A small quantity of wreckage was sighted, but nothing by which the identity of the craft could be learned. When the projecting masts were approached, a black cat was observed perched on the fore mast head. The cat was rescued in a half drowned condition.

The head of the bowsprit had been cut in twain as though it had been struck a terrific blow and sent to the bottom in a few minutes. There was no sign of a body anywhere about and it was suggested that bodies might be found in the hull. The general opinion of the lifesavers, however, was that the vessel which had sunk the five master had taken off part or all of the crew.

An unknown tramp steamer was observed to the westward this noon, and it was thought she might be the vessel which ran into the schooner.

The wreck lies directly in the path of navigation and will be dangerous, especially during thick weather and at night. It is thought the sunken craft was a coaler and was probably bound for Boston.

The lifesavers were greatly assisted in their work of investigation by Capt. Dodge and Assistant Hooper, who are still at the scene, endeavoring to save as much as possible from the debris. The opinion of these men is that a report of the disaster will be made at some port within a day or two, unless the craft which escaped should be bound across the Atlantic, in which case ten days or more might elapse before a report is made. In the meantime, efforts will be made here to determine the identity of the five-master.

DRUGGED FATHER

Son Gave Parent Knock-Out Drops

By Associated Press to The Sun

UXBRIDGE, Sept. 5. A case of administering knockout drops, which was followed by a robbery of a gold watch, a purse containing $22 and a revolver, occurred in this town Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown of North Uxbridge.

Thursday afternoon Mr. Brown's son, who goes by the name of Herbert A. (Conant) Brown, called to see his father. Mrs. Brown, being the young man's stepmother, extended to him the hospitality of the home, and during the forenoon the father and son talked over old times.

About 11 o'clock the son took from his grip a bottle of whisky and invited his father and stepmother to have a drink. The old folks partook of a small quantity of the liquor and in a few minutes were made unconscious and did not recover until about 6 p. m.

Not seeing his son around Mr. Brown began an investigation and found his wife lying on the floor breathing heavily. He tried to arouse her, but all attempts proved futile and a physician was sent for who worked over her for some time before she resumed consciousness.

A search of the house revealed the fact that the watch, money and revolver were missing. The money and watch Mr. Brown says were taken from his vest pocket after he went into the trance, as he calls it.

Brown went to Deputy Sheriff Baron's house this morning and told his story, saying that his son lived at New Boston, Conn., and worked in a mill. The father said that the young man had a criminal record, having served several terms in state prison for robbery, burglary and other crimes.

The boy's mother died when he was young, and since that time he has been knocking around the country. The young man's wife, with whom he has not lived for several years, is now doing housework at North Uxbridge.

An officer started after the culprit this morning with a warrant for his arrest.

C. T. A. U. MEETING

Will be Held in Boston Tomorrow

MATHEWS WILL HAVE THE LARGEST REPRESENTATION

St. John's Will Also be Represented

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union of the Archdiocese of Boston will hold its quarterly convention in St. Patrick's T. A. S. hall, Dudley street, Roxbury district, Boston, tomorrow and at this meeting plans for active work the coming fall and winter will be formulated.

Fifty-six societies are affiliated with the union, the Mathew Temperance institute of Lowell leading with the largest number of delegates. The local society pays the largest per capita tax in the union and is looked upon by the other societies as a tower of strength both financially, numerically and in influence that is the power for good it exerts in the community.

The Mathews will be represented at the meeting by the following delegates, President Humphrey F. Sullivan, Vice-President George L. Hunt, Bernard F. Kane, Walter F. Hickey, ex-Pres. Edward F. Slattery, who is also director of the union for Middlesex county, ex-Alderman James O'Sullivan and Secretary John S. Donoghue. Among the matters that will come up at the meeting will be the proposition to hold quarterly conventions by the society in the respective counties and the annual convention to be held at some central point.

It is claimed by those favorable to the measure that it will give more time for solid work by having the various counties meet separately than to have all the societies meet quarterly. Under the present plan the time allowed for solid work is so limited that any subject of importance to the work of the union does not receive the thorough consideration it should. From present indications it appears that the matter will pass as an amendment to the constitution, though not without some opposition.

Additional importance is attached to the meeting from the fact that several officers of the National C. T. A. union have signified their intention of being present and deliver addresses. Among the officers is the Rev. Walter J. Shanley, president of the national body and rector of the cathedral at Hartford, Conn. The Lowell delegates are particularly pleased at once more being afforded the privilege of meeting Fr. Shanley, who has always manifested much interest in the Mathews of this city. Several years ago Rev. Fr. Shanley visited Lowell and addressed the Mathews on the life and work of Rev. Theobald Mathew. He is a forceful and convincing speaker and an earnest advocate of total abstinence.

A meeting of the Mathew delegates was held last evening and the various matters that will come up at the convention were discussed. It was also decided to leave Lowell on the 2.20 train which will arrive in Boston at 3.42 o'clock. The convention will be called to order by President Edwin Mulready at 2 o'clock. The St. Patrick's society has made elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the delegates and those who know the St. Patrick's boys say that their way of entertaining is peerless.

ST. JOHN'S SOCIETY

OF NO. CHELMSFORD WILL SEND THREE DELEGATES.

That progressive society of North Chelmsford, the St. John's T. A. society, that won such praise at the last convention for its work in behalf of no ll, also will be represented at the quarterly meeting of the C. T. A. U. in Boston tomorrow. The delegates selected are Stephen T. Ward the eloquent young president, ex-President James F. Cassidy and Michael F. Connolly. They will leave for Boston in company with the M. T. L. delegation.

FIDDLE AND DRUM

Unique Orchestra at Invitation Party

Joseph Guilloux, 38, was badly used up at an invitation party in Drucut Saturday evening. He was in police court today and his eyes were so badly swollen that he had to be escorted to the witness stand.

He was there to tell the court how it happened and the men whom he alleged were responsible for the battered condition of his face, Peter Labelle, George Rivers and John Sullivan, were in court.

D. J. Donahue appeared for the defendants and J. Joseph Hennessey for the Commonwealth.

Guilloux said it cost 25 cents to enjoy the evening's festivities but said it was not a pay party.

"Twenty five cents a head," he said, "was collected from the male attendants and the money went to pay the fiddler."

He said there was a drummer who received part of the money. The dancing music was very good, he said, a fiddle with drum accompaniment.

He didn't dance, but he enjoyed the music and talked with the girls and while thus engaged, the defendants entered the room, grabbed him, "packed" him and kicked him. They pounded him unmercifully.

Complainant said he had taken three drinks of gin before leaving home but that he was not drunk. There was no beer or whiskey on tap at the dance and the affair was being pulled off under the most favorable auspices until he was assaulted. He said the assault was unprovoked and denied that he was attempting to pay court to a lady friend of one of the defendants.

Eight witnesses including the fiddler were sworn and a goodly number of the young ladies who joined in the dizzy waltz to the tisphed tune of the fiddle, augmented by the little drum, were seated on the spectators' seat.

Wilfred Grenier, at whose house, 450 Lakeview avenue, the dance was held, said that the defendants went to the dance with the evident intention of making trouble.

Witness said one of the men struck him but he didn't know which one of the four delivered the blow. He said that Sullivan and Morin said they would clean out the house.

Joseph Laroux, the fiddler, said that when the row started he picked up his violin and left the house. He said he didn't want to get hurt himself or to have his violin damaged.

Several "sets" had been danced before the trouble started, he said, and the noise of the rumpus in the kitchen disturbed the soulful harmony of the fiddle and the drum.

Nothing but plain quadrilles appeared on the dance order and he said he did not play for the double shuffle that the defendants danced on Guilloux's face.

Miss Fromier, one of the witnesses, said she saw the defendants knock the complainant down and jump on him. They kicked and pounded him unmercifully, she said.

She said the heard Labelle say, "We will have a parade here tonight."

In reply to a question by Mr. Donahue witness said she struck Labelle over the head with her umbrella.

"You don't like him, do you?" asked Mr. Donahue.

"No, I don't like Labelle and I don't like the rest of them," said the witness.

"You want to hurt Labelle all you can, don't that a fact?" said Mr. Donahue.

"I wish I could hurt him," she replied.

THE SHAMROCK III

Was Beaten Before She Left Home

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Considerable comment has been caused by a special dispatch from New York to the Daily Mail, declaring that a mistake in connection with Shamrock III's water line made her defeat a foregone conclusion. The correspondent says it is strange the error in the design was not discovered in time to "prevent the formation of the unwarranted hopes by which Sir Thomas Lipton had been deceived," and intimates that some one blundered inexcusably.

The friends of Sir Thomas in London are much exercised, declare they are quite able to see how the water line mistake occurred and hope an explanation will be forthcoming.

BAD COLLISION

Electric Car Struck a Hose Wagon

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—At least a dozen persons, nine of them firemen, were seriously injured in a collision between a hose cart and a trolley car in Brooklyn today.

An alarm sounded from Plymouth and Bridge streets. The firemen, in order to reach the scene, had to cross the tracks leading to Brooklyn bridge. An open car bearing thirty passengers, two thirds of whom were women, was approaching rapidly. The fire engine crossed ahead of the car, but the hose cart, close behind, was struck and overturned.

Charles Yetter, the driver; William Woolsey and Richard E. Eck, were hurled from the cart with such force that they lay unconscious. Lieut. Groves, who is in command; Herbert S. Martin, William O'Connell, George Coleman and another fireman, were caught under the cart. The passengers in the car were thrown from their seats and nearly all hurt. The women shrieked and jumped or fell to the street. A big crowd gathered and the injured firemen were carried back to their quarters. The motorman disappeared during the excitement.

FATALLY INJURED

Women Were Thrown Out of Wagon

By Associated Press to The Sun

ORANGE, Mass., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Albert Hanson, a resident of Chestnut Hill, a remote point, about three miles southwest of Orange, is dead and three other women severely injured as the result of a runaway yesterday. The four women started from Mrs. Hanson's farm at Chestnut Hill for a drive to Orange. When going down the long hill, some part of the harness gave way, causing the horse to run nearly half a mile, throwing out the four occupants. They were Mrs. Hanson, her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Robbins, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Avery.

Mrs. Hanson was taken into McGuire farm house, where she died five hours after the accident, from internal injuries. Mrs. Robbins was not very badly injured. Mrs. Avery's left arm was broken and Mrs. Davis, it is feared, has a fractured hip and as she is nearly 70 years old, it is feared her injuries will prove serious.

LABOR DAY

Big Demonstration Will be Held in Lowell

Parade in the Morning Leading Feature—Sports Will be Held on South Common — Speeches by Local and Out-of-Town Men

Just one thing is needed to make the coming labor holiday the greatest in local history and that we must sit and hope for as poor mortality has no control over atmospheric conditions and good weather is essential to all celebrations held in the open.

But granted a fine day, the labor unions of Lowell will show the public the grandest labor holiday in history despite the delays and contrary influences with which they had to contend at the outset. All difficulties and obstacles that tended to throw cold water on the celebration idea have been overcome and a program that cannot be excelled by the unions of any city in New England will be given the public on next Monday.

This has been a memorable year for organized labor in Lowell and for that reason organized labor has worked harder than ever for its Labor Day observance and had it not been for organized labor in the first place, labor in general never would have been honored with this great national annual holiday.

After coming successfully out of a severe coal famine, the result of labor troubles elsewhere, the people of Lowell were plunged into the throes of the greatest textile strike in the history of the city, lasting three months. The strike was looked upon by those with whom the wish was father to the thought, as the death blow to unionism among the textile crafts. Yet when 13 weeks had passed and the mills had reopened none was found who had starved, while the membership rolls of the various textile unions showed more names of members in good standing than ever before, and instead of being the death blow to the unions it was in reality the impetus for increased membership.

Then the different unions, happy and proud of their ability to survive unprecedented misfortune, set about to make the next labor holiday the greatest ever held, and they asked an appropriation of the city council. They were granted the usual $500, but to their surprise and disappointment His Honor Mayor Howe disapproved the order and refused to allow the appropriation to be made. The mayor's action caused considerable delay, for it was necessary for the city council to act upon the veto, but finally the appropriation was passed over the veto by an almost unanimous vote.

With an appropriation granted the Trades & Labor council and the Textile Council set to work to arrange the program believing that the last obstacle in the path had been removed. But they were doomed to have one more disappointment and that was when the park commission refused to allow the unions to let kids for sports on the South common, in accordance with a time-honored custom. This action, while it robs the unions of one of its prominent sources of revenue was not sufficient to detract one iota from the elaborateness of the program and the committees in charge of the arrangements now take pleasure in presenting a program that will excel any ever before offered here.

The day's observance will open with one of the largest street parades ever held in Lowell. Twenty-five unions will be represented and every band and drum corps in Lowell will be in line. The insurance agents union and the Street Railway Employes Union will make their first appearance in line. The parade will start at the South common, be reviewed by the city council at city hall and dismissed at the starting point after a tour of the principal streets, the route of procession being published elsewhere. Many of the unions will appear in uniform but owing to the great strain on the treasuries of some of the unions during the recent strike some of the unions have decided not to go to the expense of procuring uniforms this year though all will appear in line.

In the afternoon there will be a band concert and a fine list of sports on the South common. In the evening a grand labor rally will be held and a band concert given on the South common. The speakers at the rally will be Daniel J. Donahue, Edward D. McVey, J. Bert Williams of the Painters' union and Dennis Healey of the Leatherworkers' union. He was removed to the general hospital, but died soon after arriving there from internal injuries.

DENNIS WALSH,

Cured of nervousness and indigestion: Prof. Munyon.

Dear Sir—I was completely run down and weakened from loss of sleep and worry; could not eat my food with any relish and what I did eat seemed to do me no good. I lost all my ambition and took no interest in life. I have tried many different remedies with little benefit, but one dose of your Paw Paw seemed to awaken me and I am now taking it with great benefit to my general health and sincerely bless the name of Munyon.

Yours,
(Signed) DENNIS WALSH,
No. 1 Front St., Lowell, Mass.

I don't believe, says Prof. Munyon, that a better remedy for the blood and liver was ever compounded. I have seen sluggish livers that had refused to act under the usual treatments respond in a most marvelous way by the use of Paw Paw.

Paw Paw seems to digest everything it touches, hence it makes good, rich blood which in turn strengthens and vitalizes the whole nervous system.

I want all persons who suffer with dyspepsia or nervous trouble to cast away all other remedies and to give Paw Paw a fair trial. I want every weak and debilitated person to get a bottle of Paw Paw at once and take it according to directions.

I know it will make old folks feel young and weak folks feel strong.

I would every person who feels they are in need of a tonic to drop the use of alcoholic drinks of all kinds and take Paw Paw in its place. People could crave for stimulants when the stomach and nerves are in a healthful condition. Munyon's Paw Paw gives exhilaration without intoxication.

Alcoholic stimulants lift, but let you fall.

Paw Paw lifts and holds you.

Every druggist in Lowell sells it or can obtain it for you. Price $1 per (pint) bottle. Paw Paw pills 25c a bottle.

PANIC ON A CAR

Women Were Badly Scared by Flames

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5—A small panic was caused yesterday afternoon on an inward bound East Walpole car on Washington street, Forest Hills, by the bursting out of the controller. As usual, there were those who jumped, to their own injury. While some were shaken up and somewhat bruised, Mrs. Winfield L. Jacobs and Miss Delia O'Donnell, both of Dedham, had to be taken home in carriages after having been attended by a physician.

The car was filled with passengers, most of whom were women. Motorman James Petree and Conductor James Sheeny. All went well until the car reached 3781 Washington street after swinging under the railroad bridge to go into Forest Hills square. Then with a suddenness that took the passengers' breath away and a flame that frightened them to a point of terror, the controller burned out. Instantly there was a wild scramble on the part of some to jump from the car. Cooler heads prevailed in many cases, but some were unable to control their fear and leaped.

While the injuries were mostly confined to slight bruises, it was found that Mrs. Jacobs and Miss O'Donnell were seriously hurt. Mrs. Jacobs sustained a fracture of the ankle and Miss O'Donnell was badly shaken up, besides receiving severe injuries.

Has Had More Experience in the Treatment, and Made More Great Cures of Difficult, Protracted and Chronic Diseases and Weaknesses of Men Than Any Other Living Specialist

Dr. Lougest's treatment has been tested on more than twenty thousand (20,000) young, middle-aged and old men, who, as the results of errors or excesses, were tortured by the woes of nervous debility or decay. It has never yet failed, even in the worst cases, to bring back manly power, remove every trace or symptom of weakness, build up the physical and mental health, and prepare man anew for the duties and pleasures of both married and single life.

Lost Manhood, seminal weakness, effects of youthful indiscretions, nervous debility, pimples and blotches, hair falling out, loss of memory and energy, impotence, rheumatic pains, discharges and all private diseases quickly and permanently cured by an original and never-failing treatment. Blood poison, ulcers, stricture, varicocele and diseases of the kidneys, bladder and blood cured in the shortest possible time, without the use of mercury or hindrance from business. Dr. Lougest's treatment for the complete cure of Stricture and all genital diseases is the most wonderful of modern times. No matter how long the discharges has continued nor how many self-styled specialists have failed to relieve, let alone cure, Dr. Lougest will positively guarantee to stop the discharge entirely within (3) three days by means of his New Method Treatment. This treatment removes Stricture, positively without pain, detention from business or the use of obnoxious or injurious medicines. No Experiment! No Failure! Nine-tenths of all the long standing discharges, strictures and weaknesses of men are caused by the experiments of the many inexperienced and self-styled specialists of the present day.

Many a man who has been fooled by the "Pay When Cured" racket, knows that it is the last and only resort of a dying-out pretender to get a pull at into his clutches. Beware of such schemes. Don't be deceived by misleading statements such as these seemingly charitable offers.

Don't entrust your lives to anyone not qualified by years of experience to treat you. Don't ever step your foot across the threshold of an office run by inexperienced, irresponsible, illiterate pretenders. You had better save your money and let your disease take its own course than be practised and experimented upon and in the end lose both your money and life.

Dr. Lougest's offices occupy the entire building of five floors at 313 Columbus avenue, and they are supplied with every known means and device that science, skill, knowledge and money can provide that will aid in determining the exact location and nature of these diseases and effecting their cure promptly and thoroughly, and by the same cure methods as are used in the most Celebrated Paris Hospitals which invariably result in

To Abate Bad Conditions in Pawtucketville

White Street Sewer Will be Extended in Bed of River to Point Below Moody St. Bridge —Loan of $25,000 Asked

The sewer committee at its meeting last evening turned its attention to the sewerage system in Pawtucketville and took steps to abate a nuisance which has existed there for some time.

The committee voted to recommend the introduction of a loan of $25,000 for sewer construction at the next meeting of the board of aldermen and in the event of its passage to lay a sewer in the bed of the Merrimack river from the foot of White street in Pawtucketville, where the present sewer empties, to a point below the Moody street bridge, where the water is flowing continuously.

The White street sewer is the basin of the sewerage of all Pawtucketville. When the river is low the contents of the sewer remains on the rocks in the bed of the river, filling the neighborhood with a nauseating odor until water comes again to relieve conditions. The committee visited the place a week ago and was convinced of the necessity of an immediate change.

After their visit the committee voted that the city engineer be instructed to communicate with the proprietors of the Locks and Canals with regard to laying a sewer under the river bed and the following letter from Engineer Mills which was received from him in reply to this communication was read at yesterday's meeting:

Dear Sir:—Your letter of Aug. 11 stating that the committee on sewers desire you to obtain from the proprietors of the Locks and Canals a permit to build and maintain a sewer in the bed of the Merrimack river from the mouth of White street to the low water mark below Moody street bridge.

If the sewer is built so as not to obstruct the flow of water in the river under the present or any future conditions and the city will agree that the proprietors of the Locks and Canals shall not be put to any additional expense on account of its construction or of maintaining it, and in case the proprietors desired to make any change in the river they would be free to make changes as if the sewer did not exist and will have a paper made out to this effect and including as well as you conveniently can a description of what you desire to do I have no doubt the proprietors will join the city in executing the agreement.

Respectfully yours,
HIRAM F. MILLS,
Engineer P. L. & C.

Engineer Bowers, who was asked at the last meeting to give estimates on the cost of repairing and lowering the sewer in Central street, between the junction of Crosby and Davis square, reported that it would require about $550. Other estimates he gave as follows: Inland street sewer $1875, Parker street sewer $125, Jenness street sewer $54; total $654. This work, it is expected, will also be done out of the proposed loan of $25,000.

Sewer work is about completed and unless the $25,000 loan passes immediately a complete shutdown of the sewer department will follow. All work voted is about completed. On Thursday afternoon 75 men were laid off and 120 more will go off today.

TO THE COURTS

MEAT CUTTERS MAY CARRY THEIR TROUBLES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—U. S. courts may be asked to take a hand in the trouble between the big packing companies and the unions of their employes, owing to alleged discrimination against independent retail butchers in different sections of the country, according to a statement made yesterday by Michael Donnelly, general organizer for the Amalgamated meat cutters and butcher workmen of America.

The promised legal contest will center in Chicago. Developments impending are the outgrowth of strikes of retail market butchers, called last spring in Rochester, N. Y., and San Francisco, to enforce demands for increased wages and an adjustment of working conditions.

The strikes were followed by lockouts declared by the Retail Butchers' Protective association, and it is alleged that a conspiracy was entered into between the big packing companies and the retail association to prevent the sale of meats and provisions to non-members of the association.

THE LEGATIONS

THE PORTE CANNOT GUARANTEE THEIR SAFETY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—The Turkish government, according to information received from the foreign office here by The Associated Press has notified the powers that the porte cannot guarantee the safety of the legations at Constantinople.

This extraordinary statement was communicated without explanation or qualifying details, in response to an inquiry as to whether German marines were among those United States Minister Leishman reported as having been landed at Constantinople.

It is inferred here, however, that the conditions at the Turkish capital are not so bad as the sultan's notification would imply but that the legations have been warned to look out for their own safety, the ports disclaiming in advance responsibility for any disorderly act.

The foreign office officials added that the German embassy at Constantinople had not reported whether German marines had been landed nor whether marines of any other power had been landed. Complete official reserve is maintained on this point. The Associated Press correspondent learned from sources outside the foreign office that the German government regards Turko Balkan affairs as having entered on an acute phase. The porte's inability to take energetic hold of the Macedonian insurrection is the worst feature of the situation.

The apparent weakness of the Turkish government is due largely to its long deference to the powers and to the division in the councils within the palace, which is regarded here as justifying the view that Turkey is incapable of preserving order in her European province unless she is allowed an absolute free hand to deal with the insurgents as she chooses. Pressure is being brought to bear on Russia and Austria on this point, as a continuance of the crisis, it is asserted, can only result in the drifting of the powers and porte alike toward fresh dangers.

HONANG IS HELD

British Subject Was Not Allowed to Land

HE WAS BORN OF CHINESE PARENTS

Wants to See the United States

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.Sam Honang, a British subject, who is said to be one of the wealthiest residents of the Island of Demarara, is held aboard the steamship Grenada, of the Trinidad line, and denied a landing in this country by the Immigration inspectors, on the ground that it would be a violation of the Chinese exclusion act.

Honang, who owns one of the largest cocoa plantations on the Island, decided a few weeks ago that he would take a trip through the United States and Europe. Letters of introduction to prominent and wealthy persons all over the world were forwarded by his correspondents, and he set out on his voyage.

Honang never had been in China. He was born in Damarara of Chinese parents. They were both British subjects, so that the Chinese exclusion act did not figure in his plans.

When the ship reached her dock at Long Island City, the immigration inspectors held up the traveler, who finally called upon friends in New York for aid. The inspectors would not release him, however, and the papers, together with Honang's passports were forwarded to the authorities at Washington.

The vessel soon will be ready for her return passage and it is a question whether the planter will be landed on Ellis Island pending the decision of the Washington authorities, or whether the captain of the Grenada who is responsible for his passenger, under the terms of the exclusion act, will have to take him back to Demarara.

FOR STREET WORK

Committee Discussed Petitions Last Night

The street committee, with all its members present, held a meeting at city hall, last evening, and went through considerable business, Alderman Derby in the chair.

The petition for tar macadam on Hampshire street was taken up and promptly laid on the table.

The petition of David M. Caddell for edgestones in Otis street was considered and it was voted to grant a hearing and to take a view of the place.

Joseph Bamford, with a petition for sidewalk in Main street, was granted a view and hearing.

A long list of remonstrants to the placing of edgestones in Jenness street was then read, but it was the opinion of the committee that action on the matter had already been taken. On motion of Mr. Roche petitioners were given leave to withdraw.

The petitions that Georgia avenue and Bertram street be laid out and accepted were signed by the committee. The petition of George W. Marshall, for compensation for damages to property in Parker street, was referred to the committee on claims.

Favorable action was taken on the petition of R. J. Gilmore for edgestones on Jenness street, between Chelmsford and Stevens streets.

Councilman Pontaine called attention to the fact that while the residents of Sarah avenue, in Pawtucketville, had put the street to grade in front of their property the water board had done nothing to that portion of the street fronting on their land. He thought that such action was unfair to the other abutters and moved that the remainder of the street be put to grade. The motion passed.

Supt. Leeds said that the water board could not be compelled to put their portion of the avenue to grade, and Mr. Bowers offered the suggestion that a subcommittee of three members be appointed by the chairman to confer with the water board. Mr. Pontaine consented to withdraw his motion and to substitute in its stead the motion that subcommittees of three be appointed to talk over the putting to grade of the street with the water board. It was so voted.

Chairman Derby appointed Aldermen Mellor and Councilmen Braden and Pontaine to act on the subcommittee.

It was voted on motion of Councilman Pontaine that a view be taken of certain portions of Gorham street for the repair of which a loan of $600 has been asked.

Mr. Roche said the full report on Bryant would be ready for the next meeting and Mr. Mellor said a report on Dummer street would also be in shape to present to the committee at the same time.

After an explanation by Supt. Reals of the difficulty he was having with a ledge on School street, at the rear of the Lowell gas company's works, it was voted to view the ledge when the committee makes its next tour.

12,000 EMPLOYES

Will be Idle in Fall River

MILLS WILL CURTAIL FOR ONE WEEK

Improvement in Situation is Expected Soon

By Associated Press to The Sun

FALL RIVER, Sept. 5.—Commencing Monday morning and continuing for one week, not less than 1,300,000 spindles, about one-third of the entire number in this city, will be idle. This is the largest number ever before affected under similar conditions, and it is confidently expected that the week will mark the beginning of the end of the present depression in cotton manufacturing.

A great many of the factories are approaching the limit of their stock of the raw material, but indications are such as to warrant the belief that the new crop will be moved before the 25,000 bales estimated to be on hand are consumed. The outlook, too, for increased demand for the finished product and for the cloth in the gray is encouraging, so much so that better prices will undoubtedly be the rule in the near future.

The period of idleness causes no dissatisfaction either on the part of the mill owners or the operatives, because of the certainty of better times coming. The commercial interests of the city have necessarily suffered because of the fact that the idle operatives found it prudent to curtail their expenditures; still, business is done without apparent interruption, and there is no suffering, so far as known, among the idle hands.

After next week several mills now engaged in making extensive repairs will continue closed, notably the Stafford, Cornell, Luther and Ancona. Others will continue to feel the pinch of the high price of cotton, and will be forced to shut down for a few weeks longer or pay the price demanded by the bullish market. The following are the mills to be closed for the week:

Tecumseh, Laurel Lake, King Philip, Stafford, Cornell, Ancona, Luther, Merchants, Union, Chace, Mechanics, Sagamore, Union, Weetamoe, Barnaby, Barnard, Osborne No. 1, and possibly the Border City. There will be out of employment during the week about 12,000 operatives, who will lose in round numbers about $84,000 in wages.

Young girls at this period of life, or their mothers, are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; all such letters are strictly confidential; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; and her advice is freely and cheerfully given.

School days are danger days for American girls.

Often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality. Sometimes it is never recovered.

Perhaps they are not over-careful about keeping their feet dry; through carelessness in this respect the monthly sickness is usually rendered very severe.

Then begin ailments which should be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, a tendency to avoid the society of others, are symptoms all indicating that woman's arch-enemy is at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many a young girl over this critical period. With it they have gone through their trials with courage and safety. With its proper use the young girl is safe from the peculiar dangers of school years and prepared for hearty womanhood.

A Young Chicago Girl "Studied Too Hard."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more. — LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill."

"Miss Pratt Unable to Attend School."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness." — MISS ALDA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life.

IN EMMET'S HONOR

Centennial Celebration in Huntington Hall September 17

The United Irish league held an important meeting at its quarters in Barristers' hall last night, and made arrangements for the observance of the Emmet centennial on Sept. 17th. Huntington hall has been secured for the occasion and Charles Devlin, M. P., the member from Galway elected to take the place of Col. Lynch, will be one of the speakers. There will be at least one other speaker, also quite prominent and a musical program appropriate to the occasion will be presented.

Invitations will be sent to friends of the cause and altogether the meeting is expected to be a very representative one. The recent rapid strides made by the people of Ireland will receive due attention while the life of Emmet will be properly dealt with by eloquent speakers. The meeting will be free, the object being to fill the hall and give the local friends of Ireland an opportunity to learn of the vast progress that has been made in the past wo years towards putting the people in possession of the land and securing home rule.

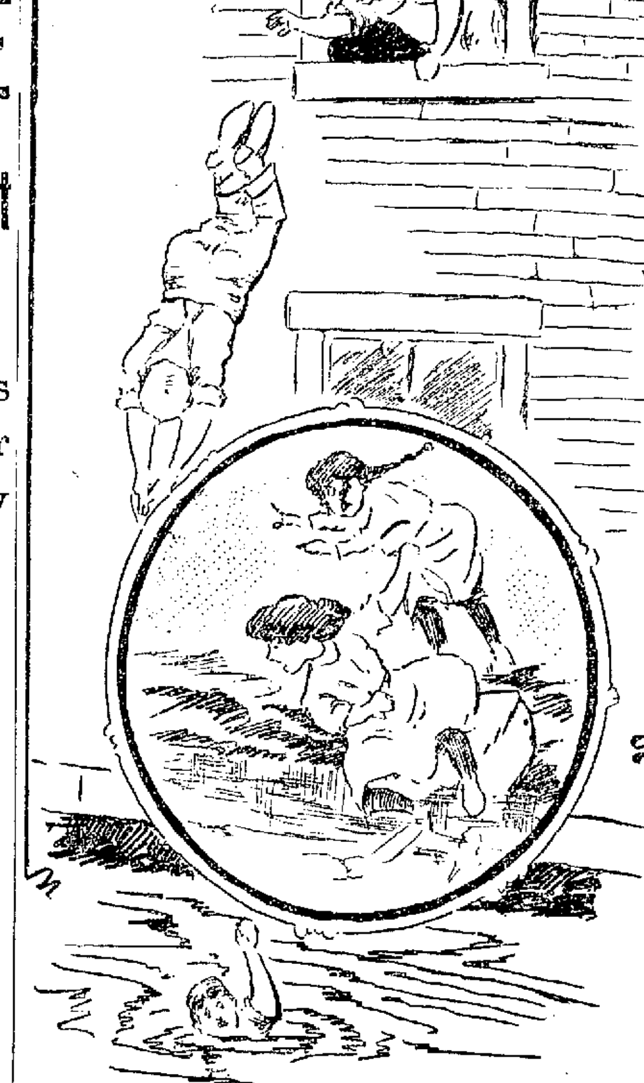
HEROIC RESCUE



THE HEROIC RESCUE BY PATRICK H. RYAN.

Patrick H. Ryan Plunged Into the Canal

Nine year old Mary Beecher, daughter of Patrick and Mary, was the victim of a sad drowning accident late yesterday afternoon. The affair came near being a double fatality, and was averted by the presence of mind and bravery displayed by Patrick H. Ryan, junior member of the firm of John Ryan & Co., proprietors of the Union Brass Foundry in Worthen street. The Beecher girl lost her life in the Suffolk canal, owing to a portion of the banking crumbling away and while attempting to save herself she pulled her companion, Isabel Talbot, into the water. Mr. Ryan dove from a second story window and saved the Talbot girl.

The two little girls had been picking flowers along the bank of the canal in the rear of the Sawyer Carriage Co.'s works in Worthen street. After getting tired of picking flowers Isabel Talbot told the Beecher girl that she was going home and asked her to go home too. The Beecher girl replied that she was going to bathe her feet before going and so saying sat down on the bank and allowed her feet to paddle in the water.

The little Talbot girl was rather timid and hesitated for awhile before making up her mind what to do. She was standing directly behind the Beecher girl when the earth under the rock on which the latter was sitting started to give away and before either of the little girls were aware what had happened the Beecher girl was precipitated into the water. In an attempt to save herself the Beecher girl pulled the little Talbot girl in with her.

SANK IN THE WATER.

Both children sank to a considerable depth and the Talbot girl came to the surface a few feet from where she fell in while the Beecher girl had got into a stronger current and was rapidly whirled down the stream. The current carried the latter down to a point near the Union Brass Foundry. When both children came to the surface they cried loudly for help.

At the time of the cries Patrick H. Ryan was standing at a sink in the second story of the building, washed his hands preparatory to going home, and hearing the cries of the children he looked out of the window. He saw one little girl struggling in the water, and without the least hesitation, he dove through the window and struck the water a distance of about forty feet. When he came to the surface he was near the Talbot girl and he managed to grab her by the hair just as she was going down for the third time.

At the same time that Mr. Ryan dove out of the building, John Riley, an employe of the foundry, jumped into the water from another window, having seen the little girl from where he was working.

He was close behind the hero of the occasion when the child was rescued. The Beecher girl was not seen again after she fell into the stream and it is thought that her clothes got caught in something that was projecting from the wall of the canal. Mr. Riley swam about the canal when he learned that another child had fallen in but he could find no trace of her.

The child that was rescued was completely exhausted when assistance came to her and Mr. Ryan and others who were quickly on the scene, worked over her for several minutes before restoring her to consciousness.

She was then removed to her home in Suffolk street.

The child who was drowned was the daughter of Patrick and Mary Beecher and resided at 99 Suffolk street. Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, James, aged 5, and John, aged 1 year, and two sisters, Nellie, aged 11, and Kittie, aged 4.

Isabel Talbot is the daughter of Edward and Vitaline and resides at 159 Suffolk street.

Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons were notified and at six o'clock the water was drawn off and a search of the bottom of the canal was made, in an effort to locate the body. Shortly before two o'clock the baby was located and removed to the warerooms of Undertaker O'Donnell at the corner of Market and Worthen streets.

Mr. Ryan who proved himself to be a hero is deserving of much praise. His timely action and his disregard of the danger he took in making his heroic leap has won for him the admiration of everyone who has heard of the deed. It should command the recognition of the Massachusetts Humane society.

CLARENCE D. BELL NOW CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LYNN, Sept. 5.—Clarence D. Bell, a young man from South Framingham, was arrested in this city yesterday afternoon by Police Inspectors Wells and Colley, charged with the larceny of a sum of money from L. A. May, a stove dealer on Central avenue. Bell had been at work in the store and was sent out to collect some bills. It is claimed by Mr. May that amount secured, which will amount to about $8 or $10, was not turned in.

Bell is the man who a short time ago figured in a runaway match with Miss Gertrude Dupree of South Framingham. They were found in Lynn by the police, and he claimed they were man and wife. Miss Dupree, however, has returned to Framingham with her father, who came after her and Bell has since been making his home in this city.

W. T. S. Bartlett's store will be open until noon Monday.

FORTY DAYS' FAST

BROOKLYN MAN WILL MAKE THE ATTEMPT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—For purely scientific purposes Stepney G. Playstead of Brooklyn is attempting to fast for forty days. He declares he has already accomplished two weeks of that time and after an examination by physicians has been pronounced to be in excellent condition.

Playstead went without eating for nearly three weeks once before, living during that time, he says, on nothing more than water. His present fast is to demonstrate that a man living on one and a half pints of water or less a day, can retain all his physical strength and mental forces and be able to go about his work in the usual way.

He is a press builder. His work is of the most laborous nature and he always has been a hearty eater. Since beginning his fast, however, he has lost considerable weight.

DELMAR IS FAST

The Abbot Loses the Gelding Record

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 5.—This week's grand circuit gathering is certainly the "gold-luck" meeting of the season. The public has turned out in such large numbers that Narragansett has all attendance records, and yesterday afternoon the horses gave the meeting an additional boost by clipping off fast miles.

Major Delmar was the star performer, trotting a mile in 2.01¾. This grand performance gives him the championship for trotting geldings by a safe margin. For three years The Abbot, 2.03¼, has been king of unsexed trotters.

The records show but two miles faster than the one trotted by the grandson of Electioneer this afternoon—the 2.00 of Lou Dillon and the 2.02¼ of Cresceus.

While Major Delmar's wonderful flight of speed was the feature, there was a pacing race which will go on the books as one of the fastest ever paced—three heats averaging better than 2.03—2.01¾, 2.03¼, 2.03½.

The winner was the local pride, Prince Alert. The fast heat, however, stands to the credit of the erratic Hoosier gelding, Dan R. Right at his wheel in this, the fastest race mile of the year, was the little Vermont-bred mare, Dariel.

NEGRO DROWNED

Feared That He Would be Lynched

By Associated Press to The Sun

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 5.—An unknown negro, caught in the act of strangling Mrs. Margaret Gerahn, a white woman, in her home at Armourdale, Kan., yesterday escaped to the Kansas river, where he drowned himself rather than run the chance of being lynched, a crowd having chased him to the bank of the stream. The woman was seriously hurt, but will recover.

Mrs. Gerahn is a widow, 45 years old. Her husband and her son were drowned in the great June flood, and she lived alone.

The negro, who was about 30 years old, went to the house about noon and, entering stealthily, locked himself in. He surprised Mrs. Gerahn at her work and demanded her money. When she insisted that there was none about the house, the negro threatened to kill her, and, seizing her by the throat, began choking her. Neighboring women broke into the house three hours later and found him sinking his fingers into her throat. The negro hurried from the house and ran to the Kansas river, two blocks distant, where he hired a boat and ordered the owner to row quickly to the Missouri shore.

When the boat had reached midstream a crowd of men and boys had gathered at the bank and shouted to the owner of the boat to return to shore. He started to do so, when the negro stood up in the boat, and with the remark: "I have lived too long to die at the end of a rope," dove into the water. He was drowned and his body was not recovered.

JURY DISAGREED

WAS TOLD TO BRING VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—In the trial of the case of the United States against Naoel Nanamatan, who is charged with smuggling, Judge DeHaven has delivered instructions to jury which in substance says that the landing of the goods was necessary to constitute the crime of smuggling. It is contended by the officials, charged with the capturing and conviction of this class of offenders, that if the opinion of the judge is right it will be a difficult matter to punish evaders of customs laws. Judge DeHaven positively instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty on the first charge, that of smuggling, giving his reasons as above stated. Despite this the jury, after being out six hours, disagreed.

GOVERNOR'S LIFE

Threatened If He Calls Out the Troops

By Associated Press to The Sun

DENVER, COL., SEPT. 5.—THE REPUBLICAN SAYS:

GOV. PEABODY HAS BEEN THREATENED WITH ASSASSINATION. HE HAS RECEIVED AN ANONYMOUS LETTER THREATENING TO KILL HIM IF HE DARED TO CALL OUT THE TROOPS OF THE STATE IN ORDER TO RESTORE LAW AND ORDER IN THE CRIPPLE CREEK DISTRICT. THE LETTER WAS ABUSIVE IN THE EXTREME AND ALLEGED THAT THE TROOPS WERE NOT NEEDED.

NATIONAL GUARD

WILL HAVE 600,000 ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION.

By Associated Press to The Sun

DENVER, Col., Sept. 5.—The special train bearing the first contingent of the national guard ordered to Cripple Creek by Governor Peabody in connection with the strike of the miners in that district, arrived at Gillette early today. Since the start from Denver, Adjutant General Sherman Bell has perfected plans for the mobilization of the entire state militia, numbering 1600 should he wish to do so. An arsenal will be established and within 24 hours 600,000 rounds of ammunition will be stored in the gold camp. When asked whether he anticipated any serious trouble, General Bell said:

"I do not know what we will meet with, but I shall be prepared for anything that may turn up."

Rumors that an attempt would be made to interfere with the progress of the troops toward Cripple Creek caused General Bell to change the route of travel from the Shore Line road to the Colorado Midland. So perfect were the arrangements that none of his personal staff knew of the general's intention until they were aboard the train leaving Colorado Springs. Prior to the departure of the main body of the troops from Colorado Springs, a special bearing armed militiaman was sent out. Detachments from this company were dropped off at the bridges along the route and left to guard them until the several sections following were safely over.

GOT GOLD BRICK

Innocent Old Man Gave up Money

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—"Bunco Bill" was at work in Cambridge yesterday morning, and succeeded in relieving an innocent and hard-working old man of $2000 in cash. The victim was John Smith, 75 years old, living with his daughter at 8 Gerry street, Cambridge. Mr. Smith is an Englishman, and has lived in Cambridge for 33 years. For many years he has been night watchman at the Murray street car stables.

This is not the first time that Mr. Smith has been lumbered out of money, and that he should bite the second time is almost beyond comprehension. About 10 years ago Mr. Smith gave up $1500 to confidence men in a real estate scheme.

Mr. Smith is an honest old fellow, perhaps all too innocent of the ways of the world, despite his age, although he is a constant reader of newspapers. However, he is easily influenced and seemingly believes every one else to be as honest as himself. He had several thousand dollars in Cambridge savings banks as a result of careful saving after years of hard toil. He has a few thousand left yet and owns the house he lives in, but it is taken for granted that the slick bunco man would have hard work to ply his game successfully again.

Two men were concerned in the job. One was about 35 years old, and led the victim on and arranged for the meeting with his partner, a man about 60 years old. Lieut. Kenney and Special Officer Doehan of Cambridge are at work on the case, and they are confident that they know who the elder man is. The man under suspicion is an old crook, and he has worked many a confidence game. The pair are thought to be in New York city, although it is all supposition where they are.

Mr. Smith was an easy mark, and it was "just like finding money." It was handed over and a gold brick returned.

GIRLS IN A PANIC

Shooting Affray in a Factory

VICTIM IS NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

Assailant Claimed He Was Owed Money

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Angered because his brother-in-law failed to pay money he had loaned to him, Alberto Canelo, shot and probably fatally wounded Joseph Carlo yesterday. The shooting occurred in the hallway of an East 23d street factory.

Two hundred girls employed in the factory were thrown into panic by the shooting and rushed out over the body of the wounded man and down the stairway. Several were knocked down and bruised and some fainted.

Canelo went to the factory, walked to Carlo's machine, touched his brother in law on the shoulder and said he wanted to talk with him in the hallway on business. Upon reaching the hallway Canelo suddenly turned and fired.

A policeman heard the shots and ran up the stairway. Canelo jumped through a window and fled down the fire escape. Several times he attempted to fire at the officer who was coming down the ladder after him, but the revolver failed to go off. Several policemen surrounded the would-be murderer when he reached the ground and compelled him to surrender.

A dozen stilettos and revolvers were found scattered about the stairways of the factory where the Italian workers had dropped them as they ran from their machines.

STOLE $50,000

Murderer and Suicide a Forger

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Evidence was discovered yesterday by the accountants examining the books of St. Michael's Episcopal church corporation, of additional forgeries, aggregating $25,000 of Henry Townsend Edson, murderer and swindler. This is in addition to the forged note for $25,000 held by the Corn Exchange bank, which, when called to the attention of William R. Peters, as treasurer of the church corporation, last Wednesday, led to Edson being confronted with the knowledge of his evil doings.

The newly discovered evidence had to do with two notes, one for $20,000 and another for $5000, that figured in a transaction with a trust company, the name of which could not be learned.

The vestrymen of the church have now for the first time learned of Edson's arrest, in September, 1891, in Rochester, N. Y., for grand larceny resulting from a forged note.

Edson, then only 22 years, was the representative of his father's firm in Rochester. He became heavily embarrassed financially, and several of the church vestrymen said today that Former Mayor Franklin Edson's fortune was considerably eaten up by settling his son's affairs.

TRAIN WRECKED

While Making 35 Miles an Hour

FIREMAN THROWN FROM ENGINE AND KILLED

Spreading Rails Caused the Accident

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—A dispatch from Oregon, Ill., says:

The St. Paul & Minneapolis limited which left Chicago last night at 6.30 on the Burlington road, was wrecked early today half a mile east of Chana, near this city.

The fireman was thrown from the engine and instantly killed. The passengers received a shaking up and were badly scared, but none of them was injured seriously. Most of those in the sleeping cars crawled out of the wreckage through the windows. The engineer jumped and escaped with slight hurts.

Spreading rails were responsible for the accident, which happened when the train was making 35 miles an hour. The mail, combination and buffet cars were hurled into the ditch. The two Pullman sleeping cars were derailed and thrown across the track, but they remained upright. A mail clerk was buried under a mass of clay and it took some time to dig him out.

IRISH PAINTER

THE FIRST TO PAINT PICTURE OF POPE PIUS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 5.—H. J. Thaddeus, the well-known Irish painter, whose portraits of Pope Pius IX, Leo XIII, Mr. Gladstone and other prominent personages, have won him considerable fame, has, owing to the good offices of Cardinal Moran obtained the privilege of being the first to paint a picture of the present pope. He has already made two studies and has taken a number of photographs, which required several sittings, during which the pope was most affable. On one occasion, being busy, the pontiff declared he could only spare the artist half an hour, but he ended in remaining about two hours.

The pope has expressed himself as being most satisfied with the studies, which Mr. Thaddeus expects to finish before Christmas.

COMMUNICATION

Mr. Editor:

Kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to contradict an item that appeared in yesterday's issue regarding an outing of Prudential men.

It is very evident that the piece in question was written by a member of the Manchester staff (and last year one of the "admirers" on the return journey) and consequently some allowance must be made for many of the false statements made.

However, in justice to the Lowell staff I will state that the outing lies not only originated in Lowell but the various specials were attended to by them and then they invited the Manchester boys to the outing as a sort of a "soothing syrup" for the crushing defeat rendered by the Lowell men in a district contest a short time ago.

As was expected the Manchester staff gladly accepted the invitation extended and immediately a sweeping challenge was made by the Lawrence to our Manchester brethren for a base ball game for "fun, money or marbles." They finally got their sanguinary blood stirred up and accepted the challenge, the game to be played for fun, of course.

As for the game itself, we leave that to any eye-witness to describe, suffice it to say that the correct score was 49 to 14 in favor of Lowell and not 7 to 5 in favor of Manchester, as the scribe claims.

The Lowell nine made 12 runs in the first inning and to keep up interest they gave Manchester a few runs now and then, as Supt. Sevier's pitching was a snap for the local batsmen.

Inasmuch as they could not touch Riordan's delivery they naturally thought that he was a college pitcher, but such was not the case.

The scribe also continues in his dream and states that Supt. Forester carried water but while we admit that the Lowell staff indulges in nothing stronger than water, however, we had such a walkover in the ball game that we were well able to wait until after the game to quench our thirst.

The eccentric scribe concludes by giving the Lowell staff the credit of being able to return for home at an early hour, but evidently he does not dare to mention the hour of departure for his Manchester friends, as that would show them up. However, some allowance must be made for Supt. Sevier's late return when you consider the strenuous game he had to pitch.

Hoping that I have not intruded too much, I remain,

FOR CORRECT READING.

LAWYER NOT GUILTY

STRICKLAND WAS ACCUSED OF VIOLATING ELECTION LAWS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—W. L. Strickland, a lawyer with an office in Court square, was given a trial before Judge Ely in the second session of the municipal court yesterday afternoon on a charge of having violated the election law in 1901 and 1902. The prosecution was brought by the board of election commissioners and has attracted a great deal of attention in political and legal circles.

At the conclusion of the trial, shortly after noon, Judge Ely considered the case in silence for a few minutes, and then directed Clerk Cutler to enter an order finding the defendant not guilty and discharging him.

Strickland's father appeared in court, and told Judge Ely that for family reasons the boy was told he was born in Charlottetown, P. E. I., when as a matter of fact he was born in Bangor. After this his honor discharged him, making no comment whatever in announcing his finding.

IN SELF-DEFENSE

Lefar Says He Killed His Neighbor

By Associated Press to The Sun

GRAND JUNCTION, Col., Sept. 5.—William Lefar, a cattleman whose ranch is 30 miles south of this city, drove into town last night and informed the sheriff that in a fight he had shot and killed E. T. Massey, a neighbor. Lefar said that Massey took three shots at him, placing his own child in front of him to protect himself. Finally Lefar got an opening to shoot and did so, killing Massey. Lefar claims that the killing was in self-defense.

SENT TO GUARD THE PRESIDENT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—It appears that the lesson of last Tuesday night when the man Wellbrenner endeavored to force himself into the presence of the president, has been well learned. The force of secret service operatives here has been strengthened and the probabilities are that other additions to the force may be made in a few days.

Tomorrow night the president and party will start for Syracuse, where on Labor Day the president will deliver an important address. Extraordinary precautions have been taken to insure his personal safety on the trip and at Syracuse. The president will hold no public reception while in that city.

SWORN CIRCULATION FOR AUGUST

The sworn daily average circulation of the Lowell Sun for the month of August, 1903, was 14,795 A gain of 1289 copies per day over the average for the year of 1902.

Sworn to by Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman of The Sun, before me, Sept. 1, 1903.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Notary Public.

☞ This is a larger circulation than the combined circulation of all the other daily papers in Lowell.

It looks now as if the labor hosts will have an ideal day for their celebration.

There will be no Sun published on Labor Day. We intend to celebrate.

While it is well to scrutinize every bill that is presented for payment it is wholly unnecessary to make faces as the overseers of the poor are wont to do before paying the bills they contract in a proper way.

A mob in the South End of Boston tried to rescue a prisoner, Thursday night, and strange to say, the officers, despite Judge Emmons' order to shoot, depended upon the free use of their clubs.

The republicans of Boston are at their wits end to get some candidate to run up against Mayor Collins. None of the prominent men want the privilege, but there are several light-weights seeking the place. George N. Swallow, Judge Dewey and Michael Murray are among those already mentioned.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN TURKEY.

Today the guns of the American Squadron under Admiral Cotton point down over Beirut, but this move is offset by the Sultan's announcement that he can no longer guarantee the safety of the consulates at Constantinople. This is a serious threat. It is a notification that the warships are more necessary at Constantinople than at Beirut. This bodes trouble for the Turkish empire and it makes it incumbent upon the powers to take prompt action for the protection of Christians and foreigners in general.

THE MILLIONAIRE DEFENDANTS SET FREE.

The defendants in the Newark, N. J., case were acquitted as we anticipated. It is difficult to get such men corralled in court. Yet they cannot be convicted without evidence and the presiding judge said there was no evidence to show that they were guilty of criminal negligence. Still by the negligence of a motor man and conductor an electric car was run into by an express train and nine high school children killed. If the children had only been injured through negligence the company of which these men are the head would be held responsible by the court. When the children are killed by the worst kind of negligence nobody is to blame. It is queer how the law sometimes favors such men.

LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATION.

Monday will be Labor Day, a day when the dignity of labor is celebrated and a day also when the voice of labor is heard in advocacy of the rights of labor and of various reforms needed for the amelioration of the toilers' condition. The labor unions by harmonious and conservative action can exert great influence upon legislative bodies; but it will best serve the purposes of the labor union not to affiliate itself with any political organization. It will require also to keep aloof from certain isms and radical movements which can only have the effect of alienating public sympathy and in the long run lessening the efficacy and strength of labor bodies.

On Labor Day the toilers turn out in parade, the assumption being that by such demonstrations a greater impression can be made upon the public mind in regard to the demands of labor for a greater share of the wealth produced by toil, for a shorter work day and a general improvement in the condition of the toiler.

THE MACEDONIAN CAUSE.

Whether Macedonia shall win her freedom now or at some future day it must be admitted that her people show the right spirit. The proclamation issued by the insurgents has the ring of one of Patrick Henry's great appeals for liberty. It says:—

"The dawn of liberty peeps already above the Macedonian horizon and awaits this stroke to shine with its full brilliancy on the Macedonian land. Prepare yourselves then for this stroke. Be at your posts. The hour for the battle strikes. The cry of 'Liberty or Death' will break the chains of slavery and bring the triumph of justice."

That is a struggle and a proclamation to which every christian nation and people might extend its benediction. The spirit that inspires those patriotic words will be hard to crush. It is too bad that a single province must run the risk of annihilation by standing independently before an overwhelming Mohammedan foe.

COMPANIES RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR POLES.

The supreme court has handed down an important decision holding that all companies maintaining polls in the public streets are liable for damages caused by the presence of such poles, provided the injured party exercises due care. It has been generally assumed that the poles being stationary, quiescent and inoffensive, the owners cannot be responsible for damages in any form, but the ruling of the supreme court on this matter asserts that because a company has a franchise to maintain poles does not exempt such company from claims for injuries caused by such poles.

If one of the poles should break and injure somebody; or, if the crossbar should fall on the heads of passers-by, the company would naturally have to pay the damage. The justice of this seems self-evident; but it has to be cleared of a lot of confusing circumstances before its reasonableness appears with striking effect. The decision will probably cause the companies that string wires to be more careful knowing that they are not immune from actions of tort for injuries sustained on account of the poles.

THE CUP CONTESTS.

Sir Thomas Lipton has universal sympathy in his defeat in the cup race. He has spent $2,000,000 in his three contests for the America cup but without avail. He takes his defeat in a sensible way. Did he feel otherwise disposed the defeat might kill him. But he is the right kind of a sport and his failure was due to the fact that the American boat was faster under any kind of weather.

A list of the various contests showing the date of the races, the names of the contending boats, the corrected time and the defender's lead in each case shows that while Sir Thomas made a gallant contest for the cup some of the previous challengers did quite as well.

It is quite apparent that Shamrock III did not make as good a battle relatively for the cup as did several of the previous challengers.

The performance of the Reliance was uniformly superior to that of Shamrock III in all kinds of weather. Much has been said of the masterly work of the crew, but if the boat were not faster than Shamrock III no crew could urge her through the water. It is quite probable that the speed of both boats was well displayed in the work done, the assumption being that in each case the crew did good work.

IN BASKET BALL

Rules of the New England League

MANAGER GRAY WILL MAKE SOME CHANGES

Harry Hough Deserts the National League

Harry Hough, the little wonder, will play in Massachusetts this season.

Wiley Platt, formerly of the Boston Nationals, is one of the new men signed by Manager Stallings for the Buffalo team.

It is whispered that Bucky Low and Fields may be among the missing in the lineup of the Lowell team, and there are others, too, who will get the go-by.

If John Smith goes to manage the Bristol, Pa. team as now seems probable, it is reported that he will offer several of last year's Manchester team a chance to play with the champions of the National league.

It begins to look as if Jimmie Redmond will get his end all right. He will fit in somewhere when the plums are being passed. Redmond knows too much about basketball and the men who play the game to be left out.

An important meeting of the New England basketball league is slated for Concord tomorrow. It is expected that at this meeting the formation of the league will be definitely determined, and that the franchises will be awarded in those cities where two or more claimants are after the prizes.

It was announced also that at this meeting rules for the government of the league would be adopted. Altogether it looks as if the meeting will do a great deal that will be of interest to followers of the game.

James Gray, who will manage the Lowell team in the league, has a number of applications from players of repute who want to work under his management. It is a matter of common knowledge among those who have followed the game and heard the remarks of visitors players that Mr. Gray stands well and will have no difficulty in getting good men in case he drops some of the old P. A. C. team which now seems very likely.

All of the star players of the Camden National Basketball league team, with the exception of Middleton and Bossert, have signed contracts to play in New England this season, deserting the National league team. Manager Godnow will place this strong team at Pittsfield, Mass.: Forwards—Harry Hough, Trenton; Edward Feral, Camden; John, Deal, Germantown, a Pittsfield player. Centers—Fred Mullinex, Trenton; George Keenen, Philadelphia; a Pittsfield player. Defense Winfield Kinkaide, Philadelphia; Harold Thomas, Philadelphia; Robert Mayham, Trenton; a Pittsfield player.

At the annual meeting of the National Basketball league there was a fight against the adoption of the proposed change in the rule concerning foul goals, the opposition winning out. The change if it had taken effect would have greatly altered the present style of play. Instead of giving a free throw each time a foul was called, the new rule would have made two fouls score one point. Many players objected to the new rule and some openly stated that they would not play with the new rule in vogue. By strong arguments the magnates were convinced that the rule was not the best thing for the game.

GIVES HER NAME

YOUNG WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN A BOAT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The young woman who was found unconscious in a small boat at one of the wharves in this city Thursday night and who, it was suspected had been drugged and robbed, was dismissed from the hospital to which she was taken, yesterday, having recovered. Before leaving she gave her name as May Simpson, and said that her widowed mother lived in Charlmont, Mass., and that she left some time ago intending to take a course in the New England Conservatory of Music. She came here but her plans were blotted by ill-health and she recently returned here from a visit to a married sister living in Portland, Maine.

Miss Simpson asserted that she had been robbed and believes that her condition was due to her having been given drugs of some sort by a woman and two young men whom she met for the first time Thursday night in a restaurant here and with whom she consented to pass a pleasant evening. She denies that she partook of any intoxicants.

CONSUL'S PLACE

Change in System of Appointments

By Associated Press to The Sun

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—An important change of policy with respect to the making of appointments in the consular service has been decided upon by President Roosevelt. He discussed the change yesterday with Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis.

For many years it has been practically the uniform practice of presidents to appoint men to positions in the consular service substantially without reference to whatever previous experience they may have had. President Roosevelt after consultation with Secretary Hay, Assist. Secretary Loomis and members of his cabinet not immediately identified with the state department has determined to appoint hereafter to important places in the consular service men who already are in the service and have had that experience and training in minor positions which will render them the more capable of filling places of higher grade and greater importance.

The change in policy does not extend the civil service to the consular service and it does not extend, necessarily a consul's tenure of office at any particular place, but it is pointed out, it does give reasonable assurance to the manufacturing and commercial interests of the United States, which, particularly are interested in the extension of the country's foreign trade, that in a comparatively brief time all important consular situations will be filled not only by men of character and ability, but by men, who, by training and experience, are specially qualified to advance the trade interests of the United States.

Secretary Loomis discussed with the president several appointments in the service that are to be made soon. It is understood that of all the appointees will be men who now are filling places of lesser importance in the service. They are to be promoted and, in turn their places will be filled by men who have not had the experiences they have had.

THE GREAT EAGLE

"Big Tim" Sullivan Wins the Place

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept 5—Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan is now the head of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, having been elected grand worthy master at the convention in Tammany hall yesterday. The election was a spirited one, and there was lively campaigning from beginning to end. Sullivan's election had been expected, but many western contingents favored the election of Vice President Pelletir of Kansas City, and waged a vigorous fight to place him at the head of the order. In the first ballot Sullivan polled 792 votes, Pelletir 729 and Henry "Hy" Travis of Cincinnati 250. The two latter candidates then withdrew and the congressman's election was then made unanimous. A protest was made against the votes from Honolulu, which were represented by proxy by the California delegates. As the Hawaiian Islanders were in favor of Sullivan his adherents fought vigorously until the California delegates were permitted to vote for their distant neighbors. Cape Nome, Alaska, the states of Washington and Texas went solid for Sullivan. The congressman drew from all over the country, even the far western states sending him a good vote. Thomas Coogan of Cincinnati and John Kenny of Buffalo managed Sullivan's campaign.

OLYMPIA SINKING

It Was Feared Flagship Would Go Down

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 5—The cruisor Olympia, flying the pennant of Rear Admiral Coghlan, arrived at the Norfolk navy yard yesterday. Her bottom was inspected and she will be docked Wednesday for repairing the injuries received on rocks off the Maine coast. On the way down the coast in a storm it was thought at one time the Olympia was sinking. She ran into a heavy gale off Tomaston harbor and for a while fears were entertained that she might not be able to weather it in safety. Her water-tight compartments saw her safely through the blow, but not until it had become necessary to seek shelter in Tomaston harbor until the gale subsided. When the Olympia reached the Norfolk navy yard yesterday she was immediately boarded by Naval Constructor Evans and his force of assistants. Several of her plates were found to be cracked and broken and it was announced she would be docked Wednesday for repairs which will consume about seven weeks.

PORTE'S WARNING

Against Attack by the Bulgarian Bandits

TURKEY'S ACTION SATISFIES CONSUL AT BEIRUT

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister, called on Secretary Hay yesterday to inform him that he had received from his foreign office official advices to the effect that the American consul at Beirut was entirely satisfied with the measures Turkey had taken to protect life and property there and to investigate and act with respect with the assault on Vice-Consul Magelssen.

The Porte, in advising the foreign embassies and legations of the measures taken to protect them added a warning against Bulgarian bandits, who might attempt to elude the Turkish guards and attack the foreigners from within.

It is a matter of some comment that there are only about two hundred marines with European squadron but these with the Kavasses already in the service of the legation, and with the Turkish guards assigned to Minister Leishman, will, it is believed, prove sufficient for any emergency likely to arise.

Officials of the state department, commenting upon the item from Paris saying that ships of foreign powers would be sent to Turkish waters, stated that the United States was now sending ships to Turkish waters. The term "Turkish waters" does not mean Constantinople, they say and while the whole eastern portion of the Mediterranean might be covered with warships, it was possible that none of them would force the Dardanelles. After the Crimean war, a treaty was made which has been followed up by subsequent treaties which prohibits warships from entering the Dardanelles without the consent of Turkey and Turkey must have the assent of all the signatory powers. In 1868, Admiral Farragut with the flagship Franklin, was invited and ascended the Dardanelles and the powers protested.

Then it was determined that no vessel of war could enter the Dardanelles. There is a provision, however, that in case Turkey is at war with another power, she might admit the ships of a friendly power. This, it is said here, is directed at Russia.

In 1885, Turkey, under the treaty, refused to allow either the Marblehead or the Bancroft, American warships, to enter the Dardanelles.

Small ships of other nations are allowed in the Bosphorus, which have been sent through the Dardanelles, but these are called legation vessels and rated of little importance. However, they carry sailors which may be used for legation guards at any time. It is believed that in case the United States desired to send a launch or small vessel with a guard for the American legation Turkey would have a right to admit them to the Dardanelles without consulting and obtaining the permission of the powers.

CRISIS AT HAND

Missionaries Said to be in Danger

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Morning Post publishes a letter from its Constantinople correspondent in which he discusses the Beirut affair and the position of the American missionaries in Asia Minor. He says:

"Things have arrived at a crisis. The United States must either insist upon the Porte listening to its representations regarding American converts or drop the missionaries altogether. The latter course is naturally impossible and the sending of a squadron has great significance as showing a determination on the part of America to take active part in the Turkish question. One result of this step will probably be to induce the sultan to raise his representative at Washington to the rank of an ambassador so that the United States can be equally represented here. At present America is at a decided disadvantage in this respect compared with the other first class powers. Nobody can quite foresee the ultimate attitude of the United States, but it is almost certain that her weight will incline on the side of the Christian against the Turks.

BATTLESHIP BELLE ISLE

TORPEDOED AND SANK AT HER MOORINGS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 5.—The old battleship Belle Isle was torpedoed here yesterday and sunk at her moorings. For the purposes of the experiment a section had been constructed on the port side of the Belle Isle representing the side of a modern battleship. This was filled with an American invention which, it was claimed, would prevent a ship from sinking when the hull is penetrated below the water line. When the vessel was struck a huge column of water enveloped her. She rolled heavily and then settled down with a list of ports. The Belle Isle will be raised for further experiments. It is said the damage done to the ship's bottom is extensive.

WHITE SLAVES

Little Greek Boys Sold for Small Sums

By Associated Press to The Sun

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 5—White slavery is practiced in Michigan cities by an oath-bound organization with headquarters at Kalamazoo. The escape Thursday morning of a 13 year-old bootblack from his master, Anthony Demers, owner of a Greek bootblacking place in the city, and the latter's anxiety to recapture the child, have revealed the methods practised by the society.

Every year boys are being picked up on the streets of Greek cities, it is said, and sold into slavery in this country. The purchasers are mostly Greek shoe shiners, who pay from $50 to $75 for a 5 or 6 year-old-boy for the first year; the second year the price is advanced $25 and each succeeding year a small advance is made until the boy is of age, when the "boss" must take his chances with his protege.

This was the fate of Nicholas Demogeos, who was shipped from Greece to Kalamazoo 17 months ago and who, after suffering many indignities, made his escape Thursday morning. Peter Sakountan, a Greek, 25 years old, who has spent the greater part of his life as a shoe shiner without compensation, took pity on the youngster and ran away with him.

Anthony Demers and his brother Alexander are at the head of a shoe shining organization which operates "parlors" in Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson, South Bend, St. Joseph, Benton Harbor and Chicago. With a few exceptions the work of polishing shoes is all done by little Greek boys whose ages range from 5 to 18 years.

The "bossey" society is not incorporated, but an agreement in the nature of one with is said to be entered into between the operators. When Demers returned, the early part of this week, from a collection trip, he charged the boy with stealing a small sum while he was gone and it is alleged used very stringent measures, which led the boy to run away.

Demers has admitted all the foregoing facts to Kalamazoo officials. It is likely that arrests will follow and the case may involve instances in many cities throughout the country. Demers justifies himself in the slave practice by claiming that Greek parents do not care anything about their children and are glad to have them come to this country.

Lowells Enjoyed a One Day Rest

Pitcher Bushey Went Home for Only One Game and Will Finish Out the Season With Lowell—Other Games Yesterday

The Lowell team had a lay-off yesterday and some of the boys went to Nashua to see that team work. Lew Cross remained at his home in Manchester, N. H., where his father is very ill.

Manager Lake was in communication with Pitcher Bushey at Waterville, Me., and Bush will be back today for the remainder of the season. Bushey's home is in Waterville and when that city sent him a tempting offer to pitch one game he accepted it immediately. Then he was afraid that Lake might not let him go so he decided to go and ask permission afterward. He had no intention, however, of jumping the team for all time. So Bushey will be back for the remaining games.

Concord will be the victims this afternoon and as they were ever Lowell's jonahs a good game should result.

"Lew" Cross is the "Cy" Young of the New England league. He has won 21 games for Lowell and is pitching great ball.—Boston Herald.

Fred Lake is not sorry that he took Buck Hooker in when Concord dropped him. He is doing great work in the finish of the pennant fight.

Conners is playing a decidedly fast game at second for Lowell. His work at Manchester on Tuesday was brilliant in the extreme.—Boston Herald.

Sammy Murch of the Lawrence team has been sold to the St. Louis Nationals and will report at the close of the New England league season.

McLean was back in the game at Nashua yesterday dispite the fact that Jordan, Pastor, Soffel and Daum don't want him back.

If Lowell wins the pennant the team will play a series of five or seven games with Holyoke, champions of the Connecticut league. Manager Lake has accepted Holyoke's challenge.

Ed Ashenbach wants Joe Kelley to take big Jack McLean who was with Jimmy Collins a couple of years ago. McLean is big enough to scare Jack, the Giant Killer.—Sporting Life.

The Lawrence Eagle has it that Coveney is the premier backstop in the league. How about Cote, Merritt, Berry and McLean? Coveney can't hold a candle to any of these boys when it comes to all-around work.—Haverhill Gazette.

"Tony" Pastor of Nashua comes very near to being the best all-around shortstop in the league. He is a steady, sure, consistent performer, a good base runner and an excellent batsman.—Boston Herald.

The Nashua ball management has sold Catcher McLean to Chicago, the price being $[illegible]. The big fellow will go West at once. He is by far the ablest backstop which the New England league has had this year.—Nashua Cor. Manchester Union.

The Nashua bunch, according to the New Bedford Mercury, will have to sleep out in [illegible] when they make their next stay in the Whaling city. It's pretty tough for a bunch to carry the reputation they've got, for it's equally bad in every city on the circuit. They seem to be "the limit."—Fall River Globe.

They say that Cozzie Murphy was not popular in New Bedford, but when Lawrence went there last week, his many friends had planned to present him with a [illegible] horse shoe. The rain prevented the presentation, but there will be something to take its place this week when the team goes to New Bedford again.

It is expected that Manager John F. Smith will return to his old home in Bristol, R. I., to pass the coming winter instead of remaining in Manchester, as he did last season. Mr. Smith has put in a bid for the Bristol franchise in the National basket ball league and it is expected that he will receive it. Then he will probably get together his old team that won the National league championship two years ago and play basket ball there next winter. The local basket ball interests are in the hands of an association of which Smith is a member and his presence will not be necessary.

A despatch from Haverhill says that President [illegible] has received a letter from [illegible] Gonzel, in which he states that he will buy the local club, providing his brother, John Gonzel, can secure his release from the New York Americans. [illegible] the New York club will not stand in the way of [illegible] bettering himself. This is the one condition that the deal now hinges upon and it is expected that Gonzel will know in a few days as to his future. According to President [illegible], the figures are satisfactory to both parties concerned. It is understood that John Gonzel will control the team and Hamilton is expected to be with them.

What Jack Morse thinks: Hooker is helping Lowell hold its lead in good style. Graham comes near to filling the bill in Manchester. Mr. Whiting woke up the whole procession in Umpire Kerins. Pretty race between Fall River, New Bedford and Haverhill. Manchester will have to brace up to maintain championship honors. Young Green of Concord is one of the best youngsters in the league. The talk that umpires have it in for the old boy that is the stillest twaddle. Lawrence is making a fast finish and now has a team that will give any a battle. Murphy of Haverhill is certainly as good an all round third baseman as there is in the league. Lowell will again try to win at Manchester today; this will end the series between the two clubs. Tom McCarthy is evidently anything but all in. He would be a great man for some team in 1904. Connors is playing a decidedly fast game at second for Lowell. His work at Manchester on Tuesday was brilliant in the extreme. Jack Carney still clings to his .333 percentage. No first baseman in the country can show anything better in the number of games played.—Concord Monitor.

JUVENILE DIAMOND.

Gene McCarthy, the well-known Collinsville sport, has been asked to pitch for Milford Labor Day. Although Gene is still in his teens, he is there with the goods, and he will very likely accept the invitation. He has already demonstrated that he is fit for faster company and will certainly make good with Milford. He will be accompanied by his trainer and bottle washer, Denis A. O'Brien, the well-known "Lobster."

A MIGHTY HEALER

CURES THE SICK BY MYSTIC POWER

YOU CAN KNOW HIS SECRET FREE

Marvelous New Treatment Which Conquers All Diseases

You Can Be Cured at Home—Generous Offer of Prof. Adkin

PROF. THOMAS F. ADKIN.

"I consider it a crime to experiment with the health of the people," says Prof. Thomas F. Adkin, president of the Institute of Physicians and Surgeons. "If I did not know positively and absolutely that my new home treatment will cure every known disease, even when all other methods of treatment fail, I would consider I was committing a crime to make such a statement to the public. Nothing is so precious to a man as his health—nothing so horrible as an untimely grave. Little ills, if not promptly cured, often result in obstinate chronic diseases. I believe that my new discovery, 'Vitaopathy,' is the most marvelous treatment ever known, and I intend to give its secrets to the world. I intend that every man, woman and child shall know its teachings. I propose to tell the sick, absolutely free of charge, how that may be restored to perfect health. I would rather be a benefactor to the sick man than to have the wealth of Croesus."

The above are remarkable words, but those who know Prof. Adkin and have tried his treatment can vouch for their absolute truthfulness.

"I was nearly dead with liver and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. S. Robinson, 1510 Westminster street, Providence, R. I. "The doctors had given me up to die. You can imagine what a state of mind I was in. I could not attend to business, and began to think my days were numbered. I read the wonderful cures Prof. Adkin had effected by his great discovery Vitaopathy, and as a forlorn hope wrote to him just the condition I was in, mentally and physically. He gave me a clear diagnosis of my case and didn't charge me a cent for it. He prescribed a treatment which I began with little or no faith, but I am happy to state that I am now completely cured, and am a firm believer in Vitaopathy. From my own personal experience I believe Prof. Adkin can almost raise the dead."

Mrs. A. J. Clifford, Stowe Creek, O., writes this grateful letter: "I was affected with a severe case of Eczema and Nettle Rash, which spread over my whole body. The itching and stinging at times was almost unendurable. I wrote Prof. Adkin, and in four days after I began following the free advice he gave me the itching began to subside and the eruptions dried up rapidly. In ten days I was permanently cured. I feel better now than I have for the past ten years. The free advice of Prof. Adkin gives a blessing to those who cannot afford to pay big doctor's bills."

Prof. Adkin says: "I sympathize with the sick. I want to make every chronic invalid well. I want to prove what my treatment will do. I want every sick person in the country to write me personally. Tell me the leading symptoms of your disease and I will at once make a thorough diagnosis of your case and outline a method of treatment which will positively cure you. This will cost you absolutely nothing. I will also send you a copy of my new book, 'How to be Cured and How to Cure Others,' postage prepaid. You are not out a single cent. Write me in confidence fully and freely about yourself." Address PROF. THOS. F. ADKIN, office 351, Rochester, N. Y.

SALEM PLAYOUT

MANCHESTER IS STILL TALKING ABOUT IT.

Says the Manchester Union:

The soap-bubble has burst, and the cause of Uncle Sam's 174-foot squirt at Salem has returned to the realm of horrid mystery. Foreman Frank H. Harvey says that soap is a good thing for leather; that it was made for leather, in fact; that, while nobody knew it, he had used soap for the purpose of lubricating the cylinders of Uncle Sam ever since he had been foreman of the machine; and that he, and he alone, knows just why the crack tub of the Manchester Veteran Firemen's association fell down on Aug. 20, and that he won't tell.

Mr. Harvey admits that something went wofully wrong with the machine a few days before it went to Salem, but he declares that it wasn't the soap that was at the heart of the trouble. He says that he has correctly diagnosed the case and has applied the remedy, but that no one knows either the disease or the cure. To be sure, when Uncle Sam dropped from an average of 200 feet down to 150, just before it went to Salem, Mr. Harvey is said to have confidently told some of the members of the association that the soap had been put into the cylinders and that he knew a mistake had been made, and he was one of a party that took the machine to pieces and did everything they could to rinse the soap out, but this evidently has no bearing on the case whatever, since soap is a good lubricant for plunger leathers. These facts were called to the foreman's attention, however, as was the one that when the tub was pulled upon the platform at Salem the foreman knew and said that it had no chance to win, but no satisfactory answer was elicited, because, you see, the whole thing is a deep, dark mystery.

If Uncle Sam would only speak. Then the public that has believed in, rooted for and bet on the tub could know just what microbe got into its internal organization and weakened its pumping power. Mr. Harvey says he knows, but Mr. Harvey won't tell. All the believing, rooting, betting public knows is that the tub fell down in a most humiliating manner at Salem, and that just about 99 per cent. of its pumpers believe that soap did it. Mr. Harvey knows the machine fell down, indeed, he seems to be pretty sure it was going to before it mounted the platform, but he says that soap didn't do it. Now if only Uncle Sam could give a hint, how all this mystery could be cleared up.

Since the much-experimented-on tub cannot speak, the question seems to be up to the experts. Perhaps, after all, Mr. Harvey is right and soap is a good thing for leather. The foreman pointed with pride to the harnesses of the Engine 1 team, when he was discussing this subject on Thursday, and called attention to the fact that he washed them with soap and that it was just what the leather needed. He said also that experienced engineers had told him that soap was a proper lubricant for pump plungers.

WHISKEY AND BEER HABIT

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE"

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary—simple, inexpensive, harmless and sure. Can be given secretly if desired. We will refund the money if it fails.

Mr. E. T. Sims, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Use my name as a 20-year drunkard restored to manhood and health by four boxes of 'ORRINE.' It is a wonderful and marvelous cure for the drink habit."

Mrs. E. Wycliff, New York city, writes: "'ORRINE' cured my husband, who was a steady drunkard for many years. He now has no desire for stimulants, his health is good and he is fully restored to manhood. He used only five boxes of 'ORRINE.'"

Mrs. W. L. D., Helena, Mont., writes: "I have waited one year before writing you of the permanent cure of my son. He took sanitarium treatment, as well as other advertised cures, but they all failed until we gave him 'ORRINE.' He is now fully restored to health and has no desire for strong drink."

Mrs. U. L. R., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I am satisfied that drunkenness is a disease and the worst in the world. 'ORRINE,' in my opinion, will cure any case if taken as you direct. I was a common drunkard for 20 years, but today I am free of any desire for liquor. You have found the specific. God bless you!"

Mr. A. E. L., Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was born with a love of whiskey and drank it for 32 years. It finally brought me to the gutter, homeless and friendless. I was powerless to resist the craving and would steal and lie to get whiskey. Four boxes cured me of all desire and I now hate the smell of liquor."

Price $1 per box, 6 boxes for $5. Mailed in plain, sealed wrappers by Orrine Company, 817 14th street, Washington, D. C. Interesting booklet, sealed, free on request. Sold and recommended by Ellingwood & Co., Barristers hall, Lowell, Mass.

GUEST OF PILGRIMS

Sir Thomas Lipton Praises Enterprise of Americans

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Sir Thomas Lipton was the guest of honor of the Pilgrims of the United States at a dinner given in his honor last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. Nearly one hundred and fifty men, prominent in many walks of life were present. Sir Thomas arrived at 7.45 and for half an hour the gallant owner of Shamrock III received his friends. Then Sir Thomas escorted by George T. Wilson, who was to preside, led the way from the reception room to the tables. At either end of the hall was hung Sir Thomas' private emblem—the Shamrock on a field of yellow, surrounded by a green border while above the guests' table were draped the flags of Great Britain and the United States. Bunches of red roses on each table and greens on the walls completed the decorations. Surmounting the menus which bore the flags of Sir Thomas and the Royal Ulster Yacht club was a cardboard yacht, which bore no name.

In order to enliven affairs somewhat at the outset the guests sang a little song to the refrain of "Mr. Dooley," which told of the virtues of Sir Thomas and his enduring efforts to lift the cup.

There had been arranged no formal speeches but the following were called upon: George T. Wilson, Sir Thomas Lipton, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, Gen. H. C. Corbin, Col. Henry Watterson, ex-Gov. Thomas of Colorado and Senator A. E. Cates.

With Sir Thomas at the guests' table sat the Arch-Earl of Shaftesbury, Commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht club; Commodore F. C. Bourne, General H. C. Corbin, William Fife, Rear-Admiral Rodgers, Col. Henry Watterson, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, George T. Wilson and ex-Gov. Thomas.

Mr. Wilson presided at the dinner in the absence of Bishop Potter, the president of the society.

When the ices were served a procession of waiters marched in to a popular air bearing traps crowned with gilded harps, full-rigged models of Reliance and Shamrock and casels with figures of hacks. Mr. Wilson addressing Sir Thomas, said that his attitude had struck a responsive chord in every heart.

"As a loser," said he, "you are a corker. You will ever have the admiration, love and regard of all Americans."

Sir Thomas was given many hearty rounds of cheers when he arose. He said:

"We are all more or less pilgrims here tonight and I'd like to feel that I am not a stranger among you.

"As regards the cup races, we have been beaten fairly and squarely, and I congratulate America on having the better boat. I wish to take occasion here to express my thanks for the courteousness and kindness shown me by the New York Yacht club. I am especially grateful for the admirable way in which the course was kept clear.

"I have heard much comment for and against the Sandy Hook course. It is as good a course as any others, nay, there is no other course in the world like it.

"I am beginning to think that there is some magic spell about that 'blooming old cup.' Two years ago I had it almost within my grasp, but it escaped me then as it has escaped me now, and it seems as far off as ever. But my motto has always been, 'Try, try again.'

"Although I have been without success each time I have tried, I do not despair that some day we shall have success in capturing that famous trophy, although I must confess that we appear now to be more than a little bit astern.

"Herreshoff is the greatest designer of the age but I am still very hopeful that I will see that cup on the other side yet.

"America is a very hard country to beat and I know it. I am a very disappointed man but still I have the consolation that both conquerors and conquered belong to the same good old race. The cup is still in the family, only it is held by a younger and more go-ahead generation.

"Gentlemen, while I lost the cup, or rather did not succeed in winning it, I have not lost the esteem and good-will of my American friends, which esteem and good-will I reciprocate in the very highest degree possible. My feeling of gratitude for this spirit is great beyond expression. I shall bear in my heart the remembrance of your kindly acts for all time. I am sure that as the days and years roll by these contests will not have been held in vain if they make us realize that wherever we are, the world over, we shall 'Brothers be for a'that.'"

After speeches had been made by the Earl of Shaftsbury, Gen. Corbin and Col. Watterson, Gen. Wheeler spoke.

LAPPONI HONORED

POPE CONFERRED ON HIM TITLE OF COMMENDATORE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 5.—Pius X, in order to show his appreciation of the services Prof. Lapponi rendered to the late pontiff during his trying illness, yesterday conferred on him the title of commendatore.

His holiness accompanied the conferring of the honor by a very flattering letter to the doctor and insisted on personally bestowing the title, saying to Dr. Lapponi:

"My predecessor had many peaceful years to thank you for."

"May your holiness have as many," replied the doctor.

"Well, I do not know that I would echo that wish," said the pope with a smile.

BOSTON THEATRE.

On next Monday afternoon the Boston theatre will be opened for the season. Mr. J. H. Tibbetts will manage the theatre as he has during the past two seasons. During this time Mr. Tibbetts has built up a patronage that taxes his theatre's seating capacity at nearly every performance. The shows billed at this theatre have been good, clean, amusing shows. The success of the theatre has been built on the recognition by Mr. Tibbetts that the public want their money's worth and that they want the clean vaudeville show.

Mr. Tibbetts has been at Willow Dale Park the past summer superintending the stage show there this being his second season there. His attractions have been good and only the terrible weather has kept the season at that resort from being an overwhelming success.

His bill for the opening performance at the Boston theatre is a good one and includes one of the funniest coon teams that have appeared in Lowell, Wells and Wells. Chamberlain is billed as a comedy trick bicycle rider and those who have seen him work say that he is the best ever. Harrison and Southard are two young ladies that sing and dance in a clever manner. These girls have youth, beauty and talent in their favor and should make a great hit. George L. Foster, a blackface comedian, Marquand, a clever juggler and the Boston Bioscope are features of the bill, making in all one of the best bills ever staged for the prices charged.

Catherine Talbot Foresees a Future For the Ruche

PARIS, Aug. 15.—I have told you lately about the prevalence of the fascinating ruche. I have it on excellent authority that everything will be ruched for the next six months. All the fete frocks show the revival of this dainty fashion. Muslin, taffeta and chiffon are all trimmed with ruches of various thicknesses and I am told that velvet also will be treated the same way. Yet, in spite of flounces and ruches and all sorts of frippery around the feet, cloth skirts are kept very plain at the top, and everything indicates the return of the tight skirt, popularly known as the "pullback," at least as far down as the knees. Then it is extended to the breadth of about twelve yards around the feet. Truly this sort of skirt must be cut by a modiste who is a genius as well as an artist.

How beautiful is a mixture of the 1830 and fifteenth century fashions! The colorings are so exquisite and the workmanship so beautiful. Bodices are nearly all made in blouse fashion, the waist line defined by a pointed sash or band.

All the best frocks worn by the elegantes are exquisitely graceful, and these soft, clinging fabrics can stand any amount of tucking and ruching.

Taffeta, both in black and pale shades, is enjoying a great popularity for fete gowns and various afternoon entertainments.

Trouville this year has been very gay, and the frocks seen there perfectly marvelous. A friend of mine writes from there that it has been a "red" season and that it made her warm to look at the frocks, but judging from what one sees at the leading tailors it appears to be a white season and the indications are that white will be worn quite into the autumn. Red is very pretty at the seaside, especially in linen and voile. One frock of red voile is made quite plain, with two bands of red taffeta running round the skirt in a simple Greek pattern, also down the front of the blouse shaped waist.

French sailor and plateau hats are worn with the walking skirt. Picture hats with ostrich plumes are reserved for fete wear. As I told you in my last letter, strings are much worn. The 1830 bonnet will be among the autumn fashions, and it is, said that brown will be the prevailing color, although the beautiful shades of pastel blue will not be easily dispensed with.

I hear that the opening of the casino at Dinard's was exceedingly well attended and that many English and American women were there. There are some pretty Americans over here, buying the largest quantity of garments for every occasion. In fact, I wonder how they can take about trunks enough to carry them. They have such dainty lingerie and morning robes! They seem to prefer beautiful fabrics simply made and are very complete in their toilets. Their petticoats perhaps are more elaborate than anything else. They affect the "tailor made" for nearly all outdoor occasions, reserving the elaborate frocks for afternoon wear.

I must describe at least one of the charming toilets which I saw in preparation for Aix and Homburg. This was in white china silk, inserted with medallions of black chantilly lace, with an outer edge of coarse cream colored Irish crochet. The bodice was made in blouse fashion, with a double pelerine collar, cut open, showing a vest made of lace medallions. The shaped hip piece was also outlined with these medallions. They were continued down the front and around a flounce, which was put on just below the knee with a series of gaugings. A pretty shaped gold waistband finished the costume. Gold and silver waistbands are a feature just now, though to my mind the black panne belt is one of the most charming fashions.

WHAT THE PARISIAN FASHIONABLES ARE WEARING.

The exit from Paris at the beginning of the Trouville season was more marked than ever this year, owing to the lengthened stay made in the capital by some of the society leaders. The nearness to Paris of many of the chateaux makes a rapid visit in the automobile possible for special occasions. The dress worn, therefore, during a stay in the country is almost the same as for the city. There is a studied negligee in the donning of these costumes and in the lounge dress adopted by the men. At the same time a Parisienne displays as much art in gowning herself for the country as for the city's more fashionable functions. The linens which have been trimmed with the most beautiful laces and embroideries are being replaced for the early autumn by linens less embellished. Simple stitching and "a jour" work or colored embroidery, however, render them quite as attractive as those seen earlier in the season. With a white plaited skirt and blouse for the morning a linen collar and lace cravat are worn, or a plain neckband of black ribbon is crossed in front, falling from a clasp in two tasseled ends. Another pretty effect is obtained by outlining the linen or batiste shoulder collar in coral pink embroidery. A plain white canvas linen of a coarse weave makes a very stylish dress, the bolero and skirt being trimmed with braiding in rather a severe design. Braiding in soft soutache on a linen gown is remarkably pretty and not the least heavy looking, as one might imagine.

Bright colored leather belts, worn with a plain blouse of cambric or linen, are very smart. Scarlet, green and blue are fashionable colors for these popular belts, while a cravat and shoes of the same color generally complete the costume.

Lace still holds an important place in the toilet for afternoon, fete or country visiting. Antique lace, which is very suitable for linen and cotton fabrics, is much worn. Even voile dresses are trimmed with it. Colored laces are also used. I have seen them in pastel blues, brown, tan and red.

Among some toilets made for a well known chatelaine were three which struck me as being particularly pretty. The first was in ecru canvas linen. The plaited skirt was trimmed with scarlet and white "a jour" work and also inserted with white guipure. The long, basqued coat had a triple lace shoulder cape and was decorated with large button pastelles of white braid. The second was a practical trotteuse costume of blue alpaca. The plaited skirt came from a hip piece with a front panel fastened with tabs, which were piped with colored linen and decorated with little buttons. Buttons also decorated the plaits at intervals. The bolero had a pelerine collar and was trimmed also with strappings and small buttons. A high reinture of black taffeta finished a white blouse, worn beneath the bolero. The third was a dressy toilet in pasted mauve linon de soie. A broad entre deux of ecru filet lace crossed the shoulders, while panels of mauve taffeta trimmed with broderie anglaise down the skirt simulated a tunic.

The indications are that both skirts and coats for the autumn will be shorter. I should not be the least bit surprised if next summer we were wearing short, sprightly looking muslins, for the trailing frocks are already tinged with a savor of yesterday. The short muslins will be charming enough if they are not stiffened, but rendered springy instead by a stiffened petticoat. It seems inevitable that with short skirts should come also a firmer skirt line.

Parisians are at present much enamored of "liberty," a beautiful, soft, lustrous satin. I saw the other day in Paquin's a pale blue liberty frock with scroll ornaments of fine blond lace insertion on the skirt. It had elbow sleeves of blond lace and spotted net and creme guipure about the decolletage. Scrollwork has caught the fancy over here and it is carried out by lace or taffeta ruches. I saw a frock of double white chiffon, the scrollwork done in little frillings of inch wide valenciennes. The skirt was gathered around the waist with corded gaugings, and the little frills, repeated on the bodice, terminated each side of the front in wheel-like rosettes, with paste button centers. Another frock in very fine pink voile had four sweet little narrow ruches of taffeta of the same color running around the bottom of the skirt. The low bodice was bordered by three lines of the pink silk ruching, each line twirled round to form a loop at the top of the elbow sleeves. The ruche shares popularity with the wide tuck, set two or three at intervals around the skirt. The up to date skirt is gathered into the waist round the sides and back. The gathering need not be very full and the skirts may be "louded" at the base to make them full straight.

The dwarf sash is another feature of the frock. What running little things they are, these taffeta belts, with their clever little bows and short ends at the back! I saw a simple pale gray voile the other day, which owed the most of its charm to the dwarf sash and cravat, also a cunningly contrived thing of taffeta and panne pipings with lace. It had, however, a check key arrangement around the skirt and bodice and illustrated another feature of the gathered skirt, which of course must have its trimmings running round instead of lengthwise, to the distress of the suffering stout woman, against whom all fashions appear to militate at present. CATHERINE TALBOT.

Fashions in China.

Chinese ladies never rejoice in the dainty fashions of pretty cottons, as their European sisters do, but year in year out they are attired in silk, for cotton is of no account in the Celestial empire, being considered only fit for the coolies, who dress in it entirely.

Chinese dress does not call for any great ingenuity on the part of the makers, for in form it is always the same. A lady's first garment is a plain piece of silk fastened round the waist to form an apron, which lops over at the back. In the place of this poor women wear a sort of cotton "front," which covers the chest, but has no back. Next come the underjacket and the overjacket, the trousers, the apron and the foot gear. The last consists of bandages and tiny shoes for the "little footed" or a "cotton boot" and shoes of sensible size for the uncrippled peasant woman.

In cold weather the number of jackets worn is increased, the heaviest being outermost, which is padded and quilted or fur lined. For outdoor wear a sleeveless overjacket, known as a "front and back," is used.

The Sleeve Dog.

There is at present in Paris a tiny Chinese dog called Mei Ho. He is the property of a French lady, but formerly belonged to the Chinese imperial family. After the invasion of Peking the tiny spaniel was found bereft of his family. He is happy once again, for his mistress is devoted to him and carries him inside her wide coat sleeve, to the envy of her friends.

A Vienna Toilet

THIS pretty costume is in lavender silk voile, with incrustations of cream embroidery and drawn thread insertion. The bolero is made of box plaits stitched down. It has a scalloped collar and puffed sleeves of fine white lawn.

A Use For Long Lace Scarfs.

The old, long lace scarfs can be utilized beautifully for the new ruffle. This ruffle, or pelerine, is cut wide on the shoulders, forming almost a cape, the foundation being generally of taffeta or glace. On this is placed an edging of chenille or feather trimming; then comes another large, plaited ruffle of accordion plaited chiffon to tone with the taffeta, and over this a scarf of real lace, caught on both shoulders and at the waist with a fantastic clasp or buckle. The further addition of a soft colored ribbon tie may be added. Now this makes a really smart finish to a dainty summer gown. It is lightening touches of this sort that are such necessary additions to one's wardrobe.

Little Things Which Tell.

The woman who is careful to have her collar, tie, waistband and other trifles neat and to harmonize, and whose dress is always chosen with view to the work or pleasure which she has on hand, is generally a woman worth cultivating. She attracts by her smart and businesslike appearance in the first place, and then by her well ordered mind and business capacities. One is but the reflection of the other.

How to Utilize Oil Lamps to Best Advantage

THE oil lamp is used as well in the city as the country, partly on account of the ease with which it may be moved from place to place and stationed just where the light will best fall on the book or work in hand and partly on account of the quality of the light which a good oil burner gives and the opportunity it offers for delightful shades and soft, pleasing effects in colors and designs. It is well known that different colors affect both the eyes and the spirits. Red is said to be hurtful to the eyes, but the prettiest light in the world is that which comes softly though a crimson shade. It is so wonderfully cozy. When the wind howls outside and the rain patters against the windows, cheering is the influence of a rosate light, shed on table and furniture, just tinging the walls and touching the pictures, flushing with its pleasant glow lace curtains and dainty china and bric-a-brac and calling up delightful visions in spite of the weather. No light, it seems, could be more conducive to rest and reverie, to pleasing fancies or comfortable repose.

Next in the list of colors comes yellow—the deep, rich yellow of the daffodil, which will flood the room with a golden glory, fairly bring mirth and laughter to the conversation and impart an almost joyous brightness to the atmosphere. One could half close the eyes and imagine oneself reveling in a field of daffodils and sunshine.

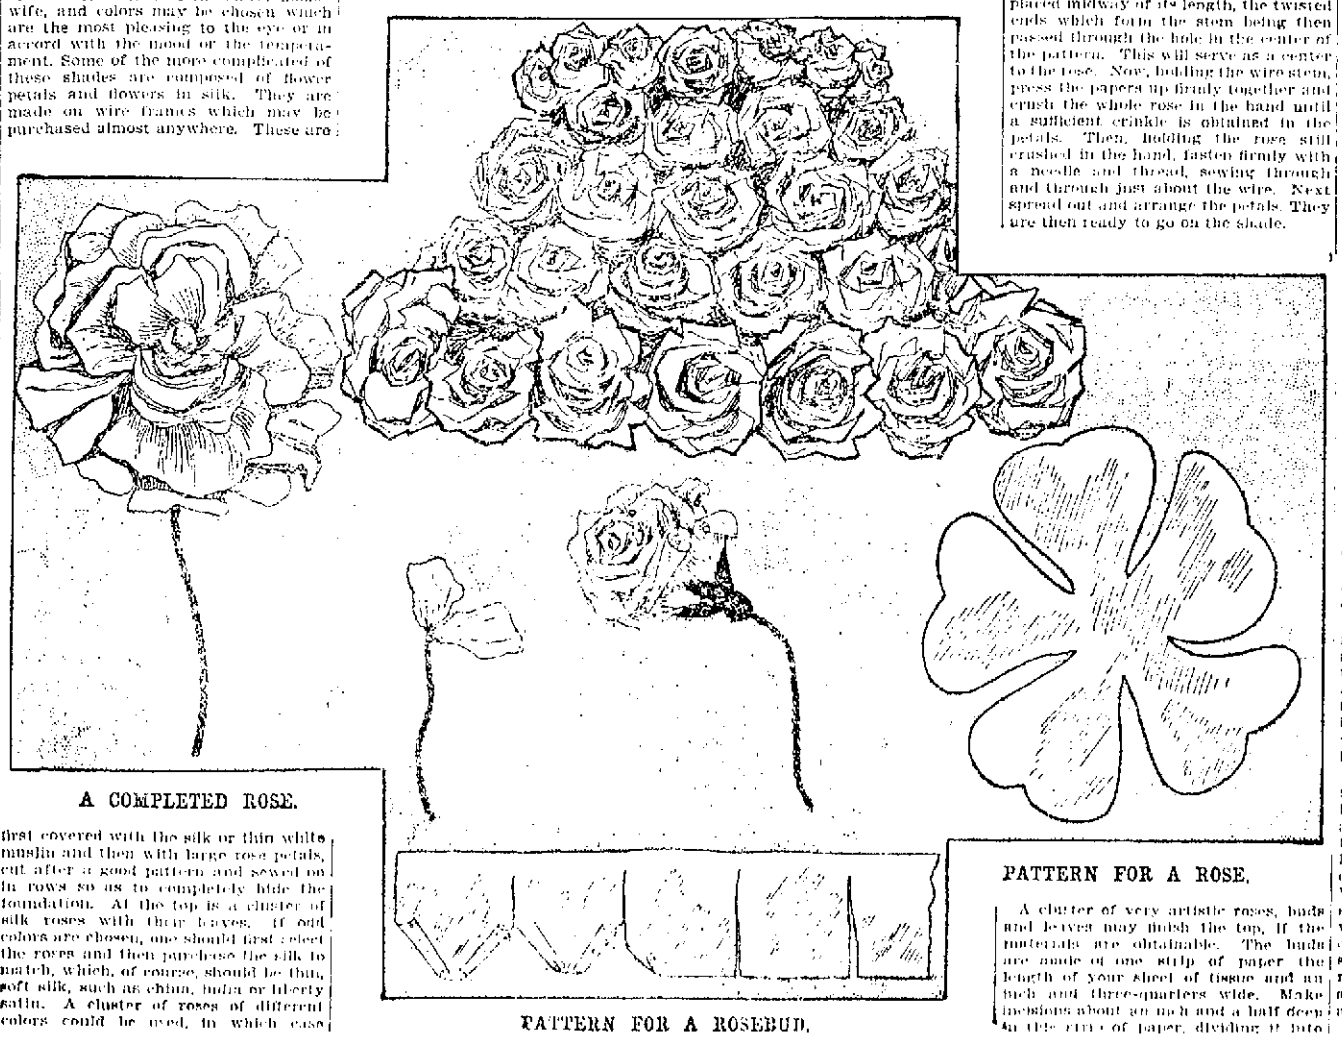
But the colors which are best for the eyesight are blue and green. As to blue, though some of the delicate tones are dainty and charming in themselves, yet somehow the light shed by a blue shade is cold and depressing. Delft is one of the prettiest things in blue, though I have seen most exquisite effects in other tones. One particularly dainty lamp I once noticed was a high, slender, vase shaped affair with a beautiful design in forgetmenots and slender renaissance scrolls in gold on a white background. The moon shaped globe was lavishly decorated with the same design. As a work of art it was simply lovely, and of course shed a pure white light.

Green, besides being restful and beneficial to the eyes and soothing to the system, makes a most pleasing light. A beautiful green lamp which I lately saw had a large globe on which was painted a rural scene. The bank of a stream, a meadow pathway, the green of the trees, the blue of the sky and the bright reddish brown of a peasant's dress made a picture one might never tire of gazing upon. The light coming through the colors gave the effect of a bright sunshine. You could really almost hear the water splash and the birds sing. To fall asleep gazing upon it would certainly mean to dream of brooks, trees, flowers and sunshine.

Each color has so many charms peculiarly its own that one might almost wish to have a number of shades to suit the various moods. And this would not be quite so expensive as may at first appear. Some of the best color effects are obtained by silk and paper shades, which can be easily constructed by the deft fingers of the clever housewife, and colors may be chosen which are the most pleasing to the eye or in accord with the mood or the temperament. Some of the more complicated of these shades are composed of flower petals and flowers in silk. They are made on wire frames which may be purchased almost anywhere. These are first covered with the silk or thin white muslin and then with large rose petals, cut after a good pattern and sewed on in rows so as to completely hide the foundation. At the top is a cluster of silk roses with their leaves. If odd colors are chosen, one should first select the roses and then purchase the silk to match, which, of course, should be thin, soft silk, such as china, India or liberty satin. A cluster of roses of different colors could be used, in which case none of them need be of the exact shade of the silk; but care must be taken to have them harmonize.

Most beautiful paper shades can be made in the same way. The foundation should be completely covered with roses in this case. For those who do not already know how to make these the accompanying illustration will be useful. The pattern given should be sketched on a piece of stiff paper and cut out carefully. It should be about four inches in diameter. The tissue paper should then be folded so as to cut six sets at once. The same design a size smaller, say three inches in diameter, should form the next six, and two inches in diameter for the inner petals. This will make eighteen rows of petals in all. Small wire, which may be bought for this purpose, must be pushed through a hole in the middle of these circular petal patterns to form the stem. The wire should be three or four inches long and should be twisted around a wisp of the tissue paper placed midway of its length, the twisted ends which form the stem being then passed through the hole in the center of the pattern. This will serve as a center to the rose. Now, holding the wire stem, press the papers up firmly together and crush the whole rose in the hand until a sufficient crinkle is obtained in the petals. Then, holding the rose still crushed in the hand, fasten firmly with a needle and thread, sewing through and through just about the wire. Next spread out and arrange the petals. They are then ready to go on the shade.

A ROSE LAMP SHADE.



A COMPLETED ROSE.

PATTERN FOR A ROSEBUD.

PATTERN FOR A ROSE.

A cluster of very artistic roses, buds and leaves may finish the top, if the materials are obtainable. The buds are made of one strip of paper the length of your sheet of tissue and an inch and three-quarters wide. Make incisions about an inch and a half deep in the side of paper, dividing it into square petals. Then curl the square corners by passing them between the thumb and the blade of the scissors. Fold this strip around the finger until it is in a bud shaped roll and fasten at the base with a needle and thread, the same as the rose. Thread the wire for the stem in a stout needle and sew it through the base of the bud. Fasten firmly by twisting it a number of times. It can then be wound with green paper or rubber stems, calyx and leaves can be purchased in any city. If necessary, bygone artificial roses may be rifled for the purpose. In this way a shade as artistic as any you could buy may be manufactured at home and makes really fascinating work besides. A strip of asbestus paper two or three inches deep should be placed inside the top of the shade to prevent it from being scorched and to avoid its catching fire.

Shades of plain gathered silk of any color, with a valance of delicate lace and a ribbon decoration, are also very pretty, while one often sees chenille and bead fringes in place of the lace. The light shining through a fringe of glass beads has a bright and pleasing effect. Japanese shades of rice paper, with their broad, artistic designs in rushes and flags, introducing just the right combination of greens, blues and yellows, with a dash of red, are very artistic.

I lately saw a globe shaped shade in heavy, dull green cathedral glass. It was an immense thing; about a foot and a half in diameter, set together like a stained glass window, with wrought iron bands and partitions. Covering one side of it was an immense glass spider, whose wrought iron legs extended far around the globe. His eyes were two disks of red glass an inch in diameter, protruding from a blue glass head, which, as well as his blue glass body, larger than the biggest tarantula, was hinged in a metal rim, and by this means raised somewhat from the globe. It had rather a creepy look about it, but I could imagine that when the light shone through it might have a very striking effect.

It may not be generally known that some of the most beautiful lamps we have are of domestic manufacture, and a number of them are no less expensive than some of the imported lamps. One large lamp, designed and made by an eastern firm, was purchased by Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) for the sum of $150. That lamp is decorated with a picture of the celebrated purchaser and is unique in finish and design. Some of the art pottery lamps made in this country are as costly as they are beautiful and as decorative as the choicest vases.

JEANNETTE WILHUP BATES.

A Cheap, Savory Entree.—Put a piece of butter the size of a walnut into a saucepan, slice a Spanish onion into it, and let it simmer for five minutes. Then cut a quarter of a pound of cheese into small pieces and put it in; pour in half a cupful of sweet milk and stir well till all is melted; add a little salt; beat up one egg and pour into the saucepan; stir well for two minutes, then serve.

Jelly Roll Cake.—Four eggs, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and vanilla. Bake on cake sheet and when done turn out on to a towel, bottom upward; spread with filling and roll. Filling. In the place of jelly this filling is very nice: One cup cocoa, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup milk, boil slowly until thick and spread over the cake while hot and roll tightly

Caldwell-Leander Race Declared a Draw

The Men Will Ride Again Tonight for a Double Purse—O'Brien Won Mile Handicap and Hollister Won Five Mile Open—Track Record Broken

Owing to the confusion caused by both Leander and Caldwell leaving their pace in the fourteenth mile of a fifteen-mile motor paced race at the coliseum last night and owing to the closeness of the contest and a disagreement among the judges as to which man won the race, the event was called a draw, and the purse of last night will stand and both men will meet at the coliseum tonight and fight the battle out, the winner to take the big end of last night's as well as tonight's purse.

This race proved to be the best of the season, and despite the fact that it was generally accorded that Caldwell would win, Leander gave him a great battle, the winner of the six-day race demonstrating to the giant from the hills of old New Hampshire that he carries an unlimited amount of speed up his sleeve which he lets out at different intervals.

While the crowd called for both Caldwell and Leander as the winner, it seemed to be perfectly satisfied with the decision of a draw, for it means that a battle royal will be held at the coliseum tonight when these two riders meet. If there ever was any rivalry between the two riders it was increased one hundred per cent. by the occurrence of last night and the patrons of the local coliseum ought to see the hottest and bitterest fought contest of the season tonight.

Both men felt confident that they won the race, and while Caldwell is of a much quieter manner than Leander, both riders got pretty hot. In the box office Caldwell informed Leander that he would never see the day that he could beat him, and to retaliate Leander told Caldwell that he had $150 and his diamond ring, which is a valuable one, to post as a forfeit against any man he would name that he could defeat Caldwell. With the men going on in such a manner as this it means a fine race for the local enthusiasts.

It was the intention of Manager Prince to have Wallbour, the winner of Thursday night's race, meet the winner of last night's race in a race tonight, but when the race was declared a tie word was wired to Wallbour not to come to Lowell tonight as Caldwell and Leander wished to have their race out.

The big race started about 9.30 o'clock, Caldwell being paced by Ruden on his "Monitor," while Hoffman furnished pace for Leander. Caldwell was picked as the winner by the people, but after they saw the ease with which Leander followed his pace and the manner in which he pedalled around the track a number of the Caldwell enthusiasts deserted the latter and favored Leander. To say the least the race was a pretty one and was well contested. While Caldwell had the advantage during the greater part of the race the men rode pretty evenly and in fact it was anybody's race up to the last mile.

Leander started on the home stretch and Caldwell on the back stretch. The first mile was a rather slow one, the time being 1.30, but just before the second mile was started the men got down to business and did it in 1.18 flat. The third mile was also turned out in the same time as the second. Caldwell had a little the better of the riding up to this time, but after the third mile Leander let himself out and started to gain on the big fellow. The race was then up and tuck, but in the seventh mile the riding got down to 1.23 which was about five seconds slower than they had been travelling before. In the eighth mile Caldwell had Leander by nearly half a lap, but Leander fought him off and started to pull away from his opponent. For a mile the winner of the six-day race kept gaining, but failed to get on even footing with Caldwell.

In the thirteenth mile Caldwell seemed to slow down and Leander immediately shot to the front and pedalled like a fiend, but on the next mile Caldwell had almost regained what ground he had lost.

On the first lap of the fifteenth mile Leander dropped his pace in front of the judges' stand, his reason for doing this being because he had ripped seven or eight spokes out of his front wheel on the eleventh mile and the noise of the broken spokes rattling against the fork sides of his wheel, and the fact that if any more went out his wheel might collapse and he might be killed, he dropped his pace and shouted for another wheel. In the meantime Caldwell passed Leander, but on the third lap of this mile Caldwell lost his pace and pandemonium reigned, the people in the grand stand shouting like fiends, each of the riders having his admirers. The majority of the people were with Leander owing to the fact that he had been a little behind Caldwell when both men left their pace and while both Caldwell and Leander regained their pace just before the pistol was fired for the end of the fifteen miles.

At the close of the race both men came around to the judges' stand to find out who was the winner, and when it was announced that it had not been settled Leander started in to explain, but his manager, Johnny Eckhardt, came to the rescue and there was so much wrangling on both sides that it was decided the only thing to do was to declare the race a draw and allow the men to have at it tonight.

AMATEUR RACES.

The amateur races proved to be of the fastest kind and exciting sprints and hard rides by the low marked men were seen. Owing to the fact that the last heats met with Hollister of Springfield and Acorn of New York were on hand everybody looked for good races, and they got just what they were looking for. It was the general impression that the local riders would not have a look in, but Mike O'Brien made one of the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed on the track.

The first amateur race on the program was the one mile handicap which was pulled off in three heats. In the first heat McKinnon of Easton was on scratch with Stoughton of Boston on 75 yards and Mike O'Brien on 60. O'Brien and the limit men tried hard to get away from the low marked men, but it was useless, the two low marked men working well together and they soon caught the field. At the seventh lap O'Brien went out to take pace and made a hot for his followers, but with one of the best, several having dropped out owing to the hot pace, and four to qualify they took it easy, and Stoughton crossed the tape first with McKinnon second, McKinnon third and O'Brien fourth.

The second heat found Bill Potter of Boston on scratch, McDonald of Somerville, Downey of Boston and Connors and Gayette being also in the heat on different marks. Bill Potter with the assistance of Downey and McDonald soon brought the field down, but in the sprint for the finish Potter and Gayette cut Connors wheel in it, Downey second, McDonald third and Gayette fourth.

The final heat was covered in the fast time by C. L. Hollister of Springfield who recently defeated Marcus Hurley, the crack amateur. Hollister was on scratch with Acorn and Fogarty on higher marks and four other riders in the heat. The three above named riders were so badly handicapped that the limit men decided to plug around the track and try and cut out the low marked men and they succeeded in doing this to a certain extent. It was not until the sixth lap had been covered that the low marked men caught the field and then Hollister playing for position took the pace and pulled the bunch in over the tape in two minutes, two and four-fifths seconds. Hollister was first with Eschelder second, Kearney third and Acorn fourth.

The final was hotly contested, there being twelve riders in line and the limit 125 yards. There was no letting in this heat, and it was interesting to watch the jockeying for position. The majority of the riders were waiting for the seventh lap to come to the front and take the pace preparatory to making the sprint for the tape, but wise Mike O'Brien on the sixth lap stole around the bunch and fought off the other riders who tried to pass him on that lap, and when the seventh lap had been half covered O'Brien unwound his gear and shooting away from the field plugged like a fiend and crossed the tape a winner. A blanket could have covered the first four men, they were so close. Cheer after cheer was given O'Brien for his victory, Gayette was second, Connors third and Hollister fourth. The time for this mile was 2.01.

The next event was the five-mile open with a prize at the end of every mile. There were sixteen starters and the riders were allowed two laps to get started. As was expected the out of town riders took all four prizes. It was a pretty race from the start. The first mile prize was won by Urquhart, and Matty Downey took the second, Gayette took the third. He also won the fourth, but was disqualified for accepting pace from Connors who dropped back a lap and was practically out of the race. The next men was Downey and the mile prize went to him.

Hollister won the race with McKinnon second, Stoughton third and Potter fourth.

One mile amateur handicap. First heat, won by Stoughton, Boston, 75 yards; Mahan, Ex yards, second; McKinnon, Boston, scratch, third; O'Brien, 60 yards, fourth. Time, 2.06 1-5.

Second heat, won by Connors, 50 yards; Downey, Boston, 75 yards, second; McDonald, Somerville, 75 yards, third; Gayette, 75 yards, fourth. Time, 2.29 2-5.

Third heat, won by Hollister, Springfield, scratch; Reichelder, 100 yards, second; Kearney, 125 yards, third; Acorn, New York city, 40 yards, fourth. Time, 2.02 4-5.

Final, won by O'Brien; Gayette, second; Connors, third; Hollister, fourth. Time, 2.01. Prizes, $20, $5, $10 and $5 in merchandise order.

Five mile open, lap race—Won by Hollister, Springfield; McKinnon, Boston, second; Stoughton, Boston, third; Potter, Boston, fourth.

Winners by miles—First Urquhart, Boston, second, Downey, Boston, third, Gayette, Lowell, fourth, Downey, Boston, fifth, Hollister, Springfield.

Gayette finished first but was disqualified.

Prizes, $25, $15, $10, $5 and $2 to winner of each of the first four miles.

CYCLE NEWS

The battle between Caldwell and Leander tonight will be a close and bitterly contested event. Both riders were out at the track this morning training hard in order to get into the pink of condition for tonight's battle. Manager Eckhart believes that his man, Leander, will demonstrate to the people his superiority over Caldwell, while on the other hand the big fellow is confident that he will be the winner.

On Labor Day night Patsey Keegan, the local plunger, and Jimmy Moran, the Chelsea milkman, will have it out on the local track. Both men are popular with race going people of this city and it is expected that there will be nothing but standing room on this night. The race will be for the Irish championship and as Keegan is riding in fine form he will give Moran the battle of his life.

Prove It Anytime

By the Evidence of Lowell People

The daily evidence citizens right here at home supply is proof sufficient to satisfy the greatest skeptic. No better proof can be had. Here is a case. Read it:

Mrs. Mary Enwright of 11 Cedar street says: "In the spring of 1898 I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store for my brother, who had considerable trouble from backache. The treatment did him a great deal of good. My mother also used Doan's Kidney Pills and the results were so satisfactory that she is never without the remedy in the house, to use in case of need."

Sold for 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

CANOBIE LAKE PARK.

The program at Canobie Lake Park the coming week is given by an organization well known to all patrons of the various summer theatres. This company is made up of some of the best colored specialty people in the profession and while their performance partakes of the nature of a minstrel show it is much better for these are genuine "coons" while minstrels are blackfaced.

These people give an entertainment in a perfectly natural and unaffected manner and retain all their characteristics and eccentricities of costume and manner. They are most amusing and interesting in the various plantation pastimes which they enact, and mirth and music are the principal features.

These artists are expert banjo players and their music is the signal for every one to sing, dance or join in the general funmaking. The old plantation melodies and the rag-time songs of the present, are pleasingly rendered. In those musical mellow tones that only southern people possess. The buck and wing dancing is an excellent feature of the performance and each tries to outdo the other in endurance and originality. Real "pickaninnies" are found in this aggregation and they ape their elders exactly.

Miss Katie McCabe and Miss Maud Thomas of Centralville will spend the next two weeks in northern New York. During their stay they will visit Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Edward C. Looney, clarinet soloist with the National band, leaves today for Burlington, Vt., where he will play with the Lawrence brass band, which accompanies Bethany commandery, Knights Templars, on their annual outing. Mr. Looney will return Tuesday.

The Misses Rogers of 175 Merrimack street are in New York to attend the fall millinery openings.

Miss Margaret Mahoney of Lewistown, Me., is visiting her brother, John J. Mahoney, of 244 Concord street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Lucas are in attendance at camp meeting at Framingham, Mass.

Defeating Concord in a Hot Contest

Hooker Pitched a Grand Game Against His Former Comrades —"Tommy" Burbage Made 3 Catches of the Sensational Kind —McCarthy Went to Pieces In One Inning—Crowd of 2500 Saw the Game

The Lowell-Concord game at Spalding Park today brought a big gathering despite the lowering clouds which momentarily threatened to put the game out of commission.

News was received early in the day to the effect that Pitcher Lew Cross' father died last night, necessitating his absence from the game for several days. Mattie Hickey, not being in shape to play, Tommy Burbage was assigned to right field while Hooker was put in to pitch. The crowd arrived early expecting an early start on account of the weather, but when Manager Lake went to look over the field he found only Long John Wiley on the field, the remainder of the Concord team having failed to appear.

"I'll play the team myself," said Wiley.

Shortly after three o'clock the Concords arrived and after a moment's practice Umpire Kerins called the game.

Two terrific flashes of lightning went across the grounds as the game was called.

The game was one of the finest exhibitions ever put up by the Lowell team. Although Concord gave a grand game, Lowell excelled and carried off the honors of the day. The score was 5 to 1 in favor of Lake's men.

Hooker, the old Concord pitcher, was in the points for Lowell, and his former comrades were able to make only six hits. Lowell made eight hits off McCarthy. The home team went through the game without an error, while only three misplays were charged up to Concord, and one went against McCarthy who was slow in handling a hit by Connors and afterwards fumbled it, allowing the men to reach first.

Tommy Burbage made three catches of the sensational kind and with Hooker was the popular player with the crowd.

McCarthy went to pieces in one inning and sent several men to first and forced in one run.

THE GAME IN DETAIL.

First Inning—Concord went to bat with Eustace, first man up. He struck out. Noblitt flied out to Bigbie. Kane struck out, and Lowell came in to bat. Hooker got a great reception as he went to the players' bench.

The crowd applauded Hafford as he went to bat for Lowell. He went out on strikes. Bigbie went out at first, Eustace to Carney. Burbage flied out to Newton.

Score: Concord 0, Lowell 0.

Second Inning—Pulsifer went out Hooker to Lake, his hit being an easy one to the Lowell pitcher. Carney too send a fly out one to Hooker and was out at first. Stewart was the next man to face Hooker, his old comrade on the Concord team. All he could do was to fly out to Merritt. Hooker got another great reception on his way in from the box.

Billy Merritt was Lowell's first man up in this inning. The crowd called to him to "ding it out." Two strikes were called on him, and then he lined out a pretty hit. Manager Lake was next up and while he was at the bat Merritt ventured too far off first and was put out by Carney. Then "Pop" Lake lined out a pretty two-bagger. Grant sent a fly to Eustace and Lake was held on second.

McLaughlin sent a liner to Eustace and Lake was caught between second and third.

Score—Concord 0, Lowell 0.

Third Inning—Newton came to bat and smiled as he faced Hooker. He sent a fly to Grant and was an easy out. The rain began to fall at this time but the play continued. Eaton sent a grounder to McLaughlin and Barnie threw the ball to Lake for an out. Play was resumed after 15 minutes' delay with McCarthy at the bat. He went out on strikes and Hooker got another hand and had to doff his cap.

"Billy" Connors was greeted with applause when he went to the plate. He was out Stewart to Carney and Hooker came to bat. The ex-Concord pitcher sent an easy one to Newton and was put out at first. Hafford was out Eustace to Carney.

Score—Concord 0, Lowell 0.

Fourth Inning—Burbage made a grand catch of Eustace's fly to right field and was given great applause. Noblitt made the first hit of the game for Concord. Hooker fanned out Kane, and Pulsifer was the next man up. After two strikes were called on Pulsifer, Noblitt started for second, but Pulsifer struck at the next ball and the side was out.

The first ball pitched to Bigbie was a bad one, then came a strike, and the third ball Bigbie drove at Eustace and was out at first. Tommy Burbage had two strikes and three balls called on him and then foul flied to Eaton.

Merritt was hit by a pitched ball and went to first. The crowd asked Lake to send out another two-bagger. He hit a grounder to Newton and Merritt was forced at second.

Score—Concord 0, Lowell 0.

Fifth Inning—Carney went out, Connors to Lake. Stewart was sent to first on balls, and it was Newton up. He singled to right and Stewart went to third. Eaton struck out, the second strike being on a foul. McCarthy made a single, scoring Stewart and sending Newton to third. Eustace came up with two men on bases. Two strikes were called on him and McCarthy started for second. Merritt sent the ball to McLaughlin and Newton started in from third.

"Barnie" made a pretty return and Merritt put out Newton at the plate.

For Lowell, Grant was out, Eustace to Carney. Two strikes and two balls were called on McLaughlin and then he went out, Eustace to Carney. "Billy" Conners made two fouls and then went out on a fly ball.

Score: Concord 1, Lowell 0.

Sixth Inning—Eustace flied out to Connors. Noblitt had three balls called on him and then went out, Conners to Lake.

Kane struck out. This made seven strike outs for Hooker.

"You're all right, Hooker," shouted the crowd when Hooker came to bat. He hit a grounder to Stewart and went out at first. Two balls were called on Hafford, and then the little third baseman struck out. Bigbie made a dandy single and went to first. Burbage got first base on balls. The crowd yelled like mad in an attempt to rattle the Concord pitcher when Merritt stepped to the plate. Merritt was sent to first, filling the bases, and Lake was at the bat with the bases filled. McCarthy sent Lake to first on balls, forcing home Bigbie, the bases still being filled. Grant sent one to Eustace, forcing out Merritt at third.

Score—Concord 1, Lowell 1.

Seventh Inning—Pulsifer opened up with a line drive over third that was good for two bases. Carney fouled out first and third balls pitched and it was two strikes and one ball on him. Then he sent a foul fly to Merritt and was out. Stewart went out, Hafford to Lake. Newton sent a hot one to Connors who made a pretty stop and sent the ball to Lake, catching Newton at first.

For Lowell, McLaughlin singled after two strikes were called on him. Connors sent one to McCarthy and beat the ball to first as the Concord pitcher was slow in handling the ball. Hooker advanced both men a base, with a nice sacrifice. Hafford hit to Eustace who tried to catch McLaughlin at the plate. He had time enough but instead of tagging "Barnie" as he should, he touched the plate and tried to get Hafford at first. Connors kept toward the plate and also scored, while Hafford was safe at first and later went to second. He scored on Bigbie's single and the latter went to second on Burbage's hit. Merritt singled and the bases were filled, with Lake at the bat and only one out. Lake flied out to Noblitt and Bigbie scored. Grant went out, McCarthy to Carney.

Score, Concord 1, Lowell 5.

Eighth Inning—Eaton was first man up for Concord and sent a fly to right field, which was captured by Burbage. Burbage made a dandy running catch, the third he made during the game, when McCarthy sent a long fly to right. Eustace was out, McLaughlin to Lake.

For Lowell, McLaughlin and Connors went out, Eustace to Conly. Hooker the third man up, hit to Stewart and was out at first.

Ninth inning—Noblitt opened with a two-bagger. Kane went out, McLaughlin to Lake. Pulsifer sent a long hit to center that Grant tried hard to get. Pulsifer got two bases on it, but Noblitt was held at third.

Carney flied out to McLaughlin and Burbage captured Stewart's high fly, and the game was ended.

WAR IN SIGHT

Turkish Troops Have Crossed Bulgarian Frontier

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, SEPT. 5.—A DISPATCH FROM CONSTANTINOPLE TODAY SAYS WAR IS IN SIGHT AND THAT IT IS RUMORED THAT TURKISH TROOPS HAVE ALREADY CROSSED THE BULGARIAN FRONTIER.

ULTIMATUM TO BULGARIA.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—A dispatch to the Tageblatt from Constantinople, dated today, says:

"War with Bulgaria is in sight. The council of war has recommended sending an ultimatum to Bulgaria but the sultan has decided to wait. It is rumored that Turkish troops have already crossed the Bulgarian frontier without a declaration of war.

"The members of the council of war were up all last night at the Yildiz Kiosk and designated Edhem Pasha as commander-in-chief.

"The Turkish press is printing inflammatory articles against Bulgaria."

POWERS MUST ACT

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE VERY SOON.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5. So threatening is the Macedonian situation that the powers are being forced to take action sooner than it had heretofore believed would be necessary. Before adopting any definite scheme for the pacification of the Balkans, it was intended to wait until the Czar's visit to Vienna, when the matter was to be discussed fully. Emperor Francis Joseph, it is now learned, brought the powers to a stage where a decision is about to be reached regarding the character of the intervention which should be adopted. While the proposed plans are not divulged it is authoritatively denied that the intervention contemplates the occupation of Macedonia by Russia and Austria. It is equally certain that the powers have no intention of acting so as to in any way encourage Bulgaria to declare war.

"You may reiterate," said a diplomat, who is participating in the negotiations to a representative of the Associated Press "that the powers continue to act in harmony. King Edward has given proof of the attitude of Great Britain by his declaration at Vienna that she will support the Austro-Russian policy. It is not true that Russia has entered into a secret alliance with Bulgaria. She is acting entirely above board and in perfect harmony with Austria, her desire being to maintain peace. Roumania is quiescent, but there is an element of doubt in Servia in consequence of the predominance of the military in that country. Unless quiet is restored in Macedonia, reforms cannot be instituted. Consequently negotiations between the powers are directed towards the restoration of order.

All the diplomatic advices received here agree that order prevails at Constantinople. The few marines landed there from the guard ships were merely for the purpose of placing sentinels at the embassies, as an extra precaution in consequence of the porte's warnings against insurgent plots. It is emphatically stated that the marines were not landed for the purpose of impressing the sultan and it is asserted here that the porte can be relied on to protect the embassies. But in case of riots at Constantinople, the guard ships will quietly land additional men to protect foreigners from harm.

D. G. Metaxas, the Greek minister to the Court of St. James, explains today the understanding arrived at between Turkey and Greece with reference to Macedonia and outlined the Greek view of the situation. He said:

"The attitude of Greece is entirely misunderstood. What my government desires is the re-establishment of peace in Macedonia. The large Greek population in that province is subjected to atrocities by the Bulgarian revolutionists. The Bulgarians are worse than the Bashi-Bazouks. They pose as liberators, but they really plan to raid Macedonia. Greece seeks the welfare of the whole Christian population."

MANCHESTER DEFEATED NASHUA

(Special to The Sun.)

MANCHESTER, Sept. 5.—Manchester and Nashua crossed bats here today and for four innings it was the prettiest kind of a contest, neither side being able to score and both pitchers doing effective work and using excellent judgment, Manchester broke the ice in the fifth and by some good stick work mixed in with a little dumb work on the part of the Nashua players, the Queen City team sent six men across the plate.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
MANCHESTER	0	0	0	0	6	2	1	0	X--9

FALL RIVER WON

(Special to The Sun.)

FALL RIVER, Sept. 5.—Fall River and Lawrence played a six inning game here today and the home team won by a score of 3 to 0.

The weather was threatening but there was a good attendance and the play was all that could be desired. The rain came down so hard after the sixth inning that play was called and the game went to Fall River.

HAVERHILL'S GAME

(Special to The Sun.)

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 5.—Haverhill and New Bedford played a fine game here today, Haverhill winning by a score of 2 to 0. The weather was threatening, but the crowd enjoyed the game all through.

BADLY WALLOPED

THE SUN PUTS ITS RIVALS IN A HOLE.

The paper across the way started a bulletin fight with The Sun, seeming to think that it could compete successfully with this paper. It made the most elaborate preparations to beat The Sun on the ball game this afternoon, but was never more deeply deposited in a large cavity than it was by the rapid work of The Sun bulletin service. Illustrated on a blackboard, as the returns came in, by The Sun's artist. The crowd in front of The Sun office obstructed the cars while the sidewalk across and both sides of Bridge street were packed with curious spectators reading The Sun bulletins. The Sun announced the close of the game fully five minutes before its competitors if such you could call the paper across the way.

The Sun after announcing the close of the game, also announced its seven o'clock edition and a few minutes later the megaphone man across the way bewildered and stupified, told the few to whom he had the privilege of talking that the game was over.

After collecting their scattered senses and realizing the terrible defeat sustained by them, the blackboards and the megaphone artists tore the telephone from the plank to which it was nailed and disappeared through a hole in the wall.

VESSEL WAS SUNK

Five Masted Schooner Wrecked

By Associated Press to The Sun

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Sept. 5—A half drowned black cat clinging to a foremast head was the only sign of life found by the New Shoreham life savers early today when they went to the spot about five miles southeast of the Southeast lighthouse, where a large five-masted schooner had foundered. It is believed that a collision occurred during the night. The fog was very dense all along the coast making it impossible to see any distance ahead of a vessel. Up to 1.30 o'clock this afternoon the life savers had not learned the name of the ill-fated craft, neither had they ascertained what became of the crew.

It was the opinion of some of them that the sailors had been rescued by the vessel with which the schooner collided, although it was admitted there was a strong possibility that some of the men went down with their ship.

The disaster became known here at 6 o'clock this morning, when Charles E. Wescott, second assistant keeper of the Southeast lighthsip, sighted the tops of several masts sticking out of the water above the cross-trees. The hull lay entirely submerged.

Captain Littlefield of the New Shoreham life saving station, was immediately notified by Mr. Wescott and a life boat was launched.

It was decided not to use the life boat, however, as Captain T. A. Dodge, with Assistant William Hooper, boarded the schooner Earl and Nettie, which was lying nearby and got her under way. The life savers went on board the schooner and sail was made for the scene of the wreck.

A small quantity of wreckage was sighted, but nothing by which the identity of the craft could be learned. When the projecting masts were approached, a black cat was observed perched on the fore-mast head. The cat was rescued in a half drowned condition.

The keel of the bowsprit had been cut in twain as though it had been struck a terrific blow and sent to the bottom in a few minutes. There was no sign of a body anywhere about and it was suggested that bodies might be found in the hull. The general opinion of the lifesavers, however, was that the vessel which had sunk the five masted had taken off part or all of the crew.

An unknown tramp steamer was observed to the westward this noon, and it was thought she might be the vessel which ran into the schooner.

The wreck lies directly in the path of navigation and will be dangerous, especially during thick weather and at night. It is thought the sunken craft was a coaler and was probably bound for Boston.

The life-savers were greatly assisted in their work of investigation by Capt. Dodge and Assistant Hooper, who are still at the scene, endeavoring to save as much as possible from the debris. The opinion of these men is that a report of the disaster will be made at some part within a day or two, unless the craft, which escaped, should be bound across the Atlantic, in which case ten days or more might elapse before a report is made. In the meantime efforts will be made here to determine the identity of the five-master.

FIDDLE AND DRUM

Unique Orchestra at Invitation Party

Joseph Guilloux, 38, was badly used up at an invitation party in Dracut Saturday evening. He was in police court today and his eyes were so badly swollen that he had to be escorted to the witness stand.

He was there to tell the court how it happened and the men whom he alleged were responsible for the battered condition of his face. Peter Labelle, George Rivers and John Sullivan, were in court.

D. J. Donahue appeared for the defendants and J. Joseph Hennessey for the Commonwealth.

Guilloux said it cost 25 cents to enjoy the evening's festivities but said it was not a pay party.

"Twenty five cents a head," he said, "was collected from the male attendants and the money went to pay the fiddler."

He said there was a drummer who received part of the money. The dancing music was very good, he said, a fiddle with drum accompaniment.

He didn't dance, but he enjoyed the music and talked with the girls and while thus engaged, the defendants entered the room, grabbed him, "pucked" him and kicked him. They pounded him unmercifully.

Complainant said he had taken three drinks of rum before leaving home but that he was not drunk. There was no beer or whiskey on tap at the dance and the affair was being pulled off under the most favorable auspices until he was assaulted. He said the assault was unprovoked and denied that he was attempting to pay court to a lady friend of one of the defendants.

Eight witnesses including the fiddler were sworn and a goodly number of the young ladies who joined in the dizzy waltz to the inspired tune of the fiddle, augmented by the little drum, were seated on the spectators' seat.

Wilfred Grenier, at whose house, 450 Lakeview avenue, the dance was held, said that the defendants went to the dance with the evident intention of making trouble.

Witness said one of the men struck him but he didn't know which one of the four delivered the blow. He said that Sullivan and Morin said they would clean out the house.

Joseph Laroux, the fiddler, said that when the row started he picked up his violin and left the house. He said he didn't want to get hurt himself or to have his violin damaged.

Several "acts" had been danced before the trouble started, he said, and the noise of the rumpus in the kitchen disturbed the soulful harmony of the fiddle and the drum.

Nothing but plain quadrilles appeared on the dance order and he said he did not play for the double-shuffle that the defendants danced on Guilloux's face.

Miss Prindler, one of the witnesses, said she saw the defendants knock the complainant down and jump on him. They kicked and pounded him unmercifully, she said.

She said she heard Labelle say, "We will have a picnic here tonight."

In reply to a question by Mr. Donahue witness said she struck Labelle over the head with her umbrella.

"You don't like him, do you?" asked Mr. Donahue.

"No, I don't like Labelle and I don't like the rest of them," said the witness.

"You went to hurt Labelle all you can, isn't that a fact?" said Mr. Donahue.

"I wish I could hurt him," she replied.

Peter Labelle was the first of the defendants to testify. He stigmatized the trouble at the dance as a "drunken row" and said that the woman who struck him on the head with the umbrella was intoxicated. He said that the complainant was selling liquor and that he bought two half pints from him.

He said the complainant was drunk. "He struck the girl with whom I was dancing and I pushed him. He fell face downward on the floor. I went to pick him up and carry him away so that the dancers wouldn't step on him. He didn't either hit or kick the complainant, he said.

John Sullivan, another of the defendants, said that he bought whiskey at the dance.

He did not strike the complainant, he said, and could not tell how the complainant got so badly used up. The trouble, he said, started in the kitchen. He heard some trouble about a half pint of whiskey that wasn't paid for.

George Rivers, the third defendant, also said that liquor was sold at the dance. He went there, he said, to accompany his mother and sister home. The fight was in progress, he said, when he arrived there. He denied that he struck at the complainant.

Rose Rivers, George Rivers' sister, said that she saw liquor sold at the dance by the complainant. "He struck me in the face," she said, "and Mr. Labelle pushed him. He was so drunk that he fell down. Mr. Labelle did not hit or kick him."

She said she had attended a dance a week ago at the same house and that on that occasion Mr. Law Guilloux selling liquor to the bottle.

After short arguments by Messrs. Donahue and Hennessey, Judge Hadley after a short analysis of the evidence, said while he believed the complainant invited the trouble the assault was not justified and he fined the defendants $1 each.

THE SHAMROCK III

Was Beaten Before She Left Home

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Considerable comment has been caused by a special dispatch from New York to the Daily Mail, declaring that a mistake in connection with Shamrock III's water line made her defeat a foregone conclusion. The correspondent says it is strange the error in the design was not discovered in time to "prevent the formation of the unwarranted hopes by which Sir Thomas Lipton had been deceived," and intimates that some one blundered inexcusably.

The friends of Sir Thomas in London are much exercised, declare they are quite able to see how the water line mistake occurred and hope an explanation will be forthcoming.

BAD COLLISION

Electric Car Struck a Hose Wagon

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—At least a dozen persons, nine of them firemen, were seriously injured in a collision between a hose cart and a trolley car in Brooklyn today.

An alarm sounded from Plymouth and Bridge streets. The firemen, in order to reach the scene, had to cross the tracks leading to Brooklyn bridge. An open car bearing thirty passengers, two thirds of whom were women, was approaching rapidly. The fire engine crossed ahead of the car, but the hose cart, close behind, was struck and overturned.

Charles Yetter, the driver; William Woolsey and Richard E. Eck, were hurled from the cart with such force that they lay unconscious. Lieut. Groves, who is in command; Herbert S. Martin, William O'Connell, George Coleman and another fireman, were caught under the cart. The passengers in the car were thrown from their seats and nearly all hurt. The woman shrieked and jumped or fell to the street. A big crowd gathered and the injured firemen were carried back to their quarters. The motorman disappeared during the excitement.

FATALLY INJURED

Women Were Thrown Out of Wagon

By Associated Press to The Sun

ORANGE, Mass., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Albert Hanson, a resident of Chestnut Hill, a remote point, about three miles southwest of Orange, is dead and three other women severely injured as the result of a runaway yesterday. The four women started from Mrs. Hanson's farm at Chestnut Hill for a drive to Orange. When going down the long hill, some part of the harness gave way, causing the horse to run wildly half a mile, throwing out the four occupants. They were Mrs. Hanson, her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Robbins, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Avery.

Mrs. Hanson was taken into McGuliss farm house, where she died five hours after the accident, from internal injuries. Mrs. Robbins was not very badly injured. Mrs. Avery's left arm was broken and Mrs. Davis, it is feared, has a fractured hip and as she is nearly 70 years old, it is feared her injuries will prove serious.

THE SUN LATEST 5 O'CLOCK

LABOR DAY

Big Demonstration Will be Held in Lowell

Parade in the Morning Leading Feature—Sports Will be Held on South Common — Speeches by Local and Out-of-Town Men

Just one thing is needed to make the coming labor holiday the greatest in local history and that we must sit and hope for as poor mortality has no control over atmospheric conditions and good weather is essential to all celebrations held in the open.

But granted a fine day, the labor unions of Lowell will show the public the grandest labor holiday in history despite the delays and contrary influences with which they had to contend at the outset. All difficulties and obstacles that tended to throw cold water on the celebration idea have been overcome and a program that cannot be excelled by the unions of any city in New England will be given the public on next Monday.

This has been a memorable year for organized labor in Lowell and for that reason organized labor has worked harder than ever for its Labor Day observance and had it not been for organized labor in the first place, labor in general never would have been honored with this great national annual holiday.

After coming successfully out of a severe coal famine, the result of labor troubles elsewhere, the people of Lowell were plunged into the throes of the greatest textile strike in the history of the city, lasting three months. The strike was looked upon by those with whom the wish was father to the thought, as the death blow to unionism among the textile crafts. Yet when 13 weeks had passed and the mills had reopened none was found who had starved, while the membership rolls of the various textile unions showed more names of members in good standing than ever before, and instead of being the death blow to the unions it was in reality the impetus for increased membership.

Then the different unions, happy and proud of their ability to survive unprecedented misfortune, set about to make the next labor holiday the greatest ever held, and they asked an appropriation of the city council. They were granted the usual $1000, but to their surprise and disappointment His Honor Mayor Howe disapproved the order and refused to allow the appropriation to be made. The mayor's action caused considerable delay, for it was necessary for the city council to act upon the veto, but finally the appropriation was passed over the veto by an almost unanimous vote.

With an appropriation granted the Trades & Labor council and the Textile Council set to work to arrange the program believing that the last obstacle in the path had been removed. But they were doomed to have one more disappointment and that was when the park commission refused to allow the unions to let lots for booths on the South common, in violation of a time-honored custom. This action, while it robs the unions of one of its prominent sources of revenue was not sufficient to detract one iota from the elaborateness of the program and the committees in charge of the arrangements now take pleasure in presenting a program that will excell any ever before offered here.

The day's observance will open with one of the largest street parades ever held in Lowell. Twenty-five unions will be represented and every band and drum corps in Lowell will be in line. The insurance agents union and the Street Railway Employes Union will make their first appearance in line. The parade will start at the South common, be reviewed by the city council at city hall and dismissed at the starting point after a tour of the principal streets, the route of procession being published elsewhere. Many of the unions will appear in uniform but owing to the great strain on the treasuries of some of the unions during the recent strike some of the unions have decided not to go to the expense of procuring uniforms this year though all will appear in line.

In the afternoon there will be a band concert and a fine list of sports on the South common. In the evening a grand labor rally will be held and a band concert given on the South common. The speakers at the rally will be Daniel J. Donahue, Edward D. McVey., J. Bert Williams of the Painters' union and Dennis Healey of the Leatherworkers' union. By Associated Press to The Sun

LAWRENCE, Sept. 5—Charles Newton, employed by Isaac C. Brown of Methuen, was killed by being thrown from a heavy wagon yesterday afternoon.

In turning from a watering trough at the corner of Berkeley and Jackson streets one of the wheels of the wagon struck the fountain and Newton was thrown from a high seat on the wagon. He struck one of the horses and being kicked by the animal was thrown under one of the wheels and run over.

He was removed to the general hospital, but died soon after arriving there from internal injuries.

Newton was aged about 40, and had been employed by Brown as a driver of heavy teams for nearly 15 years. He was born in New Hampshire and has a mother and three sisters living in Manchester, where the body will be taken for burial.

If you have dyspepsia
If you have any stomach ailment
If you can't sleep
If you are nervous
If you are all run down
If your blood is thin
If you have catarrh

Get a bottle of Munyon's Paw Paw and you will begin to improve from the first dose.

DENNIS WALSH,

Cured of nervousness and indigestion: Prof. Munyon.

Dear Sir:—I was completely run down and weakened from loss of sleep and worry; could not eat my food with any relish and what I did eat seemed to do me no good. I lost all my ambition and took no interest in life. I have tried many different remedies with little benefit, but one dose of your Paw Paw seemed to awaken me and I am now taking it with great benefit to my general health and sincerely bless the name of Munyon.

Yours,
(Signed) DENNIS WALSH,
No. 1, Front St., Lowell, Mass.

I don't believe, says Prof. Munyon, that a better remedy for the blood and liver was ever compounded. I have seen sluggish livers that had refused to act under the usual treatments respond in a most marvelous way by the use of Paw Paw.

Paw Paw seems to digest everything it touches, hence it makes good, rich blood which in turn strengthens and vitalizes the whole nervous system.

I want all persons who suffer with dyspepsia or nervous trouble to cast away all other remedies and to give Paw Paw a fair trial. I want every weak and debilitated person to get a bottle of Paw Paw at once and take it according to directions.

I know it will make old folks feel young and weak folks feel strong.

I want every person who feels they are in need of a tonic to drop the use of alcoholic drinks of all kinds and take Paw Paw in its place. People don't crave for stimulants when the stomach and nerves are in a healthful condition. Munyon's Paw Paw gives exhilaration without intoxication.

Alcoholic stimulants lift, but let you fall.

Paw Paw lifts and holds you.

Every druggist in Lowell sells it or can obtain it for you. Price $1 per (pint) bottle. Paw Paw pills 25c a bottle.

PANIC ON A CAR

Women Were Badly Scared by Flames

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5—A small panic was caused yesterday afternoon on an inward bound East Walpole car on Washington street, Forest Hills, by the burning out of the controller. As usual, there were those who jumped, to their own injury. While some were shaken up and somewhat bruised, Mrs. Winfield L. Jacobs and Miss Della O'Donnell, both of Dedham, had to be taken home in carriages after having been attended by a physician.

The car was filled with passengers, most of whom were women, Motorman James Pettes and Conductor James Sheeny. All went well until the car reached 3581 Washington street after swinging under the railroad bridge to go into Forest Hills square. Then with a suddenness that took the passengers' breath away and a flame that brightened them to a point of terror, the controller burned out. Instantly there was a wild scramble on the part of some to jump from the car. Cooler heads prevailed in many cases, but some were unable to control their fear and leaped.

While the injuries were mostly confined to slight bruises, it was found that Mrs. Jacobs and Miss O'Donnell were seriously hurt. Mrs. Jacobs sustained a fracture of the ankle and Miss O'Donnell was badly shaken up, besides receiving severe injuries.

Has Had More Experience in the Treatment, and Made More Great Cures of Difficult, Protracted and Chronic Diseases and Weaknesses of Men Than Any Other Living Specialist

Dr. Lougest's treatment has been tested on more than twenty thousand (20,000) young, middle-aged and old men, who, as the results of errors or excesses, were tortured by the woes of nervous debility or decay. It has never yet failed, even in the worst cases, to bring back manly power, remove every trace or symptom of weakness, build up the physical and mental health, and prepare man anew for the duties and pleasures of both married and single life.

Lost Manhood, seminal weakness, effects of youthful indiscretions, nervous debility, pimples and blotches, hair falling out, loss of memory and energy, impotence, rheumatic pains, discharges and all private diseases quickly and permanently cured by an original and never-failing treatment. Blood poison, ulcers, stricture, varicocele and diseases of the kidneys, bladder and blood cured in the shortest possible time, without the use of mercury or hindrance from business. Dr. Lougest's treatment for the complete cure of Stricture and all unnatural discharges is the most wonderful of modern times. No matter how long the discharges have continued nor how many self-styled specialists have failed to relieve, let alone cure, Dr. Lougest will positively guarantee to stop the discharge entirely within (3) three days by means of his New Method Treatment. This treatment removes Stricture, positively without pain, detention from business or the use of obnoxious or injurious medicines. No Experiment! No Failure! Nine-tenths of all the long standing discharges, strictures and weaknesses of men are caused by the experiments of the many inexperienced and self-styled specialists of the present day.

Many a man who has been fooled by the "Pay When Cured" racket, knows that it is the last and only resort of a dying-out pretender to get a patient into his clutches. Beware of such schemes. Don't be deceived by misleading statements such as these seemingly charitable offers.

Don't entrust your lives to anyone not qualified by years of experience to treat you. Don't even step your foot across the threshold of an office run by inexperienced, irresponsible, illiterate pretenders. You had better save your money and let your disease take its own course than be practised and experimented upon and in the end lose both your money and life.

Dr. Lougest's offices occupy the entire building of five floors at 313 Columbus avenue, and they are supplied with every known means and device that science, skill, knowledge and money can provide that will aid in determining the exact location and nature of these diseases and effecting their cure promptly and thoroughly, and by the same sure methods as are used in the most Celebrated Paris Hospitals, which invariably result in

To Abate Bad Conditions in Pawtucketville

White Street Sewer Will be Extended in Bed of River to Point Below Moody St. Bridge —Loan of $25,000 Asked

The sewer committee at its meeting last evening turned its attention to the sewerage system in Pawtucketville and took steps to abate a nuisance which has existed there for some time.

The committee voted to recommend the introduction of a loan of $25,000 for sewer construction at the next meeting of the board of aldermen and in the event of its passage to lay a sewer in the bed of the Merrimack river from the foot of White street in Pawtucketville, where the present sewer empties, to a point below the Moody street bridge, where the water is flowing continuously.

The White street sewer is the basin of the sewerage of all Pawtucketville. When the river is low the contents of the sewer remains on the rocks in the bed of the river, filling the neighborhood with a nauseating odor until water comes again to relieve conditions. The committee visited the place a week ago and was convinced of the necessity of an immediate change.

After their visit the committee voted that the city engineer be instructed to communicate with the proprietors of the Locks and Canals with regard to laying a sewer under the river bed and the following letter from Engineer Mills which was received from him in reply to this communication was read at yesterday's meeting:

George Bowers, Esq., city engineer.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of Aug. 11 stating that the committee on sewers desire you to obtain from the proprietors of the Locks and Canals a permit to build and maintain a sewer in the bed of the Merrimack river from the mouth of White street to the low water mark below Moody street bridge.

If the sewer is built so as not to obstruct the flow of water in the river under the present or any future conditions and the city will agree that the proprietors of the Locks and Canals shall not be put to any additional expense on account of its construction or of maintaining it, and in case the proprietors desired to make any change in the river they would be free to make changes as if the sewer did not exist, and will have a paper made out to this effect and including as well as you conveniently can a description of what you desire to do I have no doubt the proprietors will join the city in executing the agreement.

Respectfully yours,

HIRAM F. MILLS,
Engineer P. L. & C.

Engineer Bowers, who was asked at the last meeting to give estimates on the cost of repairing and lowering the sewer in Central street, between the junction of Crosby and Davis square, reported that it would require about $450. Other estimates he gave us follows: Inland street sewer $1875. Parker street sewer $427. Jenness street sewer $861; total $3011. This work, it is expected, will also be done out of the proposed loan of $25,000.

Sewer work is about completed and unless the $25,000 loan passes immediately a complete shutdown of the sewer department will follow. All work voted is about completed. On Thursday afternoon 75 men were laid off and 120 more will go off today.

TO THE COURTS

MEAT CUTTERS MAY CARRY THEIR TROUBLES.

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—U. S. courts may be asked to take a hand in the trouble between the big packing companies and the unions of their employes, owing to alleged discrimination against independent retail butchers in different sections of the country, according to a statement made yesterday by Michael Donnelly, general organizer for the Amalgamated meat cutters and butcher workmen of America.

The promised legal contest will center in Chicago. Developments impending are the outgrowth of strikes of retail market butchers, called last spring in Rochester, N. Y., and San Francisco, to enforce demands for increased wages and an adjustment of working conditions.

The strikes were followed by lockouts declared by the Retail Butchers' Protective association, and it is alleged that a conspiracy was entered into between the big packing companies and the retail association to prevent the sale of meats and provisions to non-members of the association.

THE LEGATIONS

THE PORTE CANNOT GUARANTEE THEIR SAFETY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—The Turkish government, according to information received from the foreign office here by The Associated Press has notified the powers that the porte cannot guarantee the safety of the legations at Constantinople.

This extraordinary statement was communicated without explanation or qualifying details, in response to an inquiry as to whether German marines were among those United States Minister Leishman reported as having been landed at Constantinople.

It is inferred here, however, that the conditions at the Turkish capital are not so bad as the sultan's notification would imply but that the legations have been warned to look out for their own safety, the porte disclaiming in advance responsibility for any disorderly act.

The foreign office officials added that the German embassy at Constantinople had not reported whether German marines had been landed nor whether marines of any other power had been landed. Complete official reserve is maintained on this point. The Associated Press correspondent learned from sources outside the foreign office that the German government regards Turko-Balkan affairs as having entered on an acute phase. The porte's inability to take energetic hold of the Macedonian insurrection is the worst feature of the situation.

The apparent weakness of the Turkish government is due largely to its long deference to the powers and to the division in the councils within the palace which is regarded here as justifying the view that Turkey is incapable of pre-arranging order in her European provinces unless she is allowed an absolutely free hand to deal with the insurgents as she pleases. Pressure is being brought to bear on Russia and Austria on this point as a continuance of the crisis, it is asserted, can only result in the drifting of the powers and porte alike toward fresh dangers.

HONANG IS HELD

British Subject Was Not Allowed to Land

HE WAS BORN OF CHINESE PARENTS

Wants to See the United States

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.Sum Honang, a British subject, who is said to be one of the wealthiest residents of the Island of Demarara, is held aboard the steamship Grenada, of the Trinidad line, and denied a landing in this country by the immigration inspectors, on the ground that it would be a violation of the Chinese exclusion act.

Honang, who owns one of the largest cocoa plantations on the island, decided a few weeks ago that he would take a trip through the United States and Europe. Letters of introduction to prominent and wealthy persons all over the world were forwarded by his correspondents, and he set out on his voyage.

Honang never had been in China. He was born in Demarara of Chinese parents. They were both British subjects, so that the Chinese exclusion act did not figure in his plans.

When the ship reached her dock at Long Island City, the immigration inspectors held up the traveler, who finally called upon friends in New York for aid. The inspectors would not release him, however, and the papers, together with Honang's passports were forwarded to the authorities at Washington.

The vessel soon will be ready for her return passage and it is a question whether the planter will be landed on Ellis Island pending the decision of the Washington authorities, or whether the captain of the Grenada who is responsible for his passenger, under the terms of the exclusion act, will have to take him back to Demarara.

FOR STREET WORK

Committee Discussed Petitions Last Night

The street committee, with all its members present, held a meeting at city hall, last evening, and went through considerable business, Alderman Derby in the chair.

The petition for tar macadam on Hampshire street was taken up and promptly laid on the table.

The petition of David M. Caddell for edgestones in Otis street was considered and it was voted to grant a hearing and to take a view of the place.

Joseph Bamford, with a petition for sidewalk in Main street, was granted a view and hearing.

A long list of remonstrants to the placing of edgestones in Jenness street was then read, but it was the opinion of the committee that action on the matter had already been taken. On motion of Mr. Roche petitioners were given leave to withdraw.

The petitions that Georgia avenue and Bertram street be laid out and accepted were signed by the committee. The petition of George W. Marshall, for compensation for damages to property in Parker street, was referred to the committee on claims.

Favorable action was taken on the petition of R. J. Gilmore for edgestones on Jenness street, between Chelmsford and Stevens streets.

Councilman Fontaine called attention to the fact that while the residents of Sarah avenue, in Pawtucketville, had put the street to grade in front of their property the water board had done nothing to that portion of the street fronting on their land. He thought that such action was unfair to the other abutters and moved that the remainder of the street be put to grade. The motion passed.

Supt. Beals said that the water board could not be compelled to put their portion of the avenue to grade, and Mr. Bowers offered the suggestion that a subcommittee of three members be appointed by the chairman to confer with the water board. Mr. Fontaine consented to withdraw his motion and to substitute in its stead the motion that subcommittees of three be appointed to talk over the matter of grade of the street, with the water board. It was so voted.

Chairman Derby appointed Alderman Molloy and Councilman Reardon and Fontaine to act on the subcommittee.

It was voted on motion of Councilman Fontaine that a view be taken of certain portions of Gorham street for the repair of which a loan of $650 has been asked.

Mr. Roche said the full report on Bridge street would be ready for the next meeting and Mr. Molloy said a report on Summer street would also be in shape to present to the committee at the same time.

After an explanation by Supt. Beals of the difficulty he was having with a ledge of School street, at the rear of the Lowell Gas company's works, it was voted to view the ledge when the committee makes its next tour.

12,000 EMPLOYES

Will be Idle in Fall River

MILLS WILL CURTAIL FOR ONE WEEK

Improvement in Situation is Expected Soon

By Associated Press to The Sun

FALL RIVER, Sept. 5.—Commencing Monday morning and continuing for one week, not less than 1,300,000 spindles, about one-third of the entire number in this city, will be idle. This is the largest number ever before affected under similar conditions, and it is confidently expected that the week will mark the beginning of the end of the present depression in cotton manufacturing.

A great many of the factories are approaching the limit of their stock of the raw material, but indications are such as to warrant the belief that the new crop will be moved before the 25,000 bales estimated to be on hand are consumed. The outlook, too, for increased demand for the finished product and for the cloth in the gray is encouraging, so much so that better prices will undoubtedly be the rule in the near future.

The period of idleness causes no dissatisfaction either on the part of the mill owners or the operatives, because of the certainty of better times coming. The commercial interests of the city have necessarily suffered because of the fact that the idle operatives found it prudent to curtail their expenditures; still, business is done without apparent interruption, and there is no suffering, so far as known, among the idle hands.

After next week several mills now engaged in making extensive repairs will continue closed, notably the Stafford, Cornell, Luther and Ancona. Others will continue to feel the pinch of the high price of cotton, and will be forced to shut down for a few weeks longer or pay the price demanded by the bullish market. The following are the mills to be closed for the week:

Tecumseh, Laurel Lake, King Philip, Stafford, Cornell, Ancona, Luther, Merchants, Linen, Chace, Mechanics, Sagamore, Union, Weetamoe, Barnaby, Barnard, Osborne No. 1, and possibly the Border City. There will be out of employment during the week about 12,000 operatives, who will lose in round numbers about $84,000 in wages.

Young girls at this period of life, or their mothers, are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; all such letters are strictly confidential; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; and her advice is freely and cheerfully given.

EF. School days are danger days for American girls.

Often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality. Sometimes it is never recovered.

Perhaps they are not over-careful about keeping their feet dry; through carelessness in this respect the monthly sickness is usually rendered very severe.

Then begin ailments which should be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, a tendency to avoid the society of others, are symptoms all indicating that woman's arch-enemy is at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many a young girl over this critical period. With it they have gone through their trials with courage and safety. With its proper use the young girl is safe from the peculiar dangers of school years and prepared for hearty womanhood.

A Young Chicago Girl "Studied Too Hard."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more.—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill."

"Miss Pratt Unable to Attend School."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life.

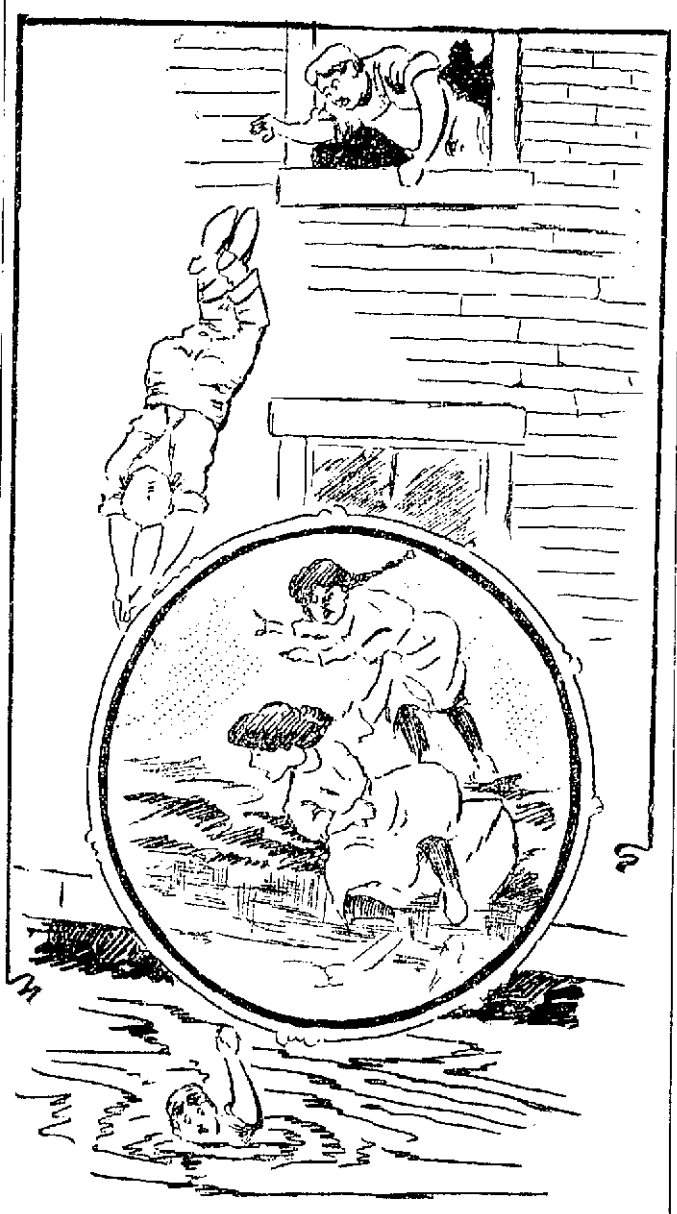
HEROIC RESCUE



THE HEROIC RESCUE BY PATRICK H. RYAN.

Patrick H. Ryan Plunged Into the Canal

Nine year old Mary Beecher, daughter of Patrick and Mary, was the victim of a sad drowning accident late yesterday afternoon. The affair came near being a double fatality, and was averted by the presence of mind and bravery displayed by Patrick H. Ryan, junior member of the firm of John Ryan & Co., proprietors of the Union Brass Foundry in Worthen street. The Beecher girl lost her life in the Suffolk canal, owing to a portion of the banking crumbling away and while attempting to save herself she pulled her companion, Isabel Talbot, into the water. Mr. Ryan dove from a second story window and saved the Talbot girl.

The two little girls had been picking flowers along the bank of the canal in the rear of the Sawyer Carriage Co.'s works in Worthen street. After getting tired of picking flowers Isabel Talbot told the Beecher girl that she was going home and asked her to go home too. The Beecher girl replied that she was going to bathe her feet before going and so saying sat down on the bank and allowed her feet to paddle in the water.

The little Talbot girl was rather timid and hesitated for awhile before making up her mind what to do. She was standing directly behind the Beecher girl when the earth under the rock on which the latter was sitting started to give away and before either of the little girls were aware what had happened the Beecher girl was precipitated into the water. In an attempt to save herself the Beecher girl pulled the little Talbot girl in with her.

SANK IN THE WATER.

Both children sank to a considerable depth and the Talbot girl came to the surface a few feet from where she fell in while the Beecher girl had got into a stronger current and was rapidly whirled down the stream. The current carried the latter down to a point near the Union Brass Foundry. When both children came to the surface they cried loudly for help.

At the time of the cries Patrick H. Ryan was standing at a sink in the second story of the building, washed his hands preparatory to going home, and hearing the cries of the children he looked out of the window. He saw one little girl struggling in the water, and without the least hesitation, he dove through the window and struck the water a distance of about forty feet. When he came to the surface he was near the Talbot girl and he managed to grab her by the hair just as she was going down for the third time.

At the same time that Mr. Ryan dove out of the building, John Riley, an employe of the foundry, jumped into the water from another window, having seen the little girl from where he was working.

He was close behind the hero of the occasion when the child was rescued. The Beecher girl was not seen again after she fell into the stream and it is thought that her clothes got caught in something that was projecting from the wall of the canal. Mr. Riley swam about the canal when he learned that another child had fallen in but he could find no trace of her.

The child that was rescued was completely exhausted when assistance came to her and Mr. Ryan and others who were quickly on the scene, worked over her for several minutes before restoring her to consciousness.

She was then removed to her home in Suffolk street.

The child who was drowned was the daughter of Patrick and Mary Beecher and resided at 99 Suffolk street. Besides her parents she is survived by two brothers, James, aged 5, and John, aged 1 year, and two sisters, Nellie, aged 11, and Kittie, aged 4.

Isabel Talbot is the daughter of Edward and Vitaline and resides at 189 Suffolk street.

Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons were notified and at six o'clock the water was drawn off and a search of the bottom of the canal was made, in an effort to locate the body. Shortly before two o'clock the body was located and removed to the warerooms of Undertaker O'Donnell at the corner of Market and Worthen streets.

Mr. Ryan who proved himself to be a hero is deserving of much praise. His timely action and his disregard of the danger he took in making his heroic leap has won for him the admiration of everyone who has heard of the deed. It should command the recognition of the Massachusetts Humane society.

By Associated Press to The Sun

LYNN, Sept. 5.—Clarence D. Bell, a young man from South Framingham, was arrested in this city yesterday afternoon by Police Inspectors Wells and Colby, charged with the larceny of a sum of money from L. A. May, a stove dealer on Central avenue. Bell had been at work in the store and was sent out to collect some bills. It is claimed by Mr. May that amount secured, which will amount to about $8 or $10, was not turned in.

Bell is the man who a short time ago figured in a runaway match with Miss Gertrude Dupree of South Framingham. They were found in Lynn by the police, and he claimed they were man and wife. Miss Dupree, however, has returned to Framingham with her father, who came after her and Bell has since been making his home in this city.

W. T. S. Bartlett's store will be open until noon Monday.

FORTY DAYS' FAST

BROOKLYN MAN WILL MAKE THE ATTEMPT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—For purely scientific purposes Stepney G. Playstead of Brooklyn is attempting to fast for forty days. He declares he has already accomplished two weeks of that time and after an examination by physicians has been pronounced to be in excellent condition.

Playstead went without eating for nearly three weeks once before, living during that time, he says, on nothing more than water. His present fast is to demonstrate that a man living on one and a half pints of water or less a day, can retain all his physical strength and mental forces and be able to go about his work in the usual way.

He is a press builder. His work is of the most laborious nature and he always has been a hearty eater. Since beginning his fast, however, he has lost considerable weight.

A fine list of sports is being run off, the events being as follows: Base ball game, half mile run, three standing jumps, broad jump, Gaelic hurling match, Gaelic football game, hop, step and jump, putting the shot, 100 yards dash for members, 100 yards dash for ladies, 50 yards dash for boys under 14 years of age, and 50 yards dash for girls under fourteen years of age.

During the afternoon a fine concert was given by the Fifth regiment, I. V., band.

During the evening dancing will be held, and music will be furnished by the Middlesex orchestra.

Michael Wrenn is the general manager of the affair and the floor director is Edward Conners, and John E. Lowney is chairman of the reception committee. The above named gentlemen are assisted by a bustling and competent corps of aids. Cars will leave the park for this city on the return trip at ten o'clock tonight.

SCHOONER SANK

IT COLLIDED WITH SOME UNKNOWN CRAFT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Sept. 5—Probably from a collision with some unknown craft during the dense fog last night, a large four masted schooner, name not known, sank early this morning when about five miles southeast of the South East lighthouse on this island.

Her cross-trees stand out of the water and she is a dangerous menace to navigation. At daylight no trace of her crew could be found.

The schooner carried a cargo, and it is thought was bound to the westward.

DELMAR IS FAST

The Abbot Loses the Gelding Record

By Associated Press to The Sun

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 5.—This week's grand circuit gathering is certainly the "talk-luck" meeting of the season. The public has turned out in such large numbers that Narragansett has all attendance records, and yesterday afternoon the horses gave the meeting an additional boost by clipping off fast miles.

Major Delmar was the star performer, trotting a mile in 2.07¼. This grand performance gives him the championship for trotting geldings by a safe margin. For three years The Abbot, 2.03¾, has been king of unsexed trotters.

The records show but two miles faster than the one trotted by the grandson of Electioneer this afternoon: the 2.00 of Lou Dillon and the 2.02 ¼ of Cresceus.

While Major Delmar's wonderful flight of speed was the feature, there was a pacing race which will go on the books as one of the fastest ever paced—three heats averaging better than 2.03: 2.01¾, 2.03¼, 2.03¾.

Th winner was the local bride, Prince Alert. The fast heat, however, stands to the credit of the erratic Boozier gelding, Dan R. Right at his wheel in this, the fastest race mile of the year, was the little Vermont-bred mare, Terrel.

NEGRO DROWNED

Feared That He Would be Lynched

By Associated Press to The Sun

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 5.—An unknown negro, caught in the act of strangling Mrs. Margaret Geraldi, a white woman, in her home at Armourdale, Kan., yesterday escaped to the Kansas river, where he drowned himself rather than run the chance of being lynch, a crowd having chased him to the bank of the stream. The woman was seriously hurt, but will recover.

Mrs. Geraldi is a widow, 45 years old. Her husband and her son were drowned in the great June flood, and she lived alone.

The negro, who was about 35 years old, went to the house about noon and, entering stealthily, locked himself in. He surprised Mrs. Geraldi at her work and demanded her money. When she insisted that there was none about the house, the negro threatened to kill her, and, seizing her by the throat, began choking her. Neighboring women broke into the house three hours later and found the sinking his fingers into her throat. The negro hurried from the house and ran to the Kansas river, two blocks distant, where he hired a boat and ordered the owner to row quickly to the Missouri shore.

When the boat had reached midstream a crowd of men and boys had gathered at the bank and shouted to the owner of the boat to return to shore. He started to do so, when the negro stood up in the boat, and with the remark: "I have lived too long to die at the end of a rope," dove into the water. He was drowned and his body was not recovered.

JURY DISAGREED

WAS TOLD TO BRING VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

By Associated Press to The Sun

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—In the trial of the case of the United States against Naval Narcotics, who is charged with smuggling, Judge De Haven has delivered instructions to jury which in substance says that the bringing of the goods was necessary to constitute the crime of smuggling. It is contended by the officials, charged with the conduct and conviction of this class of offenders, that if the opinion of the jury is right it will be a difficult matter to punish evaders of customs laws. Judge DeHaven positively instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty on the first charge, that of smuggling, which has reasons as above stated. Despite this the jury, after being out six hours, disagreed.

GOVERNOR'S LIFE

Threatened If He Calls Out the Troops

By Associated Press to The Sun

DENVER, COL., SEPT. 5.—THE REPUBLICAN SAYS:

GOV. PEABODY HAS BEEN THREATENED WITH ASSASSINATION. HE HAS RECEIVED AN ANONYMOUS LETTER THREATENING TO KILL HIM IF HE DARED TO CALL OUT THE TROOPS OF THE STATE IN ORDER TO RESTORE LAW AND ORDER IN THE CRIPPLE CREEK DISTRICT. THE LETTER WAS ABUSIVE IN THE EXTREME AND ALLEGED THAT THE TROOPS WERE NOT NEEDED.

NATIONAL GUARD

WILL HAVE 600,000 ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION.

By Associated Press to The Sun

DENVER, Col., Sept. 5.—The special train bearing the first contingent of the national guard ordered to Cripple Creek by Governor Peabody in connection with the strike of the miners in that district, arrived at Gillette early today. Since the start from Denver, Adjutant General Sherman Bell has perfected plans for the mobilization of the entire state militia, numbering 1600 should he wish to do so. An arsenal will be established and within 24 hours 600,000 rounds of ammunition will be stored in the gold camp. When asked whether he anticipated any serious trouble, General Bell said:

"I do not know what we will meet with, but I shall be prepared for anything that may turn up."

Rumors that an attempt would be made to interfere with the progress of the troops toward Cripple Creek caused General Bell to change the route of travel from the Shore Line road to the Colorado Midland. So perfect were the arrangements that none of his personal staff knew of the general's intention until they were aboard the train leaving Colorado Springs. Prior to the departure of the main body of the troops from Colorado Springs, a special bearing armed militiaman was sent out. Detachments from this company were dropped off at the bridges along the route and left to guard them until the several sections following were safely over.

STOLE $50,000

Murderer and Suicide a Forger

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Evidence was discovered yesterday by the accountants examining the books of St. Michael's Episcopal church corporation, of additional forgeries, aggregating $25,000 of Henry Townsend Edson, murderer and swindler. This is in addition to the forged note for $25,000 held by the Corn Exchange bank, which, when called to the attention of William R. Peters, as treasurer of the church corporation, last Wednesday, led to Edson being confronted with the knowledge of his evil doings.

The newly discovered evidence had to do with two notes, one for $20,000 and another for $5000, that figured in a transaction with a trust company, the name of which could not be learned.

The vestrymen of the church have now for the first time learned of Edson's arrest, in September, 1891, in Rochester, N. Y., for grand larceny resulting from a forged note.

Edson, then only 27 years, was the representative of his father's firm in Rochester. He became heavily embarassed financially, and several of the church vestrymen said today that Former Mayor Franklin Edson's fortune was considererably eaten up by settling his son's affairs.

TRAIN WRECKED

While Making 35 Miles an Hour

FIREMAN THROWN FROM ENGINE AND KILLED

Spreading Rails Caused the Accident

By Associated Press to The Sun

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—A dispatch from Oregon, Ill., says:

The St. Paul & Minneapolis limited which left Chicago last night at 6:30 on the Burlington road, was wrecked early today half a mile east of Chana, near this city.

The fireman was thrown from the engine and instantly killed. The passengers received a shaking up and were badly scared, but none of them was injured seriously. Most of those in the sleeping cars crawled out of the wreckage through the windows. The engineer jumped and escaped with slight hurts.

Spreading rails were responsible for the accident, which happened when the train was making 35 miles an hour. The mail, combination and buffet cars were hurled into the ditch. The two Pullman sleeping cars were derailed and thrown across the track, but they remained upright. A mail clerk was buried under a mass of clay and it took some time to dig him out.

GOT GOLD BRICK

Innocent Old Man Gave up Money

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—"Bunco Bill" was at work in Cambridge yesterday morning, and succeeded in relieving an innocent and hard-working old man of $2000 in cash. The victim was John Smith, 73 years old, living with his daughter at 8 Gerry street, Cambridge. Mr. Smith is an Englishman, and has lived in Cambridge for 33 years. For many years he has been night watchman at the Murray street car stables.

This is not the first time that Mr. Smith has been buncoed out of money, and that he should bite the second time is almost beyond comprehension. About 10 years ago Mr. Smith gave up $1500 to confidence men in a real estate scheme.

Mr. Smith is an honest old fellow, perhaps all too innocent of the ways of the world, despite his age, although he is a constant reader of newspapers. However, he is easily influenced and seemingly believes every one else to be as honest as himself. He had several thousand dollars in Cambridge savings banks as a result of careful saving after years of hard toil. He has a few thousand left yet and owns the house he lives in, but it is taken for granted that the slick bunco man would have hard work to ply his game successfully again.

Two men were concerned in the job. One was about 35 years old, and led the victim on and arranged for the meeting with his partner, a man about 60 years old. Lieut. Keaney and Special Officer Deehan of Cambridge are at work on the case, and they are confident that they know who the elder man is. The man under suspicion is an old crook, and he has worked many a confidence game. The pair are thought to be in New York city, although it is all supposition where they are.

Mr. Smith was an easy mark, and it was "just like finding money." It was handed over and a gold brick returned.

IRISH PAINTER

THE FIRST TO PAINT PICTURE OF POPE PIUS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 5.—H. J. Thaddeus, the well-known Irish painter, whose portraits of Pope Pius IX, Leo XIII, Mr. Gladstone and other prominent personages, have won him considerbale fame, has, owing to the good offices of Cardinal Moran obtained the privilege of being the first to paint a picture of the present pope. He has already made two studies and has taken a number of photographs, which required several sittings, during which the pope was most affable. On one occasion, being busy, the pontiff declared he could only spare the artist half an hour, but he ended in remaining about two hours.

The pope has expressed himself as being most satisfied with the studies, which Mr. Thaddeus expects to finish before Christmas.

COMMUNICATION

Mr. Editor:

Kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to contradict an item that appeared in yesterday's issue regarding an outing of Prudential men.

It is very evident that the piece in question was written by a member of the Manchester staff or at least one of the "admirers" on the return journey and consequently some allowance must be made for many of the false statements made.

However, in justice to the Lowell staff I will state that the outing idea not only originated in Lowell but the various details were attended to by them and then they invited the Manchester boys to the outing as a sort of a "soothing syrup" for the crushing defeat rendered by the Lowell men in a district contest a short time ago.

As was expected the Manchester staff kindly accepted the invitation extended and immediately a sweeping challenge was made by the Lowellites to our Manchester brethren for a base ball game for "fun, money or marbles." They finally got their sporting blood stirred up and accepted the challenge, the game to be played for fun, at their request.

As for the game itself, will leave that to any eye-witness to describe, suffice it to say that the correct score was 19 to 14 in favor of Lowell and not 7 to 5 in favor of Manchester, as the scribe claims.

The Lowell men made 12 runs in the first inning and to keep up interest they gave Manchester a few runs now and then, a Supt. Seyler's pitching was a snap for the local batsmen.

Inasmuch as they could not touch Riordan's delivery they naturally thought that he was a college pitcher, but such was not the case.

The scribe continues in his dream and states that Supt. Forester carried water but while we admit that the Lowell staff indulges in nothing stronger than water, however, we had such a walkover in the ball game that we were well able to wait until after the game to quench our thirst.

The eccentric scribe concludes by giving the Lowell staff the credit of being able to return for home at an early hour, but evidently he does not dare to mention the hour of departure for his Manchester friends, as that would show them up. However, some allowance must be made for Supt. Seyler's late return when you consider the strenuous game he had to pitch.

Hoping that I have not intruded too much, I remain,

FOR CORRECT READING.

GIRLS IN A PANIC

Shooting Affray in a Factory

VICTIM IS NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE

Assailant Claimed He Was Owed Money

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Angered because his brother-in-law failed to pay money he had loaned to him, Albero Camelo, shot and probably fatally wounded Joseph Carlo yesterday. The shooting occurred in the hallway of an East 91st street factory.

Two hundred girls employed in the factory were thrown into panic by the shooting and rushed out over the body of the wounded man and down the stairway. Several were knocked down and bruised and some fainted.

Camelo went to the factory, walked to Carlo's machine, touched his brother-in-law on the shoulder and said he wanted to talk with him in the hallway on business. Upon reaching the hallway Camelo suddenly turned and fired.

A policeman heard the shots and ran up the stairway. Camelo jumped through a window and fled down the fire escape. Several times he attempted to fire at the officer who was coming down the ladder after him, but the revolver failed to go off. Several policemen surrounded the would-be murderer when he reached the ground and compelled him to surrender.

A dozen stilettos and revolvers were found scattered about the stairway of the factory where the Italian workers had dropped them as they ran from their machines.

LAWYER NOT GUILTY

STRICKLAND WAS ACCUSED OF VIOLATING ELECTION LAWS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—W. L. Strickland, a lawyer with an office in Court square, was given a trial before Judge Ely in the second session of the municipal court yesterday forenoon on a charge of having violated the election law in 1897 and 1898. The prosecution was brought by the board of election commissioners and has attracted a great deal of attention in political and legal circles.

At the conclusion of the trial, shortly after noon, Judge Ely considered the case in silence for a few minutes, and then directed Clerk Cutler to enter an order finding the defendant not guilty and discharging him.

Strickland's father appeared in court, and told Judge Ely that for family reasons the boy was told he was born in Charlottetown, P. E. I., when as a matter of fact he was born in Bangor. After this his honor discharged him, making no comment whatever in announcing his finding.

SWORN CIRCULATION FOR AUGUST

The sworn daily average circulation of the Lowell Sun for the month of August, 1903, was 14,795 A gain of 1288 copies per day over the average for the year of 1902.

Sworn to by Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman of The Sun, before me, Sept. 1, 1903.

JOHN J. HOGAN, Notary Public.

☞ This is a larger circulation than the combined circulation of all the other daily papers in Lowell.

☞ An advertisement placed in The Sun is of more value to the advertiser than if it were inserted in all the other newspapers in Lowell, and the cost of inserting it in The Sun is about ONE THIRD the price charged by the other papers.

It looks now as if the labor hosts will have an ideal day for their celebration.

There will be no Sun published on Labor Day. We intend to celebrate.

While it is well to scrutinize every bill that is presented for payment it is wholly unnecessary to make faces as the overseers of the poor are wont to do before paying the bills they contract in a proper way.

A mob in the South End of Boston tried to rescue a prisoner, Thursday night, and strange to say, the officers, despite Judge Emmons' order to shoot, depended upon the free use of their clubs.

The republicans of Boston are at their wits end to get some candidate to run up against Mayor Collins. None of the prominent men want the privilege, but there are several light-weights seeking the place. George N. Swallow, Judge Dewey and Michael Murray are among those already mentioned.

SERIOUS SITUATION IN TURKEY.

Today the guns of the American Squadron under Admiral Cotton point down over Beirut, but this move is offset by the Sultan's announcement that he can no longer guarantee the safety of the consulates at Constantinople. This is a serious threat. It is a notification that the warships are more necessary at Constantinople than at Beirut. This bodes trouble for the Turkish empire and it makes it incumbent upon the powers to take prompt action for the protection of Christians and foreigners in general.

THE MILLIONAIRE DEFENDANTS SET FREE.

The defendants in the Newark, N. J., case were acquitted as we anticipated. It is difficult to get such men corralled in court. Yet they cannot be convicted without evidence and the presiding judge said there was no evidence to show that they were guilty of criminal negligence. Still by the negligence of a motor man and conductor an electric car was run into by an express train and nine high school children killed. If the children had only been injured through negligence the company or which these men are the head would be held responsible by the court. When the children are killed by the worst kind of negligence nobody is to blame. It is queer how the law sometimes favors such men.

LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATION.

Monday will be Labor Day, a day when the dignity of labor is celebrated and a day also when the voice of labor is heard in advocacy of the rights of labor and of various reforms needed for the amelioration of the toilers' condition. The labor unions by harmonious and conservative action can exert great influence upon legislative bodies; but it will best serve the purposes of the labor union not to affiliate itself with any political organization. It will require also to keep aloof from certain isms and radical movements which can only have the effect of alienating public sympathy and in the long run lessening the efficacy and strength of labor bodies.

On Labor Day the toilers turn out in parade, the assumption being that by such demonstrations a greater impression can be made upon the public mind in regard to the demands of labor for a greater share of the wealth produced by toil, for a shorter work day and a general improvement in the condition of the toiler.

THE MACEDONIAN CAUSE.

Whether Macedonia shall win her freedom now or at some future day it must be admitted that her people show the right spirit. The proclamation issued by the insurgents has the ring of one of Patrick Henry's great appeals for liberty. It says:—

"The dawn of liberty peeps already above the Macedonian horizon and awaits this stroke to shine with its full brilliancy on the Macedonian land. Prepare yourselves then for this stroke. Be at your posts. The hour for the battle strikes. The cry of 'Liberty or Death' will break the chains of slavery and bring the triumph of justice."

That is a struggle and a proclamation to which every christian nation and people might extend its benediction. The spirit that inspires those patriotic words will be hard to crush. It is too bad that a single province must run the risk of annihilation by standing independently before an overwhelming Mohammedan foe.

COMPANIES RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR POLES.

The supreme court has handed down an important decision holding that all companies maintaining polls in the public streets are liable for damages caused by the presence of such poles, provided the injured party exercises due care. It has been generally assumed that the poles being stationary, quiescent and inoffensive, the owners cannot be responsible for damages in any form, but the ruling of the supreme court on this matter asserts that because a company has a franchise to maintain poles does not exempt such company from claims for injuries caused by such poles.

If one of the poles should break and injure somebody; or, if the crossbar should fall on the heads of passers-by, the company would naturally have to pay the damage. The justice of this seems self-evident; but it has to be cleared of a lot of confusing circumstances before its reasonableness appears with striking effect. The decision will probably cause the companies that string wires to be more careful knowing that they are not immune from actions of tort for injuries sustained on account of the poles.

THE CUP CONTESTS.

Sir Thomas Lipton has universal sympathy in his defeat in the cup race. He has spent $2,000,000 in his three contests for the America cup but without avail. He takes his defeat in a sensible way. Did he feel otherwise disposed the defeat might kill him. But he is the right kind of a sport and his failure was due to the fact that the American boat was faster under any kind of weather.

A list of the various contests showing the date of the races, the names of the contending boats, the corrected time and the defender's lead in each case shows that while Sir Thomas made a gallant contest for the cup some of the previous challengers did quite as well.

It is quite apparent that Shamrock III did not make as good a battle relatively for the cup as did several of the previous challengers.

The performance of the Reliance was uniformly superior to that of Shamrock III in all kinds of weather. Much has been said of the masterly work of the crew, but if the boat were not faster than Shamrock III no crew could urge her through the water. It is quite probable that the speed of both boats was well displayed in the work done, the assumption being that in each case the crew did good work.

IN BASKET BALL

Rules of the New England League

MANAGER GRAY WILL MAKE SOME CHANGES

Harry Hough Deserts the National League

Harry Hough, the little wonder, will play in Massachusetts this season.

Wiley Platt, formerly of the Boston Nationals, is one of the new men signed by Manager Stallings for the Buffalo team.

It is whispered that Bucky Lew and Fields may be among the missing in the lineup of the Lowell team, and there are others, too, who will get the go-by.

If John Smith goes to manage the Bristol, Pa. team as now seems probable, it is reported that he will offer several of last year's Manchester team a chance to play with the champions of the National league.

It begins to look as if Jimmie Redmond will get his end all right. He will fit in somewhere when the plums are being passed. Redmond knows too much about basketball and the men who play the game to be left out.

An important meeting of the New England basketball league is slated for Concord tomorrow. It is expected that at this meeting the formation of the league will be definitely determined, and that the franchises will be awarded in those cities where two or more claimants are after the prizes.

It was announced also that at this meeting rules for the government of the league would be adopted. Altogether it looks as if the meeting will do a great deal that will be of interest to followers of the game.

James Gray, who will manage the Lowell team in the league, has a number of applications from players of repute who want to work under his management. It is a matter of common knowledge among those who have followed the game and heard the remarks of visitors players that Mr. Gray stands well and will have no difficulty in getting good men in case he drops some of the old P. A. C. team which now seems very likely.

All of the star players of the Camden National Basketball league team, with the exception of Middleton and Rossert, have signed contracts to play in New England this season, deserting the National league team. Manager Godnow will place this strong team at Pittsfield, Mass.: Forwards—Harry Hough, Trenton; Edward Forst, Camden; John, Deal, Germantown, a Pittsfield player. Centers—Fred Muttner, Trenton; George Keenan, Philadelphia; a Pittsfield player. Defense, Winfield Kinkaide, Philadelphia; Horace Thomas, Philadelphia; Robert Mayham, Trenton; a Pittsfield player.

At the annual meeting of the National Basketball league there was a fight against the adoption of the proposed change in the rule concerning foul goals, the opposition winning out. The change if it had taken effect would have greatly altered the present style of play. Instead of giving a free throw each time a foul was called, the new rule would have made two fouls score one point. Many players objected to the new rule and some openly stated that they would not play with the new rule in vogue. By strong arguments the magnates were convinced that the rule was not the best thing for the game.

GIVES HER NAME

YOUNG WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN A BOAT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—The young woman who was found unconscious in a small boat at one of the wharves in this city Thursday night and who, it was suspected had been drugged and robbed, was dismissed from the hospital to which she was taken, yesterday, having recovered. Before leaving she gave her name as May Simpson, and said that her widowed mother lived in Charlmont, Mass., and that she left some time ago intending to take a course in the New England Conservatory of Music. She came here but her plans were blotted by ill-health and she recently returned here from a visit to a married sister living in Portland, Maine.

Miss Simpson asserted that she had been robbed and believes that her condition was due to her having been given drugs of some sort by a woman and two young men whom she met for the first time Thursday night in a restaurant here and with whom she consented to pass a pleasant evening. She denies that she partook of any intoxicants.

400 VICTIMS

Bulgarians Suffered Terrible Loss in Fight With Turks

By Associated Press to The Sun

SALONICA, Sept. 5.—Details of the fighting between the Turks and Bulgarians at Lake Rapela, between Klissura and Kastoria, Sept. 1st, when the insurgents were defeated have been received here. Four hundred Bulgarians were killed and many captured, including the chiefs, Koble and Manoloff. The third leader, named Charklaroff, escaped with the money that had been collected at Klissura. Two thousand five hundred troops are reported to be surrounding the rest of the band.

Fifteen thousand Bulgarian villagers have taken refuge in the mountains at Vitch between Florina and Kastoria. A revolt has begun at Razlog, fifty miles south of Sofia, in the Turkish province of Seres.

The railroad authorities are preparing twenty trains for the despatch of Albanian troops to Adrianople. Two battalions of Albanian levis have arrived at Salonica and eighteen other battalions are expected.

CONSUL'S PLACE

Change in System of Appointments

By Associated Press to The Sun

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—An important change of policy with respect to the making of appointments in the consular service has been decided upon by President Roosevelt. He discussed the change yesterday with Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis.

For many years it has been practically the uniform practice of presidents to appoint men to positions in the consular service substantially without reference to whatever previous experience they may have had. President Roosevelt after consultation with Secretary Hay, Assistant Secretary Loomis and members of his cabinet not immediately identified with the state department has determined to appoint hereafter to important places in the consular service men who already are in the service and have had that experience and training in minor positions which will render them the more capable of filling places of higher grade and greater importance.

The change in policy does not extend the civil service to the consular service and it does not extend, necessarily a consul's tenure of office at any particular place, but it is pointed out, it does give reasonable assurance to the manufacturing and commercial interests of the United States, which, particularly are interested in the extension of the country's foreign trade, that in a commercially brief time all important consular situations will be filled not only by men of character and ability, but by men, who, by training and experience, are specially qualified to advance the trade interests of the United States.

Secretary Loomis discussed with the president several appointments in the service that are to be made soon. It is understood that of all the appointees will be men who now are filling places of lesser importance in the service. They are to be promoted and, in turn their places will be filled by men who have not had the experiences they have had.

THE GREAT EAGLE

"Big Tim" Sullivan Wins the Place

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan is now the head of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, having been elected grand worthy master at the convention in Tammany hall yesterday. The election was a spirited one, and there was lively campaigning from beginning to end. Sullivan's election had been expected, but many western contingents favored the election of Vice President Pelletir of Kansas City, and waged a vigorous fight to place him at the head of the order. In the first ballot Sullivan polled 752 votes, Pelletir 75 and Harry "Hy" Davis of Cincinnati 250. The two latter candidates then withdrew and the congressman's election was then made unanimous. A protest was made against the votes from Honolulu, which were represented by proxy by the California delegates. As the Hawaiian Islanders were in favor of Sullivan his adherents fought vigorously until the California delegates were permitted to vote for their distant neighbors. Cape Nome, Alaska, the states of Washington and Texas went solid for Sullivan. The congressman drew from all over the country, even the far western states sending him a good vote. Thomas Coogan of Cincinnati and John Kenny of Buffalo managed Sullivan's campaign.

OLYMPIA SINKING

It Was Feared Flagship Would Go Down

By Associated Press to The Sun

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 5—The cruiser Olympia, flying the pennant of Rear Admiral Coghlan, arrived at the Norfolk navy yard yesterday. Her bottom was inspected and she will be docked Wednesday for repairing the injuries received on rocks off the Maine coast. On the way down the coast in a storm it was thought at one time the Olympia was sinking. She ran into a heavy gale off Tomaston harbor and for a while fears were entertained that she might not be able to weather it in safety. Her water-tight compartments saw her safely through the blow, but not until it had become necessary to seek shelter in Tomaston harbor until the gale subsided. When the Olympia reached the Norfolk navy yard yesterday she was immediately boarded by Naval Constructor Evans and his force of assistants. Several of her plates were found to be cracked and broken and it was anounced she would be docked Wednesday for repairs which will consume about seven weeks.

THE SULTAN OF TURKEY.

PORTE'S WARNING

Against Attack by the Bulgarian Bandits

TURKEY'S ACTION SATISFIES CONSUL AT BEIRUT

By Associated Press to The Sun

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister, called on Secretary Hay yesterday to inform him that he had received from his foreign office official advices to the effect that the American consul at Beirut was entirely satisfied with the measures Turkey had taken to protect life and property there and to investigate and act with respect with the assault on Vice-Consul Magelessen.

The Porte, in advising the foreign embassies and legations of the measures taken to protect them added a warning against Bulgarian bandits, who might attempt to elude the Turkish guards and attack the foreigners from within.

It is a matter of some comment that there are only about two hundred marines with European squadron but these with the kavasses already in the service of the legation, and with the Turkish guards assigned to Minister Leishman, will, it is believed, prove sufficient for any emergency likely to arise.

Officials of the state department, commenting upon the item from Paris saying that ships of foreign powers would be sent to Turkish waters, stated that the United States was now sending ships to Turkish waters. The term "Turkish waters" does not mean Constantinople, they say and while the whole western portion of the Mediterranean might be covered with warships, it was possible that none of them would force the Dardanelles. After the Crimean war, a treaty was made which has been followed up by subsequent treaties which prohibits warships from entering the Dardanelles without the consent of Turkey and Turkey must have the assent of all the signatory powers. In 1868, Admiral Farragut with the flagship Franklin, was invited and ascended the Dardanelles and the powers protested.

Then it was determined that no vessel of war could enter the Dardanelles. There is a provision, however, that in case Turkey is at war with another power, she might admit the ships of a friendly power. This, it is said here, is directed at Russia.

In 1853, Turkey, under the treaty, refused to allow either the Marblehead or the Dancroft, American warships, to enter the Dardanelles.

Small ships of other nations are allowed in the Bosphorus, which have been sent through the Dardanelles, but these are called legation vessels and rated of little importance. However, they carry sailors which may be used for legation guards at any time. It is believed that in case the United States desired to send a launch or small vessel with a guard for the American legation Turkey would have a right to admit them to the Dardanelles without consulting and obtaining the permission of the powers.

CRISIS AT HAND

Missionaries Said to be in Danger

By Associated Press to The Sun

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Morning Post publishes a letter from its Constantinople correspondent in which he discusses the Beirut affair and the position of the American missionaries in Asia Minor. He says:

"Things have arrived at a crisis. The United States must either insist upon the Porte listening to its representations regarding American converts or drop the missionaries altogether. The latter course is naturally impossible and the sending of a squadron has great significance as showing a determination on the part of America to take active part in the Turkish question. One result of this step will probably be to induce the sultan to raise his representative at Washington to the rank of an ambassador so that the United States can be equally represented here. At present America is at a decided disadvantage in this respect compared with the other first class powers. Nobody can quite foresee the ultimate attitude of the United States, but it is almost certain that her weight will incline on the side of the Christian against the Turks.

BATTLESHIP BELLE ISLE

TORPEDOED AND SANK AT HER MOORINGS.

By Associated Press to The Sun

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 5.—The old battleship Belle Isle was torpedoed here yesterday and sank at her moorings. For the purposes of the experiment a section had been constructed on the port side of the Belle Isle representing the side of a modern battleship. This was filled with an American invention which, it was claimed, would prevent a ship from sinking when the hull is penetrated below the water line. When the vessel was struck a huge column of water enveloped her. She rolled heavily and then settled down with a list of ports. The Belle Isle will be raised for further experiments. It is said the damage done to the ship's bottom is extensive.

WHITE SLAVES

Little Greek Boys Sold for Small Sums

By Associated Press to The Sun

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 5—White slavery is practised in Michigan cities by an oath-bound organization with headquarters at Kalamazoo. The escape Thursday morning of a 15-year-old Boston-black from his master, Anthony Demeres, owner of a Greek bootblacking place in the city, and the latter's anxiety to recapture the child, have revealed the methods practised by the society.

Every year boys are being picked up on the streets of Greek cities, it is said, and sold into slavery in this country. The purchasers are mostly Greek shoe shiners, who pay from $50 to $75 for a 5 or 6 year-old-boy for the first year; the second year the price is advanced $25 and each succeeding year a small advance is made until the boy is of age, when the "boss" must take his chances with his protege.

This was the fate of Nicholas Demogeor, who was shipped from Greece to Kalamazoo 17 months ago and who, after suffering many indignities, made his escape Thursday morning. Peter Saranton, a Greek, 25 years old, who has spent the greater part of his life as a shoe shiner without compensation, took pity on the youngster and ran away with him.

Anthony Demers and his brother Alexander are at the head of a shoe shining organization which operates "parlors" in Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson, South Bend, St. Joseph, Benton Harbor and Chicago. With a few exceptions the work of polishing shoes is all done by little Greek boys whose ages range from 5 to 18 years.

The "bosses" society is not incorporated, but an agreement in the nature of an oath is said to be entered into between the operators. When Demers returned the early part of this week, from a collection trip, he charged the boy with stealing a small sum while he was gone and it is alleged used very stringent measures, which led the boy to run away.

Demers has admitted all the foregoing facts to Kalamazoo officials. It is likely that arrests will follow and the case may involve instances in many cities throughout the country. Demers justifies himself in the slave practice by claiming that Greek parents do not care anything about their children and are glad to have them come to this country.

HAD LAY-OFF

Lowells Enjoyed a One Day Rest

Pitcher Bushey Went Home for Only One Game and Will Finish Out the Season With Lowell—Other Games Yesterday

The Lowell team had a lay-off yesterday and some of the boys went to Nashua to see that team work. Lew Cross remained at his home in Manchester, N. H., where his father is very ill.

Manager Lake was in communication with Pitcher Bushey at Waterville, Me., and Bush will be back today for the remainder of the season. Bushey's home is in Waterville and when that city sent him a tempting offer to pitch one game he accepted it immediately. Then he was afraid that Lake might not let him go so he decided to go and ask permission afterward. He had no intention, however, of jumping the team for all time. So Bushey will be back for the remaining games.

Concord will be the victims this afternoon and as they were ever Lowell's jonahs a good game should result.

CLOSE GAME

PLAYED BY FALL RIVER AND LAWRENCE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

FALL RIVER, Sept. 5.—Fall River won a hard fought game from Lawrence yesterday by the score of 2 to 1. Edwards was batted harder than Klobedanz but kept the hits well scattered. CONCORD WENT DOWN

BEFORE THE HEAVY HITTING OF NASHUA.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NASHUA, N. H., Sept. 5—Concord went down before the heavy hitting of the home team yesterday. The work of the visitors in the field was indifferent. Nashua played snappy ball throughout. Soffel at second made a sensational stop and putout. Jordan led in batting. Wiley injured his hand in the second inning and was replaced by Eaton.

LICKED AGAIN

HAVERHILL SUFFERS ANOTHER DEFEAT.

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 5.—The Haverhill club was beaten by New Bedford in an uninteresting game yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 4. Smith, who pitched for the visitors, had poor support while Silva was steady at critical times. The chief feature of the game was Manager A. G. Doe, who played right field for New Bedford. He made a hit [illegible] runner at third base. Jake Weist, who was once left fielder of the New Bedfords, played right field two innings. He got a horse shoe of flowers and that's all.

Score by innings:

DIAMOND NOTES.

Concord at Lowell.
Nashua at Manchester.
Lawrence at Fall River.
Haverhill at New Bedford.

Hooker will roll them over today against his old companions.

Fall River and Haverhill will play double-headers at Spalding Park next week.

"Lew" Cross is the "Cy" Young of the New England league. He has won 24 games for Lowell and is pitching great ball.—Boston Herald.

Fred Lake is not sorry that he took Buck Hooker in when Concord dropped him. He is doing great work in the finish of the pennant fight.

Connors is playing a decidedly fast game at second for Lowell. His work at Manchester on Tuesday was brilliant in the extreme.—Boston Herald.

Sammy Murch of the Lawrence team has been sold to the St. Louis Nationals and will report at the close of the New England league season.

McLean was back in the game at Nashua yesterday despite the fact that Jordan, Pastor, Soffel and Daum don't want him back.

If Lowell wins the pennant the team will play a series of five or seven games with Holyoke, champions of the Connecticut league. Manager Lake has accepted Holyoke's challenge.

Ed Ashenbach wants Joe Kelley to take his Jack McLean, who was with Jimmy Collins a couple of years ago. McLean is big enough to scare Jack, the Giant Killer.—Sporting Life.

The Lawrence Eagle has it that Coveney is the premier backstop in the league. How about Cote, Merritt, Berry and McLean? Coveney can't hold a candle to any of these boys when it comes to all-around work.—Haverhill Gazette.

"Tony" Pastor of Nashua comes very near to being the best all-around shortstop in the league. He is a steady, sure, consistent performer, a good base runner and an excellent batsman.—Boston Herald.

The Nashua ball management has sold Catcher McLean to Chicago, the price being $800. The big fellow will go West at once. He is by far the ablest back stop which the New England league has had this year.—Nashua Cor. Manchester Union.

The Nashua bench, according to the New Bedford Mercury, will have to sleep out in lots when they make their next stay in the Whaling city. It's pretty tough for a bench to carry the reputation they've got, for it's equally bad in every city on the circuit. They seem to be "de limit."—Fall River Globe.

They say that Connie Murphy was not popular in New Bedford, but when Lawrence went there last week, his many friends had planned to present him with a magnificent floral horseshoe. The rain prevented the presentation, but there will be something to take its place this week when the team goes to New Bedford again.

It is expected that Manager John F. Smith will return to his old home in Bristol, Pa., to pass the coming winter instead of remaining in Manchester, as he did last season. Mr. Smith has put in a bid for the Bristol franchise in the National Basket Ball league and it is expected that he will receive it. Then he will probably get together his old team that won the National league championship two years ago and play basket ball there next winter. The local basket ball interests are in the hands of an association of which Smith is a member and his presence will not be necessary.

A despatch from Haverhill says that President Lucier has received a letter from Charlie Ganzel, in which he states that he will buy the local club, providing he is able to get John Ganzel, who is to come to the team released from the New York Americans. It is understood that the management of the New York club will not stand in the way of Ganzel bettering himself. This is the one condition that the deal now hinges upon, and it is expected that Ganzel will know in a few days as to his future. According to President Lucier, the terms are satisfactory to both parties concerned. It is understood that both Ganzels will control the team and Hamilton is expected to be with them.

What Jake Morse thinks: Hooker is helping Lowell hold its lead in good style. Graham comes very near being the ball in Manchester. Mr. Whiting woke up the worst pitcher in Umpire Kerin. Pretty race between Fall River, New Bedford and Haverhill. Manchester will have to brace up to maintain championship honors. Young Green of Concord is one of the best young fielders in the league. The talk that Connors made it so far this season is all but favorable. Lawrence is making a great finish and now has a team that will give any a battle. Murphy of Haverhill is certainly as good an all round third baseman as there is in the league. Lowell will again try to win at Manchester today; this will end the series between the two clubs. Tom McCarthy is evidently anything but all in. He would be a great man for some team in 1904. Connors is playing a decidedly fast game at second for Lowell. His work at Manchester on Tuesday was brilliant in the extreme. Jack Carney still clings to his .333 percentage. No first baseman in the country can show anything better in the number of games played.—Concord Monitor.

JUVENILE DIAMOND.

Gene McCarthy, the well-known Collinsville sport, has been asked to pitch for Milford Labor Day. Although Gene is still in his teens, he is there with the goods, and he will very likely accept the invitation. He has already demonstrated that he is fit for faster company and will certainly make good with Milford. He will be accompanied by his trainer and bottle washer, Denis A. O'Brien, the well-known "Lobster."

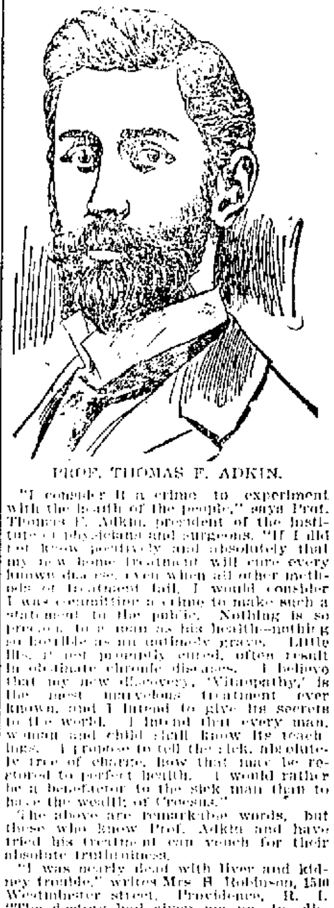
A MIGHTY HEALER

CURES THE SICK BY MYSTIC POWER

YOU CAN KNOW HIS SECRET FREE

Marvelous New Treatment Which Conquers All Diseases

You Can Be Cured at Home—Generous Offer of Prof. Adkin



PROF. THOMAS F. ADKIN.

"I consider it a crime to experiment with the health of the people," says Prof. Thomas F. Adkin, president of the Institute of physicians and surgeons. "If I did not know positively and absolutely that my new home treatment will cure every known disease, even when all other methods of treatment fail, I would consider I was committing a crime to make such a statement to the public. Nothing is so precious to a man as his health—nothing so horrible as an untimely grave. Little ills, if not promptly cured, often result in obstinate chronic diseases. I believe that my new discovery, 'Vitaopathy,' is the most marvelous treatment ever known, and I intend to give its secrets to the world. I intend that every man, woman and child shall know its teachings. I propose to tell the sick, absolutely free of charge, how they may be restored to perfect health. I would rather be a benefactor to the sick man than to have the wealth of Croesus."

The above are remarkable words, but those who know Prof. Adkin and have tried his treatment can vouch for their absolute truthfulness.

"I was nearly dead with liver and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. H. Robinson, 1510 Westminster street, Providence, R. I. "The doctors had given me up to die. You can imagine what a state of mind I was in. I could not attend to business, and began to think my days were numbered. I read the wonderful cures Prof. Adkin had effected by his great discovery Vitaopathy, and as a forlorn hope wrote to him just the condition I was in, mentally and physically. He gave me a clear diagnosis of my case and didn't charge me a cent for it. He prescribed a treatment which I began with little or no faith, but I am happy to state that I am now completely cured, and am a firm believer in Vitaopathy. From my own personal experience I believe Prof. Adkin can almost raise the dead."

Mrs. A. J. Clefried, Stowe Creek, O., writes this grateful letter: "I was affected with a severe case of Eczema and Nettle Rash, which spread over my whole body. The itching and stinging at times was almost unendurable. I wrote Prof. Adkin, and in four days after I began following the free advice he gave me the itching began to subside and the eruptions dried up rapidly. In ten days I was permanently cured. I feel better now than I have for the past ten years. The free advice of Prof. Adkin gives a blessing to those who cannot afford to pay big doctor's bills."

Prof. Adkin says: "I sympathize with the sick. I want to make every chronic invalid well. I want to prove what my treatment will do. I want every sick person in this country to write me personally. Tell me the leading symptoms of your disease, and I will at once make a thorough diagnosis of your case and outline a method of treatment which will positively cure you. This will cost you absolutely nothing. I will also send you a copy of my new book, 'How to be Cured and How to Cure Others,' postage prepaid. You are not out a single cent. Write me in confidence fully and freely about yourself." Address PROF. THOS. F. ADKIN, office 781, Rochester, N. Y.

SALEM PLAYOUT

MANCHESTER IS STILL TALKING ABOUT IT.

Says the Manchester Union:

The soap-bubble has burst, and the cause of Uncle Sam's 174-foot squirt at Salem has returned to the realm of horrid mystery. Foreman Frank H. Harvey says that soap is a good thing for leather; that it was made for leather, in fact; that, while nobody knew it, he had used soap for the purpose of lubricating the cylinders of Uncle Sam ever since he had been foreman of the machine; and that he, and he alone, knows just why the crack tub of the Manchester Veteran Firemen's association fell down on Aug. 20, and that he won't tell.

Mr. Harvey admits that something went wofully wrong with the machine a few days before it went to Salem, but he declares that it wasn't the soap that was at the heart of the trouble. He says that he has correctly diagnosed the case and has applied the remedy, but that no one knows either the disease or the cure. To be sure, when Uncle Sam dropped from an average of 200 feet down to 150, just before it went to Salem, Mr. Harvey is said to have confidently told some of the members of the association that the soap had been put into the cylinders and that he knew a mistake had been made, and he was one of a party that took the machine to pieces and did everything they could to rinse the soap out, but this evidently has no bearing on the case whatever, since soap is a good lubricant for plunger leathers. These facts were called to the foreman's attention, however, as was the one that when the tub was pulled upon the platform at Salem the foreman knew and said that it had no chance to win, but no satisfactory answer was elicited, because, you see, the whole thing is a deep, dark mystery.

If Uncle Sam would only speak. Then the public that has believed in, rooted for and bet on the tub could know just what microbe got into its internal organization and weakened its pumping power. Mr. Harvey says he knows, but Mr. Harvey won't tell. All the believing, rooting, betting public knows is that the tub fell down in a most humiliating manner at Salem, and that just about 99 per cent. of its pumpers believe that soap did it. Mr. Harvey knows the machine fell down. Indeed, he seems to be pretty sure it was going to before it mounted the platform, but he says that soap didn't do it. Now if only Uncle Sam could give a hint, how all this mystery could be cleared up.

Since the much-experimented-on tub cannot speak, the question seems to be up to the experts. Perhaps, after all, Mr. Harvey is right and soap is a good thing for leather. The foreman pointed with pride to the harnesses of the Engine 1 team, when he was discussing this subject on Thursday, and called attention to the fact that he washed them with soap and that it was just what the leather needed. He said also that experienced engineers had told him that soap was a proper lubricant for pump plungers.

WHISKEY AND BEER HABIT

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE"

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a morbid craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal conditions, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary—simple, inexpensive, harmless and sure. Can be given secretly if desired. We will refund the money if it fails.

Mr. E. T. Sims, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Use my name as a 25-year drunkard restored to manhood and health by four boxes of 'ORRINE.' It is a wonderful and marvelous cure for the drink habit."

Mrs. E. Wycliff, New York city, writes: "'ORRINE' cured my husband, who was a steady drunkard for many years. He now has no desire for stimulants, his health is good and he is fully restored to manhood. He used only two boxes of 'ORRINE.'"

Mrs. W. L. D., Helena, Mont., writes: "I have waited one year before writing you of the permanent cure of my son. He took sanitarium treatment, as well as other advertised cures, but they all failed until we gave him 'ORRINE.' He is now fully restored to health and has no desire for strong drink."

Mrs. U. L. R., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "I am satisfied that drunkenness is a disease and the worst in the world. 'ORRINE' in my opinion, will cure any case if taken as you direct. I was a common drunkard for 30 years, but today I am free of any desire for liquor. You have found the specific. God bless you!"

Mr. A. E. L., Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was born with a love of whiskey and drank it for 32 years. It finally brought me to the gutter, homeless and friendless. I was powerless to resist the craving and would steal and lie to get whiskey. Four boxes cured me of all desire and I now hate the smell of liquor."

Price $1 per box, 6 boxes for $5. Mailed in plain, sealed wrappers by Orrine Company, 837 14th street, Washington, D. C. Interesting booklet, sealed, free on request. Sold and recommended by Ellingwood & Co., Barristers hall, Lowell, Mass.

GUEST OF PILGRIMS

Sir Thomas Lipton Praises Enterprise of Americans

By Associated Press to The Sun

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Sir Thomas Lipton was the guest of honor of the Pilgrims of the United States at a dinner given in his honor last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. Nearly one hundred and fifty men, prominent in many walks of life were present. Sir Thomas arrived at 7.15 and for half an hour the gallant owner of Shamrock III received his friends. Then Sir Thomas escorted by George T. Wilson, who was to preside, led the way from the reception room to the tables. At either end of the hall was hung Sir Thomas' private emblem—the Shamrock on a field of yellow, surrounded by a green border—while above the guests' table were draped the flags of Great Britain and the United States. Bunches of red roses on each table and greens on the walls completed the decorations. Surmounting the menus which bore the flags of Sir Thomas and the Royal Ulster Yacht club was a cardboard yacht, which bore no name.

In order to enliven affairs somewhat at the outset the guests sang a little song to the refrain of "Mr. Dooley," which told of the virtues of Sir Thomas and his enduring efforts to lift the cup.

There had been arranged no formal speeches but the following were called upon: George T. Wilson, Sir Thomas Lipton, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, Gen. H. C. Corbin, Col. Henry Watterson, ex-Gov. Thomas of Colorado and Senator A. E. Cates.

With Sir Thomas at the guests' table sat the Arch-Earl of Shaftesbury, Commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht club; Commodore F. C. Bourne, General H. C. Corbin, William Fife, Rear-Admiral Rodgers, Col. Henry Watterson, Gen. Joseph Wheeler, George T. Wilson and ex-Gov. Thomas.

Mr. Wilson presided at the dinner in the absence of Bishop Potter, the president of the society.

When the ices were served a procession of waiters marched in to a popular air bearing traps crowned with gilded harps, full-rigged models of Reliance and Shamrock and easels with figures of hacks. Mr. Wilson addressing Sir Thomas, said that his attitude had struck a responsive chord in every heart.

"As a loser," said he, "you are a corker. You will ever have the admiration, love and regard of all Americans."

Sir Thomas was given many hearty rounds of cheers when he arose. He said:

"We are all more or less pilgrims here tonight and I'd like to feel that I am not a stranger among you.

"As regards the cup races, we have been beaten fairly and squarely, and I congratulate America on having the better boat. I wish to take occasion here to express my thanks for the courteousness and kindness shown me by the New York Yacht club. I am especially grateful for the admirable way in which the course was kept clear.

"I have heard much comment for and against the Sandy Hook course. It is as good a course as any others, nay, there is no other course in the world like it.

"I am beginning to think that there is some magic spell about that 'blooming old cup.' Two years ago I had it almost within my grasp, but it escaped me then as it has escaped me now, and it seems as far off as ever. But my motto has always been, 'Try, try again.'

"Although I have been without success each time I have tried, I do not despair that some day we shall have success in capturing that famous trophy, although I must confess that we appear now to be more than a little bit astern.

"Herreshoff is the greatest designer of the age but I am still very hopeful that I will see that cup on the other side yet.

"America is a very hard country to beat and I know it. I am a very disappointed man but still I have the consolation that both conquerors and conquered belong to the same good old race. The cup is still in the family, only it is held by a younger and more go-ahead generation.

"Gentlemen, while I lost the cup, or rather did not succeed in winning it, I have not lost the esteem and good-will of my American friends, which esteem and good-will I reciprocate in the very highest degree possible. My feeling of gratitude for this spirit is great beyond expression. I shall bear in my heart the remembrance of your kindly acts for all time. I am sure that as the days and years roll by these contests will not have been held in vain if they make us realize that wherever we are, the world over, we shall 'Brothers be for a'that.'"

After speeches had been made by the Earl of Shaftsbury, Gen. Corbin and Col. Watterson, Gen. Wheeler spoke.

LAPPONI HONORED

POPE CONFERRED ON HIM TITLE OF COMMENDATORE.

By Associated Press to The Sun

ROME, Sept. 5.—Pius X, in order to show his appreciation of the services Prof. Lapponi rendered to the late pontiff during his trying illness, yesterday conferred on him the title of commendatore.

His holiness accompanied the conferring of the honor by a very flattering letter to the doctor and insisted on personally bestowing the title, saying to Dr. Lapponi:

"My predecessor had many peaceful years to thank you for."

"May your holiness have as many," replied the doctor.

"Well, I do not know that I would echo that wish," said the pope with a smile.

BOSTON THEATRE.

On next Monday afternoon the Boston theatre will be opened for the season. Mr. J. H. Tibbetts will manage the theatre as he has during the past two seasons. During this time Mr. Tibbetts has built up a patronage that taxes his theatre's seating capacity at nearly every performance. The shows billed at this theatre have been good, clean, amusing shows. The success of the theatre has been built on the recognition by Mr. Tibbetts that the public want their money's worth and that they want the clean vaudeville show.

Mr. Tibbetts has been at Willow Dale Park the past summer superintending the stage show there, this being his second season there. His attractions have been good and only the terrible weather has kept the season at that resort from being an overwhelming success.

His bill for the opening performance at the Boston theatre is a good one and includes one of the funniest coon teams that have appeared in Lowell, Wells and Wells. Chamberlain is billed as a comedy trick bicycle rider and those who have seen him work say that he is the best ever. Harrison and Southard are two young ladies that sing and dance in a clever manner. These girls have youth, beauty and talent in their favor and should make a great hit. George L. Foster, a blackface comedian, Marquand, a clever juggler and the Boston Bioscope are features of the bill, making in all one of the best bills ever staged for the prices charged.

Catherine Talbot Foresees a Future For the Ruche

PARIS, Aug. 15.—I have told you lately about the prevalence of the fascinating ruche. I have it on excellent authority that everything will be ruched for the next six months. All the fete frocks show the revival of this dainty fashion. Muslin, taffeta and chiffon are all trimmed with ruches of various thicknesses and I am told that velvet also will be treated the same way. Yet, in spite of flounces and ruches and all sorts of frippery around the feet, cloth skirts are kept very plain at the top, and everything indicates the return of the tight skirt, popularly known as the "pullback," at least as far down as the knees. Then it is extended to the breadth of about twelve yards around the feet. Truly this sort of skirt must be cut by a modiste who is a genius as well as an artist.

How beautiful is a mixture of the 1830 and fifteenth century fashions! The colorings are so exquisite and the workmanship so beautiful. Bodices are nearly all made in blouse fashion, the waist line defined by a pointed sash or band.

All the best frocks worn by the elegantes are exquisitely graceful, and these soft, clinging fabrics can stand any amount of tucking and ruching.

Taffeta, both in black and pale shades, is enjoying a great popularity for fete gowns and various afternoon entertainments.

Trouville this year has been very gay, and the frocks seen there perfectly marvelous. A friend of mine writes from there that it has been a "red" season and that it made her warm to look at the frocks, but judging from what one sees at the leading tailors it appears to be a white season and the indications are that white will be worn quite into the autumn. Red is very pretty at the seaside, especially in linen and voile. One frock of red voile is made quite plain, with two bands of red taffeta running round the skirt in a simple Greek pattern, also down the front of the blouse shaped waist.

French sailor and plateau hats are worn with the walking skirt. Picture hats with ostrich plumes are reserved for fete wear. As I told you in my last letter, strings are much worn. The 1830 bonnet will be among the autumn fashions, and it is said that brown will be the prevailing color, although the beautiful shades of pastel blue will not be easily dispensed with.

I hear that the opening of the casino at Dinard's was exceedingly well attended and that many English and American women were there. There are some pretty Americans over here, buying the largest quantity of garments for every occasion. In fact, I wonder how they can take about trunks enough to carry them. They have such dainty lingerie and morning robes! They seem to prefer beautiful fabrics simply made and are very complete in their toilets. Their petticoats perhaps are more elaborate than anything else. They affect the "tailor made" for nearly all outdoor occasions, reserving the elaborate frocks for afternoon wear.

I must describe at least one of the charming toilets which I saw in preparation for Aix and Homburg. This was in white china silk, inserted with medallions of black chantilly lace, with an outer edge of coarse cream colored Irish crochet. The bodice was made in blouse fashion, with a double pelerine collar, cut open, showing a vest made of lace medallions. The shaped hip piece was also outlined with these medallions. They were continued down the front and around a flounce, which was put on just below the knee with a series of gaugings. A pretty shaped gold waistband finished the costume. Gold and silver waistbands are a feature just now, though to my mind the black panne belt is one of the most charming fashions.

WHAT THE PARISIAN FASHIONABLES ARE WEARING.

The exit from Paris at the beginning of the Trouville season was more marked than ever this year, owing to the lengthened stay made in the capital by some of the society leaders. The nearness to Paris of many of the chateaux makes a rapid visit in the automobile possible for special occasions. The dress worn, therefore, during a stay in the country is almost the same as for the city. There is a studied negligee in the donning of these costumes and in the lounge dress adopted by the men. At the same time a Parisienne displays as much art in gowning herself for the country as for the city's more fashionable functions. The linens which have been trimmed with the most beautiful laces and embroideries are being replaced for the early autumn by linens less embellished. Simple stitching and "a jour" work or colored embroidery, however, render them quite as attractive as those seen earlier in the season. With a white plaited skirt and blouse for the morning a linen collar and lace cravat are worn, or a plain neckband of black ribbon is crossed in front, falling from a clasp in two tasseled ends. Another pretty effect is obtained by outlining the linen or batiste shoulder collar in coral pink embroidery. A plain white canvas linen of a coarse weave makes a very stylish dress, the bolero and skirt being trimmed with braiding in rather a severe design. Braiding in soft soutache on a linen gown is remarkably pretty and not the least heavy looking, as one might imagine.

Bright colored leather belts, worn with a plain blouse of cambric or linen, are very smart. Scarlet, green and blue are fashionable colors for these popular belts, while a cravat and shoes of the same color generally complete the costume.

Lace still holds an important place in the toilet for afternoon, fete or country visiting. Antique lace, which is very suitable for linen and cotton fabrics, is much worn. Even voile dresses are trimmed with it. Colored laces are also used. I have seen them in pastel blues, brown, tan and red.

Among some toilets made for a well known chatelaine were three which struck me as being particularly pretty. The first was in ecru canvas linen. The plaited skirt was trimmed with scarlet and white "a jour" work and also inserted with white guipure. The long, basqued coat had a triple lace shoulder cape and was decorated with large button pastelles of white braid. The second was a practical trotteuse costume of blue alpaca. The plaited skirt came from a hip piece with a front panel fastened with tabs, which were piped with colored linen and decorated with little buttons. Buttons also decorated the plaits at intervals. The bolero had a pelerine collar and was trimmed also with strappings and small buttons. A high ceinture of black taffeta finished a white blouse, worn beneath the bolero. The third was a dressy toilet in pastel mauve linon de sole. A broad entre deux of ecru filet lace crossed the shoulders, while panels of mauve taffeta trimmed with broderie anglaise down the skirt simulated a tunic.

The indications are that both skirts and coats for the autumn will be shorter. I should not be the least bit surprised if next summer we were wearing short, sprightly looking muslins, for the trailing frocks are already tinged with a savor of yesterday. The short muslins will be charming enough if they are not stiffened, but rendered springy instead by a stiffened petticoat. It seems inevitable that with short skirts should come also a firmer skirt line.

Parisians are at present much enamored of "liberty," a beautiful, soft, lustrous satin. I saw the other day in Paquin's a pale blue liberty frock with scroll ornaments of fine blond lace insertion on the skirt. It had elbow sleeves of blond lace and spotted net and creme guipure about the decolletage. Scrollwork has caught the fancy over here and it is carried out by lace or taffeta ruches. I saw a frock of double white chiffon, the scrollwork done in little frillings of inch wide valenciennes. The skirt was gathered around the waist with corded gaugings, and the little frills, repeated on the bodice, terminated each side of the front in wheel-like rosettes, with paste button centers. Another frock in very fine pink voile had four sweet little narrow ruches of taffeta of the same color running around the bottom of the skirt. The low bodice was bordered by three lines of the pink silk ruching, each line twirled round to form a loop at the top of the elbow sleeves. The ruche shares popularity with the wide tuck, set two or three at intervals around the skirt. The up to date skirt is gathered into the waist round the sides and back. The gathering need not be very full and the skirts may be "loaded" at the base to make them fall straight.

The dwarf sash is another feature of the frock. What cunning little things they are, these taffeta bells, with their clever little bows and short ends at the back! I saw a simple pale gray voile the other day, which owed the most of its charm to the dwarf sash and cravat, also a cunningly contrived thing of taffeta and panne pipings with lace. It had, however, a Greek key arrangement around the skirt and bodice and illustrated another feature of the gathered skirt, which of course must have its trimmings running round instead of lengthwise, to the distress of the suffering stout woman, against whom all fashions appear to militate at present. CATHERINE TALBOT.

Fashions in China.

Chinese ladies never rejoice in the dainty fashions of pretty cottons, as their European sisters do, but year in year out they are attired in silk, for cotton is of no account in the Celestial empire, being considered only fit for the coolies, who dress in it entirely.

Chinese dress does not call for any great ingenuity on the part of the makers, for in form it is always the same. A lady's first garment is a plain piece of silk fastened round the waist to form an apron, which laps over at the back. In the place of this poor women wear a sort of cotton "front," which covers the chest, but has no back. Next come the underjacket and the overjacket, the trousers, the apron and the foot gear. The last consists of bandages and tiny shoes for the "little footed" or a "cotton boot" and shoes of sensible size for the uncrippled peasant woman.

In cold weather the number of jackets worn is increased, the heaviest being outermost, which is padded and quilted or fur lined. For outdoor wear a sleeveless overjacket, known as a "front and back," is used.

The Sleeve Dog.

There is at present in Paris a tiny Chinese dog called Mei-Ho. He is the property of a French lady, but formerly belonged to the Chinese imperial family. After the invasion of Peking the tiny spaniel was found bereft of his family. He is happy once again, for his mistress is devoted to him and carries him inside her wide coat sleeve, to the envy of her friends.

A Vienna Toilet

THIS pretty costume is in lavender silk voile, with incrustations of cream embroidery and drawn thread insertion. The bolero is made of box plaits stitched down. It has a scalloped collar and puffed sleeves of fine white lawn.

A Use For Long Lace Scarfs.

The old, long lace scarfs can be utilized beautifully for the new ruffle. This ruffle, or pelerine, is cut wide on the shoulders, forming almost a cape, the foundation being generally of taffeta or glace. On this is placed an edging of chenille or feather trimming; then comes another large, plaited ruffle of necordion plaited chiffon to tone with the taffeta, and over this a scarf of real lace, caught on both shoulders and at the waist with a fantastic clasp or buckle. The further addition of a soft colored ribbon tie may be added. Now this makes a really smart finish to a dainty summer gown. It is lightening touches of this sort that are such necessary additions to one's wardrobe.

Little Things Which Tell.

The woman who is careful to have her collar, tie, waistband and other trifles neat and to harmonize, and whose dress is always chosen with view to the work or pleasure which she has on hand, is generally a woman worth cultivating. She attracts by her smart and businesslike appearance in the first place, and then by her well ordered mind and business capacities. One is but the reflection of the other.

How to Utilize Oil Lamps to Best Advantage

THE oil lamp is used as well in the city as the country, partly on account of the ease with which it may be moved from place to place and stationed just where the light will best fall on the book or work in hand and partly on account of the quality of the light which a good oil burner gives and the opportunity it offers for delightful shades and soft, pleasing effects in colors and designs. It is well known that different colors affect both the eyes and the spirits. Red is said to be hurtful to the eyes, but the prettiest light in the world is that which comes softly though a crimson shade. It is so wonderfully cozy. When the wind howls outside and the rain patters against the windows, cheering is the influence of a roseate light, shed on table and furniture, just tinging the walls and touching the pictures, flushing with its pleasant glow lace curtains and dainty china and bric-a-brac and calling up delightful visions in spite of the weather. No light, it seems, could be more conducive to rest and reverie, to pleasing fancies or comfortable repose.

Next in the list of colors comes yellow—the deep, rich yellow of the daffodil, which will flood the room with a golden glory, fairly bring mirth and laughter to the conversation and impart an almost joyous brightness to the atmosphere. One could half close the eyes and imagine oneself reveling in a field of daffodils and sunshine.

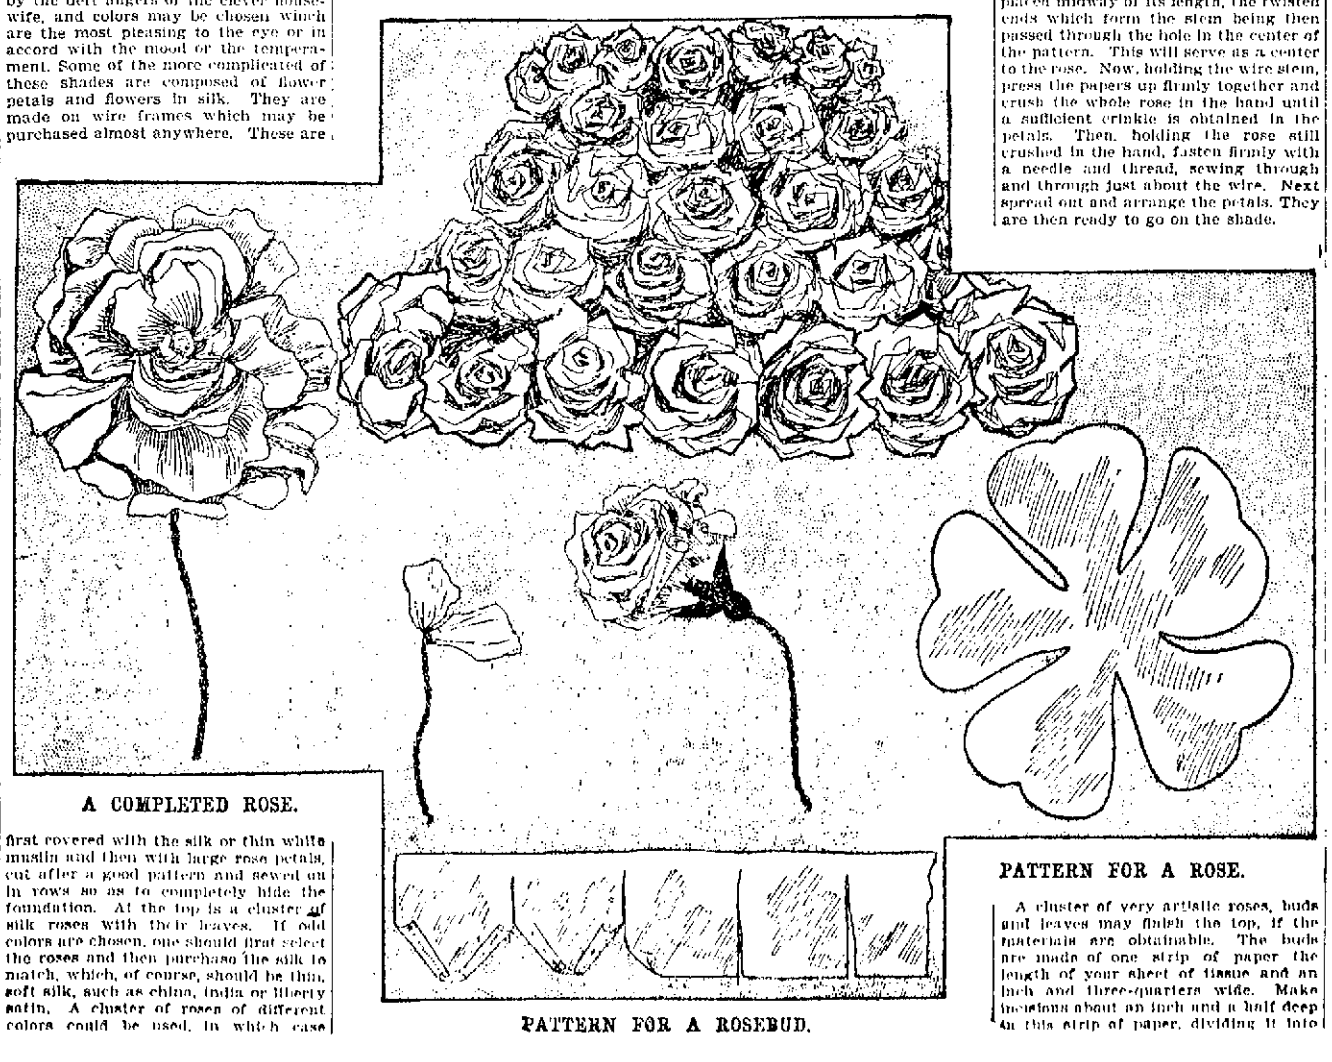
But the colors which are best for the eyesight are blue and green. As to blue, though some of the delicate tones are dainty and charming in themselves, yet somehow the light shed by a blue shade is cold and depressing. Delft is one of the prettiest things in blue, though I have seen most exquisite effects in other tones. One particularly dainty lamp I once noticed was a high, slender, vase shaped affair with a beautiful design in forgetmenots and slender renaissance scrolls in gold on a white background. The moon shaped globe was lavishly decorated with the same design. As a work of art it was simply lovely, and of course shed a pure white light.

Green, besides being restful and beneficial to the eyes and soothing to the system, makes a most pleasing light. A beautiful green lamp which I lately saw had a large globe on which was painted a rural scene. The bank of a stream, a meadow pathway, the green of the trees, the blue of the sky and the bright reddish brown of a peasant's dress made a picture one might never tire of gazing upon. The light coming through the colors gave the effect of a bright sunshine. You could really almost hear the water splash and the birds sing. To fall asleep gazing upon it would certainly mean to dream of brooks, trees, flowers and sunshine.

Each color has so many charms peculiarly its own that one might almost wish to have a number of shades to suit the various moods. And this would not be quite so expensive as may at first appear. Some of the best color effects are obtained by silk and paper shades, which can be easily constructed by the deft fingers of the clever housewife, and colors may be chosen which are the most pleasing to the eye or in accord with the mood or the temperament. Some of the more complicated of these shades are composed of flower petals and flowers in silk. They are made on wire frames which may be purchased almost anywhere. These are first covered with the silk or thin white muslin and then with large rose petals, cut after a good pattern and sewed on in rows so as to completely hide the foundation. At the top is a cluster of silk roses with their leaves. If odd colors are chosen, one should first select the roses and then purchase the silk to match, which, of course, should be thin, soft silk, such as china, india or liberty satin. A cluster of roses of different colors could be used, in which case none of them need be of the exact shade of the silk; but care must be taken to have them harmonize.

Most beautiful paper shades can be made in the same way. The foundation should be completely covered with roses in this case. For those who do not already know how to make these the accompanying illustration will be useful. The pattern given should be sketched on a piece of stiff paper and cut out carefully. It should be about four inches in diameter. The tissue paper should then be folded so as to cut six sets at once. The same design a size smaller, say three inches in diameter, should form the next six, and two inches in diameter for the inner petals. This will make eighteen rows of petals in all. Small wire, which may be bought for this purpose, must be pushed through a hole in the middle of these circular petal patterns to form the stem. The wire should be three or four inches long and should be twisted around a wisp of the tissue paper placed midway of its length, the twisted ends which form the stem being then passed through the hole in the center of the pattern. This will serve as a center to the rose. Now, holding the wire stem, press the papers up firmly together and crush the whole rose in the hand until a sufficient crinkle is obtained in the petals. Then, holding the rose still crushed in the hand, fasten firmly with a needle and thread, sewing through and through just about the wire. Next spread out and arrange the petals. They are then ready to go on the shade.

A ROSE LAMP SHADE.



A COMPLETED ROSE.

PATTERN FOR A ROSEBUD.

Shades of plain gathered silk of any color, with a valance of delicate lace and a ribbon decoration, are also very pretty, while one often sees chenille and bead fringes in place of the lace. The light shining through a fringe of glass beads has a bright and pleasing effect. Japanese shades of rice paper, with their broad, artistic designs in rushes and flags, introducing just the right combination of greens, blues and yellows, with a dash of red, are very artistic.

I lately saw a globe shaped shade in heavy, dull green cathedral glass. It was an immense thing about a foot and a half in diameter, set together like a stained glass window, with wrought iron bands and partitions. Covering one side of it was an immense glass spider, whose wrought iron legs extended far around the globe. His eyes were two disks of red glass an inch in diameter, protruding from a blue glass head, which, as well as his blue glass body, larger than the biggest tarantula, was inclosed in a metal rim, and by this means raised somewhat from the globe. It had rather a creepy look about it, but I could imagine that when the light shone through it might have a very striking effect.

It may not be generally known that some of the most beautiful lamps we have are of domestic manufacture, and a number of them are no less expensive than some of the imported lamps. One large lamp, designed and made by an eastern firm, was purchased by Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) for the sum of $150. This lamp is decorated with a picture of its celebrated purchaser and is unique in finish and design. Some of the art pottery lamps made in this country are as costly as they are beautiful and as decorative as the choicest vases.

PATTERN FOR A ROSE.

A cluster of very artistic roses, buds and leaves may finish the top, if the materials are obtainable. The buds are made of one strip of paper the length of your sheet of tissue and an inch and three-quarters wide. Make incisions about an inch and a half deep in this strip of paper, dividing it into square petals. Then curl the square corners by passing them between the thumb and the blade of the scissors. Fold this strip around the finger until it is in a bud shaped roll and fasten at the base with a needle and thread, the same as the rose. Thread the wire for the stem in a stout needle and sew it through the base of the bud. Fasten firmly by twisting it a number of times. It can then be wound with green paper or rubber stems, calyx and leaves can be purchased in any city. If necessary, bygone artificial roses may be rifled for the purpose. In this way a shade as artistic as any you could buy may be manufactured at home and makes really fascinating work besides. A strip of asbestus paper two or three inches deep should be placed inside the top of the shade to prevent it from being scorched and to avoid its catching fire.

VICTORIA SANDWICH.—One teacupful of flour, one teacupful of castor sugar, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix these ingredients well together and add gradually three eggs well beaten. Pour into two buttered tins of equal size and bake in a brisk oven for ten minutes. Sprinkle a little castor sugar on paper, turn on to this one cake, cover with warm jam and place the other cake on top. It will keep fresh for a fortnight if kept in a tin.

Piccalilli.—Chop one peck of green tomatoes, twelve onions and three peppers. Pour over them one cup of salt and let stand overnight. In the morning squeeze dry, cover with vinegar and boil half an hour. Then add one bottle of horse radish, one teaspoon each of red and black pepper and one-eighth of a pound of cloves, allspice and cinnamon, mixed.

Sherbet.—One-quarter pound of tartaric acid, three-quarters of a pound of icing sugar, one-quarter pound of bicarbonate of soda, one bottle of lemon essence. Mix together. Diluted with water this forms a most cooling beverage.

Hominy Griddles.—To a pint of warm boiled hominy add a pint of milk and a pint of flour. Beat two eggs and stir them into the batter with a little salt. Beat very light and fry on a hot griddle as you would other cakes.

A Cheap, Savory Entree.—Put a piece of butter the size of a walnut into a saucepan, slice a Spanish onion into it, and let it simmer for five minutes. Then cut a quarter of a pound of cheese into small pieces and put it in; pour in half a cupful of sweet milk and stir well till all is melted; add a little salt; beat up one egg and pour into the saucepan; stir well for two minutes, then serve.

Jelly Roll Cake.—Four eggs, one cup sugar, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and vanilla. Bake on cake sheet and when done turn out on to a towel, bottom upward; spread with filling and roll. Filling.—In the place of jelly this filling is very nice: One cup cocoa, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup milk, boil slowly until thick and spread over the cake while hot and roll lightly.

Chas. Caldwell Drowned in Merrimack River

Charles Caldwell, whose body was found in the river near Lawrence, Thursday, was a former Lowell resident. He worked as a clerk and bartender at the old Washington Tavern and Harris House in this city and was well known here.

COLISEUM RACES

Caldwell-Leander Race Declared a Draw

The Men Will Ride Again Tonight for a Double Purse—O'Brien Won Mile Handicap and Hollister Won Five Mile Open—Track Record Broken

Owing to the confusion caused by both Leander and Caldwell leaving their pace in the fourteenth mile of a fifteen-mile motor paced race at the coliseum last night and owing to the closeness of the contest and a disagreement among the judges as to which man won the race, the event was called a draw, and the purse of last night will stand and both men will meet at the coliseum tonight and fight the battle out, the winner to take the big end of last night's as well as tonight's purse.

This race proved to be the best of the season, and despite the fact that it was generally accorded that Caldwell would win, Leander gave him a great battle, the winner of the six-day race demonstrating to the giant from the hills of old New Hampshire that he carries an unlimited amount of speed up his sleeve which he lets out at different intervals.

While the crowd called for both Caldwell and Leander as the winner, it seemed to be perfectly satisfied with the decision of a draw, for it means that a battle royal will be held at the coliseum tonight when these two riders meet. If there ever was any rivalry between the two riders it was increased one hundred per cent. by the occurrence of last night and the patrons of the local coliseum ought to see the hottest and bitterest fought contest of the season tonight.

Both men felt confident that they won the race, and while Caldwell is of a much quieter manner than Leander, both riders got pretty hot. In the box office Caldwell informed Leander that he would never see the day that he could beat him, and to retaliate Leander told Caldwell that he had $150 and his diamond ring, which is a valuable one, to post as a forfeit against any sum he would name that he could defeat Caldwell. With the men going on in such a manner as this it means a fine race for the local enthusiasts.

It was the intention of Manager Prince to have Walthour, the winner of Thursday night's race, meet the winner of last night's race in a race tonight, but when the race was declared a tie word was wired to Walthour not to come to Lowell tonight as Caldwell and Leander wished to have their race out.

The big race started about 9.30 o'clock, Caldwell being paced by Ruden on his "Monitor," while Hoffman furnished pace for Leander. Caldwell was picked as the winner by the people, but after they saw the pace with which Leander followed his pace and the manner in which he pedalled around the track a number of the Caldwell enthusiasts deserted the latter and favored Leander. To say the least the race was a pretty one and was well contested. While Caldwell had the advantage during the greater part of the race the men rode pretty evenly and in fact it was anybody's race up to the last mile.

Leander started on the home stretch and Caldwell on the back stretch. The first mile was a rather slow one, the time being 1.30, but just before the second mile was started the men got down to business and did it in 1.18 flat. The third mile was also turned out in the same time as the second. Caldwell had a little the better of the riding up to this time, but after the third mile Leander let himself out and started to gain on the big fellow. The race was then nip and tuck, but in the seventh mile the riding got down to 1.13 which was about five seconds slower than they had been travelling before. In the eighth mile Caldwell had Leander by nearly half a lap, but Leander fought him off and started to pull away from his opponent. For a mile the winner of the six-day race kept gaining, but failed to get on even footing with Caldwell.

In the thirteenth mile Caldwell seemed to slow down and Leander immediately shot to the front and pedalled like a fiend, but on the next mile Caldwell had almost regained what ground he had lost.

On the first lap of the fifteenth mile Leander dropped his pace in front of the judges' stand, his reason for doing this being because he had ripped seven or eight spokes out of his front wheel on the eleventh mile and the noise of the broken spokes rattling against the fork sides of his wheel, and the fact that if any more went out his wheel might collapse and he might be killed, he dropped his pace and shouted for another wheel. In the meantime Caldwell passed Leander, but on the third lap of this mile Caldwell lost his pace and pandemonium reigned, the people in the grand stand shouting like fiends, each of the riders having his admirers. The majority of the people were with Leander owing to the fact that he had been a little behind Caldwell when both men left their pace and while both Caldwell and Leander regained their pace just before the pistol was fired for the end of the fifteen miles.

At the close of the race both men came around to the judges' stand to find out who was the winner, and when it was announced that it had not been settled Leander started in to explain, but his manager, Johnny Eckhardt, came to the rescue and there was so much wrangling on both sides that it was decided the only thing to do was to declare the race a draw and allow the men to have at it tonight.

AMATEUR RACES.

The amateur races proved to be of the hottest kind and exciting sprints as hard rides by the low marked men were made. Owing to the fact that the fast Boston men with Hollister of Springfield and Acorn of New York were on hand everybody looked for good races, and they got just what they were looking for. It was the general impression that the local riders would not have a look in, but Mike O'Brien made one of the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed on the track.

The first amateur race on the program was the one mile handicap which was pulled off in three heats. In the first heat McKinnon of Boston was on scratch with Stoughton of Boston on 25 yards and Mike O'Brien on 60. O'Brien and the limit men tried hard to get away from the low marked men, but it was useless, the two low marked men working well together and they soon caught the field. At the seventh lap O'Brien went out to take pace and made it hot for his followers, but with four in the heat, several having dropped out owing to the hot pace, and four to qualify they took it easy, and Stoughton crossed the tape first with Mahan second, McKinnon third and O'Brien fourth.

The second heat found Bill Potter of Boston on scratch, McDonald of Somerville, Downey of Boston and Connors and Goyette being also in the heat on different marks. Bill Potter with the assistance of Downey and McDonald soon brought the field down, but in the sprint for the finish Potter got frozen out, Connors winning first, Downey second, McDonald third and Goyette fourth.

The track record was lowered in the third heat by C. L. Hollister of Springfield, who recently defeated Marcus Hurley, the crack amateur. Hollister was on scratch with Acorn and Urquhart on higher marks and four other riders in the heat. The three above named riders were so badly handicapped that the limit men decided to plug around the track and try and cut out the low marked men and they succeeded in doing this to a certain extent. It was not until the sixth lap had been covered that the low marked men caught the field and then Hollister playing for position took the pace and pulled the bunch in over the tape in two minutes, two and four-fifths seconds, Hollister was first with Batchelder second, Kearney third and Acorn fourth.

The final was hotly contested, there being twelve riders in line and the limit 125 yards. There was no loafing in this heat, and it was interesting to watch the jockeying for position. The majority of the riders were waiting for the seventh lap to come to the front and take the pace preparatory to making the sprint for the tape, but wise Mike O'Brien on the sixth lap shot around the bunch and fought off the other riders who tried to pass him on that lap, and when the seventh lap had been half covered O'Brien unwound his gear and shooting away from the field plugged like a fiend and crossed the tape a winner. A blanket could have covered the first four men, they were so close. Cheer after cheer was given O'Brien for his victory. Goyette was second, Connors third and Hollister fourth. The time for this mile was 2.01.

The next event was the five-mile open with a prize at the end of every mile. There were sixteen starters and the riders were allowed two laps to get started. As was expected the out of town riders took all four prizes. It was a pretty race from the start. The first mile prize was won by Urquhart, and Matty Downey took the second. Goyette took the third. He also won the fourth, but was disqualified for accepting pace from Connors who dropped back a lap and was practically out of the race. The next man was Downey and the mile prize went to him.

Hollister won the race with McKinnon second, Stoughton third and Potter fourth.

One-mile amateur handicap—First heat, won by Stoughton, Boston, 25 yards; Mahan, 125 yards, second; McKinnon, Boston, scratch, third; O'Brien, 60 yards, fourth. Time, 2.07 1-5.

Second heat, won by Connors, 50 yards; Downey, Boston, 20 yards, second; McDonald, Somerville, 25 yards, third; Goyette, 75 yards, fourth. Time, 2.05 2-5.

Third heat, won by Hollister, Springfield, scratch; Batchelder, 100 yards, second; Kearney, 125 yards, third; Acorn, New York city, 75 yards, fourth. Time, 2.02 1-5.

Final, won by O'Brien; Goyette, second; Connors, third; Hollister, fourth. Time, 2.01. Prizes, $20, $10, $5 and $3 in merchandise order.

Five mile open, lap race. Won by Hollister, Springfield; McKinnon, Boston, second; Stoughton, Boston, third; Potter, Boston, fourth.

Winners by miles—First, Urquhart, Boston, second Downey, Boston; third, Goyette, Lowell; fourth, Downey, Boston; fifth, Hollister, Springfield.

Goyette finished first but was disqualified.

Prizes, $25, $15, $10, $5 and $2 to winner of each of the first four miles.

CYCLE NEWS

The battle between Caldwell and Leander tonight will be a close and bitterly contested event. Both riders were out at the track this morning training hard in order to get into the pink of condition for tonights' battle. Manager Eckhart believes that his man, Leander, will demonstrate to the people his superiority over Caldwell, while on the other hand the big fellow is confident that he will be the winner.

On Labor Day night Patsey Keegan, the local plunger, and Jimmy Moran, the Chelsea milkman, will have it out on the local track. Both men are popular with race going people of this city and it is expected that there will be nothing but standing room on this night. The race will be for the Irish championship and as Keegan is riding in fine form he will give Moran the battle of his life.

Prove It Anytime

By the Evidence of Lowell People

The daily evidence citizens right here at home supply is proof sufficient to satisfy the greatest skeptic. No better proof can be had. Here is a case. Read it:

Mrs. Mary Enwright of 11 Cedar street says: "In the spring of 1898 I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store for my brother, who had considerable trouble from backache. The treatment did him a great deal of good. My mother also used Doan's Kidney Pills and the results were so satisfactory that she is never without the remedy in the house, to use in case of need."

Sold for 50 cents per box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

CANOBIE LAKE PARK.

The program at Canobie Lake Park the coming week is given by an organization well known to all patrons of the various summer theatres. This company is made up of some of the best colored specialty people in the profession and while their performance partakes of the nature of a minstrel show it is much better for these are genuine "coons" while minstrels are blackfaced.

These people give an entertainment in a perfectly natural and unaffected manner and retain all their characteristics and eccentricities of costume and manner. They are most amusing and interesting in the various plantation pastimes which they enact, and mirth and music are the principal features.

These artists are expert banjo players and their music is the signal for every one to sing, dance or join in the general funmaking. The old plantation melodies and the rag-time songs of the present, are pleasingly rendered, in those musical mellow tones that only southern people possess. The buck and wing dancing is an excellent feature of the performance and each tries to outdo the other in endurance and originality. Real "pickaninnies" are found in this aggregation and they ape their elders exactly.

Miss Katie McCabe and Miss Maud Thomas of Centralville will spend the next two weeks in northern New York. During their stay they will visit Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Edward C. Looney, clarinet soloist with the National band, leaves today for Burlington, Vt., where he will play with the Lawrence brass band, which accompanies Bethany commandery, Knights Templars, on their annual outing. Mr. Looney will return Tuesday.

The Misses Rogers of 175 Merrimack street are in New York to attend the fall millinery openings.

Miss Margaret Mahoney of Lewistonn, Me., is visiting her brother, John J. Mahoney, of 244 Concord street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Lucas are in attendance at camp meeting at Framingham, Mass.
